MEN'S GLEE CLUB ON FIRST TOUR

Music Department Makes Great Progress

The Men's Glee Club of the Santa Barbara State College under the direction of Mrs. Helen Barnett will make its initial tour beginning with a performance at Carpinteria on April 24.

Following their first appearance as representatives of the college musical activities, they will go to Santa Ynez on the 25th, Santa Maria on the 29th, Bakersfield on the 30th, and Delano, Wasco, and Lancaster on May 1. The final performance will be given in Fillmore on the second day of May.

This is the first time in the history of the college that the musical department has made any such attempt, and the tour is looked upon favorably by the student body as being another step in the growth of the college. Twenty-one men have qualified as songsters, and their talents are being advertised in good looking posters which will appear in the towns where they are to sing.

COLLEGE TRACK MEN WIN INTERCOL. MEET

Coach Gilliland is carrying a grin that goes all the way around his head as a result of the College winning the intercollegiate track meet at Carpinteria Saturday, April 5. All the dope accorded the strong San Diego team a regular clean-up. However, there's an old saying about never count your chickens until they are hatched. Instead of the dope eggs hatching a brood of San Diego chickens they turned out a flock of little baby College Road Runners which promise to be quite grown up and vicious for another year.

Congratulations to the fellows of the track team and to Coach Gilliland and his assistant Hawley for their splendid showing.

Social Science Students Meet Wednesday Night

The second meeting of the social science group was held Wednesday evening at the home of Dean Westcott. President Hawley was the discussion chairman of the evening. The topic taken up in detail was conditions at Washington with reference to the coming election. Marvel Miller, Helen Ingalls, Ruth Belyea and Mr. Gorman talked on various phases of the question before the meeting was thrown open for general discussion.

The organization has adopted the policy of having each member contribute some current event topic before the main topic to be discussed is taken up.

The officers for the new organization which will meet every two weeks are: President, Jesse Hawley; secretary, Margaret Burke.

Stop. Look. Listen. It's the G. P.'s.

DELEGATES REPORT A.C.A.C.W. CONVENTION

The delegates, Barbara Dewlaney and Ester Janssens, who attended the fourth national Athletic Conference of American College Women which was held in Berkeley April 9-12 report an exceedingly profitable and enthusiastic meeting. More than two hundred young women coming from all parts of the United States met to discuss problems of women's college athletics. These problems were considered in open meetings, in round table discussions, and in closed meetings where the business of the conference was carried on by the official delegates. Reports of the Eastern, Central, and Western Sectional Conferences were given by a representative college from each section. Athletic events, competition, consideration of the point system, athletic awards, national treasury, the News Letter (publication of A.C.A.C.W.), and various other problems and phases of women's athletics were considered. The conference took a definite stand against intercollegiate athletics for women, thereby favoring inter-class, intra-collegiate and intra-class competition. Member colleges of A.C.A.C.W. are asked to conform for at least one year with the point system which had been previously adopted by the conference.

The next national conference will be held at Cornell University three years hence, while the next conference of the western section will be held at S.B.U.C. during the coming year.

President and Mrs. Phelps last week enjoyed their first real vacation in six years.

They left Monday morning of Easter vacation and motored up into the San Joaquin valley. Proceeding by easy stages and stopping at many interesting places en route, they finally turned off at Porterville and traveled until they reached the snows of the Sierra Nevada mountains. Here, forgetting all dull care, Mr. and Mrs. Phelps enjoyed themselves to the utmost for a few days. Although loath to leave, they finally took their departure and arrived back in Santa Barbara Sunday afternoon.

TEACHERS' TRAINING COURSE LENGTHENED

The Teachers' Training course has been lengthened from two and one-half years to three years by action of the State Board of Education which met in conjunction with the Teachers' College Presidents on April 4. The new ruling will take effect for people graduating in June, 1927. Students entering later than the fall of 1924 will not be able to finish in less than three years. This step is of special interest to any person contemplating Teachers' Training course.

The best schooling comes after school days are over.

College Night Program Promises Interest

Faculty and student committees are working on plans for College Night and Homecoming Day to be held May 10. The college night program promises to be of particular interest. Dancing numbers, some by men and others by women, are being worked into the program. The Glee Clubs will also have an important part in the entertainment. The full nature of the program has not yet been announced.

All day Saturday, May 10, will be given over to homecoming Alumni members. A supper is being planned in their honor, and a dance in the gymnasium will follow the court entertainment.

