LA CUMBRE, YEARBOOK, WINS 'ALL-AMERICAN' HONOR RATING EDITED BY DOROTHY HODGINS

Staters' Yearbook Has Received This Honor Twice Within the Last 2 Years

"All American Honor Rating, the highest accorded to school publications has been awarded to La Cumbre, state college yearbook for 1932, is the word received by Dorothy Hodgins, present editor. Out of a possible score of 1000 points, La Cumbre scored a total of 965. "A beautiful book," is one of the notations made upon the score sheet.

Index of Progress
The 1932 rating gives a reliable index of progress in State's publications, for the 1931 edition, though accorded an excellent score and a first class award, did not come up to the present standard of achievement. Much credit should go to Kay Bishop, alumna of State who edited the prize winning book, making possible the high award given.

Each year the yearbook of the State college is sent to the National Scholastic Press association at the University of Minnesota where it is scored and classified according to individual considerations, each of which stress certain attainments of the whole and receive points up to a maximum of efficiency.

One of the chief points considered in last year's measurements was that of originality, which had been somewhat revised from the previous year's scoring system. Although many books fell down on this part-

CHURCH GROUP HEARS BISHOP SPEAK AT CLUB

Dr. E. L. Bishop, Santa Barbara State college instructor and research head, spoke to the college and high school members of the Goodridge club of the Unitarian church Sunday evening in the home of Miss Cecelia Guntermann.

For her topic of discussion, Dr. Bishop chose "Current problems of the College and Teacher." "The educational systems of countries are adapted to their social circumstances," she stated, and went on to show how the educational system has evolved through three generations, requiring more specialization on the part of the teacher as social progress became more complicated.

Explaining present problems of the educational machine, Dr. Bishop showed the results of Teacher Tenure and Life Certification enactments which are still in force in the state of California.

Refreshments of cider and cookies were served during the group discussion following the conclusion of the speaker's address.

La Cumbre Urges Picture Taking

"Due to the fact that La Cumbre staff is working under a limited budget we are asking the cooperation of those who receive notices to have their pictures taken, to do so at once," says Dot Hodgins, editor. A reduction is being made providing all pictures are taken within a certain date, she states.

La Cumbre staff is having a meeting in Dick Kaime's home in Mission canyon, on November 1, at 7:30 p.m. Frank Russell, engraver, D. H. Schauer, printer and Ralph Bradford, photographer will be present.

Anita Cochran will give a report on a benefit program now being planned for La Cumbre.

Alumni Sentiment Growing for State

Sentiment among the alumni toward their alma mater is growing year by year and was evinced by the number that visited their former college during Homecoming this year," according to Mrs. Jane Miller Abraham, registrar.

"It is the ambition of the college to have the students realize, from the time they are Freshmen, the real significance of the Homecoming and to remember it after they have graduated," she says.

Meeting of Presidents Results in No Decision

Phelps Was Unable to Present Budget Project

Failure of State officials to agree upon budget allotments for the coming biennial period was disclosed by President Clarence L. Phelps of the college on returning from Sacramento, Friday, October 28, where he participated in a five-day session with Rolland A. Vandegrift, State director of finance, and seven state teachers college presidents. To the three alternatives presented by Vandegrift to the association as means of cutting down state education expenses, this failure to agree can be mainly attributed, Phelps indicated.

Fifty Dollar Tuition
First of the measures put forth by Vandegrift, suggested that an annual tuition of fifty dollars be imposed on all California state college students, second choice called for a twenty percent cut in budget allotments of all state colleges for the coming period, while the third measure for cutting expenses called for closing up of several of the higher education institutions.

"The State college presidents refused to accede to the first request, concerning the fifty dollar tuition, because it constituted an entire change of an educational policy which has been in existence for a long time, and would be a virtual return to the old system discarded"

STUDENT SLAYER FACES CHARGES

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 2.—(CNS)—James Mercer Pickett, 38, said to be an ex-convict, this week faced first-degree murder charges as the result of his purported confession of the recent slaying of Edgar C. Arledge, University of Texas senior.

