STUDENTS DANCE TONIGHT

SEVENTH ANNUAL DANCE CONCERT NEXT WEEK

Members of the advanced modern dance and dance composition classes and other students of the women's Physical Education department next Thursday and Friday at 8:30 p.m. will present the seventh annual Dance Concert in the auditorium of Santa Barbara college. According to director Mrs. Raffaele Van Curan, the first half of the program is to consist of dances with formal interest in composition, while the second part will be devoted to a folk suite.

"There are to be no solo numbers; more coordination and skill is required of the girls in group dances," Mrs. Van Curan said in a recent interview.

Those participating in the dancing are also sharing in the creative experience of the production, which makes it an educational work rather than professional, though professional standards are desired.

Costumes are being designed by the dancers; the choreography is being created by members of the composition class and Emma Lou Eppel, piano accompanist, for the concert is writing music for two of the ten dances to be performed.

Also included as accompaniment will be percussion instruments. The music is being written from the dance pattern.

Assisting with lighting and set will be Eleanor Morrissey's stagecraft class.

Featured and unusual will be the dance in ballad form to an early American poem. Ray Puissegur will narrate the words while the dancers give the body expression to the mood and story.

Students will be admitted free to this concert. The price of admission for faculty is 35c, general admission is 60c, reserved seats 80c and service personnel and children 35c.

UNRRA Clothing Drive Starts On Campus

The United National Clothing Collection is from April 1-30. This collection is a united effort on the part of United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration and various voluntary war relief agencies.

The purpose of the collection is to secure the maximum quantity possible of good used clothing for free distribution to needy and destitute men, women and children in war-devastated countries. Here on campus this drive is being sponsored by the Home Economics Club.

The type of clothing needed is good, substantial, used clothing, for both winter and summer wear. Although clothing need not be in perfect repair, it must be useful to the people who will receive it. Underclothing and all types of cotton garments should be washed before they are donated, but need not be ironed.

There are certain things that cannot be used, such as women's hats, dress hats and derbies. Shoes with high heels, open toes or open backs, evening slippers, and novelty types cannot be used. All shoes donated should be mated and tied.

Childhood Ed. Play Tomorrow

Members of the Early Childhood Education department are presenting their annual creative play tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 p.m. in the college auditorium. Admission is 12 cents for children and 30 cents for adults.

This year's production is entitled "Inside the Balloon," and the story takes the characters and audience on a trip through five wonderlands: balloon land, sugar land, sky land, under-the-ground land, and forest land.

Co-starring in this imaginative and unique production are Doris Mae Ingersoll and Helen Blakenbaker as the Balloon Man and Linda Lou. Others in the cast and who have been working on the production include Carolyn Goodlander, Betty Patterson, Shirley Quinn, Ruth Kriby Seagoe, Carol Stewart, Phyllis Horton, Clara Harwood, and Billie Bowie. Other characters in the story besides those already mentioned are 3 little balloon men and their king, the peppermint stick twins, a gingerbread man, elves, fairies, gnomes, a sandman, and a rainbow man.

Rehearsals have been going on for 3 weeks under the direction of Miss Edith Leonard, Miss Dorothy Van Deman and Mrs. Florence Lyons of the ECE department.

McNEEL GARNERS FIRST PRIZE IN SPEECH PRELIMS

Bob McNeel won first prize at the after-dinner speaking contest preliminary held by the speech department last Monday afternoon. His topic was "Making Fun of Public Speakers," which included ministers.

Tanya Kasper won second place with her talk on how she would advertise Speech 11.

Other contestants included Noni Williams, Ethel O'Banion, Bobbie Galleher, Jean Calderon, Elizabeth Coghlan, Patty Geyer, and Sharon Smith.

Deadline for ordering caps and gowns and graduation announcements has been changed to Wednesday, April 25. Small loans are available in the Dean's office for those who need them. No interest will be charged.

Orders are being taken in the College Bookstore.

Helen Blakenbaker as Cindy Lou and Doris Mae Ingersoll as the Balloon Man in the E.C.E. play to be presented tomorrow.

Dr. Elly Jacobsen Speaker At Sigma Xi Club Meeting Tonight

Dr. Elly Jacobsen will be the speaker at the meeting of the Sigma Xi Club of Santa Barbara college which is to be held tonight at the home of Dr. Hazel Severy at 2025 Castillo street.

Dr. Jacobsen's topic will be "Recent Advances in Endocrinology" and will be based on her own work on intracular endometrial implants. She will explain the technique of this operation and summarize the contributions this method has made to clinical endocrinology.

