Yuletide Spirit Is Featured in Plans

Students, special guests and faculty are invited to attend the Christmas formal to be held at Rockwood, Saturday December 9 at 9:00 o'clock.

The student social committee has been working on plans for this dance since the beginning of the semester and they promise it to be one grand affair. Decoration will be featured and will be in accordance with the Yuletide spirit.

Christmas presents and a Christmas tree will be given by the Associated Women students. The tree will be donated by the student body to the Neighborhood House following the dance. Old Saint Nick will be on hand to give out gifts to all the good little boys and girls.

Students who wish to bring guests not attending State college may get invitations for them from the Dean of women. A fee of 50 cents will be charged.

Several prominent townspeople and officers of various service clubs will be invited to the dance, as guests of the associated student body.

Girls will wear formal dresses but it is not necessary for the men students to wear tuxedos to the dance. Dark suits will serve as well.

Old Newspapers on Exhibit in State Library

Old newspapers, some of them dating back to the eighteenth century, are on exhibit in the library case this week through the courtesy of Dr. Fredrick Ganzert, Barbara Clark, Chris Martin and Tom Holt of the Daily News.

Students who have studied them note many differences in news style and form between these old newspapers and modern ones. Several of the papers have their front pages devoted almost entirely to advertisements.

The oldest paper, "The Boston Gazette and Country Journal" was published 163 years ago. An English sheet, dated 1815 and belonging to Miss Clark, has its whole front page devoted to small paragraphs of advertising. Early local journalists are represented in the "Santa Barbara Daily Press," published in 1875 for the third year, and in an 1892 copy of the Santa Barbara Weekly Press. Two colonial papers, one of which is the "Weekly Inter Ocean," bearing first hand news of President McKinley's death in 1901, belongs to Dr. Ganzert. Besides the "New York Morning Post" 1783, are two early pocket editions of the "New York Times," 1889, and the "Chicago Daily Tribune" 1899.

This exhibit was arranged for the Alpha Phi Gamma journalistic convention during the Thanksgiving holidays.

FOUNDER'S DAY CELEBRATED BY HOME EC GROUP

In celebration of Founder's day and formal initiation into the organization, Kappa Omicron Phi, national home economics professional fraternity, will meet Friday evening. Formal initiation will take place at 5:00 o'clock in the Colonial room in Ebbs hall at which time Louise Headley and Jean McNally will become members of the group.

At 7:00 p. m. the party will go to Vista Mar Monte hotel for a formal dinner, where alumnae members will be guests of honor. Decorations will be carried out in the sorority colors, red and yellow.

The principal speaker of the evening will be Mrs. Elizabeth Davis. Norene Cave will talk on Founder's day. "Trees" will be sung by Jessie Le Baron.

Three Members in Pi Chapter Named at Meet

John Allan Smith, new national president of Alpha Phi Gamma, honorary co-educational journalism fraternity, was one of three officers elected from Pi chapter of Santa Barbara State college when the society held a national convocation in Santa Barbara from November 30 to December 2. Dora Woods, chosen vice-president of the Western division of the society, and Ted Ellsworth, new national executive secretary, also came from Santa Barbara.

Mr. Smith, a graduate of the industrial department here in 1932, was one of the founders and the first president of Omega Xi Alpha, California's journalism fraternity which merged with Alpha Phi Gamma in 1928. Mr. Smith was at that time elected secretary of the organization.

Mr. Smith lives in Los Angeles where he is a teacher in the Lafayette Junior High school and in the Evening High school. He succeeds Russell Fitzgibbon of Beta chapter in Akron, Ohio.

Ted Ellsworth, the new national executive secretary, will succeed Sherrill E. Leonard, also a member of Beta chapter in Akron. Mr. Ellsworth is a former editor of La Cumbre, Santa Barbara State annual, and was a founder of the local Outing club. As a result of the election, the central office of Alpha Phi Gamma will be moved from Akron to Berkeley, Mr. Ellsworth's present residence.

Dora Woods, who was elected western vice-president to replace Mildred Scott of Alpha Gamma, the San Francisco chapter, became a member in 1928, after the merging of Omega Xi Alpha with Alpha Phi Gamma. Miss Woods graduated in June from the U.S.C. law school, where she was president of Phi Delta Delta, national women's legal fraternity. At Santa Barbara State college Miss Woods was one of the founders and the first president of the Outing club.

Katherine Bishop, a member of Pi chapter and former secretary-treasurer of the western division, was succeeded by Elizabeth Repshoff of Omicron chapter at Fresno State Teachers college. Gail Andrews of Alpha Gamma, the San Francisco chapter, was chosen national publicity chairman, a new office in the organization.

Nine Pledges Initiated at Tuesday Meet

At the meeting of Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary society in education, Tuesday evening in the social hall of the First Methodist church, nine students were pledged to Alpha Rho the local chapter. The main feature of the program was a talk by Miss Winifred Frye on "Her Impressions of the Educational Aspects of Russia." Following her talk she answered many questions.

Students comprising the group to be taken into the fraternity this semester were: Charles Barnes, Edwin T. Maier, Charles P. Richardson, and Louie Taylor of the industrial education department; Lois Cole and Mary Ida DeMotte of the home economics department; Rosario Curletti of the English department; Glen Dysinger of the junior high department; and Robert Rittie of the history department.

The music of the evening was given by Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Lyons. It consisted of the following: Piano and cello duets.

