Dr. Snidecor Leaves for Defense Duties

Steadily exacting its toll of State college faculty members, the national defense cause takes another instructor from campus today as Dr. John Snidecor of the division of speech boards a train for Washington, D. C. where he will take up active duty with the National Research Council.

Dr. Snidecor will be connected with the division of Anthropology and Psychology while in Washington. The National Research Council is made up of research workers and serves the armed forces in solving numerous problems involving problems of the serviceman and defense worker.

Dr. Snidecor has gained note during his work at State college for efforts in building the division of speech and for his work in training clinicians in speech correction.

During his absence, Dr. Snidecor's classes will be taken over by Marian Hammond, graduate of Santa Barbara State who has been a member of the Pasadena Playhouse, also on the Summer Speech clinic staff at State, besides completing graduate work at the State University of Iowa.

Committeemen Plan Dance

Coffe stamps—number 17's—empty sugar sacks—"A" stickers—these will all be included among the decorations for the "Ration Ramble," all-college dance, to be held Saturday evening, April 3, at Rockwood from 9 to 12 o'clock.

This is not only the first dance of its kind, but also the first important student body event since rationing began, according to Wilfa Fairfield, social chairman. The "Walk-a-date" plan will again be emphasized, and various dances are to be named with reference to the theme. Of the latter, the "Shoeless Shuffle" will start the evening, followed by the "B Card Bounce," and a number of others.

Kappa Omicron Phi Initiates Thirteen

Kappa Omicron Phi, national home economics society, held formal initiation of pledges last Tuesday in the Colonial room of Ebbets hall. Following the ceremony a dinner was held at the home of Jean Arthur Gier on Lasuen road.

New pledges are as follows: Barbara Friend, Berenice Perry, Betty Cordner, Catherine Lesovsky, Dorothy De Jarnett, Martha Feddersohn, Mary Van Aken, Lila Atkinson, Clara Anderson, Eva Henrikson, Katherine Sandfelder, Marjorie Welch and Lois Ewing.

At a special meeting of the senior class committee last Monday, George "Jesse" James was chosen to fill the post of vice-president, vacated by Joe Nunez, now on active duty with the army.

During his sophomore year he was vice-president of the sophomore Squires, honorary men's sophomore society, and played varsity football for the Gaucha squad.

At the close of his junior year he had held such positions as A.M.S. secretary, and had been given honorable mention for the annual A.M.S. award. During that same year James served as vice-president of the junior class.

This year he is president of Blue Key, men's national honorary service fraternity.

Under discussion at the meeting of the senior committee was the spring senior banquet. The banquet will be held at El Paseo, Thursday evening, June 10. Chosen as theme of Senior week was "United We Build for the Future."

Names were submitted to President Clarence Phelps for the final decision on the guest speaker for the banquet. Angie Nunez, president, will act as toastmaster, and student speakers will be Marilee Stevens, Frances Boyton, George James and Dick O'Brien.

The senior beach party has been postponed until the middle of April. At that time the Gaucha Beach club will be the setting for the event.

Angie Nunez urges all seniors who have not as yet procured their class cards to do so at once. They may be obtained from Nunez, James, or Ellen Scully.

"These cards," Nunez declared are the only admittance to senior events. Let's go seniors, get behind your class!"

Chi Delta Chi Holds Present

Members of Chi Delta Chi, campus social sorority will hold a semi-formal reception next Wednesday, March 31 for the purpose of presenting to student body and faculty members their new pledge members. The affair will be held at the home of Mrs. D. H. Schauer, at 1515 Alameda Padre Serra, from 8 until 10 p.m.

Heading the receiving line will be Mrs. Lawrence Chenoweth, faculty sponsor, and Ellen Scully, sorority president. Pledges being presented are Jean Griffiths, Betty Rodick, Teresina Masin, Billye Potts, Lucretia Zorotovich, Lorraine File, Darlene Sherfey, Frances Germano, Evelyn Johnson, Dorothy Keniston. Also in the receiving line will be three active members, Marion Michaeli, Dorothy Saul, and Elizabeth Brown.

Light refreshments will be served, and all student body members and guests are cordially invited to attend.

Annual Debate Tournament Opens Soon

State college's fifth annual intramural Speech tournament will take place on April 6, 7 and 8, it was announced by Tom Loeffler, manager of forensics. The tournament is being sponsored by Tau Kappa Alpha, national honorary forensic fraternity, and the division of speech.

The tournament will consist of three main contests: radio, oratory, extemporaneous speaking, and impromptu speaking. All students are urged to enter one or more of these contests by signing their names on one the sheets attached to the bulletin board in the hall of the division of speech. All contests will start at 3 p.m. and special arrangements may be made to suit the speakers free hours.