Dr. Jacobsen, who was born in Denmark, received her Bachelor's and Master's degrees from the University of Nebraska, and her Doctor's degree from the University of California. In 1943-44, she held the Vassie James Hill Fellowship of the American Association of University Women. As a research associate at the University of California at Los Angeles, she is now engaged in cancer research which makes use of the intracular implant technique.

Members of Sigma Xi, on the campus include Dr. Hazel Severy, Dr. Helen Sweet, Dr. Helen Muller, Proficiency tests for all upper level sophomores, juniors and seniors who expect to teach and who have not yet taken the tests will be given on Tuesday in room 80 from 3 to 6 p.m.

No students desiring to make-up examinations will be admitted at this time. Make-up examinations will be given later in the semester for those who failed some parts of the test given last fall. There is no charge for the first proficiency examination. Test will start PROMPTLY at 3. See bulletin boards or the head of your department for further information.

Alpha Delta Chi Holds Meeting

Regular meeting of Alpha Delta Chi, honorary elementary education fraternity, was held on April 10 at the Phi Kappa Gamma sorority house.

Following the business meeting, the newly initiated members entertained with a program of charades. Refreshments were served at the close of the affair.

Dr. Mary Erickson, Dr. and Mrs. Addicott, Dr. Ernest Bickerdike, Dr. Willard McRary, Dr. Elmer Noble, Mr. Harrington Wells, and Dean C. D. Woodhouse.

New Sorority Actives, Campus Queen To Be At Presentation Dance

Sorority pledges of 1945, dressed in white, will be introduced at the annual spring formal presentation tonight, at the Montecito country club.

Dancing will be to Doug Hoag's orchestra, and springtime decorations will adorn the hall. Everyone on campus is cordially invited to attend, provided that one member of each couple has an A.S.B. card.

The Campus Queen will be crowned and will reign, with her two princesses, over the presentation of pledges which will follow the coronation ceremony. The queen and princesses have been chosen by popular vote, but their names will be held secret until tonight.

According to Marian Agamalian, A.W.S. president, "After the queen is crowned, the pledges will file in front of the bandstand, and be presented to the royal court, then to the entire audience."

Refreshments will be served in the dining room, and dancing will continue after the ceremonies until 11:30.

Under the direction of Cathy Lesovsky and Marian Agamalian, co-chairmen of the affair, the various committee heads include Marge Welch, refreshments and flowers; Mariana Richardson, crown; Gloria Rosi, publicity; Maudie Etchart, decorations; Joyce Evans, programs; and Katherine Nordstrom, staging. Mariquita Spicer will be in charge of the receiving line, and Mary Ellen Roberts will direct the arrangement of pledges.

Freshman Class Holds Meeting

Naomi Dyer, freshman class president, opened the meeting last Tuesday, and requested all freshmen to vote for campus queen and A.W.S. officers.

Names of the nominees for sophomore council representative were announced. Willie Wigger, Phyllis Hopping, and Eleanor Zankich are the girls who are running, while the two men candidates are Ross Everman and Dick Goodman.

Freshmen discussed the plans for their Gay Nineties Dance, which is scheduled for Saturday, April 28, in the Music Hall from 8:30 to 11:30. It was decided to limit admission to freshmen, who may bring their date and one other couple. Dress for the affair will be gingham and cords.

Miss Dyer asked freshmen women to attend the Marine Dance on May 4. All girls can sign now in the Dean's Office for this affair.

Finally, Miss Dyer announced the next class meeting, and urged all freshmen to attend, as the class officers for next semester will be elected.

THE MESA CAMPUS

One of the big events of the semester for Industrial Education majors and faculty of the department is the Santa Barbara Area meeting of the California Industrial Education Association at Ventura this Saturday, April 21. Special events of the day will be demonstrations in the working and use of plastics, silk screening, silver soldering and safety practices in wood working. All members of the department are expected to attend.

Members of the Industrial Education club were entertained with moving pictures on Marine Paratroopers and important industrial activities at the last regular meeting in the industrial education buildings Thursday.

Last Friday evening the Mesa campus buildings served as a meeting place for the Santa Barbara college alumni association. The evening began with a picnic supper in the court yard, after which the members gathered in a class room for their meeting. The first business was the formal adoption of the constitution followed by election of officers. Louie S. Taylor who had been acting as temporary chairman was elected as president to serve for the coming year.

Mrs. Irene Anderson, principal of the Peabody school in S.B. was chosen as vice president and Miss Marion Ryan, first grade teacher at Harding, elected to the secretary-treasurer office.