Pickett was declared to have told officers that on the night of September 20, he approached a parked automobile, in which Arledge and Miss Jean Trull, graduate of the university, were sitting.

After flashing his light in the car, Pickett said he drew his gun but did not intend to shoot. The weapon was accidentally discharged, however, he said, when Arledge attempted to push the flashlight away.

MEN'S CLUB ROOM GETS FACIAL; TO BE GARBED SOON

Resurfacing of the Men's club room floor is nearing completion, according to Marcus Cravens, club president and director of the work.

Edwin Ingleson, a down-town carpenter has been working with a sanding machine on the main body of the floor which is now ready for oiling. Most of the members of the carpenter's class have enlisted their help and are doing most of the hand work. As soon as the floor is oiled says Cravens, it will be ready for waxing and polishing.

Plans to raise money for new furniture for the room are to be formulated during the next meeting of the Men's club.

Reverend Tom Clark Addresses I. E. Club

Reverend Tom Clark, pastor of the Christian church, will address the Industrial Education Luncheon club tomorrow during their fifth period noon luncheon. The theme of discussion to be carried on at this meeting will pertain to the coming national election.

The luncheon club meets every other Thursday at noon in the small dining room in Ebbs hall. Topics of interest to the members are discussed at the meetings. Eugene Nelson is toastmaster for tomorrow's dinner.

An Apology

I regret that such a razz sheet, better known as a "Swill Sheet," was distributed by an organization of this campus. May I make it clear that the group as a whole does not stand for nor sanction any publication which will in any way injure the high standing of this college and add further that it is with the deepest apology both to the faculty and students that circumstances were such that the responsibility falls upon this group. We assure the student body that we will do all in our power to prevent the recurrence of such an unfortunate situation.

Sincerely,
DOT HODGINS.

CLASS OFFICERS CHOSEN AT MEETS HELD YESTERDAY; PARTIES PLANNED

Scott, Beddome, Goux Chosen for Frosh, Sophomore and Junior Classes

Election of class officers featured the class meetings held yesterday morning during second period.

With Allister Scott, Frosh president presiding, the class elected Bill Hoyt as vice-president; Helen Hearn, secretary; Wilbur Gilliland, treasurer; and Chris Martin, activities chairman, at their meeting in the auditorium.

New sophomore class officers elected at the meeting in room 42 are: Margaret Beddome, vice-president; Don Carter, secretary; Evalyn Maitland, treasurer; and Dick Kaime, social chairman. Martin Verhoeven, class president headed a short discussion on class dues.

Bobby Goux is new Junior class prexy, with Florence Longawa as vice president; Elizabeth Stover, secretary; Irene Parker, treasurer; and Ralph Porter, social chairman. Following the election of officers the members of the class talked about holding a Junior Prom this year.

Plans for a semi-final Christmas party were discussed by the Seniors in room 44. Sally Leonard, social chairman, is arranging a Senior breakfast to take place about Thanksgiving time.

HONORS OF OLD STUDENTS SPEAK FOR ART DEPT.

Miss Millicent Buckwalter, formerly a student of color and design in the art department here, entered some of her art work in the recent Pomona Fair, receiving two first prizes and one second.

In her decorative linen pieces she was awarded eight prizes out of a possible nine.

"This is just a sample," says Mrs. Mary E. T. Crosswell, head of the Art department, "of the benefit gained through courses of this type in this department."

Miss Buckwalter is also commercializing her art, having an order from a Long Beach art shop to make several dozen stick printed handkerchiefs.

Miss Mildred Ewart of the Home Economics Department, while here, entered a wall hanging and a dress at the fair on which she won first and second prizes. Miss Ewart took needle work in the art department.

Frosh Gridman Dies From Game Injuries

OAKLAND, Nov. 2.—(CNS)—Henry Lawler, 18, freshman at St. Mary's college, died this week, following a futile attempt to save his life by operating on his spine, which was injured in an inter-class football game.

