BIG BEACH PARTY IS SCHEDULED TONIGHT, CASTLE ROCK POINT

Bonfire on Beach Will be Main Feature of Entertainment

*"The fun starts at six,
So don't get dates mixed;
Games by requests,
By all the beach guests,
Come! Lots of fun!"*

This little verse, artistically delineated on sand paper has been issued to all the faculty with a request to be on hand Friday night at Castle Rock at 5:30 o'clock for the annual Beach Party of the school year. The keynote struck is that of frolicking fun with a promise even to out-do last year's merry time.

Chief among Friday night's features is the big bonfire which will be lit and around which songs will be sung and stunts performed. By its light, too, games will be played. Ruth Chalmers has arranged the schedule of games and it includes baseball, dodge ball, three deep, red hot handkerchief and any others which may be suggested on the occasion.

Among other amusements will be a series of stunts worked out by groups and also another list of events which might properly be termed a series of surprises. There is no doubt that there will be a sufficient number of ways for enjoyment provided.

As for epicurian demonstrations, these are set for six o'clock and will take the form of a cafeteria style supper-lunch under the personal supervision of Mrs. Churchill, whose prowess along the line of preparing highly palatable picnic lunches is already well-known.

To close the evening's fun a pep rally will be held for the game with Cal Christian which will be played on the following day. Phil Brotherton, chairman of the social committee, Ruth Chalmers, game chairman, and Warren Atwood, the gentleman who secured the eats for us all urge most vehemently, "Be on deck Friday night at 5:30 o'clock!"

Former Secretary Honored

Mrs. Mildred Schauer Martin, former financial secretary, was honored Wednesday noon by a luncheon at the cafeteria. Mrs. Martin is living in San Francisco. Leaving the local campus a year ago, Mrs. Martin was replaced by Wilma Lowsley, present secretary, after a year's service as financial secretary.

Names of students who have not paid their Student Body dues will be published next week. The postponement was authorized by the council yesterday. Next Wednesday is the last chance to pay.

Revote in Student Body Election Substantiates Choices Of Friday

Batchelder Chosen to Lead Student Body Next Year

Cooperation—Batchelder

A student body program cannot be carried out by a president or by a council of officers, but must be put over by the entire group. Therefore: let us all co-operate for future social programs that will provide for the social well-being of the student group.

If any of the newly elected officers of this student group make mistakes, it is fair that we get only friendly, constructive criticism.

Co-operation, unity, and general content is paramount and I can only say: "I will do my best to promote it."

Henry H. Batchelder.

With a revote Wednesday affirming the results of the main election last Friday, Henry Batchelder was decisively elected to the presidency of the A.S.B. over his rival, Fred Jacobs. The vote Wednesday stood 207 to 43.

Elizabeth Campbell again defeated James Dinwiddie for editor of La Cumbre by a 160 to 89 vote. The treasurership identical to the vote on Friday, went to Oran Booth, who polled 145 ballots to 51

COLLEGE NITE TICKET CONTEST NOW ON

Other than the bench contest to stimulate the sale of tickets for College Night, the Finance Committee of the celebration began an interclass competition for the sale of the tickets for a prize to be decided upon soon. The contest began Monday and will end May 28 at 12:30 p.m. so that the sales may be counted and awards made by May 29 at College Night.

Contrary to the arrangement of the bench contest, this contest includes all four classes of the college. Percentage of tickets sold, in respect to the number of students in the class, will be the deciding factor in this contest, rather than the total number of tickets sold.

A free ticket to the performance is given with every ten tickets sold by an individual. This is to stimulate individual sales. Each class may have as many ticket sellers as it chooses. Tickets for this contest may be obtained from Grace Miksch or David Dickie, while tickets for bench competition may be secured from the class presidents.

Tickets may be sold to anybody at the rate of fifty cents apiece.

for David Dickie and 53 for Jack Vince.

The main election of Friday resulted in Ester Janssens easily winning the vice-presidency, Grace Miksch taking the secretaryship over Frances Cattaneo by a majority of a little over two to one, Harold Furman assuming the office of publicity manager with a clean sweep, Alfred Tomlinson taking the editorship of The Eagle and Edith Comstock winning the management of oratory and debate.