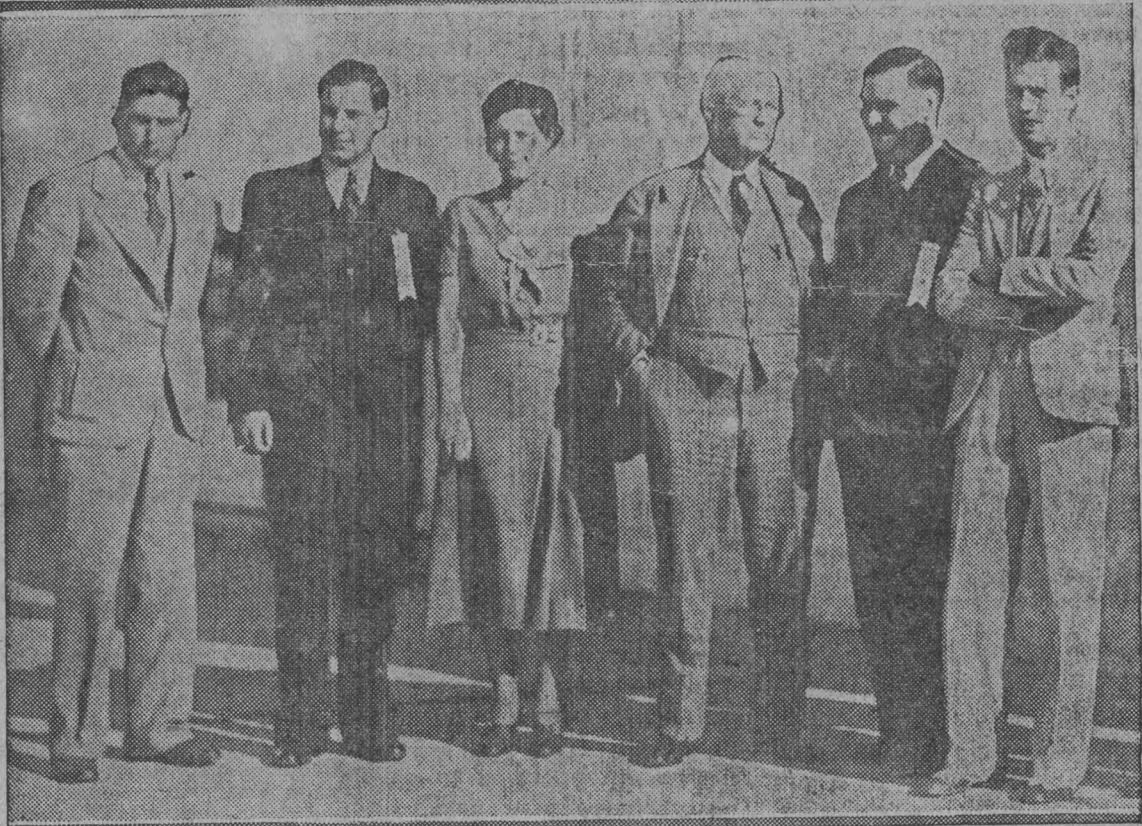

1. "Ah, Moon of My Delight".....Liza Lehmann
2. "Rondo".....Baccherini
1. "Minuet".....Paderewski
2. "Etudes in A".....Wollenhaupt
1. "Preludes".....Massenet
2. "Scenes from a Masked Ball, The Harlequin".....David Popper

State College Prexy's Meet in San Francisco

President Clarence L. Phelps left Santa Barbara last night for a meeting of State college presidents in San Francisco. At the Fairmont hotel, President Phelps will be met by State Superintendent Veiling Kersey and other State Teachers' college presidents to discuss the program for college reorganization.

The problems of summer sessions will also be a topic for discussion. President Phelps announced that Santa Barbara State will hold its summer session as usual in 1934. He plans to return to Santa Barbara Sunday evening.

Boy Leadership Meeting Voted Studied Under Big Success Field Executive by Delegates

Men of the college interested in the work of boy leadership are invited to attend meetings on the subject of Boyology, which are being held every evening this week at Recreation center under the sponsorship of the Knights of Columbus. James E. Delwiche, Santa Barbara attorney, was largely responsible in bringing the institute to the local city.

Stephen Murray, field executive of the Knights of Columbus Boy's Life bureau, is in charge of the Boyology institute. He will give several of the principal talks, and will arrange for the balance of the program. Successful methods in appealing to boys and giving them a worthwhile program to occupy their leisure time is the main aim of the meetings.

Mayor Harvey T. Neilson represented the city of Santa Barbara in welcoming the institute to Santa Barbara. The mayor commended the praiseworthy program offered and declared that Santa Barbara could well use and profit by the training available to leaders of boys during these difficult times.

Former Student Dies in East Last Month

Miss Alice L. McGinty, student at Santa Barbara State college during 1925 and 1926, died last month in Chicago. She took her degree in Chicago State Teachers college and had been teaching until six weeks before her death. She is the sister of Mrs. J. V. Murray of Santa Barbara.

Raymond Moley, Head of Roosevelt's Brain Trust, Explains Views on Value of Teachers

By MARGARET MELLINGER

RAYMOND MOLEY

"If a teacher knows his subject he has something that can be useful to the government of his community and the nation," declared Raymond Moley, former assistant secretary of state, and head of the "Brains Trust," under Franklin D. Roosevelt, and editor of "Today," America's newest political weekly, in a special interview with a representative of the Roadrunner. "That is why President Roosevelt has turned so largely to college professors in his administration. That is the meaning of 'Brains Trust,'" he declared.

Appearing years younger than his newspaper pictures show him to be, Mr. Moley sat in the living room of his modest Santa Barbara winter home, visiting his family and working on the next issue of his magazine.

