NINE STUDENTS REPRIMANDED FOR DOW SIT-IN

'Yes, We Would Do It Again' Vow Participants of Dead Week Action

By WAYNE RASCATI
EG Staff Writer

"Yes, we would do it again!" was the answer EL GAUCHO received when it questioned seven of the students who were involved in last month's sit-ins against Dow Chemical about whether or not they would participate in another one despite the sanctions they received from A.S. Judicial. One student told Judicial that he would, "unless they could show me something better."

Defending the position of Judicial Board, Chairman Lisa Fahs commented: "A.S. Judicial demonstrated its flexibility in that all demands of the people involved were granted, i.e. tapes were made of each interview, faculty advisors were permitted to be present at the interview (however none were actually there), and each one was given the option to have the case handled last December or in January. Instead of deciding this last point ourselves, we decided to give the students a choice. All chose January."

She continued: "I am pleased with the Administration's decision. I believe this is a direct reflection of student power of influence with the Administration through A.S. channels. A.S. Judicial was obviously in a very difficult position. A.S. Judicial made its decision on each individual member separately and independently of the Administration or any other outside influences."

Commenting on their sanctions, the nine students who had been before Miss Fahs' committee pointed out that they intend to appeal several of them, if not all of them, to the Faculty Judicial Committee.

Sean Webb stated that his sanction of suspended suspension "limits my ability to express myself further." Webb stated that Dow Chemical would again be recruiting on campus February 4 and 5.

Geoffrey Thompson, who also received a suspended suspension, stated before the results were released that Judicial "was concerned with our interest." However, he later stated, "I am not at all satisfied." (Continued on p. 8, col. 1)

Administration's Actions Stronger Than Some A.S. Judicial Proposals

By GARY HANAUER
EG News Editor

In a nine hour meeting last Wednesday, A.S. Judicial Board imposed sanctions on nine of the ten undergraduates who participated in December 4 and 5 sit-ins against Dow Chemical Company outside the Placement Center in the Administration Building. The sanctions ranged from a warning to a suspended suspension. A tenth student, Jim Gregory, has since withdrawn from the University for the quarter because of medical reasons.

In a subsequent meeting of Faculty Judicial on Friday, Bill Burnett, a graduate student, received a "severe censure" sentence. Two additional persons, both non-students, were also involved in the demonstration.

Students who received suspended suspensions as their sanction are Geoffrey Thompson, Sean Webb, Barry Pitt, and Janet Harper. Jill Macy and Michael Shepherd received warnings from judicial. However, the Administration later raised these recommendations to "censure."

In another reversal of Judicial Board action, the Administration imposed a warning on Carol Meyer who had previously gone through the student court unscathed.

Judicial also imposed a warning on Judy Johnson and censured Greg Cravens for his involvement.

The term "censure," as defined by the "Handbook for Campus Organizations," embodies a "written reprimand for violation of specified regulations."

All of the students involved, according to the letters they received, "interfered with the administration of the University" and had "unauthorized use of campus facilities." In addition Greg Cravens was charged with distributing literature in the building in violation of campus policy.

Apparently, the December 4 and 5 sit-in against Dow did not involve the activities of any organization, including campus (Continued on p. 8, col. 2)

UCSB PRESIDENT WRITES HITCH

Stamos Awaits Reply to Five Requests

By STEVE PLEVIN
EG Staff Writer

"In a time when students are being given a voice in administrative and academic matters on each of the nine campuses of UC," contends A.S. President Greg Stamos, "it is past due for the Regents to alter their archaic attitudes and policies and recognize that there are also students that make up the university community."

In a letter to former Acting University President Harry R. Wellman November 28, Stamos expressed skepticism regarding the present value of student opinion in Regents meetings.

Among his complaints Stamos cited the fact that A.S. presidents were not informed of the meeting dates of the Regents sub-committee on student fees. Neither were they supplied with copies of the agendas nor the research information on the subject. In addition to this, presidents have to make prior arrangements with the board in order to speak at meetings.

This last issue especially concerns Stamos because "it now appears that the final decisions made by the Committee shall be drastically opposed to the wishes of most of the UC students. Yet these views will not be allowed to be verbally expressed to the proper agency."

