'POPE, AUGUSTAN WORLD' IS SUBJECT OF CRUTTWELL'S COLLEGE LECTURE

"Alexander Pope and the Augustan World" will be the topic of today's All-College Lecture to be presented by Patrick M. Cruttwell, visiting associate professor of English at UCSB. This lecture is the first of the spring series planned by the Committee on Drama, Lectures and Music. It will be held in the classroom auditorium at 4 p.m.

This series will include talks by outstanding UCSB faculty members as well as distinguished guest lecturers.

Cruttwell's lecture will deal with the relations between the renowned poet, Alexander Pope, and the society of the early 18th century in which he lived.

Pope's Friendships

Cruttwell will examine Pope's friendships and enmities, his attitude toward his readers, his ideal of a human society and the difference between that and the reality he had to cope with and the various poses he assumed and the degree of reality behind them.

According to Cruttwell, this lecture is part of a general study of the 18th century English literature and society, which he hopes to eventually present in a book.

On Fulbright Grant

Cruttwell is at UCSB on a one-year Fulbright grant on leave from the University of Exeter, England. He has published numerous articles on this and related subjects in professional periodicals.

His article concerning Pope's Catholicism will be printed shortly in the "Hudson Review."

Born in India

Cruttwell was born in Assam, India, and is a citizen of Great Britain. He was educated at Edinburgh Academy and Pembroke College, Cambridge. He served as a lecturer in English at the University of Rangoon in Burma and at the University of Exeter.

His book, The Shakespearean Moment, was published in 1954. Cruttwell's new novel, A Kind of Fighting, will be published this spring in England.

Greeks, Dorms Set To Host Clergymen

On the evening of March 1 and 2 clergymen will visit the sororities, fraternities and residence halls as part of Religion in Life Week. The living groups have requested Protestant and Catholic ministers, Buddhist priests, Jewish rabbis and men of many other faiths.

It is the purpose of these meetings to give the student body an opportunity to learn about the different religions and to ask questions informally concerning their various aspects.

Further opportunity will be given the students to discuss religious matters at the noon seminars, March 2 and 3, in the Huddle. Three experts on the Eastern religions will be present Monday.

On Tuesday three well-known Jewish rabbis will speak. The students may challenge the clergy and are encouraged to express their own views during these discussion periods.

CAL TJADER JAZZ SHOW JAMS HERE THURSDAY

Gauchos host a second top jazz name as Cal Tjader arrives Thursday evening, on the heels of the Dave Brubeck Quartet. The Tjader Quintet demonstrates its version of the modern sound at 8 p.m. in the campus auditorium. Brubeck held the same hall last semester.

Tickets are available at the Graduate Manager's office, $1.25 for students. At-the-door tickets are $1.50. Non-student tickets are $2. The Sophomors Class hosts, and sophs with class cards get in for $1.

Tjader's jazz got high praise from "Downbeat" recently. The vibraphonist and group are favorites on college campuses across the country.

The group is a leading exponent of Afro-Cuban jazz. Profits from the show go to the UCSB Student Union fund.

The Tjader name is often seen on LP covers as well as the marquee of the Blackhawk in San Francisco and the Blue Angel in New York. Tjader, Brubeck and Shelley Manne are usually named in one breath as the nation's top jazz combos.

'INDUSTRY' TOPIC OF SENIOR TALKS

Representatives from top U.S. industries have begun a series of on-campus interviews with UCSB seniors. Yesterday's visit by a representative of the American Institute for Foreign Trade and today's by a representative of Citizens National Bank marked the start of a job-interview series that will continue into April.

Many areas of industry will be represented, including electronics, merchandising and civil service. Interested seniors should contact Betty Koral at the campus placement office, Bldg. 431, Room 129. Interviews are by appointment only.

MARGARET MEAD HERE MARCH 13

Tickets are now on sale for Dr. Margaret Mead's lecture, "Orchestrating the Cultures of the World." Dr. Mead, appearing through the sponsorship of Crown and Scepter, will speak in the campus auditorium Friday, March 13, at 8:30 p.m.

Tickets for the lecture will be $1.25 for general admission and 75c for students and faculty.

Reservations and tickets for the dinner for students and faculty with Dr. Mead at the Faculty Club may be obtained at this time also. Tickets for the dinner are $1.50 for faculty and students.

According to Roberta Hart, vice president of Crown and Scepter, Dr. Mead is anxious to meet as many students and faculty as possible at the dinner.

Tickets are limited for both events. They can be purchased in the Graduate Manager's office, from any member of Crown and Scepter, Gammill's Clothing Store, and at the Chamber of Commerce office in Santa Barbara.