"Before the early part of 1932 no one heard of the 'Brains Trust.'" The phrase was composed by Jimmy Kieran of the New York Times," revealed Mr. Moley, "who has been associated with Mr. Roosevelt in covering his activities for that paper."

Mr. Moley sat smoking, and spoke through a haze of smoke which hung over the room. The noted economist declared that previous to his presidential campaign the President found an acute need for data on national problems. The governor's counsel had more interest in the state than in Washington so he suggested to Mr. Roosevelt that he choose a competent man to gather and assimilate material for the campaign. With the consent of Mr. Roosevelt the counsel, Samuel I. Rosenman, asked Moley, professor of law at Columbia, to attempt the work. Squinting his eyes in concentra-

"The most successful, all around convention we have ever held," was the praise of Sherrill E. Leonard, retiring executive secretary of Alpha Phi Gamma, speaking to the national convention of the fraternity held in Santa Barbara during the Thanksgiving holidays.

In spite of the fact that the attendance fell slightly short of that anticipated by the host chapter, the full program was carried out.

A tour of the local campus followed registration Thursday and brought to the attention of the delegates the many distinctive departments here, particularly those devoted to art and home economics. Prof. Raymond V. Moley spoke to the assembled delegates at El Encanto following a Thanksgiving dinner.

Friday's business meetings, tour of a few of Santa Barbara's points of interest, were overshadowed by the attendance and talk of Arthur Brisbane, noted columnist, following the luncheon at Sabella's.

The big social event of the convention was the dinner dance held at Vista Mar Monte Friday evening, for which Allan Lambourne's State college dance band furnished the music.

Saturday's outstanding event was the business meeting in which national and western officers were elected and the adoption of a resolution favoring a freedom of the press.

Publication rating awards were made at the closing dinner held at (Turn to Page 3, Column 5)

Mr. Phelps was pleased to discuss his close friend William C. Bullitt, ambassador to Russia. "Bill was a graduate of Yale and a newspaper man on the Philadelphia Ledger. In 1919, when Bullitt was twenty-eight years old, former President Wilson and Lloyd George sent him on a mission to Russia to survey the new regime and to discuss treaty terms with Lenin. He returned to Paris to report that the new Russian regime was there to stay. Lloyd George struck him down with a perfidious reputation. Bullitt, with a courage that every American should admire, held to his principles. The cost of his sincerity was political oblivion. Bullitt became a Public confidence in education is largely destroyed," stated President Clarence L. Phelps, before the college faculty at a gathering following the faculty tea Tuesday afternoon. "Educational philosophy has been shaken down all around us. Now we are in the process of cleaning up what is left," he added.

"Many suggestions are being made for this purpose, the most important of which is the one being developed by the United States Chamber of Commerce," the president declared. Mr. Phelps said that one of the problems of the present time is that education has practically lost its voice. No vigorous supporting group is looking out for it."

In conclusion President Phelps asserted, "We need now a new group of people to re-establish a sound philosophy of education and work for making it effective."

Preceding the talk the faculty gathered for tea on the porch of Ebbs hall. Miss Charlotte Ebbs and Mrs. Clarence Phelps presided at the tea table.

Students Hear Miss Frye Give Talk on Russia

"My general impression of Russia was that it represented a world of work and opportunity for health and happiness," stated Miss Winifred Frye, who spoke Tuesday morning at the combined Dean's meetings in the college auditorium. Miss Frye spent several weeks in Russia this summer on a good-will tour sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's clubs throughout the world.

Everything is being done for the younger generation, Miss Frye observed during her stay in Russia. The young people who are capable are being encouraged to go through universities to prepare themselves for specialized trades.

"The young people who graduate from the universities know their United States history as well as the history of the world. They are required to know four languages before they are graduated."

"There is no class distinction as far as clothes are concerned. All except soldiers and sailors look equally as poorly. Everyone is going places, doing things, hurrying eagerly and excitedly," Miss Frye noticed. "There is no middle class. The Russians are demonstrating the greatest social program ever tried involving 162,000,000 people, one-half of the world's population."

"There are church services in Russia, but the people who attend them are all old people. They have been allowed to keep their churches, but the children all talk and think atheism," stated Miss Frye.

"The churches and cathedrals for the most part, however, have been turned into anti-religious museums in which the walls are covered with yards of muslin on which are printed statistics dealing with proof of the mis-expenditure of money collected by the church."

"We are always ready, Lenin," was the cry of the children as Miss Frye entered the classroom in the public school she visited and the children stood in order to sing their "International." The creed is for the worker and signifies willingness and eagerness to protect the worker, according to Miss Frye.

Workers rent their apartments on the basis of 10 percent of their wages and all receive the same conveniences. Kitchens are small for meals can be bought in cartons at the factory can be free when one-half the population is enslaved in the kitchen," Lenin had said. The pre-school age children are left for a day or as long as parents desire in nurseries where they are cared for by trained nurses.

Miss Frye was introduced by Dean Lois Bennink following the reading of the announcements.

Rubio's Talk Will be Read at Club Meet

The International Relations club will meet in room 43, ninth hour, today. All students on the campus may join the club but a background given by such courses as history of the Americas, history of western Europe, history of Latin America, history of modern Europe, comparative governments, or international relations will be an advantage to those who become members.

At the meeting there will be a discussion of the results of the International Relations conference held at San Diego two weeks ago. Resolutions made by the discussion groups at the conference will be put before the club for criticism. The speech given by President General Ortiz Rubio of Mexico will be read.