In summing up his criticisms, Stamos stated that he did not feel that student representatives were really appreciated at the Regents meetings and that the quest for student opinion by the Board was not genuine. He asked Wellman that the following five changes be made in the procedure now carried out by the Board.

- The student body presidents should be recognized as the official representatives of the students and be granted the same courtesies and privileges as the faculty representatives.

- They should be sent all information and data concerning the issues to be discussed at all meetings whether regular or special.

- They should be told when and where all meetings regular and special, are held at least a week in advance of the meeting time.

- One A.S. president should be allowed to speak without prior arrangements at a Regents meeting to answer questions the Board may have.

- A room should be made available to the Presidents Council at the regular meetings of the Regents for discussion of policy.

After receiving only minimal response from Regent Dutton to whom he sent a copy of the letter, Stamos dispatched a letter to President of the University Charles H. Hitch. Decrying the lack of attention to what is definitely a serious student problem, Stamos pointed out to Hitch that his proposals would provide a much-needed means of communication other than direct confrontation and mass disorder.

Finally Stamos made a plea that the Regents discuss his five request. In the meantime one member of the A.S. presidents Council be allowed to give the Council's on student fees at the proper Regents meeting.

To date, the thwarted student leader has received no answer from President Hitch but is hopeful that one will be forthcoming.

Cal Legislature Faces Problems; Session Seen To Be Unproductive

(UPI)--An election-year legislature--facing most of the same problems as it faced in 1967--convenes today at noon. But the political realities of 1968 offer dim hope of their solution.

Some legislative leaders expect the session to be shorter than last, when the law makers were in the Capitol a record 283 days. Others foresee a session prolonged by election-eering.

And most lawmakers concede privately the session probably will be relatively unproductive--marked more by what is said than what is done. And by what isn't done.

What the 80 assemblymen and 40 senators will do, though, is approve a state budget to run California's government for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Most observers expect the budget to total about 5.44-billion dollars, up 400-million dollars for the current budget, and a record high despite Governor Ronald Reagan's economy drives.

Also, the lawmakers must agree on some plan to distribute 155-million in relief of county property taxes, earmarked for that purpose by the 1967 legislature.

marked for that purpose by the 1967 legislature.

The legislators probably will take a break of about a week for Easter, another break of a few weeks to campaign before the June 4 primary election and take another break--if they are still in session--for the Republican and Democratic national conventions in August.

They undoubtedly will give themselves some free time to campaign before the general election in November, but sandwiched in somewhere will be a five-day "veto session" to reconsider the legislation Reagan has declined to sign into law.

Republican Reagan's major goal for the 1968 session is tax reform, a restructuring of the system to produce a flow of revenue which reflects growth of California's economy and will finance government without rate increases.

But prospects for tax reform this year are bleak. For one thing, Assemblyman John Veneman, a Republican from Modesto, will be at loggerheads with Reagan over the issue of payroll withholding of state income taxes.

Reagan strongly opposes it, but Veneman, one of the withholding's biggest boosters, says he will introduce withholding provisions early in the first week of the session.

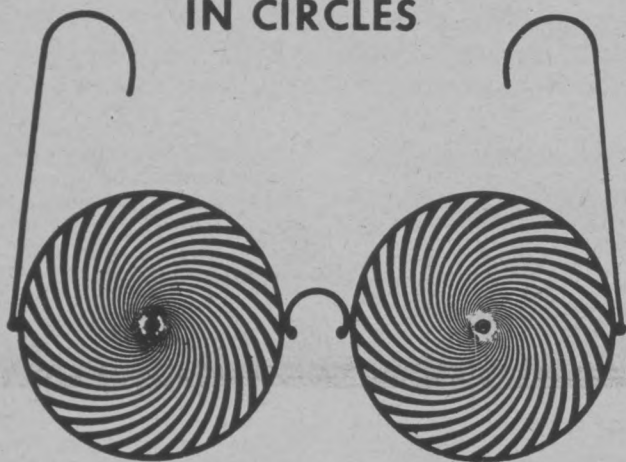

Even Assembly Republican Caucus Chairman Don Mulford of Piedmont isn't optimistic about tax reform. Noting Veneman's and the Governor's stance, he said, "When you have internal conflicts like that, a meaningful tax reform program may hit the rocks."