Student Summer Jobs In Europe Available

A number of summer jobs in Europe are open to American college students, reports the UCSB placement office.

Relaying information supplied by Frankfurt-based American Student Information Service, the placement office says most of the jobs are in the booming West German industries.

Summer work is also available in England, France, Switzerland, Scandinavia and the Benelux countries. Child-care jobs for coeds are open in France and Germany.

The Student Information Service, a non-profit organization, will help students make travel arrangements. Further details are available in the placement office, Bldg. 431, Room 129.

'Birth of a Nation' Movie Tomorrow

"The Birth of a Nation," a milestone film in the development of the motion picture, will be shown tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the classroom auditorium as a part of the Department of Speech Spring Film Series.

Directed by D. W. Griffith, "The Birth of a Nation" is a 1914 cinematic adaptation of Thomas Dixon's novel, "The Clansman."

Dixon's story of the Civil War and reconstruction was written with blind prejudice and, although the screen adaptation tempers the point of view of the novel, the picture remains a faulty social document of the times.

In spite of its ideological weakness, Griffith-created a film that is critically accepted as the outstanding contribution of a brilliant creative period in motion-picture history.

The Spring Film Series will continue with the showing of "Potemkin" on Feb. 25. Admission to events of the series is free.

'Romeo and Juliet' Tryouts End Today

Tryouts for "Romeo and Juliet" will be held today from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Little Theater.

Anyone who is interested in acting, regardless of his major, is invited by Director Stanley Glenn to try out for a part.

If any interested person cannot attend the tryouts at the scheduled times, he is asked to contact Dr. Glenn at the Speech Department and arrange to try out at another time.

The play will be presented April 29 through May 2 and May 5 through the 9th.

Three Performances Set by Men's Glee

Men's Glee Club plans for the spring semester include two on-campus performances and one at the Miramar Hotel, for the Southern California Rotary Club, Friday, Feb. 27.

Another performance will be at the UCSB College Day on March 7, when several high schools visit the campus. The Glee Club will participate in an entertainment assembly then.

April 22 the men will join the Women's Glee Club and present a spring concert (not the Spring Sing).

The Men's Glee Club is directed by Dr. Roger Chapman this semester. Chapman replaces Carl Zytowski, who is on a sabbatical leave to Europe until fall.

Chapman urges any basses or first tenors who have had chorus experience to try out for the Glee Club.

JOHN FISCALINI

GAY WERT

Fiscalini, Wert Compete for Rep-at-Large; Sahyun, Warren Non-Af; Hall, Wilson AMS

by Phyllis Fisher

Special Associated Students elections will be held here Thursday and Friday, Feb. 19 and 20, to fill the vacancies of AS men's rep-at-large, AS non-affiliated men's rep and AMS president.

Competing for the office of AS men's rep-at-large are John Fiscalini, Inter-Fraternity Council president, and Gay Wert, who has been active on the Special Events Committee this year. All students may vote for this office.

Candidates for the office of AS non-affiliated men's rep are Melville Sahyun, president of the Chemistry Club, and Charles Warren, a junior in sociology.

Voting Jobs

Both these positions have voting status on Council and are two of the most important Council offices, stated Carolyn Jones, AS vice president and Elections Committee chairman.

The position of AS non-affiliated men's rep is a new office this year, called for by a constitutional amendment adopted last spring. This office was vacated by Frank Rath, who moved onto campus recently.

AMS President

Vying for the position of AMS president are David Hall and Ned Wilson, AMS secretary. The office became vacant when Bruce Patterson was declared ineligible to hold the job for the spring semester.

Polls will be open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. by the Library and from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. near the Student Union and Dining Commons. There will not be an elections assembly.

Deadline for publicity was yesterday. No further publicity will be accepted, according to Miss Jones.

Hare's System

Hare's Preferential Voting System will be used for the election. This is a method in which a number is placed beside all candidates for each office in order of the voter's preference. This will eliminate runoff elections.

Ballots will be counted Friday afternoon by the members of the Election Committee and students approved for the job by Council.

"With the budget coming up in the spring it is essential that we elect qualified individuals to these important positions," stressed Miss Jones.

Rep Candidates John Fiscalini, Gay Wert Voice Opinions as Election Approaches

(The following is an informal interview with men's rep candidates John Fiscalini and Gay Wert. Fiscalini is currently IFC president and is active in AMS. Last year he was an assistant editor of La Cumbre. Wert is a transfer junior from Palomar JC, where he was AS vice president. He has been active on the Special Events Committee and is president of Sycamore Hall. Bruce Loeb and Chris Querton conducted the interview.)