Revote Called

When the ballots of the election on Friday were checked over, it was found that in the cases of president, treasurer, and editor of La Cumbre more votes were cast than names of voters recorded. At the request of one of the candidates involved and by the vote of the students at the student body meeting Tuesday, it was decided to revote on these three offices. However, during the intervening time between the election there was little doubt that the first results would be reversed.

The revote on Wednesday called out more voters than the main balloting on Friday. Two hundred fifty students cast their votes on Wednesday in contrast to 211 who signed as voters Friday.

Repairs on College Court To be Finished This Week

Repairs on the pond in the court will be finished this week, according to Mr. Thomas, head janitor.

The concrete walls of the pond are being patched, and an entire new section was poured on the south side. A coat of blue paint will be applied to the inside of the pool.

The earthquake of June 29 damaged the concrete work considerably, causing leaks which have undermined the front pergola and surrounding concrete walks.

Atwood Reappointed Pep Chairman at Council Meet

Warren Atwood was reappointed Pep Committee chairman by the council at its meeting yesterday. The Pep Committee was organized this year through the efforts of Mr. Atwood to stimulate pep in the college. Mr. Atwood was publicity manager this year also.

Class Bench Winner to Be Decided Next Week; Second Bench Contest

Ending next week, the contest arranged to decide the winner of the class bench was conducted this week. The class selling the greatest number of cardboards to College Night will be declared the possessor of the bench. This contest is not connected with the competition conducted by the College Night Committee.

Three classes are in the competition, the Juniors, Sophomores and Freshmen, and all three are closely matched.

A tie was proclaimed by the social committee on the contest held last month for the Inter-Class Stunt Dance. All classes had sold the limit of tickets available, which was restricted because of the small seating capacity of the Lobero Theater, and therefore there was a tie. But since an unlimited number of tickets are available for College Night, the efforts of the classes will be unrestricted and it is highly probable that a decision can be made.

FASHION SHOW IS BIG DAY FOR HOME EC

"Fashion shows have their place in the collegiate world as rightfully as on Broadway or Fifth avenue, and the members of the elementary and advanced sewing classes will on Tuesday afternoon attempt to prove that Santa Barbara State has a well developed conception of what constitutes the fashions of the style year 1926," so asserted a member of the Home Economics department today. The sewing classes have for a long time been looking forward to the big day of the department, Tuesday, May 25th. Their eagerness has only been matched by that of the rest of the college.

The college court will be used as the salon for the show and the girls will appear in gowns, coats, hats, every one of which has been made during the year by each girl herself. Each girl will give a short list of details concerning each article of apparel. Youngsters dresses and outfits will also be promenade.

There will be a complete musical program during the entire show. The orchestra will play during intervals and before and after the program. Further special offerings will be selections by the Glee Club trio, a violin solo by Francis David and a song by Ausguard Larsen.

Tea will be served during the course of the afternoon by the cooking department. The show will open at four o'clock and there will be sufficient time for everyone to see the special exhibits in the various rooms of under garments, children's clothes, hats, and other apparel. The townspeople are es-

CAL CHRISTIAN NINE TO OCCUPY ATTENTION OF LOCALS TOMORROW

Roadrunners Predicted to Take Game From Cal Christian Squad

The Roadrunners are scheduled to meet the Cal Christian nine tomorrow at West Peabody Field at 2:00 o'clock. Last year the Olive and White squad trimmed the Cal Christian bunch by a score of 8-3, and are expected to repeat this season.

Although the Cal Chris squad started the excitement by scoring in the first inning when Caldwell, the guardian of the center sack, took advantage of Andy's cold arm and laid out a double and then scored on an error, the Roadrunners came back and scored four runs on two doubles and a walk and a single, and in the last two frames succeeded in gathering four more.

The probable line-up for the Roadrunners will be: Leedy, Asakura, Clemore, Anderson, Furman, O'Reilly, Hartley, Acquistapace and Sawyers.

Gilliland Injured at Game In South; to Return Today

Coach Gilliland who was injured at the Loyola game by a foul ball which struck his knee, is expected to reassume his duties today, according to word received by President Phelps the first of the week. Gilliland remained at Venice, a suburb of Los Angeles, until his wound healed sufficiently to allow him to travel home.

Although no definite information in regard to the accident could be obtained, it is understood that Gilliland, who was sitting on the Roadrunner bench, was struck by a foul ball, causing a blood clot on the knee. It was drained Tuesday at a Venice hospital. The condition of the injury was expected to improve rapidly.

pecially invited to this demonstration of the year's work, and it is felt that it will be very effective and pleasing for them since it is taking the form of a fashion show.