By all accounts, the 1968 legislature will be partisan. As Veneman said, "The honeymoon we had last year is over. As long as the Governor is mentioned as a potential nominee for President it will stimulate partisanship. For this reason, it may not be too productive a session."

Mulford said he looked for a real--in his words--tough and tumble session between Reagan and the legislature's most powerful Democrat, Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh.

All agreed it would be partisan.

"I used to have to carry my books everywhere...

...Now I've learned to study 5 times faster"

Ever get the feeling you're spending your whole life studying?

Woody Mosten used to carry his books wherever he went—hoping to snatch some extra study time, just to keep up. Now he gets his studying done in about six hours per week. He's a political science major—but breezes through his research at well over 1,000 words per minute.

This gives him plenty of time to play golf, bridge and tennis—he's active in student government—does 3 radio shows on the campus station—and he holds a part-time job.

GRADES UP—TIME DOWN

Do his grades suffer from all of this extra-curricular activity? Not a bit. In fact, his average has gone up to 3.37—and 3.8 in his major.

As Woody puts it, "I feel like a free human being now—instead of being constantly pressured by my study load. I even have time to read for pure pleasure again." (He read Exodus in 3½ hours; have you tried it?)

Woody Mosten reads about 6 times faster than the average adult. He learned this life-saving skill at the Reading Dynamics Institute.

What about you? How much time are you consuming in your studies? Two hours a day? Four? Six?

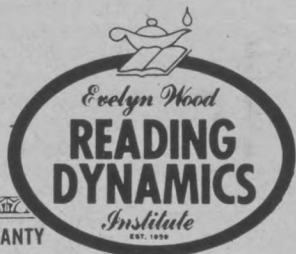

You, too can acquire the techniques of rapid reading—the ability to learn more in far less time. At Reading Dynamics, you can learn to read and study much faster (the average graduate reads 4.7 times faster)—with improved comprehension and with better ability to recall important material.

CLASSES HERE—NEAR THE CAMPUS

And now it's even easier to take the Reading Dynamics course. A new Reading Dynamics Institute has been opened in Isla Vista. New classes are starting this month—making it possible for you to be reading and studying at least three times faster before finals.

FREE DEMONSTRATIONS THIS WEEK

A series of free introductory demonstrations is being held this week. Clip out the schedule below and pick a time convenient for you. You'll find out how you can gain the time to truly enjoy college life while knowing that your studies are covered better than ever before.

ACHIEVEMENT WARRANTY

We guarantee to increase the reading efficiency of each student AT LEAST 3 times with good comprehension. We will refund the entire tuition to any student who, after completing minimum class and study requirements, does not at least triple his reading efficiency as measured by beginning and ending tests.

FREE DEMONSTRATIONS

EDITORIAL

The Individual and 'Due Process'

Eleven students cited for violations of University regulations occurring at the appearance of Dow Chemical during dead week last quarter have been given sentences ranging from a warning to a suspended suspension.

The sentences generally followed the recommendation of the A.S. Judicial Committee, except in a few minor cases.

At issue in the cases was the judicial mechanism by which UCSB students are given due process for violations of University regulations. Some of those cited by the Dean of Students Office claimed that they were not being given due process. They had not been informed in writing of a specific charge nor had they been given sufficient time to prepare a defense. Further, they claimed, the same agency that was charging them, namely the Dean of Students Office, was also to be the agency that would sit in final judgment.

Also at issue was the effectiveness of the A.S. Judicial Committee. It was pointed out that the deans were allowed to sit in while the student committee was deliberating, and that they had the power to change that decision should they so desire.

It should be noted, however, that the judicial process, as it functions here, was not designed to provide all the aspects of court proceedings, with legal counsel, specific laws and their related punishments. Rather the system was designed to afford the student an opportunity of a hearing before fellow students, and the opportunity of keeping his case from public scrutiny thereby avoiding embarrassment. When viewed in this light, it is a system that should be preserved for the benefit of students. The system, and the University regulations, are flexible enough to allow each case to be handled on its individual merits.

Yet it would seem that in the case of the Dow demonstrators the Administration and the Deans Office doggedly stuck to certain rules of procedure that they had themselves set up -- rules that are supposed to be flexible.