Students may sign up for the "Fortnightly Summary of International Events," sent out by the Carnegie Endowment gratis. Plans for housing the books and papers of the club will be discussed. The plans for the International Relations conference to be held in Santa Barbara next year will also be discussed. Outside speakers will be chosen for club meetings this year.

Officers Convene in South for Discussion

Representatives of the Santa Barbara State college A.W.S. will meet at San Diego State college today where they have been called by the San Diego women students for a round table discussion of various problems.

Betty Hopkins, president of the local organization, Elizabeth Leonard, first vice-president, Clare Wise, second vice-president, Elizabeth Stover, secretary, and Catherine Kitley, representative from the W.A.A. left yesterday afternoon for the south. They will spend Thursday night in Los Angeles and will attend the W.A.A. playday at U.C.L.A. Friday.

'Today'

Coming as a surprise to the assembled delegates of Alpha Phi Gamma, national journalistic fraternity, which convened here during the Thanksgiving holidays, Arthur Brisbane, noted columnist, in an impromptu talk at a Friday luncheon in Sabella's fish grotto, opened his address by stating that "women make the best writers in the newspaper business." The famed journalist recounted the daring exploits of Dorothy Dix and Nellie Bly, newspaper women, whom he decreed "the best newspaper reporters in this country."

Recounting a score of reminiscences gleaned from his half century of newspaper work as reporter, correspondent and editor of several large metropolitan papers, Mr. Brisbane fired the enthusiasm of the young journalists. He astounded the English literary students with his fund of classical references, stating "the three greatest writers of the world are Milton, Dante and Shakespeare. And make a note of this—you should all read Laurence Sterne's 'Sentimental Journal'."

Mr. Brisbane, in speaking of his editorship of one of William Randolph Hearst's New York papers, related how in seven weeks he built up the circulation of the daily, through sensationalism, from 40,000 to 800,000. This was during the Spanish American war and "when a ship was reported missing, we sunk her," said Mr. Brisbane. "If (Turn to Page 2, Column 3)

Instructors Talk to C.C.C. Men on 'Being Fooled'

In accordance with the program scheduled for the C.C.C. men at San Marcos by the State college administration, William W. Peters, instructor of mathematics, gave an address to the men on "Being Fooled," Wallace Blair, a tenor of Santa Barbara, sang a group of songs, accompanied by his wife Mrs. Margaret Blair.

Dr. William H. Ellison, head of the social science department, introduced the speaker for the evening's program.

Programs of an educational type are given every Wednesday night and are arranged by E. E. Ericson, Dr. Ellison, and Mrs. Helen M. Barnett.

Clarence L. Phelps was the speaker last Wednesday evening, with Mrs. Barnett lead with community singing, and for the close of the program sang a group of songs, accompanied by Mrs. Blair.

SOCIAL SCIENCE GROUP PLAN FOR ALL DAY MEETING

Sponsorship of an all-day meeting of the Pacific Southwestern branch of Political and Social Science was the outgrowth of a joint meeting of the University Men's club, the University Women and the State college faculty held last Friday evening in the University clubhouse. President Clarence Phelps of the college presided.

"Crime and Delinquency" will be the subject of the March meeting, the second of a series of events which will be held jointly by the college faculty and the university people of the town.

Over 200 persons attended the meeting which followed a dinner in the dining hall of the club. As a part of the program Dr. and Mrs. Henry J. Profant gave two piano numbers and an ensemble of university women sang. Dean Ashworth read a one-act play.

128 GUESTS ATTEND DINNER
On checking with Miss Edith Churchill of the home economics department, it has been estimated that there were 128 guests at the first annual football banquet, last Tuesday. It is expected that the number will be doubled next year.

The Home Stretch

Now with the football season over and the repeal question definitely settled, our outside distractions are consequently lessened with the result that we should all be ready for some serious work.

The old idea of not letting school interfere with personal pleasure is all right to an extent, but let's change our fight song and die for dear old knowledge for a while.

We fully realize that in this age of so many diversified interests, to concentrate seriously on studies, comes close to approaching the impossible. But he lives well, and more, enjoys life greater, who throws his whole being into the proposition under consideration, whether it be a scholastic problem calling for mental exertion, or a hot-cha activity undertaken for purely recreational purposes.

Arnold Bennett wrote a book which he called, "How to Live Twenty-four Hours a Day." Although the conditions set forth in this particular piece of literature pertain primarily to English life, (A.B. was a native of England) we might do well to examine the contents of his work.

The basic idea he attempts to convey is the value of time. Time the invaluable, he insists, affords opportunity, opportunity in turn affords knowledge, and by this procedure the logical result, progress, is obtained.

He speaks not of a material progress, but of a mental happiness, which in short amounts to economic freedom, and an intellectual security which go to make up earthly contentment.

Progress, I believe we will all agree, is inevitable. Regardless of our own personal contributions there is nothing that can stop its ever forward march to the goal of maximum physical and mechanical achievement.

We can all accelerate this process if not by concrete donations to the industrial world or by discoveries that might startle the medical clientele, at least we can do our part by a systematic and earnest undertaking of our various daily duties. Our business is to attend school, and our wages are determined by the effort expended. And so we suggest that you get in and study, devote some serious thought to the old text. Let's make the days left in school before the holidays, hours of genuine accomplishment, days of which we can be sincerely and justifiably proud.

Fine Work Players Club

Being both a success financially and dramatically, "Good Morning, Bill," the State College Players' club comedy presented recently, will remain a pleasant memory to all who saw it. James Murray, director of dramatic activities on the campus, is entitled to much credit for his untiring work in behalf of the Players club.

With little equipment in the way of stage machinery to work with, but with much enthusiasm and not a little talent, the Players turned out a production that won much praise for the ease and skill with which it was produced.

