Good Ole Max

To the admission of California educators, conservative Max Rayback, a former congressman, is the linchpin in the battle to bring up the standards of public education in the state. Rayback, who is often referred to as the "conservative philosopher," believes that the best way to improve the educational system is through a return to traditional values and discipline. He has been a vocal critic of the current educational system, which he feels is too permissive and too focused on issues of diversity and inclusion at the expense of academic excellence.

Max Rayback's proposals include increasing standardized testing, implementing a stronger curriculum, and increasing the number of school police officers. He also advocates for a return to the traditional four-year high school program and反对 the idea of year-round school.

In his speech, Rayback highlighted the importance of education in shaping the future of the state and the nation. He called for a renewed sense of patriotism and a return to the values that made the United States great.

Students Influence Voting

Proposition 1A, the bond issue for higher education, and Proposition 1B, the ballot initiative, were declared "square" by University officials.

The Associated Students (AS) President, Mr. Kennedy, has been a vocal supporter of Proposition 1A and has encouraged students to vote. He has stated that the proposed bond issue will help to improve the quality of education by providing funds for new buildings and facilities.

However, the Associated Students (AS) Vice President, Mr. Johnson, has been critical of Proposition 1A and has argued that the funds should be used for other purposes, such as scholarships and financial aid.

The Associated Students (AS) has been involved in the campaign to pass Proposition 1A and has distributed information about the bond issue to students. The Associated Students (AS) has also held rallies and other events to encourage students to vote.

LISTENING POST

Mixed Similogs

Dear Sir:

I think that you overlook an important concept in your editorial. The concept of the non-involvement of the individual in the political process, which you refer to as the "non-involvement mentality," is a serious problem in our society.

Many people are content to pattern their ideas after what they think the mass media and the government want them to think. They are not willing to take an active role in the political process, and they feel that it is not their responsibility to make a difference.

There are many reasons for this, but one of the most important is the feeling of powerlessness felt by many people. They feel that their single vote is not enough to make a difference, and they are afraid of the consequences of getting involved.

However, I believe that it is important for each of us to take an active role in the political process. We cannot afford to be content with the status quo, and we must work to make changes in our society.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

Today's Modern Student Views Church As A Quaint Dwelling Of The Ancients

By Terry Dino

If we could hear the spontaneous voice of those who have made the so-called "split brain research" known to us in 1960, we might find that their views on the subject are not at all different from ours today. The "split brain" has been described in medical literature as a condition in which the two hemispheres of the brain are functionally separated and unable to communicate.

It seems that both unfair and illogical to think in terms of a "split brain" or "two brains" when we consider the fact that the human body is a single organism. The brain, like any other organ, is part of a whole and functions as a unit.

The concept of the "split brain" has been used to explain a number of psychological phenomena, such as the "mirror test" and the "split-brain reaction." However, these phenomena can also be explained by other factors, such as the influence of the environment and the role of the individual.

The Bookstore serves the cause of classical literature in many ways. Perhaps the least of these is in keeping up the stock of books properly aligned and the jumble free of dust.

Her most important contribution is in improving the environment for study, enhancing the halls of learning. Homer is the most! Yes, it pays to take a good look at the classics now and then.

So smooth, so satisfying, so downright smokeable!
GBAC Meets Yucca Hall Today
To Decide All-School Champs

By Fred Dawson

This afternoon at 4, the Goleta Beach Athletic Club meets Yucca Hall in a grid contest that will determine the campus All-City All-School team for the season.

The Yucca crew upset a highly rated Yuma team last week in last week’s semi-finals, 27-7 to post a 27-7 victory. The men will create plenty of problems for league scoring leaders Mike Rick Astor.

Yuma boasts Lee Reid, the leading scorer in Intramural football this season for the second successive victory.

SB Prepared For Emergency
-War, Fire, Enemy Attack

By Susan Cumins

When major world powers threaten to go to war, as in the Cuban crisis, a question in every student's mind should threaten.

Alfred Evans, has developed a bell and light warning system which is a part of the national alert system from the North American Defense Command. The system is checked out daily and during an actual national alert, the fire drill would be conducted. The system is checked out daily after the drill is known.

When the signal is received in the fire station, the fire alarm will be sounded immediately for three to five minutes. According to the plans, everyone on campus should go to the nearest permanent building and move into the interior service halls and move into the corridors, away from the windows. Those lacking experience in such procedures should take these same precautions.

Many students who live in Santa Barbara should move to the basement of the Physical Science building and women students should go to City College. Additional information will then be given to those who are not fully aware of what is taking place and what other action should be taken.

The Emergency Readiness Committee, headed by Dean Evans, has prepared a student alert system which is now distributed to every building on campus. These "emergency procedures" must be taken in case of fire or earthquake. Every student should be familiar with this information.

Dean Evans urges all students not to be overly frightened by the threat of war. "It is not advisable to run about and cause panic in school. Education is our job right now." - SB Prepared For Emergency

Prop. 1A Gives UCSB New Buildings, Land

Proposition 1A, a state bond issue committed chiefly to provide funds for California state colleges, junior colleges and universities, was passed by California citizens voting 'Yes.'

The approval of this proposition is estimated to cost $20,000,000 for UCSB. Project plans include the construction of a chemistry building, a marine laboratory, a special drama building, and funds for land acquisition for campus purposes.

Colleges and universities in the state will benefit from this measure in which Proposition 1A will provide funds to departments in which 40 percent increase in high school graduates is expected. Over 150,000 students will be added to present enrollment. University of California enrollments will be 36 percent higher than the combined enrollment in 1961.

The bond program spreads over a period of many years. It allows those who benefit from the facilities to help pay for them while avoiding tax increase now.

Collegiate Coeds and football and Blade members will be selling tickets for 50c. Proceeds will go to the winners of four divisions: women students, faculty and staff women, faculty and staff men, and the individual high scorers each day. "The play, commonly billed as an attack on conformity and lack of humanism in contemporay culture, is a French absurdist tradition, and the French absurdist tradition, the lead characters, Barbara citizens voted 'Yes.'