The case in question had become public property. The student involved wished it to be so. And the possible occurrence in the future of such offences requires that all students know the consequences for their actions.

The Dean of Students Office should have handled those cases individually respecting the wishes of the students involved and taking into consideration the concern of the University community.

LETTERS

Sign Brings Munch $.27

To the Editor:

Several weeks ago, during the height of the controversial storm created by the protests against Dow Chemical recruiters on the U.C. and other campuses, I noticed that a good number of the protestors were bedecked in typical "hippie" fashion. Spurred to action, I posted a sign outside my office proclaiming, for what it was worth, "Help Send a Hippie to Boot Camp." To my surprise, it turned out to be worth 27 cents!

Fighting a strong temptation to buy myself a beer, I am instead sending the sum, care of EL GAUCHO, to Mr. Fred Munch, who, I feel, has championed enough of the causes with which hippies seem to associate (anti-draft, anti-DOW, anti-ROTC, anti-barber, etc.) to qualify for the funds.

I seriously doubt that the sum is sufficient to accomplish the goal towards which it was contributed, yet perhaps with the help of General Hershey and the FBI... who knows?

Flaws Found In Draft Ad

To the Editor:

Help! I am suffering a credibility gap after reading the advertisement about the draft "Teach In." I think it should be noted that of the first fifty "UCSB students" listed as signing to refuse to serve in Vietnam, only twenty-six are currently registered students.

I also noted in scanning the list that several names appear more than once.

I think it should also be known that several students who have turned in their draft cards have asked to have them returned stating that they realized it had been a mistake or that they had done it as an act of emotion rather than thought. I also heard from a reliable source of one who had a letter on file in advance asking to have his card returned and explaining that he would be turning it in just to go along with the crowd. Others turned in expired cards.

Do what you must do, but be honest with yourselves and carefully consider both the merits and consequences before making the decision.

Have you ever considered that the draft is a symptom of some real problems rather than a valid cause in itself?

Have you ever seriously thought about the most probable result of doing away with selective service at the present time?

Listen, Learn, and Ask

By WILLIAM JAMES, Jr.
(Second of Two Parts)

I heard a person at the Legislative Council say that nothing is being done for the poor whites. Well, maybe it is because the rich whites have too much. I heard another person say that when recruiting blacks (Negroes) for the school, we should try to get the really qualified ones, and not the athletes or those with deficiencies. Well, now we are back, again, to the question of who is ready. I think the best qualified blacks are the ones who want to learn and are creative.

We do not claim to be up to your standards, but we do not really want to be, for they are not black standards as well as white standards. However, we do want to learn and to be able to do for ourselves. We do not take pride in getting welfare. (Furthermore, although there is a large percentage of blacks on welfare, the smaller percentage of whites receive a far greater percentage of money.) Welfare is government aid. At present, the blacks need it. This is a state university, and therefore, it might be said that it is a high-class type of welfare; so, if you do not need welfare, get off it. USC or Yale will take your money.

If you are from a hate family and are here, away from your war camp--no matter if you are a black, white, or whatever--open your minds, listen and talk to people. I mean, talk as you walk to class, blacks to blacks, whites to blacks, blacks to whites, and most important, whites talk to other whites. Maybe you will find that you have been wrong all along.

If you learn something, pass it along, and be sure to take it home to your parents and friends. If, when speaking to some people, you get a negative reaction, do not give up, for we have a big job to do. We can make our campus community one which has the reputation of being open-minded, as in a class, for example, or any other place of that sort where we might learn.

Sometimes, whites expect too much of blacks. Some of you have suddenly opened up and expect us to respond to you at once. It will never happen, because you are mistrusted, and with good reason, I might add. For example, there was proposition 14, and up until last year, there was a law in Glendale prohibiting Negroes from being on the streets after 9. Then there are people like Shirley Black who received approximately 30,000 votes after saying in effect, that, "Blacks are like children crying for more candy." George Wallace (and other men like him) is getting more support daily for his so-called American Independence Party.

The time to act is now. Listen, learn, and ask questions; then go home and educate your parents, and friends. I was in the service for four years in an almost all white unit, and I was permanently disabled. While on my way home with a white marine in 1963, we stopped in a cafe in Tulsa, Oklahoma, for coffee but they would not serve me--and people wondered why Ali (Cassius Clay) wouldn't go. The heroes of the blacks are not the George Washingtons, but the Adam Clayton Powells. People think Powell should go to jail (he's no saint, but neither are the other congressmen).

