Students Petitioning to Retain Knall's Social Welfare Course

One hundred UCSB students are trying to save Dr. Herbert Knall's Sociology 150 course with a petition drive. Knall is the popular instructor of "Principles of Social Welfare," concentrating on social work and mental health. During the day, he is a social worker and mental health.

In response to this, several members of the current class (Roy Thibau, Kent Ulm, Mike Nagler) have circulated petitions among past, present, and prospective students. John and Leslie Meybrey, in a written appeal, described the course as being in step with "General Education" directives of the University of California. (UC President Ronald Reagan has urged every campus to participate actively in solving the urban social problems.)

Support for the student petitions is being sought from the social workers' union downtown, as well as from the Channel Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers (NASW). In January, Psychology TA who has been working in that area, said that if Knall was fired, the reform would be lost in an affirmative action of the Hitch Directives.

Nevertheless, Sociology faces serious budgetary and Master Plan obstacles. According to one named David who chaired the Department when Knall was hired, social work should be the subject of an entire school or department.

Field placements, a major preoccupation, that establishing such a school, apparently abound in the area, said Gold. Fresno State College even places its social work students in Santa Barbara agencies and institutions.

SOCIAL WORK SCHOOL??

The possibility of a school of Social Work will come under discussion in Knall's class Monday night at 7, North Hall 1004A Lecture Room, interested non-members of the class are free to attend.

SAN DIEGO--Amidst charges that they were violating the use of faculty control of academic affairs, the UC Board of Regents approved an interim resolution curtailing restrictions on outside lecturers in their monthly meeting at UC San Diego on Thursday and Friday.

In other action at their monthly meeting at UC San Diego campus, the Regents approved a proposed operating budget.

Regents Revise Lecturer Ruling

This is THE Week For Project Pakistan

This is the week to pick up your application for Project Pakistan at the table in front of the library, from the 4-H, office of the Counseling Center.

The requirements for the program are minimal. You must have a 2.0 grade point average, be a U.S. citizen and be returning to UCSB next year. There is no language requirement.

The reason that an applicant must be returning to UCSB next year is because by the end of the year each team that returns from the summer in Pakistan is反思 responsible for sending the team to Pakistan for the next summer.

The training process is an exciting one which involves a wide variety of activities. One of the main purposes of the training should be enable the prospective team members to have a wide variety of experiences together, to share and discuss these experiences for the team as a whole, and thus get to know each other and grow individually as well.

Any questions about Project Pakistan or the training should ask at the Project table in front of the library.

$341 million, a figure that seems fated to be cut, Governor Ronald Reagan told them that if it goes without saying that this is a year on the edge of the state, citing mounting budget deficits.

The new Committee on Education and Administration, which UC President Charles Hitch called the second in the direction of cutting rule guiding guest lecturers, is:

GUEST LECTURERS

"Effective immediately, and until further action by the Regents, no one may lecture or lead a discussion in more than one occasion during an academic quarter in a course authorized under the regulations made in Chapter IX, sections 250, 350 of the Standing Orders of the Regents, or in a course not authorized under this delega-

This applies whether or not the speaker is paid by the University. The President may authorize exceptions in unusual situations.

The resolution also makes it mandatory for the student to wish to have a guest lecturer filled. (Continued on p. 8, col. 1)

"Why does a perfect size 7 look perfect only 21 days every month?"

It has nothing to do with calories. It’s a special female weight gain... caused by temporary water-weight build-up. Oh, you know... that uncomfortable full feeling that sneaks up on you the week before your menstrual period. This fluid retention not only plays havoc with your looks but how you feel as well. (It puts pressure on delicate nerves and tissues, which can lead to pre-menstrual cramps and headaches, leaves emotions on edge.)

That’s why so many women take PAMPRIN®. It gently relieves water-weight gain to help prevent pre-menstrual puffiness, tension, and pressure-caused cramps. PAMPRIN makes sure a perfect tension, and pressure-caused cramps.