Mr. Taylor relates that the next important event before the association is to contact each member of the graduating class of this year and point out to them the importance of joining the association.

Graduates of this year will be the first to have the title of University of California on their diplomas and should feel a certain responsibility in this connection, said Taylor.

Visitors for the week were M. C. Boelder, a member of the Engineering Dept. of U.C., John F. Bovard, College of Applied Physical Education in Los Angeles, and the sixth grade students from Wilson grammar school, who were shown through the aeronautics building.

Owing to the shortage of manpower Bernie Rumack is really doing his part. Just call him "Sultan" Rumack.

Another one of our good men is dropping by the wayside. We hear that this fellow Jack Dyck and girl friend, Jan, are having frequent meetings in the library.

Griff and Burt are in another reform streak. They actually stayed home two nights in a row. Don't worry, girls, it's all over now.

Bridge Wins Over Roosevelt

Liberal education for women is one of the outstanding contributions of the twentieth century to the forward march of civilization. Women now enjoy practically all the educational advantages open to men. However, it bodes ill for the results of these opportunities if a group like the American Association of University Women is so lacking in social consciousness that they can have a tea on Saturday afternoon, complete with bridge, during President Roosevelt's funeral when the entire nation was in mourning.

Despite the protests of a large number of members, including several professors from our faculty, the affair was not even postponed. A liberal education is supposed to cover a multitude of things, perhaps even bridge; but an awareness of the tragic connotations of President Roosevelt's death is vastly more valuable than knowing that trumping one's partner's ace is not exactly proper.

Franklin Roosevelt has become a symbol of a better way of life, even to his critics. He has made mistakes as any man has, but his accomplishments far overshadow any errors. Maybe the A.A.U.W. considers the better life to be more and bigger bridge parties.

LETTER to the EDITOR---

With the life of everyone inevitably wound up in the war and the peace to follow, it is amazing to find the number of students on this campus who simply do not have the time to listen to a news broadcast or to read a newspaper. This is indeed unfortunate, for history has shown that many past upheavals could have been averted had the majority of people been aware of the every day occurrences throughout the world. It is no longer possible to live within a small sphere closing out all that is unpleasant and too realistic. Moreover, since the death of Franklin Delano Roosevelt it is doubly important for everyone to take an active interest in world and national affairs. This applies particularly to college students who have the educational background that supposedly gives them a greater understanding of the importance of seeming unrelated occurrences.

The fallacy that youth is unable to take an active and responsible part in the solving and correcting of national and international problems is ridiculous. The young men and women of the armed forces and the young people of Europe, the underground movements, have proved to all the ability of youth when the occasion arises. Worthy of note is twenty-three year old Ali Alireza, the delegate representing Arabia at the forthcoming San Francisco Security Conference. Alireza was a student on the Berkeley campus, but postponed his studies when the King of Arabia requested that he participate in the peace negotiations.

Unless students start to become conscious of what is happening in the world outside of their own intimate circles, they will prove themselves incapable of doing their duty as citizens of the world. The excuse of not having time to keep up with current events is weak, particularly since most students manage to have quite active social lives. There is no argument against the fact that only through a better and fuller

We can think of nothing clever to say, so will therefore plunge headlong into whatever dirt we have managed to collect this week.

Question of the week is: what charming young coed was seen last Friday in the back room of Pelch's, drinking root beer and playing the pinball machines with one HARVEY?

It is reported that DOROTHY PARSLOW is checking out of school to be married. Her fiance is Marine Sgt. BOB WAGNER, as we related last week. Their nuptials will be celebrated in May.

EMJAY PEKOR, formerly of the Gaucho Room and Santa Barbara college, is engaged to EARL McFATE of the Biltmore. We have seen him and can vouch that he is a handsome young man along the lines of a Greek god.

One of our campus romeos, CHARLEY CLARK, is extremely popular with his feminine students at La Cumbre. Has the draft hit the junior high schools so hard that the girls are forced to fall back on their student teachers? This is really a bad situation.

ELLIE EIMER, MARY K. GRIMM and LEE KLING, consumed by an over-amount of school spirit, journeyed down to Oxnard to view the baseball game. Although they were the sole representatives of our student body attending, the Navy was so inhospitable that they were refused admission and were thereupon forced to hitch-hike back to SB. We may now add their names to the list of martyrs who have suffered for the cause.