In the radio oratory contests manuscripts of not more than 1250 words will be read before the microphone to give practice in real-life speaking situations. The topics for impromptu and extemporaneous speaking will be chosen from fields of current interest upon which the average person is informed. Some of these topics will be posted on the bulletin board soon.

Prizes will be awarded by Tau Kappa Alpha consisting of certificates and the perpetual trophies engraved with the winners name. Some of the members of the college faculty will act as judges for the tournament.

Alpha Thetas Honor Pledges

Formal presentation of Alpha Theta Chi pledges will be held this Sunday, according to Peggy Lou Anderson, sorority president. The site of the affair is the University club, 1332 Santa Barbara street, and the introduction of the girls is scheduled to take place between 4 and 6 p.m.

Music under the direction of Bill Marvel will be featured during the afternoon. Dorothy Myers, alumnae president, Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Rauch, Mrs. Lloyd Hitchcock, Mrs. Homer C. Thompson and Miss Anderson will be included in the receiving line, it was announced by Jean Bornhurst, general chairman.

This will be the third annual presentation of pledges of Alpha Theta Chi, sponsored by the active and alumnae members. The two previous events have been held at the Samarkand hotel, and La Cumbre Country club.

Those girls who will be presented are Connie Ackerson, Jean Ausman, Jean Crinklaw, Mona Dick, Bernice Dowd, Sherry Lyon, Rowena Martinsen, Rosalie Osborne, Gloria Bradley, Barbara Shedd, Elane Stokes, and Carolyn Viets.

Gaucholand's sports fans will turn out at 3 p.m. today to initiate the opening of the 1943 baseball season, as Coach Wilton Wilton's Green and White horsehidiers meet the highly rated Marine team from Goleta at the Cabrillo field near the Mar Monte hotel.

Navy, Marine Reservists Take Exams

Students Quality for Extension of College Work

Marine reservists and local sophomore men who are enlisted in the Navy's V-1 program were given notice by Dean of Men C. Douglas Woodhouse yesterday of a qualifying test which will be given April 20.

The qualifying test for sophomore reservists will follow the pattern announced last fall in the joint Army-Navy pamphlet.

According to Dean Woodhouse, the notice does not apply to freshmen as they will take a similar test during their sophomore year.

Marine reservists will be given screening tests at the same date in coordination with the testing of the sophomores in Navy V-1. This will apply to both freshmen and sophomores who are enlisted in the Marine Corps reserve.

The test will be a general intelligence test and will not presuppose any college study of physics or mathematics. Samples of the test may be considered in the dean of men's office.

"The continuance of college study will depend also upon scholastic standing, probably aptitude and recommendations of the college authorities," Woodhouse declared.

According to news released by the headquarters of the U. S. Marine corps, those students who have one term or less to complete before graduation will be called to active duty. The plan calls for them to continue their studies at certain selected colleges under the V-12 program. Students in their freshman and sophomore years will qualify for additional college study through the intelligence test given on April 20.

An Editorial

As your representatives, the student Executive Council recently voted to have a drive on campus to raise money for the World Student Service Fund. The goal has been set at $300—fifteen times that of last year. (Last year Occidental raised $190; this year they pledged $900). What are you going to do about it?

Your Executive Council was convinced of a job needing to be done. Committee members have investigated and found that W.S.S.F. money actually does things. Things that need desperately to be done in order that intellectual life may be kept alive despite total war.

Thousands of students in China and Russia have been imprisoned. Their universities have been bombed and students and faculty have set up shop in abandoned temples or improvised shelters. They are separated from their families, cut off from any means of support, hungry, poorly clad, often ill, but they are sticking to their job.

More than 6,000,000 students are imprisoned around the world. They need books, lots of them. They need to know we behind them. American prisoners in Japan are profiting right now from aid given them as a result of the W.S.S.F. drive in the United States.

There are other students who are starving. Ten thousand Greek students are starving. Some food and medical supplies and transportation have been given these students, but still great numbers of them are without food or clothes.

It is your great privilege as State college students in a nation where students are relatively privileged and spared acute sufferings to be able to help the plight of fellow students in other countries.

If you believe in what you are doing: getting a higher education; if you believe your job is important, you will go way over the top on our W.S.S.F. goal during this final week.

What do you say, Santa Barbara State students?

Primed by three weeks of intense practice, the local nine boasts many veterans from last year's squad as well as several junior college transfers who have shown exceptional ease at handling themselves on the diamond.

Leading the Gaucha squad will be Don MacKenzie, veteran of two years play at State. MacKenzie is scheduled to hold down the catcher's position.