Semester at Sea Recruiters Here

Jacqueline Doyle, a representative of World Campus Afloat—Chapman College, Orange, Calif., will visit UCSB on November 25 and 26 to discuss a study semester aboard the S.S. Lyndam. Students, faculty and administrators who wish interviews or who have questions about Chapman's international study voyage should plan to attend an introductory meeting in the Administration Building on Saturday, November 22 at 10 a.m. The public is invited, Mrs. Doyle said.

The goal of the World Campus Afloat program, administered by Chapman's Division of International Education, is to combine liberal arts coursework with the experiences of world travel, the representative explained.

During its current semester at sea, which departed from New York on October 10, the Lyndam carries 500 students and 70 faculty and staff to ports in Europe, Africa and South America. The 110-day voyage will terminate January 29 in Los Angeles. The spring 1969 semester will depart from Los Angeles on February 3, journeying around the world via the Orient, India and Africa, to terminate May 27 at New York.

Students attend classes six days a week while at sea with formal studies supplemented by pre-arranged, in-port activities related to course material. Catalogs, applications and additional information are available from Mrs. Doyle or from Division of International Education, Chapman College, Orange, Calif., 92666.

Placement Center Interviews

Three students interested in making appointments for interviews must have a file set up in the Placement office (Administration Building 1256). Interview appointments should be made at least two days in advance (two sessions per week).

How to brew the King of Beers.

Ever wonder how Anheuser-Busch takes the choicest hops, rice and best barley malt—and turns it into the King of Beers?

Best way to find out is to visit one of our breweries for a first-hand look. (The pleasure will be mutual.)

Meanwhile, purely in the interest of science and higher education, here's a quick cram course.

1. At the lauter tanks, we cook malt and rice to produce a clear amber liquid called wort.
2. Then to the copper brew kettles, where choicest imported and domestic hops are added to the wort—which is cooked again.
3. Now, after cooling, the wort flows into our own patented fermenters, where brewers' yeast works to ferment natural sugars into alcohol and CO2. This is where the wort becomes beer.
4. Most beers are finished now. Not Budweiser. We ferment it again, this time in special glass-lined tanks partially filled with a dense lattice of beechwood strips. (This is where Beechwood Ageing comes in. It's a costly extra step, but we think the difference it makes in the taste and clarity of Budweiser is worth it!) We add a little freshly-yeasted wort to start the second fermentation, and let it "work."
5. The final step. The Budweiser flows through a series of finishing filters just before we package it for you in barrels, cans or bottles. If that sounds like anybody could brew Budweiser, forget it. It takes a special kind of brewery (we have the only six in the world that will do), a brewmaster who puts his heart and soul into brewing the King of Beers, the choicest ingredients (the cost of which keeps our treasurer awake at night), and thousands of brewery workers who know Budweiser is the best reason in the world to drink beer.

Next time? Well, we were going to tell you how to drink Bud. But you know that. Like to know more about brewing in general and Bud in particular? Write for our free booklet:

When the Regents met at UCLA two months ago and passed their controversial "Eldridge Cleaver" resolution barring any outside lecturer from appearing outside the University with a statement more than once in any class offered for credit, the faculty and students of the campuses of the University reacted with outrage.

We have seen serious disruption at Berkeley, attempts of the same at other campuses, and a sharp drop in respect for the Regents as a result of that decision.

The nine Academic Senates have all gone on record as being fearful of this encroachment on traditional faculty control over the content of University classes, and as objecting to the Regents' use of Cleaver as a political issue.

The Committee on Educational Policy (CEP) of the Regents has now presented us with a modified version of that resolution which sparked all the furor.

It turns out to be a more precise statement of our apprehensions. The September 20 resolution left the impression that if a course with an outside lecturer appearing more than once escaped the Governor's eye, it was safe. Now, those professors who wish to teach such a course must appeal to the administration on their campus for approval.

In addition, the resolution made groups of students and/or faculty who are trying to structure new courses directly responsible to the chancellor at their campus.

This makes for a very bad precedent, as the Academic Senate representatives at the CEP meeting stated Thursday afternoon. It means that the administration is responsible for the content and structure of any course which deviates from the traditional one-semester professor model.