He suffered a fractured vertebra and internal injuries, which proved fatal.

CALENDAR

The social events for the coming week are as follows:
Friday, November 4—Football game with Occidental at the Pasadena Rose Bowl.
Saturday, November 5—Industrial Education and Home Economics joint dance.

Attend Oxy Tilt, Build Pep, Plea of O. J. Trautz

Fighting for Football Same as Fighting for Friendship

Stressing the importance of a one-hundred percent backing for the team, President Trautz yesterday enumerated the reasons why everyone should make the trip to the Santa Barbara State vs. Oxy game at the Rose Bowl, Friday night, November 4.

Of the State vs. Cal-Tech game, President Trautz says, "The pep and enthusiasm shown last week was the finest we ever had. But, when we go to Occidental, we must do even better. People from all over Southern California will be there, due to the fact that both schools are trying something new with a twelve man team, headed by a non-playing field general. Sportsmanship and support will be watched for by the people, and if we show this spirit, we will make a favorable impression for State."

Trautz went on to say that Occidental has a high respect for State college and has been very courteous to State's representatives when they were down there. He continued with the statement that "While we are fighting for football, we are also fighting for a long standing friendship with Oxy."

"Regardless of the score of Occidental, if we display our present spirit we shall have won a moral victory," he declared.

MOVE TO RETAIN STAGG AS COACH

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—(CNS)—Petitions were being circulated on the University of Chicago campus this week, seeking the retention of Amos Alonzo Stagg as football coach.

Although forced by his age, 70, to retire as director of athletics at the end of the present school year, the "grand old man," it has been held, could be employed as a coach without violating university rules.

Fraternities, headed by Delta Kappa Epsilon and Psi Upsilon, were circulating the petitions, which urged that Coach Stagg be retained for at least one additional year "to prove his ability to coach a winning team, when and if he has the material."

Meanwhile, practically every member of the freshman football team signed a similar petition, which was to be presented to President Robert Maynard Hutchins and other university officials.

STUDENTS LEAVE FOR ROSE BOWL IN AFTERNOON

In an attempt to swell the Roadrunner rooting section at the Occidental game at Pasadena Friday, arrangements have been made making it possible for students wishing to go down to the game to be excused from their afternoon classes, beginning with the eighth period. Students should notify their instructors before leaving.

It is anticipated that there will be a large number of State college students in the Rose Bowl when the Oxy Tiger and the State Roadrunner clash. Arrangements have been made with a local transportation company to take students directly to the Rose Bowl, and back to Santa Barbara for a nominal sum. Reservations on the bus which will leave at 2:30 p.m., may be made through Lawrence Connell.

Necklace Reported Lost by Local Girl

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 2.—(CNS)—Loss of a necklace, declared to be valued at $15.00, this week was reported to police by Miss Charis Dennis, Radcliffe College student, whose home is in Santa Barbara.

She told police that the necklace, made up of diamonds, pearls and emeralds, was sent to her from California last month, but that her maid, on unpacking the box in which the jewels supposedly were sent, found them to be missing.

STATE COLLEGES MAY HAVE NEW HEADS IF CARNEGIE FOUNDATION PLANS ARE CARRIED OUT-PHELPS

Return of Aristocratic Education and Only Upper Division Work Given at U. C.

Maintaining that democracy should be retained in higher education, President Clarence L. Phelps, of the State College spoke before members of the State Board of Education at Los Angeles, Saturday morning, October 29, on his interpretation of the Carnegie Foundation survey report recently completed under the supervision of Dr. Henry A. Suzzallo, president.

President Phelps expressed the opinion that if the two recommendations of the Suzzallo report, the one concerning the transfer of the control of State Teachers' colleges from the State Board of Education to the State Board of Regents of the University of California, and the other recommending that no additional senior college facilities be made available until present facilities of the two State universities have been utilized to the saturation point, were to be adapted, the aristocratic domination of education would return. The latter measure would limit the field of upper division studies largely to those students whose parents could afford to pay their expenses to a State university.