Also opening the season with the locals are a number of outstanding players from last year including John Ceccarelli, first baseman; Hal Chauncey, short stop; Frank Fielding, second baseman; Mort Hill center fielder and pitcher; and Chuck Manuel, lanky right-handed pitcher.

Earlier practice sessions have shown Carl Fisher and Ceccarelli to be the heaviest hitters.

Among the new men who have turned out for practice are Jesse James, left fielder; Bebe Mathews, right fielder; Carl Fisher, transfer from Fullerton J.C. who will hold down the third base post; Frank Bradley, second baseman, who played with the Frosh team last season; and Jack Williams, pitcher from Santa Ynez.

Games have been scheduled for the Gaucha horsehidiers with several army and marine bases throughout the county.

Students Give KDB Broadcast

Students of the division of speech present the third in a series of weekly radio plays over KDB next Wednesday, at 5:45 p.m. These plays are concerned with the average American's part in civilian defense, and are produced entirely by students as part of their contribution to the war effort. Donating blood is the subject of this week's script.

Student players are Sue Knott, Russ Haney, Paul Kliss and Bill Lantz. The speech staff supervises the programs. They are directed by Bill Lantz and are produced by the speaker's, entertainer's and radio bureau.

Much Ado

By GEORGE BLUMENSON

(All opinions expressed in this column are the opinions of the individual author. He does not speak for any group or in any official capacity, nor does he necessarily represent the opinion of this paper.)

If the good people of the United States were informed by their government concerning all the aspects of the Ruml Tax Plan, they would be overwhelmingly against this plan. On the surface, Ruml seems to have dreamed up a pay-as-you-go plan—a plan to withhold the income tax at the source—your pay check. This aspect of the plan is excellent. On the other hand, Ruml plans to forget this year's taxes—claiming that every American will benefit by this forgetting.

If the government accepts this plan, the very thing that the income tax was designed to do will be defeated. The income tax was designed so that each American would pay according to his ability to pay. I don't mind paying the little I do pay this year, but I am willing to wager that the boys who made their million dollars last year will mind paying their $860,000—more or less. In other words, if this bill is passed, people in the million dollar brackets will make more this year than they would have made had they saved every cent they made for the last six years. In the long run, this forgetting will cost the little guy more money, because he will be paying for the war over a longer period of time.

"Pay-as-you-go" is a misnomer for Ruml's plan. It should be called "Forgive and forget," or "Soak the poor" tax bill.

We often are prone to scoff at England for the social differences and the class distinctions which exist among the British people. There the differences are based on birth and breeding—but we have these distinctions here—and here they are based on money. The British have done away with a good deal of this distinction during the war, merely by taxing away most of the wealth in England. It is estimated that there are less than ten men in England at the present time who are making over $25,000 over their taxes. This government attempted to put a $25,000 ceiling on earned income—earned income, mind you, not income from stocks, etc.—and this bill was recently defeated.

In England, at the present time, there is only one grocer—the British government. The government not only sets up the rationing, prices, etc., but also administers selling of foods. Price ceilings in England must be maintained, because it is the government who is selling the food. It seems to me that this would be a good thing for this nation.

And still the absenteeism in congress goes on. Brother Rickenbacker has been keeping conspicuously quiet on absenteeism during the last few weeks, but the WPB have decided to do something constructive about the absenteeism. They have requested doctors and dentists in war industry, areas to keep hours in the evenings so that these men won't have to stay away from work. They have requested markets to stay open during the evening, and save part of their meat quota so that the men can buy their food at night—and they have also decided that proportionately, the absenteeism is not much greater than it is in peacetime. What they are trying to do is cut down on the average absenteeism.

THE EYES AND EARS HAVE IT OR WATCH OUT FOR THE MEASLE

There's a little bug that's going around

At least, it was last week, And all those with resistance low This bug sets out to seek.

Perhaps you think it's typhus Or maybe you think it's mumps. No, your guess is wrong, again A hint—it comes out in tiny bumps.

Believe me, it's a nuisance I'll be glad when it is done. Ask anyone who's had it, See if they though it fun.

Nothing's wrong, you feel just fine And you want to be on the go You'd like to be back at school But the nurse says, "no."

So to keep the germ from spreading You sit at home alone No one can come to see you You can't even use the phone.

The hours drag by for 7 long days You run out of things to do You get off the beam in several ways This poem should prove that to you!

RUSH TO ROCKWOOD FOR THE RATION RAMBLE OR CURSES TO THE O.P.A.

Walk beneath the silvery moon, gas and tires must be saved It's good that the roads were built while roads could still be paved

Leave your shoes at the door, there'll be no waste of leather. We've an evening planned—with a "sock" in it at this joyous get together.