A great many people contributed toward the success of "Good Morning, Bill." Foremost among them was the directory, Dean William Ashworth, whose coaching was invaluable. Much commendation is due Jack Murray, stage manager and his crew composed of Frank Machado, Dan de Reign, John Benge, and Julius Debosset.

The success of the play has attracted the interest of the townspeople of Santa Barbara and it is now rumored that the play will be presented in the Lobero theater. Those of us who have seen the play are awaiting the next production of the College Players with keen anticipation, and with them the greatest of success.

Insight for the Doubtful

Many of us, at times become discouraged, and are prone to adjudge the future as futile. Now for you skeptics, who are beginning to doubt the value of a college education, we here-in offer a few concrete and proven facts.

Recently, these figures were released by Columbia university, and they prove conclusively and in terms of good old dollars and cents the value of time spent in a college or university. The information is made public, through the efforts of James C. Egbert, dean of the School of Business at Columbia. During his research, Mr. Egbert investigated graduates' salaries since 1917 and the results of his work are extremely interesting.

The medium salaries for members of the class of 1917, the first to be graduated from the school, was $8,000 in 1931.

For the class of 1924, the average was $3,500, which included the salary of one member who earned, in a managerial capacity, $100,000. One salesman graduate of last year earned $13,000 while a graduate of 1929 earned, $32,500 as an executive.

We could list many more, but this is sufficient. The important point remains that for the young trained graduate, there still remains opportunity, regardless of depression or unemployment.

The business world will always move over and make room for the individual with ability and competence.

ARTHUR BRISBANE TALKS TO WRITERS

she turned up later that made another story," the distinguished speaker said.

With gusto the notable guest told members of the fraternity that if they didn't ask questions he was going back to his work of writing his column for the following morning, which was interrupted by his appearance at the convention luncheon. One of the group asked him if radio would supplant the newspaper in the dissemination of news, a belief which the speaker vetoed emphatically. The next query extended to advertising, and Mr. Brisbane declared, "If you repeat something a hundred times it means nothing, but if you repeat it 10,000 times it becomes automatic in the mind of the public. Repetition," he added, "is reputation. In the formation of public opinion, nothing can be repeated too often."

"Write with fire and your listeners will read it in a heat," the noted columnist urged the collegians. "If a surgeon can amputate a leg and think about his golf at the same time without impairing the operation, then he is a good surgeon. But if a newspaper reporter ever becomes self complacent and forgets his readers, he might just as well go into the dry goods business."

In Mr. Brisbane's "Today" column appearing in the Morning Press Saturday morning the columnist had the following paragraph:

"Interruption here to go and talk to the 'Alpha Phi Gamma, national honorary co-educational journalistic fraternity,' entertained at Sabella's fish restaurant, on the dock. Stop there, some time. 'The Santa Barbara Pi chapter of Santa Barbara State college is host. Sixty fine young people, boys and girls, ask intelligent questions, and make you a member of Alpha Phi Gamma, only you must come back and be regularly initiated, 'because you know,' says Inez, last name unknown, 'you must promise to devote your life to newspaper work.'"

National officers here during the convention held a short consultation and Sherrill E. Leonard, of Akron, Ohio, executive secretary, offered the patriarch of American journalism an honorary membership in the fraternity, which he accepted. Mr.

Walter Ott, '33, is spending several days in Santa Barbara visiting friends.

William L. Rust, industrial education instructor, was forced to have an extended Thanksgiving vacation because of illness. He has now resumed his duties at the college.

Marcus Cravens, students body president, who was unable to attend school on Monday or Tuesday due to a cold contracted while hunting during Thanksgiving vacation, returned to the campus yesterday.

Miss Marion McGowan of Stockton, is visiting in Santa Barbara as the guest of her sister, Merle McGowan, a State college student. Miss McGowan has visited on the campus several times this week.

Miss Wilhelmina Menken is spending two weeks vacation in Los Angeles.

Those who expect to make the trip are Betty Durfee, Jo Covelli, James Murray, Jack Murray, and Don Follett.

Landscapes Shown by Yessner at Exhibit

Ardienne Yessner, special art student here last summer, was a visitor on the campus Monday. She came for her landscapes which were on exhibit here during the Alpha Phi Gamma convention and which have been sold as a result of exhibiting them at the Art Museum in Los Angeles. Miss Yessner is now working at Los Angeles with Katchamakoff, famous Bulgarian artist who recently exhibited his works in Montecito.

Brisbane, who is visiting at William Randolph Hearst's estate at San Simeon, will be initiated on his return from the north by members of Pi chapter of Alpha Phi Gamma.

The genial writer was asked to detain his departure long enough to allow some photographs to be taken which he consented to do providing some of the "goodlooking" girls would pose with him.

PLEDGES TO BE INITIATED AT NEXT MEETING

Hell week began for the Tau Omega pledges last Monday evening at a dinner given in the home of Conway Edwards. The dinner was cooked in southern style by Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. George Tackaberry. Harrington Wells, Dr. Charles Jacobs, and the present sponsor of the fraternity, Dr. Charles Pruess, were guests at the affair, each gave a short talk to the assembled Tau Omegas. Paul Hylton, member of the fraternity gave a brief talk on the Alpha Phi Gamma convention.

A regular meeting was held after the dinner, when it was decided to have a picnic next Sunday at the Outing club cabin. Each member will take his own lunch. Games and sports of all kinds will be played during the afternoon.