I am afraid of the blacks, not the whites, for the blacks have read about Patrick Henry's speech concerning "Liberty or Death," and they intend to get one or the other, and not by throwing bottles and sticks. If there is not a great social change in America soon, I fear that within the next ten years, the war in Vietnam will be small compared to the war in America.

In politics, the blacks are not impressed by token appointments to high office, but by elective offices such as Senator Brooke, Mayor Stokes, and Mayor Hatcher. There is a new generation of blacks and whites, asking questions and seeking answers. They are trying to beat down the tides of hypocrisy and injustice. I applaud them, and suggest that blacks and whites communicate with them, for there is much that you can teach each other. Neither group should create problems where there were none before.

I am appealing to the students of this campus to help one another to find solutions to our social problems. If there is anything you feel that a black can help you to understand, ask. He or she may or may not know the answer, but ask anyway. I am asking the black student to respond if he can, or if he cannot, to refer you to someone else.

If there is any student, black or white, who can tutor in any subject, and would like to help someone, please contact the EOP office or the Dean of Students. Do not do it as a charitable act, but because it should be done. I think that the Administration, faculty, and Legislative council leadership is trying to help solve our social problems but they need your help. If you have ever felt a desire to help your society, it needs you now. Here is a chance to use your patriotism to help eradicate our collective ignorance and stupidity.

Savage, Sardonic Musical War Spoof Opens Jan. 23

With a wry smile, a happy song, a lively pace, and a lot of incredible lines drawn from history, "Oh What A Lovely War" attempts to put war into a savage yet sardonic perspective. The play, opening Jan. 23 in the UCSB Studio Theatre, is a music hall show with a very important difference; although never forgetting to entertain, it reminds the audience of civilization's monstrous blunders. In short, WAR has made audiences laugh while wanting to cry.

Joan Littlewood, original producer of the play, selected World War I as the focal point of her anti-war statement. Songs, dances, and sayings of fifty years ago were found to have enough distance to lend enchantment to the World War.

Littlewood and her Theatre Royal Company agreed that "the Second World War is still too close for comfort and the third too horrible to contemplate. Even the ridiculous stupidities of the first are now far enough away to appear humorous, if only the news panel and the projections didn't keep intruding with casualty figures and actual war photos. History is arranged to make an entertainment with an edge."

The play is set in the framework of a traveling company as they tour with a musical revue. The Merry Rooster Company, composed of six women and twelve men, sing and dance to parodies of most of the songs connected with the disturbance, from "Tipperary" to "Sister Susie's Sewing Shirts for Soldiers." The show ends when the U.S. comes into the fuss.

Since the essential tone is savage and ironic, it might be feared that any attempt to capture a moment of real, human sentiment would be impossible. Yet there is a scene dealing with Christmas in the trenches: the German and the British foes meet and fraternize briefly. This scene has proved to be genuinely touching in previous productions of the show.

The play has been called a "brilliant anti-war assault," "a rare musical spoof," and "an audio-visual experience, hilarious and brutal."

"Oh What A Lovely War" will be performed in the Studio Theatre Jan. 23-27 and Jan. 30 - Feb. 3 at 8 p.m. Tickets are on sale at the Arts and Lectures Ticket Office. Student admission is $1.00.

Artist "Revelation of Self"--Kaganoff - Brockman Show

Opening Sunday, Jan. 7, at Galeria del Sol in Montecito is a two-man show of weavings by Marian Brockmann and ceramics by Santa Barbara's Sheldon Kaganoff.

Kaganoff, who is on the faculty of UCSB, feels that his work is an attempt to integrate surface with form. The thrown cylinder is decorated, scratched, etc., then thrown and pushed from the interior only. Surface emerges through the same process as form and the work is an integration rather than an affectation or afterthought. Kaganoff's work is a quiet revelation of self through clay.

Kaganoff obtained his MFA at Claremont Graduate School and taught three years at the College of Art at Edinburgh, Scotland, before coming to UCSB. He has participated in national competitive shows in Wichita, Syracuse, and Los Angeles. His work is included in the permanent collections of the Glasgow Museum of Art, the British Arts Council and Utah University.