How can you represent the students?

FISCALINI — "I feel an individual can represent the students by listening to their views and presenting those views in council. All it takes is a little diligent work, going to the individuals and talking to them to see what they really want. Each student really cares about student government. There is no other reason for student government except for the students themselves."

WERT — "When you speak to an individual about his ideas it is hard to get an over-all picture of what the views of the campus are. If there were some way to go around to different organizations, not just fraternities and sororities, the student body would be benefited. They do have their problems and need representatives. I know that a lot of genuine gripes and legitimate ideas are in the back of students' minds. Unless you ask them, many students aren't going to offer suggestions."

What do you think of the Legislative Council?

WERT — "It needs improvement. There doesn't seem to be enough participation and not enough interest. There is nothing motivating them, they don't seem to be putting everything they have into it."

FISCALINI — "Being a member of council I could not objectively analyze it and it would have to be an objective thing."

Should a person be allowed to hold two offices on Council?

FISCALINI — "If I were to win, the two offices I would hold would be totally different. (Fiscalini is now IFC president, a non-voting position on the council.) One is of an executive nature and the other of a legislative position. I believe I have enough time and I believe I have the qualifications to do both jobs adequately."

WERT — "I believe that if there is anyone qualified who would accept the other job, he should be given preference over the person holding the first position."

If a 4.0 English major and an outstanding athlete were both in need of an on-campus job and there was only one job available, to whom would you give it?

WERT — "I would have to give it to the English student. In our school the academic should have preference over the athletic."

FISCALINI — "I would rely on the feelings of my constituents. I don't think a men's rep should vote as he personally feels, but rather as his constituents feel."

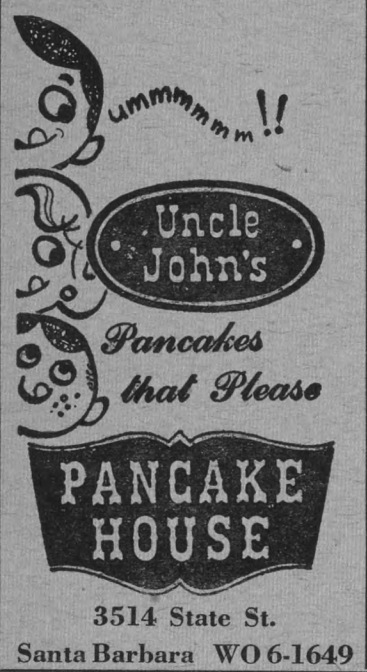

(To Fiscalini) Are you using the rep position as a stepping stone to the student body presidency in the spring?

FISCALINI — "I have thought of running for student body president, but as of late I am almost sure I will not run. It is a difficult job, and due to personal and financial reasons I don't have any choice. I have to work next year."

The selection process will begin on Saturday, Feb. 28, when a group of past Project Indians will be on campus to hold an orientation and preliminary selection meeting.

According to Sam Thomsen, URC director, who took part in the Project India program, "All UCSB students who feel that the United States is worth sacrificing a summer for, who are interested in other people, who are willing to spend the following school year describing their experiences to adult and student groups throughout the area, and who are in good physical health, are welcome to apply and try out for the team."

Frosh Five Tests Warrior Yearlings

UC Santa Barbara's freshman cagers, trying to shake a two-game tailspin, tangle with Westmont's frosh tonight in a 6:15 p.m. preliminary contest at the Armory.

The Gaucho record slipped to 6-7 over the weekend as Coach Frank Rohter's forces dropped games to the City League All-Stars, 72-64, and fast-breaking Fullerton Junior College, 76-57.

CARTER SEEKS STRENGTH FOR GAUCHO SPIKERS

University of California at Santa Barbara track coach Nick Carter today issued an all-points bulletin for pole vaulters and high jumpers as he began whipping his Gaucho thinclads into shape for their intercollegiate debut Feb. 28.

"We have a good turnout, possibly better than in former years," commented Carter, "and we have fine depth everywhere except at the pole-vault and high-jump positions. Without these two spots filled, we are hurting. I hope someone will come to our rescue."

The 1959 season officially opens Monday, Feb. 24, when Carter stages the annual inter-class meet, with the perpetual AMS Trophy going to the winning team. The Freshmen are the defending champions.

Coach Art Gallon's Gaucho basketballers made sure Saturday night that they weren't going to be alone in the California Collegiate Athletic Association basement.