YACHT CLUB SCENE OF DECK SUPPER

The ever persistent cry for "something different" prompted the A. W. S. to give its supper Thursday evening at a "deck party." The very unique affair was held at the Yacht Club and every camouflage possible was used to make the guests feel as though they were on board ship. So successful were those in charge in creating a sea-like atmosphere it is said that some of the frailer members felt dangerous qualms, suggestive of seasickness. They were promptly relieved, however, when, upon dashing to the rails they discovered themselves but fifteen feet from State street and over fifty feet from the sea—such is the power of suggestion.

Marion Ogden, social chairman, was in charge of the affair. Florence Stratton and Irene Cameron were chairmen of the entertainment and refreshment committees.

FRENCH CLASS PLANS UNIQUE PARTY

Plans for the French Party to be given some time in May are well under way and rehearsals for the entertainments and plays are being held regularly under the direction of Miss Ramelli and her student assistants.

As nothing of this nature has been attempted by the French department much interest in the affair is being shown.

A chorus of French dolls and wooden soldiers is dancing and drilling to the tunes of several quaint French melodies which will be sung. Selected scenes from a lively French comedy, "Le Voyage de M. Perrichon" will be presented. The feature of the program is a comedy of a more serious nature by Alfred Musset. A complete program together with the casts of the plays and choruses will be published at a later date.

JESSIE LEMMON CHOSEN SECRETARY

Miss Jessie Lemmon was elected secretary of the student body last Tuesday. The election was made necessary by the resignation of Frances Dearborn who is now attending Stanford.

STUDENT OFFICERS TO BE ELECTED

ELECTION SCHEDULED FOR TUES., MAY 6

The election of student body officers will take place on Tuesday, May 6. Petitions are already in evidence, candidates are being considered, and opinions are being expressed. The college has been caught in a whirlwind of campaigning which will be brought to a close on May election day.

Since petitions must be on the bulletin board one week before election, students supporting candidates are asked to see that all petitions are on the board April 29. In order to nominate any student for office the petition must be signed by ten per cent of the student body. Petitions may be obtained from the secretary, Jessie Lemmon.

According to President Keeley May 6 will be one of the red letter days of the college since the election of student body officers to carry on the work of next year is indeed an important issue. The president also expressed the hope that candidates will not be backward in accepting nominations. "Consider the candidates, then vote" is the slogan of the campaign.

CAMPUS AND BLDGS. BEING IMPROVED

The following has just been received by President Phelps from Sacramento:

Practical phases of the training of teachers at Santa Barbara State Teachers College are indicated in a report just received by the State Department of Education according to A.R. Heron, Assistant Superintendent of Public Instruction. The report states that the class in surveying at the Teachers College has just completed charts of the campus on which every rock and tree has been accurately located. The charts are being used as a basis for future landscape plotting. A large part of the campus at the southern institution is undeveloped. By means of the surveying and other practical work by the students together with cooperation from Dr. A. B. Doremus, Superintendent of Parks for the city of Santa Barbara, landscape engineering at the state college is being accomplished at about one-tenth the usual cost.

In addition to this the students of the college were pleasantly surprised, after a week's absence at school, by the many improvements to the buildings. Monday morning instead of being greeted by the gray, sombre walls of the past they found the buildings brightly and freshly calomined in a coat of light orange color.

The pole framework that was on the lower side of the cafeteria has been removed and the space eventually will be planted with flowers and shrubs.

Experience makes a man careful more than it makes him wise.

A DUTY OF THE MEN'S CLUB

Were you ever a member of an excursion group or visiting delegation in a strange town? If you have been you have experienced the general hand-shaking and welcoming by the local committee, that is so essential a part of making the stranger feel at home. Even though at times the stranger may realize that it is an attempt to "sell" him something, be it anything from the spirit of fraternity in a lodge to a lot in a newly opened subdivision, he cannot entirely overcome the glow of popularity.

Such a movement among the college students is not a bad idea. We find it working well in the "Big Sister" movement among the women of the A. S. W. Why would not a similar movement among the men be a highly beneficial thing?

Each year upward of a hundred new students come into the school, strangers to us, and to one another. A movement that would reach out and draw them into the spirit of the organization, and that would make them feel as though the organization was interested in them as individuals would be profitable to them, in that it would make them feel the true spirit of western hospitality, and to us in that it would broaden our field of friendship by bringing us into fellowship in a pleasant way with many highly desirable companions.