It seems to us (and administrators usually seem to be the first to agree) that this is not the proper role of the administrators. It also be noted that three chancellors, Roger Heyns of Berkeley, Charles Young of UCLA, and Vernon Chadd from this campus, spoke strongly against the resolution in the meeting. They wanted the CEP not to avoid the real issue of academic freedom in their zeal to find some way to make the September 20 resolution workable.

We agree. And we would warn those who think that the Academic Senate will not fight back over this issue that it is when the most controversial aspects of academic freedom are attacked that faculties should, and probably will, respond.

Thanksgiving?

By Benny Goldberg

Who was it who said, "Thanksgiving is the true American holiday?" Doesn't sound too familiar? Well, then, let's skip it.

Actually, Thanksgiving is the true American holiday -- academic! Thanksgiving, yes! Academic! No! You can't really believe that the four day holiday was meant to provide, timeless and fair weather activities for us, the students of the world, can't? Of course not.

The Thanksgiving holiday gets the prize for providing the genuine academic with all those masochistic tendencies he needs to survive in this, our otherwise sadistic environment. At this point you might hesitate a moment and wonder where the hell I came from and what I am saying.

Well, you see...all began three days ago when I was buried in my studies. The thought suddenly came upon me (as thoughts often do) that shortly I would be, in fact, without a date on Thanksgiving. I know, by engineering the four long days of Thanksgiving vacation, however, my thoughts of suchbits lasted for a moment only. As I made the 100-yard dash to my truly "academic" dorm, I realized the joke that was being played on me by my otherwise lovable administration was not a joke at all, but a satirical step in the student face.

Ask yourself -- when does Thanksgiving vacation occur? Don't worry -- I happen to have worked the whole thing out. The "vacation" occurs exactly 32 days before the academic calendar (and in this case I am being rather generous, since language finals fall earlier on my trustees' calendar.)

Consequently, during the holiday each student possesses academic conscience and all will go through sheer hell. The holiday is just close enough to living to be at the hill, for instance, and Trimondore or some friends' empty apartment a truly guilt-ridden experience.

It provides, most readily, that haunting question that pogs into one's veritable bed at bedtime: "Why, WHY didn't I study today?" "Why," you ask? Because you slept until noon, took a shower, and shopped the west, west, west shopping for new cars, spent four hours on the phone trying to make a "connection" which your parents don't understand because they are sure the phone works, and then went with your date to an open fraternity party to see some eighth grade band, stand around with out-of-work gas station attendants, and drink Beer III.

And you ask a question like that? How could you have spent a more worthwhile day? "Why studying," says the chorus in this, your first Greek tragedy, "Why, you see, this "holidays" is truly NOT a holiday at all. Rather, it is what is common known as an emotional black out for academic masochists.

And so you suffer hopelessly in your bed, writhing under your covers while dreaming of papers reaching out and strangling you, exam chasing you down the dark alley of ignorance and of your teachers rallying together with joy, for they have truly developed their own atom bomb -- the Thanksgiving holiday.

Draft Policies

It appears again to be necessary to clarify the policy of my office with regard to supplying information to the draft boards. If the misunderstanding of this policy results in a statement such as contained in the last paragraph of the Draft Resistance Statement that was to be signed and sent to me, then I would like to clear the air and remove the cause for the "outrage."

Once again I will state that we do not send information to a student's board unless he requests it. The student is required to produce "evidence" that he is enrolled as a full-time student in order to qualify for the "academic year, but if he failed to return spring quarter, we would then report him because at that point he could no longer complete the academic year.

Our concern is to help students obtain a deferment if they want this help, and others that I know who are involved in providing this service to students are convinced that if our reports are not consistent with our academic years, if they fail to return spring quarter, we would then report him because at that point he could no longer complete the academic year.

We have also asked the student to inform us and his local board as to which quarters he intends to enroll for the academic year. This would permit a student, for example, to remain out for the winter quarter, and not be reported as dropping out as long as he returned for spring and summer quarter and thereby comply the requisite three quarters in the "academic year." If he failed to return spring quarter, we would then report him because at that point he could no longer complete the academic year.