Marian Brockmann's work is mainly with transparent effects in weaving with "warp float" having a three dimensional quality. This main interest is in screen and wall or space hangings for interior use. She has had one-man exhibitions at Montana, the University of Wisconsin, and the University of Oregon.

The show continues through Jan. 28, with a reception to meet the artists Sunday, Jan. 7 from 2-5.

Spartan Scoring Spree Sinks Smaller Santa Barbara, 75-63

By LEE MARGULIES
EG Sports Staff

A 21 point outburst in the final six minutes broke open an otherwise close contest as San Jose spoiled the Gauchos' conference debut, 75-63.

Leroy Jackson played brilliant basketball in a losing effort, pouring in 27 points with 11 field goals and 5 free throws. It was Jackson's three straight field goals which pulled the Gauchos to within two points (54-52) before the Spartans ran away with it.

Jackson couldn't do it alone, however, and his teammates just weren't up to par Saturday night.

Forward Steve Rippe tallied 10 points, but altogether the Gauchos hit only 40 per cent of their floor shots and were 13 for 20 at the free throw line.

In contrast, the Spartans, who upped their season record to 6-5 scored on an amazing 60 per cent of their field goals while getting 31 opportunities at the line, of which they made good 19.

San Jose also out-rebounded the local boys, 45-31.

The Gauchos were down only 33-28 at the intermission, but simply could not keep pace with the red-hot Spartans, who had a big advantage right from the start due to the fact that they are taller on a man-to-man basis. Junior guard Tim Holman, 6-1, led the San Jose scorers with 15 points.

6-10 forward Coby Dietrick pumped in 13 while pulling down 12 rebounds. Bernie Veasey (6-6) added 12 points and captured 9 rebounds, and 6-6 center John Meyer scored 14.

What kept the Santa Barbara squad in the game was their pressing defense, which forced the Spartans into no less than 20 turnovers. But the press broke down in those last few minutes and the San Jose fast-break suddenly made short work of the Gauchos.

With this game's effort, Jackson raised his season scoring average to a whopping 21.5. A junior here at Santa Barbara, Jackson is coach Ralph Barkley's leading contender for All-Coast honors.

Before Saturday's game Barkley commented, "His (Jackson's) overall performance the entire year has been outstanding, and for a 6-5 center, the boy gets more mileage out of himself than most would expect."

Now sporting a 4-5 record, the Gaucha basketballers are scheduled for two home games this week, meeting UOP Thursday night and St. Mary's on Saturday.

THIS SPORTIN' LIFE

Christmas Cerebrations

CLAY KALLAM

The Raiders looked pretty good, but I doubt that they're good enough to beat the Packers. You never know what will happen though when the Packers are forced to play football in weather above freezing . . . On the other side of the Bay, the 49ers are hurting. "Insiders" say that Bill Peterson from Florida State has the "inside track." If not Peterson, then look for Phil Bengston, Green Bay assistant.

The fertile world of college basketball had its moments too; e.g. Bob Presley, Cal's outstanding 6-10½ center, stuffing the ball against Iowa. The fans gave him a standing ovation. Speaking of Cal, they looked good. They'll probably be UCLA's toughest competition in the AAWU, if not the country. . . . UCLA will kill Houston. At least 20, maybe more as the Bruins get fired up for the first time in their college careers . . . In our league, Santa Clara, Pacific, and Loyola are all tough and tall . . . Maybe next Year.

The ABA may make it, but they're going to have to get big Lew, among others . . . Two they could use right now are those two sophomores, Calvin Murphy from Niagara and Pete Maravich from LSU; both throw the ball in from everywhere and both average around 44 a game. Not bad . . . Both teams, especially LSU, play sparkling defense, too. LSU dropped a tightly played game 140-115 a couple weeks ago.

The Bowl games were a joy. In the morning, LSU and Wyoming and Alabama and Texas A. and M. battled it out on different channels. Both games went down to the last seconds and both were played so that by channel hopping you could catch every play. My teams won and I saw all the games. Wow! . . . USC was awesome against outmanned Indiana. O.J. is a fair ballplayer. . . . Tennessee tossed away the game with Oklahoma. Cleverly running the ball to use up the clock when they were behind, the Volunteers then set themselves up for a 43 yard field goal. Dewey Warren resembled a Swamp Rat more than a quarterback as he coolheadedly lost the game . . . Nice going.