No more coffee—no more tea to serve a hungry bunch But our refreshments can't be beat, they're to have a "punch."

Come one—come all—a call to fun there should be no hesitation. Let's get in a few good licks, before our "happy times" are rationed.

—E.M.V.

An Editorial . . .

This ration business gets more and more complicated with every spare hour and ton of paper the OPM and its affiliated alphabetical agencies have to spare. Starting Monday the great American public will be using the pretty red stamps in ration book number two for meat, cheese, butter, canned fish, margarine, shortening and various and sundry other necessities of life. The affiliated alphabetical agencies have done a fair job with a thankless task. There is only one slip the boys made. What about the service men?

Take for example the case of a soldier on a two week furlough. Up to this time he had just a few worries. He came home for two weeks, and wanted to see his girl, who lived ten miles away. No street car or bus line out there. Joe has a car, but by the time he persuades the gas ration board that he should have a few gallons of gas, his time is up. Joe likes his coffee and sugar, but he has brought none with him.

Sure, the folks are glad to see him, and they don't begrudge him what he needs, but Joe feels like a heel using the old man's gas, drinking the folks coffee and using their sugar.

Now when Joe comes home, he will actually be taking the food out of his family's collective mouth. Meat, butter, etc., are purchased with coin of the realm and the pretty, little red stamps. But, while Joe has the coin of the realm, he doesn't have the little red stamps. Some provision must be made so that the civilian morale can be kept up.

Along these same lines is the case of the service man who is on a two or three day pass—who must eat away from the post. He will probably do his eating in the restaurants of whatever town he happens to be spending his pass in. He will, therefore, be detracting from the meager supplies of meat, butter, etc., allotted to the town.

The answers to both of these problems are simple.

Let the armed forces issue enough ration stamps to the service men to cover them on furloughs. If a man gets a two week furlough, give him 24 blue stamps and 32 red ones. Give him enough for coffee and sugar, and, if he needs it, gas for his jalopy so that he can see his girl—or girls.

If the service man is on a short pass, issue him meal stamps, so that the restaurant can draw on army supplies for the amount of rationed supplies the service man uses.

We are being rationed, but only because it is necessary. As long as we are doing this necessary thing, let's do it right. No one begrudges our men in uniform anything, but civilian workers must eat too.—G.B.

Scribe Invades Sewing Room To Glimpse at Dance Costumes

Mass production! Costumes all over the place! Fitters running from one gayly clad dancer to another, with pins everywhere where they can do the most damage. This is the sewing room, where costumes are being made for the fifth annual dance concert, presented by the women's physical education department.

"Get me out of this," "Where's the zipper expert?" These cries come from all corners of the room, as fitters dream of Friday night, April 2, and sewing experts whiz along seams to finish their masterpieces in time for the big night.

Girls have developed a fine system of mass production. A costume starts at one corner of the room, and when it comes out on another side, it is finished. There is a fitting department, a basting department, a sewing machine department, where one person sews seam, passes it on to the next, who hems a skirt, and there is even a girl who does nothing but tie threads and remove pins.

Aside from these technical artists, the sewing room even has a trained expert who knows just when each worker needs a coke. Maybe she gets one and perhaps she won't, but at least here needs and welfare are watched, just as in any large-scale factory.

When the curtain goes up on the finished product of this labor, on Friday night, April 2, in the college auditorium at 8:30, the campus will see just what type of group cooperation can do for the morale of the public.

On the more serious side however, the dancers, costumes, properties, and last but not least, the dancers, are better this year than they have ever been before. "This must be due to the fact that the girls are enjoying their work and having so much fun putting their dances together. The show will be a hit! It can't miss!" declared Margaret DeHaan, dance instructor who is directing this year's production.

Tickets are now on sale at 55 cents for service men and high school students, and Gauchos free with A.S. cards. By free, we mean no tax! No charge or any kind!—N.M.

NANI LEILANI

Hanley Takes Top Honors At Tournament

Bud Hanley, student of Santa Barbara State college, brought the college both state and national recognition recently when he took several trophies in the California Badminton championship tournament held in Los Angeles.

Hanley took highest honors in the singles tourney in which he garnered second place, placing him the second highest ranking badminton player in the state. He was defeated for first place by Leroy Ericson, who ranks as the nation's number one mixed doubles player.

In the mixed doubles contest Hanley and his partner, Mrs. L. B. Hollister, got to the quarter-finals, while in the men's doubles Hanley teamed with Malcom Morehouse to place in the semi-finals.

Hanley has risen from ninth to second ranking in the state and sixth in the nation as an outstanding singles player.
