Grab a couple of friends and go downtown to China Castle Restaurant. Each person can order a different dish and everyone can share their meals. That's what I did with two other friends. We opened the menu only to discover there were more than 134 different food dishes. China Castle specializes in authentic Mandarin Szechuan and Hunan cuisine. We ordered pot stickers, sizzling rice soup, moo-shu pork, sautéed mixed vegetables and crispy chicken in hot garlic sauce. Everything was tasty, and it should be considering China Castle Restaurant has been rated the best Chinese restaurant in Santa Barbara since 1985.

The jasmine tea as well as the atmosphere complemented our meal. The tables are decorated with rose-pink tablecloths, the walls are decorated with oriental drawings, and the whole restaurant has a red and gold tint to it.

If it is impossible for you to go out to China Castle Restaurant, then definitely take advantage of its take-out and free delivery service. All items from the menu are available for home or work delivery. So, if you're craving some tasty or spicy Chinese food, call China Castle. Your roommates will be thankful and will definitely want to pitch in for some of your Mongolian beef or Kung-Pao shrimp.

Of course my meal ended with a fortune cookie and I was pleasantly surprised to read my fortune: "You are a bundle of energy, always on the go." On the back of my fortune were lucky daily numbers and Lotto six numbers. I assume these numbers are put on the back of the fortune so that on your way out of China Castle Restaurant, you can purchase a Super Lotto ticket or a California Scratcher. People must feel lucky when they leave China Castle. When I left, I was certainly full from all the food I had eaten, and I made sure to grab a mint on my way out. So, go check out China Castle Restaurant, and if you and your friends can't eat all the food you order, your waiter will wrap it up so you can enjoy it later.