CHOOSING OUR S. B. OFFICERS

With interest just beginning to be evinced in the coming student-body election a few thoughts on the seriousness of the task of choosing leaders for the organization for the coming year would not be amiss.

Elections are always fraught with certain evils, for instance the popular candidate, who capitalizes his social or athletic success as a reason why he should be elected to some high office. His social or athletic prowess may or may not prove anything as to his ability to conduct a student body meeting, or to direct the activities and handle student body responsibilities in a successful manner.

While friendship should be given every opportunity to make itself known, it must not be permitted to enter into actions which involve the well-being of several hundred individuals. Ability for executive positions, not the knowledge of the latest thing in fox-trots or the ability to make the hundred in ten flat, makes a president, and the ability to look charming in an expensive gown does not mean that the young lady will be a model secretary of the organization.

Not WHO the candidate is but WHAT he is should be the factor that determines how the votes at the coming election shall be cast.

HOME EC. NEWS

New "bobs" in the Home Economics Department are Mae Hamilton, Bernice Gange and Irene Wilson.

Thelma Walters was the guest of Mae Hamilton at her home in Delano for a few days last week.

Janice Erwin spent Easter vacation with her sister in Van Nuys.

The girls in Miss Frie's advanced dressmaking class are making linen dresses. Every color in the rainbow is represented.

The members of Miss Clark's millinery class made their own Easter bonnets.

EXCHANGES

The boys Home Economic class of manual arts, Los Angeles, paid the chef of the Biltmore Hotel a visit last week and were initiated into the sacred order of French chefs, "The Cordon Blue."

The dreams of the girls of Huntington Park High school have at last come true. Last week a large and well ventilated new gymnasium was turned over to them for their exclusive use.

Probably one of the busiest and one of the most practical classes in vocational training in the Los Angeles High school system is the class in brick-laying given at the Lincoln High school.

The Los Angeles High will be represented in the national typing contest to be held in San Francisco the latter part of April, by seven of its students.

The glee clubs of the Nebraska State Teachers College have made a fine reputation for themselves and are in great demand throughout the state.

Both the men and women's clubs so far have given nine concerts in various parts of the state besides broadcasting over the radio many pleasing programs.

Both a dramatic and musical success was the edict of all those who attended "The Marriage of Manettee," which was given by the combined glee clubs and orchestra of the Huntington Union High school a short time ago in the school auditorium.

The students were startled with a queer sensation as they looked at the columns of the college Monday morning. What had happened? Ah, on closer inspection it was to be seen that the college had been painted a deeper hue. Goodness, we had no idea that our beloved college was to turn a flapper!

The Women's Gymn Class of Recreation Center gave a dance last Tuesday night. The Men's Glee Club were invited, and the quartet sang with a trace of nervousness, as usual.

Mr. Bill Young has returned to school after illness and vacation, not much the worse for wear.

Many students who did not go out of town during the vacation spent much of the time at the beach.

It is rumored that Gordon Sawyer's stepped into the matrimonial chain during Easter vacation. We will be shy on single men pretty soon if we don't watch out.

COM. MECH. NEWS

Mr. Blodgett spent several days with friends north of San Francisco and visited schools in the northern counties. He also attended the principals' convention at Santa Cruz.

Mr. Briggs is making a "hope chest" of walnut, lined with cedar. Look out, girls, he just made a colonial sewing stand, too, and plans further household fittings. We wonder who the lucky young lady can be.

Lee Verett has finished a beautiful cedar chest for Mr. Blalock.

Dean Smith had a wonderful tussle with his "tin heap," as he calls his flivver, and finally emerged from underneath with victory in his grasp. "Listen to her pun," Dean says.

On the whole—we are all glad to be back once more.

Helen Pratt, who was unable to do practice teaching before vacation, is back again.

Miss Naomi Kasten was the hostess of a dinner party at her home on the night of Wednesday during Easter vacation, in honor of Miss Adele Weaver, who attended college here last year. Marian Ogden, Anna Lincoln, and Isabel Lyons were the other guests.

Lois Fratis is very happy. We wondered why. Just ask her and she will reply, "I've done my all day practice teaching."

Olive (with wet eyes)—M-men are all liars.

Jessie—Oh, don't say that.
Olive—Well, I suppose there are a few who are not, but all the really n-nice ones are.

"That's nothing but a big bluff," was what he said when a picture of the rock of Gibraltar was flashed on the screen.