In closing, President Phelps' recommendation to the State Board of Education was that they retain the same relative position in public education that they now hold.

Butler Orders Official Quiz of Lion Sport

Investigation Follows Attack in Columbia Daily by Ousted Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—(CNS)—Columbia University's athletic department this week was again under fire, this time facing an official investigation conducted by a special committee appointed by President Nicholas Murray Butler.

The committee, it was understood, will thoroughly probe repeated charges of professionalism which have been thrown at Coach Lou Little's football team members and will attempt to determine whether or not players are "subsidized," either as to favoritism in connection with part-time employment or in receiving scholarships which would induce them to attend Columbia.

Outgrowth of Harris Attack
The inquiry is to some extent an outgrowth of the attack made against the athletic department last year by Reed Harris, then editor of the Columbia Daily Spectator, who was subsequently ousted.

Present editors of Spectator, however, suggested that a full investigation be conducted to determine the truth or falsity of charges of professionalism which Harris made. All phases of the controversy will be thoroughly studied by the committee, which is to have the cooperation of the athletic department, according to Dr. Edward S. Elliott, athletic director. Particularly, it was said, will inquiries be made as to the uses of certain funds and, in addition, the question of possible leniency to athletes whose scholarship is below par will be investigated.

ANNUAL BRAWL WILL FEATURE SOMETHING NEW

The Men's club brawl, which each year occupies an important position on the social calendar during the last part of the fall semester, will this year be of unusual interest, it was promised recently by Don Fisher, chairman of the Men's club social committee, which is at present formulating plans for the affair.

According to Fisher, plans for this year's party, which is the big event of the Men's club year, will be featured by several new types of entertainment, the nature of which has not as yet been announced.

TAKES BUS TO OXY GAME
A bus will be hired by the A.W.S. to go to the Occidental football game if a minimum of twenty girls sign up to go.

Dangerous Sub Gases Studied by Colleges

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Nov. 2.—(CNS)—Cooperative studies designed to determine some means of eliminating the possibility of explosions from the accumulation of battery gases in submarines will be carried on jointly by University of North Carolina and Yale University physicists, it was announced this week.

Studies of lead storage cells will be conducted at both institutions, it was stated, under an arrangement with the naval research laboratory in Washington.

Dennison Dean Lets Girls Cheer at Will

GRANVILLE, O., Nov. 2.—(CNS)—Overruling an ancient regulation against co-ed rooting sections, Dean Helen Olney of Dennison University this week decided that women students may cheer at athletic contests if they like.

Cheering formerly was considered "unladylike."

Who's Whoey

Howdy folks! Allow me to introduce myself as the Roadrunner's new undercover reporter.

With the daring expose in "Swill Stuff," Friday night Chet Tubbs, brilliant Gigolo Society president was revealed as the columnist whose flaming pen has been striking terror among the hearts of the less discreet, the naughty and the careless.

The loss of the column was a severe blow to the Editor; so being a sympathetic soul, I agreed to step into the breach with something as nearly similar as possible.

Incidentally, I have never been quite able to determine what all the objections were to the "widow's" column.

As to my policy—if there's any among you who feel a bit squeamish and are afraid that you might be written up, just write a note to Whoey, care of Roadrunner, and state your desire to be left out of print.

Our gumshoes report that Dick Kaime is having some swell times these days (and nights).

By the way, it might interest you to know the history of the "College Widow" column in the Roadrunner.

It was a dinky sheet but there were some mighty pens behind it. Inquiring here and there, I discovered who the "Widow" was in those days—but she's living in town and she might not appreciate my divulging her name.

I think I shall quote a bit from her column so you can see what it was like—and how history does repeat itself.

Then there was this spicy bit that there has made somebody squirm. "We have noticed, that the recent retirement of several frosh to the ranks of crutch wielders has not affected their ability to work in the dark—Ford coupe or no Ford coupe.