Formal initiation for Tau Omega pledges will take place next Monday evening at the home of Chester Tubbs, an alumni member of Tau Omega. Those who will be taken into the fraternity are Conway Edwards, Durant Moseley, Fritz Zapf, Fred Hendrixson, George Tackaberry and Ed Christianson.

Not so long ago practically all cigarettes were made by hand

Now, Chesterfields are made by high-speed machines that turn out 750 cigarettes a minute, and the cigarettes are practically not touched by hand.

BY the use of long steel ovens—drying machines of the most modern type—and by aging the leaf tobacco for 30 months—like wine is aged—Chesterfield tobacco is milder and tastes better.

Only pure cigarette paper—the best made—is used for Chesterfield.

And to make sure that everything that goes into Chesterfield is just right, expert chemists test all materials that are used in any way in the manufacture.

Chesterfields are made and packed in clean, up-to-date factories, where the air is changed every 4½ minutes. The moisture-proof package, wrapped in Du Pont's No. 300 Cellophane—the best made—reaches you just as if you went by the factory door.

Former Studes Are Married on Turkey Day

Katherine Rogers, former student of the college, and Llewellyn Goodfield, '31, were married at high noon Thanksgiving day at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Rogers on Ontare road.

The bride wore a smart brown cape afternoon frock with brown accessories. She carried talisman roses. Both the bride and the groom were unattended.

Dr. Benjamin Goodfield, pastor of the First Baptist church, and father of the bridegroom, performed the ceremony, assisted by Dr. W. C. Merrill, of Claremont, former pastor of the First Congregational church here. The living room, setting of the wedding, was decorated with chrysanthemums in russet shades. The altar was in the center arch of French doors opening into a terrace, overlooking the garden. On the altar were magnolia blossoms, white gardenias, and small trees.

A wedding breakfast was served at small tables on the terrace, following the ceremony. In the center of the bride's table was the wedding cake. Bowls of white chrysanthemums also decorated the table. Those who sat with the young couple were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Howard McKibben, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Terry, Miss Muriel Goodfield, Miss Eva Miratti, Harold Goodfield, and Wesley Dickinson.

Mr. Goodfield is the first son of Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin Goodfield. After a short honeymoon in the south the couple will make their home in the Ojai where Mr. Goodfield is teaching.

Yager, Mrs. Phillip Evans, Mrs. Jean Powell, Mrs. Lester Girsh, Mrs. Charles Anderson, Mrs. William Campbell, Mrs. Nelson Treloar, Mrs. Alfred Remp, Mrs. Ester Ludcke, Misses Ella Cornwall, Janet Birnie, Isabel Vaughn, Betty May, Esther Clevenger, Rose Greenwell, Florence Stuart, Carmelita Janssens, Helen Smith, and representatives from the active chapter Virginia Slicton, Katherine Goode, and Betty Hopkins.

ART DEPARTMENT GIVES EXHIBIT FOR CONVENTION

The art exhibit, under the direction of Mrs. Mary E. T. Crosswell, drew the attention of many visiting delegates of the Alpha Phi Gamma convention at which State students were hosts to representatives of thirteen colleges during Thanksgiving vacation.

Work exhibited included paintings, landscapes, portraits, posters, toys, pottery, weaving, dyeing and leather work. Mrs. Crosswell was particularly proud of the all-over designs made by the students in advance color and design.

One of the San Francisco students who is an art major was quoted as saying that the work far surpassed anything done at San Francisco. Another delegate from Louisiana stated that she would like to come here to finish her art requirements. Several teachers who were among the delegates copied some of the ideas to carry back to their respective schools, according to Mrs. Crosswell.

Xmas Party Planned by Social Sorority

At the home of Miss Katharine Ball, 2026-A Bath street, Areta Gamma, social sorority, will entertain at a Christmas costume party, Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Guests will bring gifts for one another. There will be a Christmas tree and decorations will be of the Yule motif.

Active and alumnae members will attend. The sorority patronesses, Miss Winifred Frye, Miss Edna Calhoun, and Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin Goodfield, will also be present. Evelyn Steinmeier is the party chairman.

Unitarian Church Scene of Wedding

Rachael Burns, '31, became the bride of Samuel L. Ullman of Hollywood at 9 o'clock Thanksgiving morning.

Dr. Berkeley Blake officiated in the parsonage of the Unitarian church in the presence of a few friends. The bride wore midnight blue crepe frock and a dark blue hat.

Mr. Ullman is a graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles and is working with the government geodetic survey.

Mystery Show Brings to Light Story of Profs

What did these faculty members do in the days preceding their devotion to the education of youth? Did they play hookey? Did they excel in all three of the R's? Did their report cards call for periodic visits to the woodshed?

This inside information on at least one faculty member may be revealed next week in the mystery exhibit in the college library glass case, planned by Miss Katharine M. Ball, librarian.

Two faculty members, according to recent discovery, have shamelessly preserved their report cards from kindergarten days to the last flip of the academic tassel. One of the collectors will brave the torment of students by exposing his or her scholastic record in a guessing contest.

An early photograph of the owner, which will accompany the report cards, will serve as a clue in identification. Faculty members are prepared to close scrutiny of their physiognomies next week.

Is it a man or is it a woman? Is it a history prof or a science instructor? Solution of the mystery will depend upon the detective ability of the student body.

Study the exhibit; cultivate further acquaintance with faculty members. Draw your own conclusions and deposit your guess in the box provided for that purpose on the main library desk, not later than Wednesday afternoon.

If five students correctly identify the owner of the report cards, the name will be published in next week's Roadrunner for the enlightenment of the entire student body.