Various committees are at work under the leadership of Miss Frye. The committee chairmen are: General manager, Miss Sorem; advertising, Corine Kelley; music, Eleanor Warren; tea, Jeanette Slagg; serving, Margaret Brown; decorating, Katherine McClean; clean-up, Rose Ethel Lesh; program, Edith Comstock, and hospitality, Mrs. Long.

Ruth Chalmers has secured a teaching position at the Rocky Hill Grammar school at Exeter, California.

THE TWO DON'T MIX

Considerable complaint has been made of compulsory major athletics in the college for fulfillment of men's physical education requirements. In the past this system has been practically necessary, because the college has not been able to afford funds for securing an assistant Physical Education Director and the head of the Men's Physical Education Department has not been able to devote his time to minor physical education courses.

A major sport cannot be made into a physical education course under the system of training current in modern colleges. Efforts are made in the modern training system to develop the promising athlete to a point where he cannot be surpassed, minor prospects for the team being neglected in the concentrated development of those who are already superior in skill to the ones who need the training most.

On the other hand, a physical education course aims to develop those who most need development, and less attention is given those already superior. To make a successful physical education course out of a major sport would be a wonderful thing; but what would become of the college team, a practical necessity for student unity, if the coach concentrated his efforts to perfect the second or third string men at the expense of the first lineup? The two systems of instruction should be kept separate if the best interests of each are not to be lost.

This semester Seldon Spalding, a gymnasium instructor of the city, was secured to instruct a class in physical education for the men by several students who also were instrumental in securing curricular recognition for the course. Mr. Spalding's success this semester will soon be witnessed in a public exhibition; but he will not be able to return next year unless he becomes a recognized member of the Men's Physical Education Department. This offer, which would cost nothing to the college, should be taken advantage of next year.

THE EAGLE SQUAWKS

JUST A SUGGESTION

This is only a suggestion. Take it or leave it.

The Eagle recently advised against further interclass competition for a while; at least, until the classes had overcome the feeling of rivalry left by the sale of tickets to the stunt dance several weeks ago. Well, that feeling has about healed up, and a record sale of tickets for College Night is surely in store if interclass competition is again resorted to. The enthusiasm of the students already will show that.

The class bench, furnished as an incentive to stimulate the students to greater industry in the ticket sale, will be presented to the class who wins it, but only to the name of the class—not the graduating numeral, generally accepted as designating a class.

If the Freshmen or Sophomores win the bench, they will enjoy it only for one short week, the last week in the year; for next year, according to the terms of the agreement, the bench will be turned over to the class then assuming that name, with full privilege to enjoy the bench in every particular.

Here's the suggestion at last. Why not award the bench to the class that wins it instead of awarding it to a class that will inherit the winning class's name next year, a class, which, if fate isn't careful, will be the very class the winners worked so hard to defeat in the contest?

Of course, many tickets will be sold, but more would undoubtedly be sold if the sellers felt that they were working for their own class instead of for the class which such competition has made them wish were off the campus. Now we'll wait for some Sophomore to say to another, "Buy your ticket from me so our class can bequeath the bench to those stuck-up Frosh next year."

College Night is May 29. The bench will probably be awarded during the first week in June; thus leaving but one week for the winning class to enjoy the bench it worked for before bequeathing it. Still, as we said before, this is only a suggestion.

STUDENT OPINION

This column is conducted by The Eagle for the benefit of the students. All letters are requested to be as brief as possible. They must contain the name of the writer, although it will be suppressed if desired. Place communications in The Eagle box. The Eagle will assume no responsibility for views published.

Dear Editor:

I am writing this letter to avoid any misunderstanding with regard to requirements to obtain block "S." The amendment to the Constitution passed on by the Student Body on March 25, 1925, states that no letter shall be given to the men in either basketball, football, or baseball unless a minimum of four games be played. This year we had scheduled to play four baseball games. Up to date we have played two and we play one tomorrow, making three. The fourth game was scheduled for May 8th with Cal Poly but was called off because of quarantine at Cal Poly. At that time we stated that we would play them anytime this season, but they said it would be impossible to play a game as their team had disbanded. Legally they have forfeited the game to us as they cannot play. A game forfeited, therefore counts as a game won, and that applies to lettermen. So we are not violating the amendment to the constitution by awarding this year's baseball lettermen their letters.

