Artwork Contest!

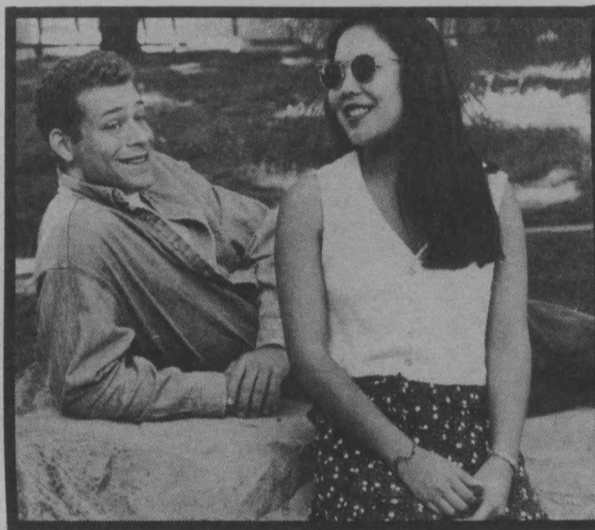

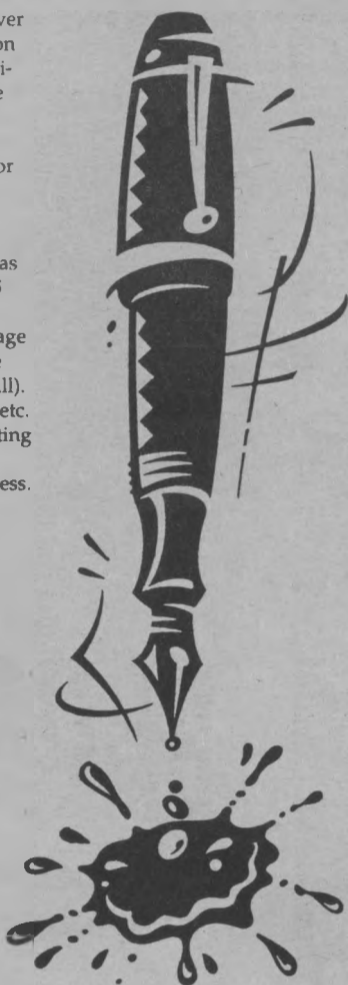

UCSB Students: Have your art published on the cover of the 1994-95 Kiosk, UCSB's official handbook for new students.

UCSB Orientation Programs announces its annual "Cover Competition" to find student artwork to be published on the cover of the 1994-95 Kiosk, which is given to approximately 5,000 new students each year. One entry will be selected and will be used as the cover; the artist will be paid an honorarium of $150 for materials and supplies. Entries must meet the following guidelines to qualify for the competition:

- Cover must include the words "Kiosk" and "UCSB Student Handbook 1994-95." These words may be incorporated into the artwork or be separate as long as the overall dimensions of the cover do not exceed 7.5 inches wide by 10 inches tall (but it may be smaller).
- Artwork must feature a kiosk prominently in the image (if you need a model, the nicest one on campus is the Arts & Lectures kiosk found in front of Campbell Hall).
- Artwork can be a photograph, illustration, painting, etc. as long as it can be reproduced through regular printing processes (on white paper). No special inks, paper shapes, or processes can be used in the printing process.

To enter the competition, submit a composition of your idea to Orientation Programs, Bldg. 427 (near Cheadle Hall) by Monday, March 28, 1994. The composition should be a draft of your idea that is complete enough (accurate colors, placement etc.) for the selection committee to have an accurate representation of your idea. Completed artwork will receive no special consideration. Be sure to include the following information on the back of your entry: name, major, year, local address and phone number.

The selection committee will notify the artists of the entry selected by Monday, April 11, 1994. Final artwork must be completed by Monday, May 2, 1994. The artist of the entry selected will receive $150 and 10 copies of the printed Kiosk. The artwork selected will become property of UCSB Orientation Programs. If you have any questions, please call Orientation Programs at 893-3443.

An Adventure to the Scotland of Yesteryears

By Cleopatra McForster-Wong

Travel with me now to the forgotten city of Edinburgh, Scotland, in the year 1977 ... where they sell chocolate flake, where a double ice cream cone is two cones stuck together, where you can find a candy store on every corner, selling gummy mice with pipe cleaners for tails.