The University of California at Santa Barbara crew dropped into the CCAA cellar on Friday night with a 76-63 setback at the hands of speedy San Diego State, but came storming back on the following evening for a convincing

FRANK BENNETT

92-61 conquest of Long Beach State and a split in their weekend doubleheader at the Armory.

Despite a 22-point performance by sharpshooting Gaucho guard Frank Bennett, the fast-breaking Aztecs wore down the UCSB defense for their fifth conference victory. But it was a different story the following night as the red-hot Gauchos, behind the scoring punch of sophomores John McMillan and Gene Freeman, blew the 49ers off the court with a pinpoint offense, tight zone defense and an effective full-court press.

The Gauchos survived the weekend action with a 2-6 CCAA mark, while Long Beach fell off its fourth-place pedestal to join the Gauchos in the fifth-best slot.

Gaicho Quint Looks for Second Straight Win Over Rival Westmont in Armory

Santa Barbara's two basketballing colleges, the University of California from the north side and Westmont from the south side, meet halfway at the National Guard Armory tonight for their second of a two-game series.

The Gauchos, watching the CCAA title chase from the cellar along with Long Beach State, but riding high on the crest of a current "win streak," will be looking for its second straight victory over the independent Warriors, who are 14-13 on the season.

Art Gallon's cagers rang up their fourth win of the season Saturday night, an impressive 92-61 triumph over Long Beach, the same night that Chapman's highly touted Panthers were handling Paul Sieman's Westmonters, 104-77.

If the Gauchos are to repeat their earlier 77-70 win over the Warriors, they must contain high-scoring Paul Heinrichs, who has constantly been a thorn in the side of the Westmont opposition with a 20.2-point-per-game average.

OUR PASSIVE PRESIDENT . . .

(This is the second in a series of editorials evaluating the first semester's work of the voting Legislative Council members.)

Stan McGinley has been a passive president leading a timid council.

It doesn't have to be this way. McGinley has the potential to be an outstanding president. He has a great knowledge of AS activities stemming from four years of experience. The president has a working knowledge of parliamentary procedure. McGinley is well respected by the council.

Yet his first semester's work has not been impressive. In his campaign platform he advocated the revision of the constitution. The constitution committee is only now beginning to do any real work.

Recreational Program

McGinley stated last spring that it was possible to "design a recreational program capable of fully satisfying the needs of every student." (El Gaucho, May 1, 1958.) Little has been done to make this seemingly impossible pledge become a reality.

He advocated definite and clear-cut policies on major events such as Homecoming and Barbary Coast. This has been done thanks to the splendid work of co-chairmen Kathy Grant and Shelley Shapiro.

McGinley told El Gaucho last spring he wanted to start new traditions similar to Frosh Camp. No new traditions are under way at present. He said he was going to write articles in El Gaucho on timely issues. To date he has written only four articles in 28 issues of the paper, none since Nov. 4.

The president wanted to establish a consultation hour during which he would meet students. If this has been done it is being kept a secret. He wanted to start more all-encompassing activities like the Blue Book Ball. With the exception of making the Homecoming dance free, nothing has been done in this area.

Overestimated Council

Aside from his failings in carrying out his campaign platform, McGinley's greatest shortcoming has been to overestimate his council. He has chosen to play the role of a moderator, a passive president waiting for the council to initiate the legislation.

This philosophy might be acceptable if he had an energetic council of capable leaders with which to work. Such is not the case. McGinley has often been caught in the predicament of being a moderator with nothing to moderate. As a result little has been accomplished by the council to date.

Certainly, the responsibility for the council's failings does not rest entirely on McGinley's shoulders. The council is equally at fault.

Changing Philosophy

Fortunately the president appears to have realized his errors and is changing his philosophy. In the first meeting of the new term, Tuesday, McGinley did more than he has done during the first four months of school.

1) He told council that the visitation program to living groups would be resumed.

2) He set up a special committee to study the athletic problem.

3) Along with Vice President Carolyn Jones, he sponsored an amendment to the by-laws which would limit a council member to only one position. Unfortunately this failed.

4) In the ACB meeting shortly before the council session McGinley moved to open the Greek constitutions to the ACB. As it stands now only the Deans, through a gentlemen's agreement with the Greeks, are permitted to see the constitutions. Final action on this attempt is pending further study.

All in all, McGinley let the council know things would be different this semester. He gave the impression that there was much to be done and that it would be done.

The Associated Students can gain much through the efforts of Stan McGinley. El Gaucho hopes his talent and experience will be used more wisely and energetically than they were the first semester.