First Bridesmaid—They are well matched, aren't they?

Second Bridesmaid—rather, she's a grass widow and nes a vegetarian.

Mrs. Nouveau Riche—He's getting on so well at school; he learns French and Algebra. Now Ronnie, say "How d'ye do to the lady in Algebra."

Visitor—What does the chaplain do here?

Student—O, he gets up and looks over the student body and then prays for the college.

I see where they gave a Mah Jong ball in the East.

Well, what about it.
I just wondered how they represented the white dragon.

A flap-jack has its ups and downs, but a waffle has its depressions.

Student—How about that order?

Waiter—On the fire, boss.

Student—What, my ice cream?

Did you hear it? The General Professionals are a snappy bunch. Just watch them.

The almighty dollar is the Jack of all trades.

Le Fevre Endures
 Precarious Situation

Due to the fact that the exchange manager, Rene P. Le Fevre, in all innocence, was invited to visit the high schools of Mexico last week, by a certain Walter Ellis, he has no contributions to make this time to The Eagle. In fact it is doubtful whether he can contribute to any of his classes for a long time to come, as he is still considerably shaken up, after the long ride from Tia Juana to Ensenada in Walt Ellis' flivver. He reports that when he wasn't making a wild grasp for the top of the car to save his head, he was either sitting on the floor boards or riding on the door and watching with staring eyes the flivver take a sharp mountain curve on two wheels, hoping that she would make it and not go crashing down the steep bank a la Guenther.

After arriving in Ensenada, which is a town of 2000 people, situated on one of the finest and largest bays of the western coast, he was informed there was no high school there. So he and Walt, that night, took a course in the Spanish Fandango and fox trot with the pretty Spanish señoritas. The next day, after visiting the town they left for Home Sweet Home.

After being exposed to Mexico for two days, Walter Ellis says he is now in a position to give any instruction in the Mexican language desired, but Le Fevre says no more trips in the flivver.

Editor's Note—Considering the popular and available elements existing in Mexico, the above mentioned condition is readily accounted for, and it might also be considered a surprise that the party returned in due time.

PERSONALS

The Grand Council of the I. T. K.'s of the Santa Barbara branch, speeding through Ventura on a trip to the southern part of the state found themselves in the clutches of the stern Ventura officials. Everything must be O. K. as they are all back at school.

Miss Frances Lincoln went to Stanford University for her week's vacation, visiting her friends who are in school there. She reports an ideal time.

Many students are acquiring yellow streaks up their backs—! (From leaning against the newly painted pillars in the college.)

Mr. Charles Mansfield had two very young lovely ladies visiting at his home on upper De la Vina street, who made his vacation slip by more quickly.

Ester Janssens and Barbara Dewlaney had a wonderful time at the Conference in Berkeley the week end before vacation. They met everyone they knew up there during their short stay.

Miss Winham has followed Miss Weage's example and has returned with bobbed hair, despite her assertion that she would not fall under the barber's influence.

Lorna Roe has returned after an enforced vacation because of illness. We are glad to see her back.

Many college students attended the delightful dance given by the Daughters of Isabella at Recreation last Monday evening.

Watch your step. The General Professionals are coming.

A number of friends of Mae Werry missed her smiling face around the corridors and in the classroom. The mystery has been solved. She did her all day practice teaching.

Dorothy Williams has just completed her all day practice teaching. It was fun.

Contrary to the conceptions of a good many of the college students, the General Professional, like their all day practice teaching. It is fun and they learn a lot. Just ask those who have tried it.

Pearl Wynes accompanied by Margaret Kenyon in her little Chevrolet drove from Casimalia to Santa Barbara to spend Easter vacation.

A great number of the General Professional girls enjoyed their Easter vacation at their respective homes.

The Wednesday before vacation the class of Curriculum for the Foreign Born under Mrs. Price visited the Lincoln school.

Look out, the G. P.'s are on the map.

Many of the girls of the General Professional Department will remember Adele Weaver, who was here last year. She spent her Easter vacation visiting old friends.

Laura Spect Price attended as a committee member a luncheon which was given by the Women's University Club at Los Angeles during vacation.

The greatest thing in the world is not so much where we stand as in what direction we are moving.