This weekend, HELEN KIPF was seen, and we do mean seen, in the company of a certain Navy lieutenant. Also exposing their hand-who have taken such active part in knowledge of what is happening in the world today and every day can there be any hope for future peace. Nona P. Christensen.

some forms to the healthful rays of Sol were PAT BRADFISH, TOM BURT and GORDIE GRIFFITHS. PAT really deserves a decoration of some kind. What other girl around here rates a date with TWO men?

LOUISE BRADY and SHIRLEY PUTMAN, former students, visited their old haunts this week. Although how anyone, other than a ghost could visit a haunt, unless they have spiritualistic leanings, is beyond our ken.

El Paseo-ing Sunday were SUE PERRY, PATTY O'HANLON and PHYLLIS MacKINNON. (Check that inverted TIME style. Who said we weren't well-read?)

JANE DOWNING and MARION SILVERSMITH were doing their bit for "our Boys" at the Biltmore dance on Wednesday night last. We shudder to think what the situation would be around here if it weren't for the Army, Navy, Marines and other branches of the armed services. We just couldn't face it.

ever came in contact with them knows that their manners weren't either. Their father was a huge Alaskan huskie, their mother a big German shepherd. Their appearance alone was enough to scare people half to death.

King belonged to me and Prince to my brother. I am ashamed to admit that King was always the first to bite anyone. But he wasn't selfish about it; in fact, both dogs believed in share and share alike as far as their victims went.

It is hard to say which was worse, their bark or bite. Personally I'd put in my vote for the bark, but then I really couldn't say for sure because they never got around to biting me. Not a night went by without either my brother or me having to crawl out of bed to answer phone calls, warning us in no uncertain terms to lock up those blankety blank dogs. Our neighbors did not lack for colorful adjectives. But King and Prince did not do their worst barking at night; they spent their days barking at the neighbor's cows. The cows retaliated by stopping giving milk and of course we got the blame.

They were strictly carnivorous. The fresher and rawer the meat the better they liked it. The lady next door bought a live chicken for Sunday dinner. After she had chopped off its head, the chicken was hopping around the back porch when King made a lunge for it. I heard the lady's scream of rage, but by the time I got to the scene of the crime all I could find were a few feathers and two very happy looking dogs.

But we loved those wicked beasts. When we finally had to give the dogs away, my brother and I both cried bitterly. I felt sure no other dog could ever take their place in my affections; but as usual I was wrong. I now have a darling little cocker spaniel that isn't big enough to bite anyone above the knee.

Youthful Pianist Featured Soloist in Symphony Concert

Thirteen-year-old pianist Robert Haag, pianist from Bakersfield, will be the featured soloist for the All Southern California High School Symphony Orchestra concert on May 7 at Lobero Theatre. Haag was selected following a contest between him and Helen Nelson, Santa Ynez High School student, at Santa Barbara college Saturday afternoon. Both of the young pupils displayed outstanding talent while playing Grieg's Concerto, but Haag's performance was slightly better. He was chosen unapprisingly by the judges, Miss Mildred Couper, Mr. Lloyd Browning and Dr. Van A. Christy.

Haag is a freshman at Kern County high school in Bakersfield and he has been playing the piano since he was four years old as a student of Mrs. Ethel McMannes. He has played twice with the Bakersfield city orchestra, as soloist when he was nine years old, playing Haydn's Concerto in D Major. Last year he performed Grieg's Concerto with the high school orchestra. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Haag of Rio Bravo.

Miss Nelson is 15 years old and a junior at Santa Ynez High School. She has been studying six years with Mr. Robert MacDonald as her teacher. Helen has been soloist for the Santa Ynez Spring music festival during the past three years and last year was accompanist and librarian for the All Southern California High School Orchestra.

Student tickets for this concert must be obtained in the student body office from April 23 to 27. All seats are reserved and students will be issued a free ticket upon presentation of their student body card when a ticket is secured.

This is the first time competition has been held to select the soloist for the All Southern California orchestra. Edwin Jones, chairman, expressed the desire to make this a yearly event.

The selection of Haag as soloist completed the orchestra for the fifth annual concert sponsored by Santa Barbara college. Fifty out of town students representing 44 high schools were chosen by a college committee. Nine pupils from Santa Barbara high school will also play in the orchestra.

Vladimir Bakaleinikoff, assistant conductor of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, will be the conductor. He is an internationally famous musician and has a national reputation as a teacher of young students. For eight years he has been identified with the national music camp at Interlochen, Michigan.