Roman Gabriel will never be a good quarterback. This year he played with the finest team in pro football and couldn't win. In the first Packer game with the score 20-17 Packers, the Rams got the ball with time running out on their own 40. Clutch Roman then threw four straight incomplete passes - most of them not even close to the receivers. The defense then got him the ball on the five and he threw to Bernie Casey who was all alone due to a defensive mixup and won the game. Can you imagine Starr or Unitas throwing four straight incomplete passes in the last two minutes with a game and the title on the line?

Frosh Basketballers Win, 80-75

In a see-saw battle, the Gaucha freshmen pulled out an 80-75 victory Saturday night over the Westmont College Junior Varsity, giving them an impressive 4-1 record so far this season.

Doug Rex paced the Santa Barbara scorers with a big 16 points, but his competition for the honor was tough, as Ron Wyden tallied 13 and both Phil Gardiner and Mike McGory got 12.

Happiness

Happiness is any number of things to a university student. It might be a letter from a special person, receiving a fellowship for advanced study, or seeing the latest movie. For nearly 4,000 university students, happiness is, in part, living at The College Inn in an atmosphere that is conducive to meeting people, sharing new ideas and learning about an important part of life - other people. Beginning this quarter, you can be a part of this kind of living for as low as $703.00 for the remainder of the year. Reservations limited.

Swift Swimmers Bop Buena, 74-28; Set Record at Pacific Coast Relays

By GERALD NEECE
EG Sports Staff

Coach Rick Rowland's UCSB swim team took a step closer to repeating as the NCAA small college swim champions this weekend as they made mincemeat of the Buena Swim Club Friday afternoon and performed well against the big boys in the Pacific Coast Relays at USC Saturday.

"Our boys are really tired and they swam good times," said Assistant Coach Bob Gary. "When we rest them they should really do well."

The Varsity did well enough Friday to drown the Buena Swim Club 74-28. Bill Pasquinelli led the Gauchos assault by winning handily the 200 yard backstroke in 2:09.3, just .2 of a second off the school record.

And there were other fine performances from other Gauchos. Dave Gray won the 50 yard free style in 23.7, while teammate Jim Ranta swam the 200 individual medley relay in the fine time of 2:08.3. Andy King added a 2:22.7 victory in the 200 yard butterfly and Rock MacKenzie, took individual honors in the diving event.

But the Gauchos frosh team wasn't quite as fortunate. In last year's meet they lost to the Buena contingent 49-46. This year they improved to a 52-52 tie, but they couldn't quite eek out a victory. Gordon Black was the Gauchos' only double winner, taking the 100 freestyle in 50.1 and the 200 freestyle in 1:53.3.

One school record materialized out of the Pacific Coast Relays and that came in the 200 yard freestyle relays. Although they took fourth place in the race, the team of Gordon Black, Jim Ranta, Dave Gray, and Tom Honig shattered the old record of 1:30.1 with a 1:29.8 clocking.

The Gauchos' best performance came in the 800 yard individual medley relay where an 8:42.7 timing by Jim Ranta, Craig Hendrickson, Gordon Black, and Chuck Sink was good for second place. A team of Gray, Spink, Ken Yegan, and Ranta took a third behind USC and UCLA in the 800 yard freestyle relay in 7:34.1.

A NEW STROKE? — Three of the four swimmers in the picture seem to be doing the backstroke, but the swimmer in lane two appears to be attempting a new stroke. Have you ever tried swimming 200 yards vertically with your head under water and your knobby knees leading the way? Actually it's a speed turn and action such as this can be seen this weekend when the Gauchos host the Lakewood Aquatic Club and Colorado State. — photo by Strahler

IM Rosters Due Today

Intramural basketball and soccer rosters are due today at 4 pm in the intramural office. Also, IM Director (and soccer star) Sandy Geuss has called a manager's meeting.

The meeting will be held in South Hall 2128 at 4, followed by a referee's meeting at 5.

Tentative plans for this year have basketball being played Wednesday and Thursday nights and Saturday afternoons.