I don't know what the purpose of KCSB is, but if Tuesday's mass was representative it surely couldn't be to disseminate controversial news. What Mr. Seale had to say would have been news to many they heard it entirely. However, censored as it was, his speech became nearly as innocuous as the censored radio station which clipped it.

When Mr. Seale says that he is up against a wall, he does not exclude the wall of discretion which, while claiming to give him a chance to speak, takes the puts out of his material. KCSB cannot be considered part of the academic community if this kind of ignorant censorship is its response to controversy. It should keep its nose out of real work and stick to sports flashes. And let there be no cries of the FCC threat. It doesn't really exist.

Those feared words can be, and were, aired, legally, I have heard the words "f---" and "bulls---" aired by other networks, its legal. They do have to do with its content, but anyone concerned can verify this. It's a matter of whether one wants to buck the FCC's bureaucratic morality in order to deal fairly with some listeners.

In this sense KCSB is innocuous and treacherous when it comes to providing a platform for airing controversy. It shouldn't pretend to do anything more than it does.

To avoid using units completely, we list here for your information a student who completed 36 unils his senior year and by being reported again as a student in his senior year and being reported again as stating that he had locale would act to reclasify him to 1-A even though the student could still reasonably be expected to graduate within four years from the time he started.

An important factor that should be weighed is that the function of my office with regard to Selective Service is to assist students to obtain deferments. KCSB Radio: Irrelevant

Unfortunately, happening upon KCSB on the radio dial is like happening across any other station in this area, AM or FM. There is one small difference: on KCSB there are no commercials, so what? The station shares all else in common with the other stations. They all have the same tone. I don't pretend to be able to explain precisely what this tone consists of, but by way of explanation I will say that it has something to do with their frame of reference.

It is not everyday that KCSB has the opportunity to fall into its ostensible purpose, Tuesday, November 19, was such a day, however, and KCSB managed, through clumsily, to fail in the end. I'm referring, of course, to KCSB's airing of Bobby Seale's speech that afternoon on UCSB's campus. Mr. Seale, as a Black Panther and spokesman for the among others, has a lot to say to a lot of people and it is important to him to be able to say this in his own way. In fact, in Mr. Seale's words, it is absolutely necessary. Those, like myself, who heard this, are not, however, KCSB were subjected to a travesty of discretion. Parts of his speech were deleted by a fade-out system, and not surprisingly, precisely those parts which were essential to Mr. Seale's message. The FCC regulations forbid certain words from going over the airways, there are four such words,大概,大概,大概,大概,大概. The words "penis" and "vagina" are not on that list but they were nonetheless fade-out victims. Why, now was that? Do those words offend? Something is wrong if we are so self-conscious that we cannot speak even in clinical terms about sexuality.

While words were at the controls must have been a real dilemma since not only did they delete significant portions which simply could not have been all obscene, but he let a couple of "f- ---" and "bulls- ---" by.

Poloists Upset San Jose to Capture Berth in Nationals

Ready, Aim, Fire — And believe it or not, Fresno's goalie blocked this shot by senior Dave Ugarkovich. But the ball bounced right back to Dave, and he put it away for the score. The Gauchos finished second in the PCAA tourney and are headed for the nationals as a result.

Pour It On!
Never let it be said that the University of Houston can't score when it comes to football. Last week the Cougars slaughtered Idaho, 77-3. Saturday they ran up a 56-6 score against Tulsa, at the end of three periods. Then in the final quarter Houston tallied seven more times to give them an unbelievable 100-6 victory.

On their way to this rather one-sided triumph, the Cougars racked up 555 yards rushing, 207 passing, and another 111 in returns.

Gauchos Place Second In PCAA Tourney Here

By SCOTT SLOTERBECK
EG Sports Writer
In the "greatest weekend in our water polo history," coach Rick Rowland's Gauchos placed second in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association water polo tournament held here over the weekend.

The high moment of the tournament came when seventh ranked UCSB overcame San Jose State, ranked number one in the nation, and received a bid to the national playoffs in December.