Athletic Manager.

Editor:

The general consensus of opinion among the students who frequent the college library is that the rule which is prevalent there is more despotic than otherwise. Considering this circumstance and also the fact that I have been begged more than once to indite an article in defense of the students, matters could not help coming to a head this morning when one of our most talented and open-minded students walked up to me with a woe begone look on her face and addressed me thus:

"I want to tell you something and I wish you'd see what you can do about it. Every time I go to the library to study I just can't concentrate because all my mind can register is the continual tap, tap, tap of the librarian's typewriter. Then if I happen to be writing and cannot help making a mistake because of that tap, tap, tap, I get bawled out when I whisper to my neighbor for the use of her eraser. It isn't right; I object."

I offered my sympathy, and at the moment I, myself, felt that my friend was in the right in objecting; but upon further consideration, I changed my mind. The typing done in the library is absolutely essential and could not be done effectively elsewhere. Of course, the tap, tap, tap, naturally follows. This, we admit, is not conducive to individual study; but the students should think how much less would be the amount of work we could accomplish there if whispering were allowed. Even to borrow an eraser causes a serious loss of time, not only to him who asks; but also to the asked; for the course of the latter's thoughts must be interrupted by a search for the requested object.

After all, if we reflect a while, we must admit that the library system of absolutely no whispering is a good one; and really the tap, tap, tapping is unnoticeable when one really studies.

By the Children of the Sixth Grade

The Sixth Grade is following the Amundsen and Ellsworth expedition, which is trying to reach the North Pole. We have a map. On this we keep track of the trip.

Amundsen started from Rome in the Zeppelin "Norge," of Italian build. He continued to Pulham, England. He will go to Norway and from there to Spitzbergen. Then he will go on to the North Pole.

The Norge has flown over the North Pole and has been seen off Point Barrow but has not arrived yet. It is expected to arrive at Point Barrow at nine o'clock. They do not know whether it is Spitzbergen time or Point Barrow time. The difference between these two places is twelve hours. The Norge drifted for two days and arrived at Teller, Alaska at 2 a.m. eastern standard time on May 15.

The Polar Regions are usually called the Arctic or Antarctic regions. These regions cover 8,200,000 square miles and are covered with snow and ice that never melt.

For two months the coast is free from ice, but during other months it is covered with thick ice which moves with slow uneasy motion. This causes little difference in climate between land and sea.

The rain falls from May to September. It snows every month, but the snowfall is heaviest in May and June and lightest in November and December.

The animals are either permanently white like the Polar Bear or change their coats with the season.

My mother and father went to Libia, an Italian colony, to carry on the agricultural work of my grandfather, which he started before the World War. After a year's work my mother went to Italy. My father stayed to settle things.

Mussolini, the dictator of Italy,

Freshmen—Why do They Come and Why do They go?

Freshmen—why do they come to college and why do they leave? An attempt has been made recently, according to the New Student, to answer the question.

Freshmen at seven colleges in Colorado were quizzed in regard to their purpose in college. Future concern was given as the reason by most freshmen for entering college. Sixty-seven percent, or 4,400 students, stated that they were preparing for professional careers, a training which is gained in college.

Thirty-four percent believe their motive is an increase of personal culture or development. Twenty percent stated their desire to attend college for personal and social purposes, while thirteen percent attend as an obligation to society.

Twenty percent of those going to college drop out in the first year, according to the New York Sun.

The most outstanding reason for leaving is poor scholastic standing. Lack of funds comes next. Then "poor health, the desire to go into dad's business and make a lot of money, matrimony and the necessity to support the wife and kitchenette, and over-cutting of classes."

came to Libia where my father met him and presented him with great bunches of barley and wheat which he had grown, showing what a great grainery Libia would be for the mother country. Mussolini praised him for what he had done in agriculture for Italy. An official took a picture of Mussolini talking with my father. It is on postcards. They are being sold in the cities of Italy now.

Congratulations

We extend our congratulations to the 1926 graduates. Glad to see you went over the top. To the family and friends we have a complete stock of suitable gifts to show your remembrance of this occasion.

REVIEW SHOWS RAPID DEVELOPMENTS AND PROGRESS OF COLLEGE

Program of Expansion Also Indicates Promising College Future

A survey of the institutional development of Santa Barbara State College shows a rate of progress practically unequaled in any other college in the state. Remarkable increases in attendance in the past few years, coupled with unusual expansion of recognition in the larger educational centers of the country are a few of the symptoms pointing to a promising future for the college.