Sport Comment

By Fritz Muegenburg

With the football season completed the southern conference has turned toward basketball. The opening game of the season will be between the Whittier Poets, defending champions, and the Roadrunners.

Women eagers have their practice well underway with work outs four nights a week. The competition is keen in all departments of the game. Regular schedule of games start after the Christmas holidays.

The All-Conference selection, I believe, forgot we had a few good boys up here. Stockel was the only player placed on the team. Several of our men were eligible for some position or consideration on the first or second team, honorable at any rate. In my opinion the coaches are too biased in their choice of men.

Thanksgiving day saw the defeat of the strong Whittier eleven by the University of Arizona at Tucson. A fleet footed Arizona halfback led his pack to a 28-0 victory.

How you like Stanford's choice for the Rose Bowl game? They should have taken on some Southern California High school team, we would probably find them giving them just as good a battle.

Caltech Engineers finally decided to have a basketball team this year. Each winter there is talk on the Pasadena campus of dropping the sport due to the lack of playing facilities, however, they seem to have not only a varsity but a good freshman team to boot.

Members of Players Club See L. A. Play

Several members of the Players' club will travel to Los Angeles Saturday night to see a production of the U.C.L.A. Players' club. The play to be presented is Shakespeare's Twelfth Night.

Ted Beckett and Fred Allred indulged in a heated argument over who should oppose Stanford in the Rose Bowl. Ted said Nebraska. Allred said "why the Rose Bowl? Why not a soup bowl."

The Tau Omega fraternity led by Humpy Homfeldt got kind hearted and treated their pledges to a hamburger after their second night of "Hell Week."

"Please Mr. Way (BOSS) may I have an extra piece of lettuce on my sandwich," requested a shy maiden. Minute man Mert Miller quick as a flash was into the store room and returned with a head of lettuce and ceremoniously presented it to said gal.

James W. Daykin convalescing from his recent appendectomy will soon have his old stool back again at the Campus Coffee Cup.

MATERIAL FROM VARIOUS COLLEGES COMPOSES FIRST SQUAD SELECTION

Stockel Gets Place On Second Team Line-up

San Diego's Aztecs, who finished fourth in the Conference, walked off with honors on the All-Conference selection last Saturday, at Occidental college.

Grid coaches from the seven institutions in the league made the all-star aggregation up from a handful of names, including the outstanding men from each institution. San Diego placed four men to lead the tribes, Redlands named three, La Verne garnered two, while Whittier and Pomona each gather in one position.

Backfield choices were almost a foregone conclusion. The quartet named contained men who are easily the outstanding offensive crew in the loop. Redlands' great passing combination, Earl Bandy to Dale Perkins, head the list. Maxon "Red" Montgomery, the carrot-topped mid-gut from La Verne, drew the signal-calling berth, while Bill Bailey, probably the finest line cracker in the loop, as the fullback.

San Diego cleaned up on line balling, taking both end jobs and one tackle post. George Mosloff, captain of the southerners and his team mate Jack Rand were probably the best defensive ends in the conference. The grid monitors selected Owen Rice, another San Diego, and Alden Simpson of Redlands as the two outstanding tacklers of the season, although they were closely pressed by Harper and Noll of La Verne.

Probably the outstanding guard of the past conference race was pint size Wood Glover of the Whittier Poets. His playing ability accounted for the stubborn defense of the Poet's forward wall. The second choice for guard was Laurie Lusk, of Pomona, who was selected because of his all-around aggressiveness and alertness in diagnosis of his opponents offensive play.

Lanky Aubrey of La Verne was by far the finest pivot man seen in the league. The closest opponent being Cochrane of the University of Redlands, who was undoubtedly one of the best defensive centers ever to be developed in Southern Conference competition.

Comparing the first and second teams as selected by the coaches there appears a wide gulf between the eleven, except for tackles and ends, the first crew has all the better of the argument.

The only Roadrunner man to be selected is Ralph Stockel, diminutive halfback, who in spite of his injuries was placed on the second mythical eleven. Stockel has another year left to play for State.

Shaffer Selected to Be Pomona's Captain

Pomona climaxed its football season with a thumping victory over Occidental. The entire team functioned like clockwork and turned in one of the best games that Pomona has played in several years.

Inspired to win by an injury to quarterback Lewie Gleek, the team turned in three touchdowns to Oxy's lone field goal. Claire Shaffer, demon full, was star of the game. Charlie Longacre ran him a close second for the honors.

Monday night the captain for Pomona's 1934 varsity was elected. Claire Shaffer, the fullback who has so consistently proved his worth in the last two seasons, was the man chosen by his teammates. Captain Laurie Lusk was selected as the most valuable man on the team.

Letters were awarded to fifteen varsity men this year. Those elected were: Don Plumb, Captain Laurie Lusk, Frank Booz, Ralph King, Walter Farrell, Homer Davis, Bob Carr of the senior class; Wes Scott, Sam Miller, Captain-elect Claire Shaffer, Lewis Gleek, Findlay Walter, Bob McCulley, juniors; and John Kinnear, Charles Longacre, sophomores.

Nineteen freshmen were awarded numerals after their stirring victory over the Tiger babes, 13-0. The numerals are Captain Carl Rogers, John Atkinson, Bob Atkinson, Tom Nolder, Bob Spurgeon, Bob McFadden, Abe Parry, Pat Campbell-Shields, Herman Miller, Ben O'Brien, Dwight Packard, Ellison Smith, Lawrence Kennan, Edward Fryer, Bill Spurgeon, Norton Benner, Charles Wharton, Jesse Baker and Tom Parry. Most of these men plan to go out for varsity football next September, and many of them should prove welcome additions to Coach Nixon's team.