The weekend started off on a winning note as the Gauchos easily bested Fresno State, 14-5. In this game, UCSB completely dominated play and gave an indication as to how they would play later.

In the second game, however, it looked as though UCSB might not do well in the tournament as they narrowly lost what seemed to be their best chance to advance to the finals by bowing to Cal State Long Beach 8-7 in double overtime.

Things Didn't Look Good
Coming off that long game against Long Beach, things didn't look too good for Santa Barbara, for they had lost to the third ranked team in the nation, and now they faced the number one team.

But the Gauchos gave 100 per cent and hung on to squeak by San Jose, 6-4. That win moved them into the finals, and earned them a bid to the national playoffs.

Playing in their third tough game of the tournament, Santa Barbara began to show signs of tiring, and coupled with the fact that the 49ers had beaten the Gauchos earlier in the tournament, Long Beach prevailed, 5-3, and won the championship.

Simpson Puts UCSB Ahead
In the San Jose contest, the Gauchos scored first as senior Jim Simpson fired a shot past the Spartan goalie, and they maintained that lead through the half, leading 3-2 at intermission.

Each squad tallied once in the third period, and then San Jose tied things up in the final quarter. But the Gauchos were not to be denied, and sophomore Ben Gage rammed home his third goal of the game for the winning score.

Senior Dave Ugarkovich assured UCSB of victory when he added the final point with a minute left.

After a week of intramural playoff action, things look pretty much as they did before. There were few surprises, and none of the top four teams had any trouble at all in reaching the deciding (to say the least) victories over dorm opposition. However, the polls reflected the shakeups in the final games in league play and the Sig Eps once more are atop the poll.

In Tuesday’s games, Sig Chi (9-0-1) won a serve to the Phi’s for five-all. Action was tight with plenty of chances turned over by each team, but Sig Chi finally hung on to win. The Sig Eps went on to beat Supernova 15-0 behind quarterback Rob O’Hagan and Pete Rightmier’s two TDs. O’Hagan is replacing the injured Bob Krouse, who will not be able to compete in the playoffs.

However, Lambda Chi lost safety and end Chuck Castro with a knee injury for the playoff. His replacement, John Herrera, didn’t do much to slow Lambda Chi.

The first round of the playoffs had the 6-Paks shut out Yuma 44-0 behind Mark Seppala and nine points by Red #13 points as they move into this afternoon’s contest with the Innmates, the only surviving B Division team.

Water Polo

(Continued from p. 6) whole team played excellently. However, players such as Craig Henderson, Brent Clark, Rob Barber, Dave Zugarovitch, and all-tournament selection Ben Gage, Larry Guy and John Stockel were outstanding for the Goobers.

The Goobers can’t be bootsie-appointed with their losses to Long Beach, for they received the bid to the national playoffs to be held December 5, 4, and 7 in Long Beach.

In these playoffs, eight teams from around the country will compete, including teams from Indiana, Cal State Long Beach, UC Irvine, San Jose State, and three teams not chosen as of yet.

If they are to fare well to the tournament, the Goobers will need a 100 per cent effort from everyone on the team. If they perform like they did this weekend, UCSB will do quite well indeed.

Political Intern Program Offered

Spending a long, hot summer in Washington, D.C., might not seem an ideal way for the few Hispanics to meet Americans, but to several Santa Barbara students, they could see no other way.

These eager-for-work students will be participating in the Universities' Government Internship Program. The aim of the program is to provide students with practical experience in governmental processes and policies, both at state and national levels.

According to Donna Foltmer, 1968-69 chairman, "The program is open to any student, not just political science majors. There are only two criteria: 1) if GPA is not below 2.2 and 2) plans to return to UCSB next fall."

Miss Foltmer added that her committee presently is "in dire need" of members to aid in correspondence, selection procedures and placements. The committee has a box in the A.J., office on the third floor of the UCen.

Applications are now available in the A.J., office as well as in the Political Science Department. They are due back by 5 p.m., January 13, 1969.