Whoops! Here is a potent one found on page two of the Roadrunner (the name had been changed by this time) for Wednesday, November 12, 1930.

Really now, that is putting it rather frankly. However, I happen to know that Ned and the Widow were good friends of long standing—so it wasn't as bad as it sounds.

Then, in these old papers, there was a column called "Yep," I think that Danny Britton was responsible for that one. There was a column; Here's something from't. "Did you notice in assembly the other day when Dr. Jacobs asked the wall-flowers to 'please sit down' how many of the girls already seated stood up? Oh well, fellows, it's like my bullfrogs say, 'You can kid gloves and string beans but you can't bull frogs.'"

And they included jokes like this one: Billy Maxwell: Mother, why did you marry father? Mrs. Maxwell: Oh, so you have been wondering about that too? It was great stuff—I may get out some more some day. But let's get down to current news:

We gather from the grapevine that Ferne Crawford wishes to correct the impression which may have been left by the College Widow about the Ford. That's allright Ferne Lots of people would like to correct impressions left by the Widow.

I dropped in on the dance Friday night and saw Chris Martin doing his usual wise-cracking. Yeah—with Clare Wise (Who pulled a fast one that time, and why did I? The boy shows good taste. By the way girls, Chris is an up and coming youngster. Just ask Kay Case and Ruth Carter if he won't make his place in the world. (adv.)

Dropped in on the Dance Saturday too—just long enough to see Den Baylor trying to—well, maybe we shouldn't have brought that up.

Our gumshoes report that Dick Kaime is having some swell times these days (and nights). Put on the brakes Dick. We see red lights ahead for you.

By the way, if you weren't at the rally last Thursday, I might say that you missed a good example of what our school can do.

Then there was that perfect example of what personality can do when two freshmen, masquerading as one man, came out and kept the audience in convulsions for five minutes—by just standing there and fidgeting. Quite like the old Goux-McCray stunt.

And that, soaks—excuse me, folks, winds up our efforts for this week. We'll be with you again next time, with more and better news, we hope Reservoir.

Kappa Psi, Women's Honorary National Physical Education fraternity, is circulating a petition to form a new chapter, Phi Delta Pi. During the summer the grand council of Phi Delta Pi granted Kappa Psi permission to do this.

At the next meeting of the fraternity, which is to be held in the home of Evelyn Maitland on November 7, the petition will be assembled into book form.

G.D.C.'S ELECT MARJ. BREHM Marjorie Brehm was installed as president of Gamma Delta Chi at a ceremony which took place last week at a meeting of the sorority.

The biggest and noisiest football rally of the year was held last Thursday evening in the auditorium to generate enthusiasm for the game with Cal-Tech.

The rally started with a bang. Cliff Leedy's band opened the rally with so much noise that the walls shook, the roof cracked, and the floor vibrated.

The freshmen staged a humorous little act called "Cal-techitis." The first physician operated upon the victim and discovered that the patient had cancer (Tin-can, sir). This seemed to give the patient relief for only a moment as another doctor had to be called.

Marvin "Giddings" Willard entertained the crowd with several forlorn cowboy and hobo songs. Then a characterization of Sam Goldberg, Chin Lee, Al Capone, and Mahatma Gandhi was put on.

The effigy of Coach "Fox" Stanton, put on by Chris Martin and another frosh, kept the students in convulsions of laughter. Short talks were given by Coach Hal Davis, Oscar Trautz, and James Kent.

GNOME PARTY POSTPONED The Gnome club Halloween party which was scheduled for Tuesday evening, November 1, has been postponed as Dean Pyle requested that none of the Women's social organizations have parties on school nights.

By MILTON BURNHAM

"To be or not to be is the question?" To be or not to be what? Ah! The eyes have it (very necessary to have "it"). Every man on the campus must make his decision whether or not he wants to work his way through college as a Gigolo. The football squad is considering starting a "Palmolive chapter" this week. The reason it will be called the "Palmolive chapter" is due to the fact that Coach Hal Davis insists, emphatically, that all the backfield men be able to hold onto that (pig)skin you (ball-carriers) love to touch.