Matmen 2nd At All-Cal Meet

The University of California at Davis nipped UCSB by one point to win the All-Cal Wrestling Tourney at Davis Saturday.

The Aggies totaled 44 points to 43 for UCSB. UC San Diego grabbed third with 28 points, and UC Riverside received 8 points to finish fourth.

UCSB's Gary Bianchini won the Most Valuable Wrestler award, as well as the 177-pound individual championship. Santa Barbara's other individual winners were Bill Lennon in the 144-pound group, Mike Spenske in the 152-pound class, and Larry Hebebrand in the 191-pound group.

fied. The suspended suspensions are too severe, especially since they place us on probationary status until we graduate."

When queried as to why they were denying other people of their right to see the Dow Chemical recruiter, Thompson stated, "It wasn't our intent to prevent people from coming in, but to confront them with their motivation and to make them reconsider their action. Also, we wanted to demonstrate to the Placement Center that we questioned Dow Chemical's right to be on campus."

Band Signups Taken Now

Tentative sign-ups are now being taken for the 1968 Gauchos Marching Band in order that planning for next year's season can begin.

The band, which was 80 strong this past season, will raise that number by 50 per cent for next year and will outfit 120 for the field next fall.

The Band is presently undergoing many structural revisions. Formerly, Hal Brendle, the band director, was in charge of virtually all organizational and administrative duties. Changes now in progress will allow Brendle to concentrate on musical directing, writing, and arranging.

The band's new assistant conductor, Martin Sobleman, has assumed much of the administrative work.

Many duties are now performed by students. Next year's half-time shows will originally be written by a student committee of band members. In addition, marching rehearsals will be conducted by the drum major.

Presently, the band's goal is to find potential members. For details call Brendle at 968-3627 or see him in room 3167 on the third floor of the UCen.

Wediquette Advises On Bridal Fashions

Associated Women Students will present Wediquette on the evening of January 8 at 8 in the UCEN Program Lounge. The program, entitled "The Wedding," will include information on general planning of a wedding. Mrs. Rabe, Wedding consultant at Robinson's department store, will discuss the ceremony, various styles of the ceremony and gowns, coordination of colors and fabrics, foreign influences to be used in ceremonies, and planning a wedding on a small budget. In addition, traditional, as

Jim Gregory, who has yet to appear before Judicial, defended his participation "as a protest against the Deans. Initially I left when asked to. However, when the Deans badgered the people with their insistence they were going to be suspended, I went back as a protest of their unfairness and unfair use of power. Before I sat down I told both Dean Evans and Dean Reynolds why I was doing so."

Gregory stated that he "didn't want to prevent people from coming in. I feel Dow has a right to be here. I was very pleased with the recruiter. I was not protesting their appearance. I wouldn't have blocked anything that would have prevented a person from seeing a recruiter."

Stronger Actions...

peace groups. On November 15 an anti-Dow proposal, sponsored by Independent Rep Fred Munch, was passed by Leg. Council. The motion required controversial companies, such as Dow Chemical, to enter into a "dialogue" on moral philosophy when they recruit on campus.

Subsequently, both the Administration and Dow accepted the call made by Leg Council for an "exchange of ideas." A public relations representative of Dow met with students.

Demonstrations involving eleven persons did, however, take place outside the Placement Center in the Administration Building on December 4. Barry Pitt, Jill Macy, and Michael Shepherd participated in a token sit-in on December 5.

Jim Gregory, one of the students involved, told EL GAUCHO that at least thirty persons took part in marching through the Administration Building. Gregory inferred that the persons who took part in the sit-in were actually less rowdy than the marchers, but yet they were the ones to receive the punishments.

At a meeting of A.S. Judicial on December 6, the ten undergraduates took the option of having their hearings after the quarter break. However, at that time charges were made that the administration was trying to railroad these hearings through Judicial. The Administration has repeatedly denied these accusations, and it has maintained that "the hearings were scheduled in the normal manner."

well as modern, gowns for brides and bridesmaids will be modeled in a fashion show.

This first program is one of three to be presented by AWS. The next one will be on February 5 on housewares, china, and silverware. The final one on April 3 includes information on interior decorating and planning for the home.

The main purpose of this program is to give the women of the University an idea of the things which must be taken into consideration when they are planning their weddings.