Where the comic books Plug and Cheeky come out once a week, where the Bay City Rollers are big, where Pinocchio plays at the movie theater and the candy almonds are green and pink, where they have chess-piece magnets and bottles of milk in a dank room at the university, where your mom works in an activity room (with sand toys and whirling wheels) across the hall from the classroom where you are a 5-year-old in primary one.

Where Mrs. Macintosh (next door from your home on Blackett Place) invites all the neighborhood kids inside for pancakes with jam on them, where you see a kid with a brown backpack and ask him what school he goes to because you have a brown backpack too, where you get in trouble for not saying "good morning Miss Miller" in your primary one classroom. And in the winter, when it's too cold to go outside, they bring out a big stack of comic books: Dennis the Menace (the evil one), Beano, Dandy ... and TV Comic. It was heaven. Visit with me now the flat you live in for some months, where you see the animated Star Trek in which the age of the crew goes down by the minute, until they are all babies. Spock stays coherent for a little bit longer, because he is a Vulcan, but it scares the hell out of you and you turn it off.

Visit with me the Blackett Place house, rented from some traveling Scottish people. Because you are five (and your brother is three), the owners have locked one of the upper rooms — where all the important stuff is. You can see it through the keyhole. And the basement is full of catacombs and chambers so extensive you never see it all.

When you go to your friend's house on Easter, you eat so much candy and so many licorice Allsorts that you almost throw up. But you all go feed the geese instead, and when one yaps at you, you cry. And you're not going to play with that boy Ian anymore, because he's too rough!

It's a world of television. Camberwick Green, and Mister Men, and the Muppet show. You go to Guy Fawkes Day fireworks with your dad, but it's so late that you fall asleep.

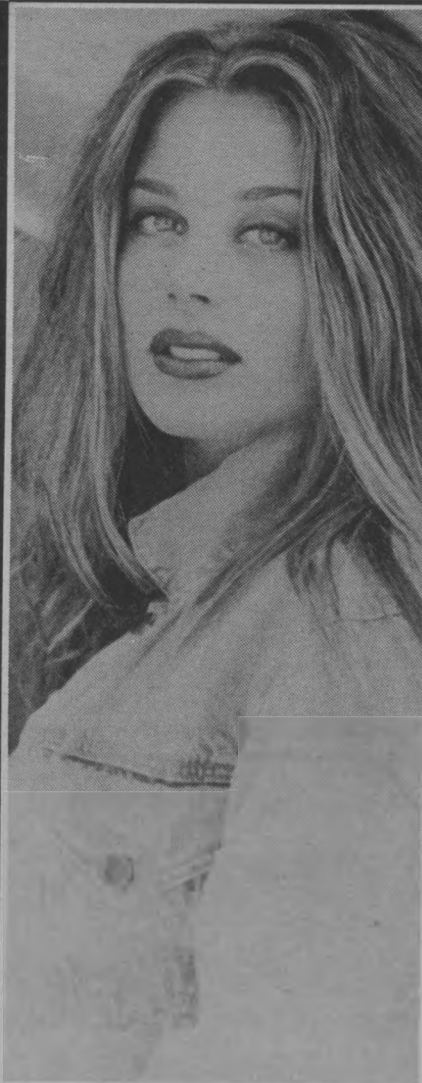

Journey with me now on a vacation to the Highlands, where you throw biscuits to Nessie like the '70s Americans you are, where you discover an incredible bed and breakfast in the middle of nowhere, run by Mrs. Potter. The Battlefield Band would probably have been playing in Scotland that year, and Ossian. You could have sought them out, but you were five. Journey with me on a week-long vacation to Holland, with licorice fish and stropwafels (sic).

The Edinburgh of 1977. Only the halls of memory can take you there now.

SCHICK UPDATE

Congratulations to the UCSB Schick Super Hoops Champions who participated in the Regional Playoffs last weekend at USC. The women's team, "We Have No Subs", consisted of Teri Mille, Jackie Neder and Tracy Uyemoto, lost to UCLA in the semifinals. The men's team, "Showtime", made it to the final game only to lose in overtime to Arizona State, because of "unjust" technical fouls. "Showtime" who finished the tournament with a mark of 14 and 1 consisted of Wayne Cook, Jojo Halberstadt, Eric Harris and Keith Weinstein. Congratulations to both teams for making it so far.
