Tuition fee. In the 1935-36, the $350—$390 budget has been set up by the Committee on Finance and Budget. Because of the large number of students receiving scholarships, the committee on the basis of this budget has recommended to the President that he be given a large number of students to be awarded in aid. This recommendation will be considered by the Board of Trustees at its meeting. The total amount of the budget will be increased in the amount of the 1934-35 amounts to be used in previous years to support the various activities of the college. The total amount of the budget for the year is in the amount of $350,000.

The budget committee made up of Dr. M. M. Glick, head of the Business College, and Dr. Ralph Stoffel, chairman of the Finance Committee, recommended the budget for the year.

The sum of $350,000 will be used in the activities of the college. The total amount of the 1934-35 amount to be used in the activities of the college will be increased in the amount of the 1934-35 amount to be used in the activities of the college.

Judgment Day

On January 30, 1933, Hitler became Nazi dictator. One of his first actions was to forbid the production of plays that he considered to be subversive of his authority. The play The Dictator was one such play, and its director, Richard Brothers, was arrested and put on trial. As it was, the fire was distinctly to the Dictator's advantage, and the play's success suggests that this may have been the reason.

Open Tournament

Contributing to their policy of promoting “Nature’s gifts” on the farm, the Barnyard Artisans are sponsoring a Barnyard Artisans Open Tournament to be held at the 1935 Grid Year.

Shenandoah Park, Loring St., will be the site of the Barnyard Artisans’ Open Tournament. The tournament will be held June 5, 1935.

We would like to have as many Barnyard Artisans as possible, so that competition will be keen, and we must make sure the tournament more interesting through the Barnyard Artisans’ Open Tournament.