Attendance has been trebled since the college was officially recognized as a teachers' college in 1921. At that time there were 296 students enrolled in the college and there have been 754 this year.

During the past year, official recognition of the lower division was received from the University of Illinois, degrees from the college were accepted for graduate work at Stanford and Columbia Universities, and the college was rated as seventh among all of the teachers' colleges of the country by the American Association of Teachers Colleges.

The extensive building and expansion program arranged for the near future also indicates good prospects for the college. The last state legislature appropriated money for an administration building for which plans are now on file. This building will include ample space for a library and an auditorium. Construction work on a new training school will commence June 1, according to further plans recently made by the state.

Purchase of 10 acres of land east of the college now owned by El Encanto Hotel, comprising the hotel building and thirteen cottages, is also being contemplated in the program of expansion.

Athletics in the college will be under the direction of an instructor, Dudley DeGroot, representing a high type of scholarship and athletic training. Mr. DeGroot attended the University of Washington and Stanford under "Pop" Warner. He was three years varsity football man and captain.

The location of the college is ideal for fulfillment of the program of expansion planned for the near future. Outlying grounds will permit extensive building, and the view of the channel afforded offers a popular appeal to students.

Subject A Exam Today

The Subject A examination in English will be given this afternoon, period 6, in room 45. The examination is being given for those who desire certificates or diplomas and who have not yet passed the test.

COLLEGE NIGHT BEGAN IN YEAR OF 1922

To acquaint the college people of Santa Barbara with the students at the college, the tradition of "College Night," of which the fifth annual celebration will be held next week, was established in 1922 by Dean William J. McLennan. Realizing the necessity of such a get-together in the city, the plan was devised by Mr. McLennan, who had seen it in operation in St. Louis, but nowhere on the Pacific Coast.

The plan of "College Night" consists of a program in which the college acts as host to the townspeople one night every spring. A roll is called of the various colleges represented at the entertainment and an effort is made in this manner to introduce to each other graduates from the same colleges.

The program was first held in Recreation Center, but since 1922 it has always been held in the college court, the setting being ideal to the type of entertainment which consists of a play enacted by the students in the quad with no more scenery than the natural court.

Since the first performance, the following "College Nights" have been so successful that the money raised from them has been set aside in a scholarship fund to be loaned to any student who may feel the need of the money in furthering his education. The fund has proved invaluable to a number of students in the college.

The popularity of College Night performances has been well established in Santa Barbara and the event is looked forward to with interest by a number of townspeople.

Fifty Attend Men's Club Picnic at Paradise Camp

About fifty students and townspeople attended the Men's Club picnic held at Paradise Camp at the Santa Ynez River last Sunday. The event lasted during the afternoon, entertainment consisting of swimming, horseshoes, baseball and volleyball.

Ted Marshall was in charge of the dinner of barbecued steak, salad, bread, and pie. Expenses were cleared and the last event of the year for the Men's Club was considered a great success in spite of the threatening condition of the weather in Santa Barbara.

Eighty Attend Dance at Tucker's; Box Lunch Fails

A crowd of students estimated at eighty attended the dance given at the Tucker's Grove picnic last Friday night. The box lunch feature failed, as only about six couples reported.

During the later hours of the evening the greatest crowd assembled, making an event which was enjoyed greatly by all present. A pick-up orchestra furnished the music.

Tea Dansant for Hi School Girls is Successful

The Tea Dansant in honor of the graduating girls of the Santa Barbara High School given by the A.W.S. last Saturday afternoon in the cafeteria was very successful.

A considerable number of high school girls were present, and although most of the college representation arrived after the scheduled hour, the final gathering was quite large.

The afternoon was spent in dancing to the strains of Bolton & Jones' orthophonic. In addition, there was a song by Angelina Aliverti, a dance by Margaret Patrick, and a reading by Janice Kennedy, all three of which were well received.

At 4:30 p.m. ice-cream and cake were served, and at five the entertainment came to an end.

County Horticulturist is Speaker at Economics Class

"Agriculture as a Basic Industry" was the topic of an address to Dr. Ellison's class in economics during the third hour on Wednesday by Eugene S. Kellogg, county horticulturist.