I think the football players should receive a much higher rate as Gigolos than any other of the Gigolos. The footballers are in fine physical condition and therefore would be able to last longer. Most every man on the squad is a specialist in his own phase of the game???

This column will be the Official Gigolo Employment Bureau. Girls, address your letters to the writer of this column stating your size, car or not, blond or brunette, number of hours, particular phase of the game?? (So a specialist will be sent but not Chic Sale,) and also the day or night. Backfield men will not be available until after this week. It will be necessary for them to spend this week learning to get that scientific touch of the (pig)skin.

Cal-Tech's laterals and passes were almost as numerous as flies in a State College class-room only not quite so bothersome. The stars of the Cal-Tech game were: Hopkins, Shultz, Harper, Fisher, Kerrigan, Eckhardt, Earhart, Tiny McCullough, and Willard. All of these boys are linemen and the line was the most outstanding feature of the game, both on defense and offense.

The Engineers of Cal-Tech were the biggest bunch of ball-hawks that this writer has ever seen. In case you do not know what a "ball-hawk" is I will tell you. It is stealing the ball from the other team. Yes, it is legal but very unethical. The way they worked it was for one man to tackle and another man either knock or take the ball out of the ball-carrier's hands. This resulted in costly fumbles. But, remember, this is no alibi for all of the ball-carriers should have held the ball with both hands when they learned of such tactics.

Why was it that the fifteen Cal-Tech rooters outelled the entire student body of State College? Oh, well, there is no use talking about this now for all of the home games have been played for this year. No use worrying about spilt milk for the cat and her kittens can lick it up and clean the floor at the same time.

At the football rally last Thursday night in the auditorium Coach Davis said that the team had nine plays. A murmur of soft laughter spread over the audience as if to say, "What a dumb bunch are the varsity team that can't learn just nine plays." To show you what these nine plays really amount to; take for instance the backfield: There are four positions in the backfield and each man has to know all four positions. So four positions multiplied by nine plays equals thirty-six (4x9 are 36). Then we have four formations. Multiply four formations times thirty-six and you get one hundred and forty-four (4x36 are 144) duties each of these men have to know. So the players do have something to think about out on the gridiron when a play is called. He has to know which of the 144 assignments he has to do on this particular play; then he has to do it. So the boys might be classed a little above the imbecile quota.

This Friday night the Roadrunners will play the Oxy Tigers in the Rose Bowl. (This has always been my ambition since I read of the games played in the famous Rose Bowl. Sounds so wonderful in Texas—this Rose Bowl.) This game will receive national recognition due to the fact that it is a "revolutionary game." A football game with twelve men on each team. The twelfth man will be a field general (Harry Killian). He will call plays on offense, but will not block, run or touch the ball. On defense he will stay alongside the headlineman and be a sort of spectator. Coaches from all over the country will watch this game with intense interest to see what effect it will have on the game in the future. By all means see this game!

What does the future hold for dear old Santa Barbara State in regard to football? Did you know that of the eleven men that started the game against Cal-Tech only two will be lost by graduation this year. That leaves nine of the starters for next year. Four of the nine are only sophomores and have two more years after this season. I'm really too young to philosophize but I think the Roadrunners will take the Southern California Conference championship within the next two years.

Beta Sig Fraternity Crowned Intramural Touch Football Champions; Win By Forfeit

By virtue of a forfeit from the Beta Sig fraternity squad, the A.M. aggregation yesterday were crowned intramural touch-football champions, and except for one tie game to mar their escutcheon, the members of this independent five had a perfect record for the season with wins to their credit.

Led by Captain Jack David the team functioned smoothly and consistently for the whole four game series. Other members of the squad who figured prominently in the rise of the A.M. squad were Bill Crow, Roger Allen, Conway Edwards, Julio Bortolazza, Wilber Gilliland, and Douglas Elliot.