DELEGATES REPORT AT A. W. S. MEETING

A very important meeting of the A. W. S. was held yesterday morning at which reports by delegates to the Intercollegiate Women's Association Convention at the University of Southern California and to the Athletic Conference of American College Women at Berkeley were made. Irene Youngken, Helen Culp, and Frances Drew, delegates to the I. W. A. conference told of the complete success of that convention in both its business and social aspects. The business meetings, at which problems common to women of all colleges were discussed were unusually beneficial according to the reports.

Barbara Dewlaney and Esther Janssens reported fully on the A.C.A.C.W. at Berkeley.

Election of executive officers for next year was held but at the time The Eagle went to press final returns from the election had not been issued.

Ah! Another one in the General Professional Department has been tempted and could not resist. Ruth McMillian appeared Monday with shorn tresses. We soon will have them all following the good cause.

MR. WOLF AND THE ENCHANTED ISLE

The following is another very interesting and enlightening letter which the Editor has just received from Mr. Hamilton Wolf, from the island of Tahiti:

Papeete, Tahiti.

To the Brood of the Eagle:

The last bit of news from anywhere, that I have had, was the radio aboard ship, about the forest-fire near Montecito, which burned some hotel, and since then I have been in oblivion about oil scandals, presidential candidates and the latest college yell. In a week or so I will be off for the island of Bora Bora far to the north, where I will have still less news.

But I cannot say that life seems like a great void, and that I am the loser. Life is so full and scintillating, that I really believe you can envy me my isolation on an enchanted isle.

A French ship from Marseille steamed into port, which is an event that brings the populace down to the dock and as the new arrivals descended the gangplank, my chum, a Russian who was aboard ship with me, and I, looked with scorn upon these outsiders who were coming in upon us, feeling that we were natives of long standing.

In the village of Papenoo, they are practicing their native dances and "Himene" or songs, and since my last letter, I have been there several times as the guest of the village. There is something strange and weird as they dance in the moonlight, their dances of a hundred years ago and sing their songs of the ancient warriors. The dance is a most complicated thing, done to instruments hollowed out of tree trunks, a tambour and Standard Oil gasoline can. The songs are done seated with the women in front and the men in back. The women sing in tenor and the men in basso, with a few notes of soprano from the women. It is a strange feeling to be the only white man in their midst, but there is nothing to fear for they are as gentle as gentle folk can be.

Then, too, should I confess? I like the smile of welcome and the "Iorana 'ta u hoa" (Good-day, my good friend), that greets me when I hop off the stage, as the fair Rere waits down the road, with a Tiare Tahiti over her left ear. I like the people coming to their doors and bidding me the day. I like the bread-fruit and the avocado pears and the paraisa fruit and the fresh fish from the sea, that they set before me. I like plunging into the rapids, in the first cool of the late afternoon. I like to watch Rere as she dives into the stream and disappears beneath the rapids only to rise on the farther shore like some mermaid. I like the night with the stars and the soft silver of the new moon.

With sincere greetings to all,
HAMILTON A. WOLF.

The Art Copper Class

In one of the cases in the corridor there is an exhibit of copper work which is of special interest inasmuch as it comprises the work of students who have had only one-half of a semester's instruction in the art metal class. It is interesting to note that the bowls which are shown are hammered from flat discs of copper. All that is used in the process is a coppersmith's hammer and a block of wood with a hole cut in one end.

The desk set shown is made from an old still which had been in use somewhere in Santa Barbara county until the sheriff confiscated it and after chopping a few holes in it, sold it to a local junk company for scrap. Many other things were made from the copper salvaged from that particular still. Here's hoping that the sheriff locates a few more. It's hard on the bootleggers but we need the copper.

Later in the course the class will take up the making of silver jewelry, bracelets, belt buckles etc., and a number of advanced problems in copper and nickel silver.

BASEBALL SEASON ORGANIZED BY MEN

Baseball! Who said baseball? Although Coach is at sea concerning a schedule of games due to the heartlessness of the Venetian quarantine regulations the fellows are showing interest in the coming season. If anyone doubts a successful year just look at this possible lineup as doped out by Gilliland:

Pitchers—Andy, Gurber, and Unkifer.

Catchers—Whidie, McKentyre, and Peters.

First Base—Sanford, Sawyers and Vince.

Second Base—Peters, Brotherton, and Mansfield.

Third Base—Minetti, Raneick, and F. O'Riley.

Short—Keim, Morehead, and E. O'Riley.

Left Field—Hollingsworth, Smith, and Davis.

Center Field—DeLong, Youngs and Linder.

Right Field—Conklin, Jones, and Jackson.
