ASB Comedy AMS Exec Board In Good Shape

"George Washington Slept Here," a production by Kaufman and Hart, is the story of a poor, misguided soul who believes he can create a haven out of an old ramshackle house in upper New York State. He is immediately besieged by a host of unexpected and uninvited guests, including an irate neighbor, a sponging rela-tive, week-end visitors, an eccentric caretaker, Japanese beetles, and other weird characters. Togetner they give incentive for hilarious situations, but every-thing turns out for the best, and the ending is one of surprise. The AMS is planning several social events which will be an-nounced in the near future.

Tomorrow night, October 26, club members and guests will have a hayride. The Festival is to provide gifts such as students use in their everyday life for the students of Europe. Items such as notebook paper, pencils, ink, pins, erasers, rulers, toothbrushes, combs, soap, scraps of material, are welcomed.

This drive is being held early so that the gifts may reach the people of Europe by Christmas. Boxes will be placed around on campus and it is hoped that the students at Santa Barbara college will cooperate to their fullest extent in making the drive a success.

EDITORIAL

It has been said that colleges and universities do more toward promoting international understanding and good will than any other agency or institution active in this particular field of thought. If this is true, and certainly few people would argue otherwise, then it is something which should be fostered and encouraged whenever possible.

Locally, the International Relations club, sponsored by Dr. Harry Girvetz, has embarked again this year on a program of discussion of both domestic and international issues which are of interest to the group. The two officers of the group are Larry Dudley, chairman, and Francis Karpe, secretary. Rather loosely organized, the group has a wide freedom of choice in selecting controversial subjects to be discussed.

Under Dr. Girvetz' leadership, the I R club has been very successful in providing speakers of international prominence and authority. In past years the most notable examples have been Emil Ludwig, Prince Mnonbu Ojike, Donald Culcross Peatie, and more recently, Dr. Nash, Rhodes scholar and head of the World Federalist movement. To speak soon, is Sterling Hayden, movie actor recently returned from the marines, and highly praised throughout two columns in the liberal P.M.

While not primarily an action group, the I R club has taken polls of campus opinion on various matters and has been very effective in crystallizing campus opinion.

Now in about its tenth year of organization, the International Relations club continues toward its objectives in pro- HE WHO WEARS PAJAMAS ... moting the furtherance of international good relations.

LOST AND FOUND DEPARTMENT

The Lost and Found department, homeless for so many years, has at last been adopted. It will henceforth be housed in the offices of the new campus police force, according to Police Captain William E. Oriva. The department will function according to the system prescribed by the University of California. An alphabetical listing will be supplemented by a card index system which will describe the article turned in and tell where found and by whom. Cards are also available for listing pun intended-FGW.) of lost articles.

The Lost and Found cabinet in Captain Oriva's office contains at present: thirty nine books; a dress; a coat; keys; a scarf; assorted jewelry, including bracelets, fraternity pins, signet rings and class rings; a compact; about forty pens; and a set of drum sticks.

Captain Oriva's office is at the bottom of the stairs on the west side of the west quad building. The campus police force is maintained to handle all matters of police function relating to the college and its students. The force is appointed by the Board of Regents of the University of California and is on the state payroll. They maintain a twenty-four hour security patrol of the college grounds patrol of the college grounds.

"Plans are in progress," stated Capt. Oriva, " establish two new parking areas here at the college. These areas will accommodate approximately 200 cars.

In the meantime, students can help by parking only in areas allotted for their use. These areas do not include : behind the auditorium, in front of the quad, or below the education building.

BAND

The band once again places a call for new members. To date, there are approximately forty-five members, present or accounted for, and Mr. Faulkner, band director, aspires to lead a hundred piece organization.

The band has so far been seen in its initial appearance at the Cal Poly game and since at numerous rallies and in last Saturday's parade down State street for the Horsemen's Association. Many other appearances are scheduled for the future, according to band manager, Leland Keniston.

Other activities within the band include an all-girl drum

It's strange that the person spinning the platters can make so much difference in the pleasure one can derive from a record program. In our opinion you only have club had rapture at a picnic last to hear one record program a day Manning to hear all that is good in recorded music. If you're from Los Angeles you probably have guessed I mean Gene Norman's show every night from 10 to 12 on KFWB.

Mr. Norman splits up his show pretty evenly between fine jazz and the popular commercial swing of the day. Every Tuesday from 11 to 12 he has Dave Dexter, editor of Capitol Note magazine, as There's one they tell down at a guest. To me this is the high-UCLA about the girl being rushed light of every week's radio listening, as Mr. Dexter has one of the finest jazz collection in the coun-try, and you hear nothing but the best jazz for one solid hour. Besides which both these men are noted experts on the subject and can give you much of the information on personnel in the groups, recording dates of the records played, and background information which you don't hear often. Mary Lou Lewis: Dances on campus are VERY practical! We should have more dances on campus-football games or not. Why not have Sunday Tea-dances? Ned Potter: Good dances on the campus would do a lot for school spirit. A good floor, (the cafeteria would be ideal, or the gym could be used), a band, and I'm sure students would turn out.