Source of Infection Still Undetermined

An attempt to determine the source of the typhoid infection in Santa Barbara has kept the health department busy for the past two weeks. According to Dr. Edward Markthaler no definite source has been found. This is in absolute contradiction of the rumors that have been prevalent on the campus this week. "Nothing has been withheld from the general public," said Dr. Markthaler.

At the present time the spread of the disease is well under control; all cases being hospitalized, assuring security to the general public. The program of immunization is still going ahead on the campus. "It is advisable," stated Dr. Markthaler, "that all college students have the inoculation as a public health measure." So far only one case has been reported on the campus.

HALF MINUTE INTERVIEWS

By DORIS COKER

COACH HAL DAVIS

There will only be about eight men on the basketball team this year and we have only a week and a half to decide who these men will be. Lack of finances will necessitate that we take only twelve men on each trip. Men surviving this cut depend on their ball handling and condition. There will no pick-up team ahead of each game.

COACH RAY DENNO

Freshmen and ineligible men will be placed on the junior varsity team and will play in the city league. There will be about twelve men in this bunch. Some of the bright and shining lights will be Morrissey, a transfer, Johnson, a freshman, and Dick Nye.

FROSH HOOPSTER LA VERNE GRID PLAYERS FETED

Coach Raymond Denno announces that freshman basketball practice will begin immediately after Christmas vacation. With the strong combination of Dick Nye, Dick Brimer, and Howard Van Winkle, who have been playing together at the Y.M.C.A. for some time, Denno is highly optimistic. Bob Johnston, formerly played with the Baptist church team, will be a strong contender for the center position. Leonard Dorn, who came here from Muir Tech in Los Angeles, is an up and coming youngster who will see plenty of action during the season. Don MacLeod, a Wisconsin boy, will offer plenty of good competition for one of the guard posts, from pre-season dope.

College Reporter Interviews Moley

vague shadow in a confusion of memories. Bullitt is the first American ambassador to Moscow. Bullitt kept faith with his principal and his principle has been vindicated. Sometimes these things happen to people; more often they do not. But regardless of what happens to persons, principles survive. The principle back of Russian recognition is one of those hardy, undying things. A nation has the right to govern itself in the way best suited to its welfare, and the best judge of the way it chooses is the nation itself.

"Trade with Russia is a matter of principle rather than profit although it is not doubted that there will be considerable profit in American-Russian trade. I do not like to see the policy of America guided by trade merely for profit," added Mr. Moley with a determined expression.

In a brief comment on Cuba, the editor stated that no one could definitely tell about the Cuban situation. Turmoil is consistent there and it will be a long time before everything quiets down.

STUDS FOLD ROADRUNNER

Public spirited students who were able to spare a period last Thursday to help fold Roadrunners were Allan Otley, Clarke George, Beth Briggs, Peggy Keopp, Doris Coker, Don Coker, and Lita Boeske.

La Verne college at their annual banquet came out of their final huddle to announce Adrain Wright as captain-elect of the 1934 season. Wright has performed steadily and brilliantly at left end on the Leopards and has been rated by some as the best end in the conference year at Pomona Junior college.

Due honors were also given to eight seniors who have donned a football uniform for the last time. Those singing their "swan song" were Calvert, Montgomery, Brooks, Swihart, Noll, Baer, Adams, Saylor, and Heckman.

Woman's Association Plans Trip to South

Members of State's Women's Athletic association will leave tomorrow after second hour to attend a playday at U.C.L.A. The same eligibility rules that are used by the men will be observed.

Women will participate in archery, baseball, basketball, dancing, deck sports, fencing, hockey, lacrosse, rifle, and swimming. The faculty of U.C.L.A. has invited the members of State's faculty to participate in badminton, deck sports and swimming. Mrs. Hodgins and Miss Van Fossen plan to attend.

The women motoring down are Catherine Boyton, Marion Ek, Lucile Gaudin, Edith Hawkes, Marvina Jones, Cathryn Kitley, Florence Longawa, Evelyn Maitland, Evelyn McNeel, Joyce Newton, Ida Pagliotti, Margaret Rodriguez, Vivian Rodriguez, Mervilyn Shaw, Geraldine Slayton, La Rue Steelsmith, Elizabeth Stover, Bardina Walters, Shirley Warner, Frances Warring and Pearl Wilson.

VISITS IN NORTH

Miss Agnes Plate, former instructor of physiology at Santa Barbara State, and Miss Elsie Pond, spent Friday afternoon together in San Jose. Miss Plate is now attending Stanford university, where she is enrolled in the school of medicine.

Police Patrol Team Is Favored in Hoop League

With two weeks of practice the Roadrunners open the Casaba tossing season with a game against the Thuresson Patrol, a local team, which is favored in the open league. The game is to be held at the Flying "A" studio, Friday, December 8 at 8:00 p.m. No admission will be charged.

Coach Davis hopes to find a favorable working combination from a larger squad of twenty-five men, which includes six returning lettermen from last season. The probable starting line-up will be: Lebeck and Hoffer, forwards; Zapf, center; and Keith and Davis, guards.

Competition is very keen for all positions on the team. Several of last year's veterans will probably find themselves resting on the bench if they don't show better form.

Last year's captain of the Roadrunners, Paul Hopkins, will play with the Thuresson squad, as well as Bill Russell, one of the outstanding players on the freshman team last season. Others who will play against the Staters are: Bill Sampson, Jack Gage, Douglas Conrad, Lauren Steve, and Laury Stevens. Sampson, Gage, and Conrad played on the Santa Barbara High school team.