In his talk, Mr. Kellogg listed five principles indispensable to success in agriculture. They were the principles of soil fertility, crop diversity, land ownership, co-operative marketing and distributing of products, and agricultural education.

Dean Ellison is journeying north to Santa Maria today to lecture to the Minerva Library Club. He plans to discuss the Tacna-Arica dispute.

The EAGLE'S EYE

By I. C. U.

This week's hemp collar goes to Idaho Lotruther. She thought David and Goliath were characters from Shakespeare.

"There's a man over the mountains with a thousand kids."
"Huh? What does he do with them all?"

"Feeds 'em on cactus and sells 'em for lamb chops."

This week's quinine: "Who is this guy Batchelder?" asked a full time student.

"Philosophy is hard to digest," remarked the book-worm.

Dora calls one of her shoe laces Prometheus because it is forever unbound, and the other Shylock because it hasn't any tips.

"Strike one!" yelled the umpire. "What ya think I been tryin' to do," snapped the rookie, "the highland fling?"

"If he smokes like a flivver, wears bags, and cries at sad movies he goes to a small college," said the 1/4 wit to show that he is not a moron.

The promising G.P. hopeful ran into the house.

"Oh, daddy," she said, "I know how to make noodles now."

"Well, did you use your head?" was the reply.

Today's word: TIE. That which makes knots. Often used to choke people on hot days, to hold railroad tracks apart, to make judges of races lose jobs as church deacons, and to make good men go wrong in the Spring.

We will now enact for your benefit a little mellow drama entitled, "Why does the horsehide?"

Scene 1 opens clumsily on the battlefield:

COACH (dramatically) —Keep your eye on the ball, Dumbness!

BEN TURPIN (bewilderedly)—Which eye? Which eye, I say? Be explicit, my man.

COACH—Why the right one, of course, silly.

Scene 2 opens unexpectedly: BEN TURPIN—Then what'll I do with the one that's left?

COACH (after long deliberation)—Better leave it in your face.

CAMERA (pathetically)—Ouch! Crepe Curtain

The height of laziness: The other day we saw Atchur Service bite into an apple, watch half a worm wiggle out, and then keep right on chewing. He didn't want the hemp collar, so we gave him a medal.

LARSEN IS ELECTED ATHLETIC MANAGER

Otto Larsen was elected athletic manager for next year at a special meeting of the athletic council Monday. Larsen won over Rodney "Bus" Heggie by a four to one vote.

Larsen came to the local campus this year from Fresno State College. Last fall he played guard on the Roadrunner eleven; and during basketball season he was valuable. Larsen is a member of the Sigma Alpha Kappa fraternity.

Gym Class to Give First Exhibit of Kind Fourth of June; Spalding Directs

The first exhibition of men's apparatus gymnastics to be held at the college will be staged in the gymnasium by the class in physical education conducted by Seldon Spalding during the first week in June. The purpose of the exhibition will be to acquaint the college or townspeople with the type of work carried on at the college in the physical education department.

Santa Barbara State College has been proclaimed the only college on the coast where elementary apparatus gymnastics of this type may be secured.

At the exhibition there will be eight judges to name the best gymnast and a cup will be awarded the student who has made the greatest improvement during the semester. The order of events will be announced later.

Club Meets in Cafeteria

The cafeteria was the scene Monday night of the monthly meeting of the Women's Professional Club of the city. Dr. Paul S. Means, president of the Board of Education, was the speaker, outlining the coming school bonds.

Owing to the loss of their former meeting place, the organization secured the cafeteria for the purpose.

Harriet Coleman will teach next year at Bakersfield.

Faculty Defeated in "Doc" Ellison's Tennis Matches

The students defeated the faculty in the final frame of the faculty challenge net tournament, instituted by Dr. Ellison two weeks ago, and thus won the series. "Mike" Abbott defeated Mr. Ericson, 6-0, 6-0; in the final match last Friday afternoon.

Dr. Ellison defeated Philip Brotherton 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, and "Mike" Abbott 6-4, 1-6, 6-3 in the first round of singles played early in the tournament. Then Brotherton defeated Mr. Ericson 6-3, 6-3, in the second round of singles and the team of Ellison and Ericson succumbed to the onslaughts of "Mike" and "Flip" last week 6-3, 6-3.

That evened up the score all around and it remained for the match of singles between Abbott and Mr. Ericson last Friday to decide the tournament. The students finally won after the faculty had made a threatening start.