Inspired Gauchos Hold Fresno to Close Win

Santa Barbara suffered its third defeat of the season through the hands of Fresno state, 20 to 13, in a wide open passing game before 12,000 thrilled fans. While outpassed by quarterbacks Bianchin and Sam Cathcart, Jackie Fellows threw his missiles where they hurt most, and with the aid of a fine running attack which was responsible for one of their touchdowns, par with the much touted Fresno team and beating them at their own passing game, Santa Barbara might have emerged on top but for two very questionable ref-eree's decisions which the Gaucho fans as well as coaches had interpreted as touchdowns.

Stan Williamson's eleven drew first blood late in the first quar-ter. A Fresno fumble recovered by Kirkland on the Fresno 33 set the stage. Here the brilliant pass-ing combination, Bianchin to Pe-ters, showed itself with two successive completions, the last of which, a 17 yarder, Peters caught in the end zone. Pete Zucco's conversion try was wide. Score, Gauchos 6, Fresno 0.

Fresno Pulls Ahead In the same quarter, sticking to the ground, Fresno pulled ahead of Santa Barbara, 7 to 6, with Bill Pelto hitting right guard for 34 yards to climax an 80 yard drive in seven plays. With one minute to go in the second half, Fresno again hit pay dirt, a ten yard pass from Fellows to Kelly turning the trick. Score, Fresno Bulldogs 14, Santa Barbara 6. Santa Barbara 6.

NATIONAL FOOTBALL

With just about the greatest football season in the country's history nearing the middle of its unpredictable frolic, a look at its present standing leaves one won-dering.

On the coast, old UCLA, having nosed out the Bears in a great but almost drastic ball game, leads the conference with a comfort-able margin. Oregon, with two wins and a tie, is in second spot. The Trojans, who have tempora-rily ended their civil war, came to life to trouble the Huskies and to life to trouble the Huskies and pull a third. No one is much wor-ried over Oregon and SC's games with Cal and Stanford will show whether a win over the Bruins would put them on top. The PCC's season has made suckers out of sports writers and is still apt to more so. All'Coast last year and top national ground gainer until nabbed by the Navy, Call Rossi, sensational Bruin All American potential, was taken gamer until habbed by the lyavy, Call Rossi, sensational Bruin All American potential, was taken out of last week's game with a fractured ankle. From here on the Gauchos dom-inated the field pushing Fresno around offensively for the rest of the game. A recovered fumble on the Fresno 4 yard line was prob-ably the first stroke of luck the Gauchos experienced all season. They quickly turned the break in-They quickly turned the break in-to a touchdown with a nice pass from Sam Cathcart to Harold Swift in the end zone. Score 13 to 20, Sam Dimas's conversion being good. The old brother act was responsible for this touch-down Correld recovering the im down, Gerald recovering the im-portant fumble with Harold catch-ing the touchdown throw.

Willie Peters Recognized

Willie Peters turned in a tre-mendous game and in the air there is heard, nation wide recog-nition is his due. He is no doubt slated for all-conference by a wide margin. An outstanding perwide margin. An outstanding per-formance was turned in by guard Tommy Burt who gave the Bull-dogs a continual headache. Al Katich at center showed he is very determined in the filling of John-ny Daniels shoes by turning in a stellar performance with his fine centering. Despite a bindering centering. Despite a hindering brace on his injured knee, Roy Steele kept on making his end the compact barrier that it has been all season.

As showed at the Fresno game, Williamson's quarterbacks are be-ginning to click. The team morale s high and is kept that way despite its losses by continually fooling the experts as to their ability and by giving live gitters to the supposedly big guns that our opposing teams have been slated to be. The difference has been, so far, only that the Gauchos have been continually the underdogs with the breaks.

Michigan and Northwestern, both undefeated as far as the conference goes, fought to a dead-lock and things stand the way they did one week ago. Texas continued its onslaught and claim for national recognition by rolling over Arkansas 20 to 0. The Army-Notre Dame game will either end the Cadets' long winning streak or dump the Irish out of the undefeated bracket.

The nation's undefeated team now consists of UCLA, Notre Dame, Georgia, North Carolina State, Northwestern, Oregon, Pennsylvania, and Texas.

Rose Bowl prospects are North-western, Michigan, Texas, Ala-bama, and most doubtfully Army. Tomorrow's games should cut down the undefeated teams once again and someone's pre-season prediction that no team will go undefeated may prove to be more truth than poetry.