The program for the concert will consist of the following numbers: Die Fledermaus by Johann Strauss, Piano Concerto by Grieg, American Salute by Morton Gould, Little Fugue in G Minor by Bach, Symphony No. 5 (first movement) by Tschaiakowsky, Pavanne by Gould and Russian Sailors' Dance by Reinhold Gliere.

Army Ten Edges Out Hilltoppers

In a hotly contested game with the lead seesawing back and forth four times the Army Redistribution Center aggregation edged out a fighting Gaucho ten 5-3.

First blood was drawn by the Gauchos in the second inning when Rodriguez slammed the pitcher's offering down the third base line for a circuit trip. The Army team capitalized a fielding error and two hits to push two runs across, and take the lead. Seed hit a towering outfield fly, Rodriguez scoring after the catch and tying the score.

Burt sacrificed with Griffiths on third in the fifth. Griffiths slid into home knocking the ball out of the catcher's hand scoring a run and giving the Gauchos a 3-2 lead. This climaxed the Hilltopper's scoring for the day.

The Army unleashed their heavy artillery in the sixth and seventh innings giving the college outfielders some exercise, collecting five hits and three runs.

In a rubber match the Gauchos play host to the Miraloma Air Station at 4:00 Friday afternoon at Pershing Park. Coach Dearborn has also scheduled a tentative game with Hoff Hospital for Monday.

ROBERT HAAG

Roosevelt Saluted

By CLARISSA HOWE

Sunday, April 15, 1945, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the president of the United States for twelve long years, was laid to rest in Hyde Park, the home he loved. This one man had dominated the political life of a great nation longer than any other man in that nation's history; in fact, to many of the citizens of that nation, Roosevelt and the presidency were synonymous. Mr. Roosevelt, be he dictator, as his opponents claimed, or the savior of his country, as his friends said, will occupy a prominent place in the history of the United States.

The President had worked harder than any other man to secure a lasting and just peace; and when at last it looked as if his dreams might be coming true he was taken from us. His life had been full and though he died at home, it was as much the death of a great soldier as dying on a battlefield.

The victory in Europe and the coming San Francisco Conference were two things he would have liked to have seen. The armies occupied with winning the war will not halt because of his death and the conference will go on as scheduled. Mr. Roosevelt will not be at that meeting of the representatives of the Allied Nations in body, but his spirit will attend. The only thing this nation has left of its guiding light for twelve years is his spirit; and this nation and the men chosen to represent it must not, under any circumstances, be false to that spirit.

The nation, at this time, is still bewildered by the shock of his sudden death and many people are wondering what the future will be without him. The future will be only what we, the people of the United States, make it. We have, as no other people on earth, the power to rise from our sorrow and create a new and better world. A world which a man like Franklin Roosevelt would have been proud of. We must let the ideal, dreams, and hopes of Mr. Roosevelt be the beacon beckoning us ever onward. We must create from the holocaust of today a world which will have compassion for the poor in heart, a world which will have pity for those broken in body and mind, a world which will remember "FAITH, HOPE, AND CHARITY."

Hartford Archibald, AMS president, announced today that all men attending the AMS sports movies should be dressed in the clothes they intend wearing to the presentation dance in order that they may stay through all the movies.

YWCA Hoes Weeds To Obtain Clubhouse

With aching backs and strained muscles at varied and vital spots, the members of the YWCA club hobbled painfully to classes on last Friday after spending two hours the evening before hoeing very healthy weeds from the yard of the Stroller's clubhouse on Loma street.

Although members of the group are very public minded, the above can hardly be classed as a good deed because in return for being part-time gardeners, the YWCA has the privilege of using the clubhouse for their bi-monthly meetings.

The main attraction of the evening was food which everyone had a share in bringing as well as a share in devouring.

After the satisfying of all appetites was achieved, a short business meeting was held in which plans for the remainder of the semester were discussed. Plans for the election of next year's officers and a retreat at the college cabin for incoming and outgoing cabinet members, so that plans could be formulated now for next semester's activities, were among the matters brought up at the meeting. Another problem brought up was that of presenting to the student body the opportunities presented by the American Friends Service Organization. It was decided to prepare a display in the library for that purpose. A committee was appointed to plan the details of the WAVES tea held last Thursday.

AMS Meeting Features Films

Sport films are scheduled for the next regular AMS meeting to be held tonight at 7:00 in room 80. The film fare includes "Thrill a Second," "Water Sport," "Track And Field," and a movie of the Army-Redskin game.

AMS prexy Hartford Archibald and Bob Elliott have gone to great pains to secure worthwhile entertainment and a big turnout is expected. The films are being released through the courtesy of the Tidewater Oil Company.