The winners, according to Howard Bradbury, who has been managing the activities of the teams, will all receive intramural block "S" letters and sweaters for their part in the championship march of the squad.

The Tau Omega squad, which was the pre-season favorite to capture the crown, had to content itself with second place, while the Sigma Alpha Kappa and the Beta Sig fraternity teams finished third and fourth places respectively. Last year's championship N. Z. squad suffered a drastic reversal of form and finished in the cellar without a win chalked up to its credit.

Because there is no definite lunch hour this year, the schedule shows many forfeited games in the intramural season, but with the start of basketball season soon, Manager Bradbury is expecting a greater turnout for the games as a result of awarding block letters to the winning teams. He contends that the boys did not know about these proposed awards in football in time to get started on their respective squads.

Here's how they finished: Team W. L. T. Pct. A. to M. 3 0 1 1.000 Tau Omega 3 1 0 .750 Sig Alphas 2 1 1 .666 Beta Sig 1 3 0 .250 N. to Z. 0 4 0 .000

Activities who attended were: Constance Wise, Clare Wise, Helen Banker, Mary Erickson, Eva Miratti, Iris Cooley, Margaret Keeley and Luella Heibert.

BULLDOGS STILL AT TOP IN RACE FOR CON. HONORS

Redlands continues to sail at the crest of the Southern conference wave with possibilities of overtaking the Bulldogs looking rather remote at this stage of the activities. The Bulldogs trounced San Diego State to the tune of 19 to 6. It was the fourth straight victory for the Redlands team, and the encounter marked the first time that their goal line had been crossed.

Occidental continued its impressive late victories after its rather weak start by trampling all over La Verne college, 24-0 to ruin the hope of the Leopards for the conference championship. La Verne is now in the five hundred percent class.

Cal-Tech emerged from the loss column by thumping Santa Barbara 3-0, putting the Engineers and the Roadrunners in a tie for the cellar position.

Here are the official standings of the clubs:

HEARD IN THE SHOWERS SPORT COMMENT

Cal-Tech's victory over the State college Roadrunners was the first win of the season turned in by the Engineers, and it may be a long time before it wins another encounter, for they edged out their triumph only after most drastic "breaks" against the local team.

Santa Barbara put on one of the biggest fumbling acts ever staged by a Roadrunner machine, seven of these errors occurring during the fray, and all coming at critical moments, terminating drives that two or three times looked like touchdowns, especially the last fumble. This came when there were only two minutes to play, and with ten yards to go for a touchdown, giving Cal-Tech the ball to end all chances for the local team to come out on top.

There were several standouts in the game with the linemen showing up better than the backfield members. Not once during the contest did the forward wall slacken in its fight to overpower the determined men from the south.

John Eckhardt, acting as captain for the hilltoppers put on one of the prettiest games of his career last Friday night, and it was largely through his efforts that the line continued its fast, heavy charging. Others came through brilliantly for the Olive and White cause, George Harper has given every indication that the line is where he belongs, for he proved a tower of strength in his tackle position.

When it comes to dishing out praise to the forward wall don't forget that fighting, scrappy guard, Ed "Tiger" Kerrigan, a boy who never gives up no matter what the odds may be. Hoppy Hopkins is another man who smeared himself with glory against the Engineers. You noticed that those lateral pass plays around the wing position did not work to such advantage around Hoppy's end. Shultz is a great fighting end, but he is inclined to be "sucked in" too far as in the case of Stanton's men last week when they ran around "our German George" with such frequent regularity.

"Tiny" McCullough, Lyn Earhart, and Don Fisher, round out the men who starred on the line for Santa Barbara. This trio, along with the aforementioned linemen continually smashed in to drag down the runner or throw him for a loss. Earhart, although a guard, proved particularly fast in bringing down Cal-Tech punt returners, and on a number of occasions got to the safety man before the ends could reach him.

Although it is the first win of the season for the Cal-Tech squad, the visitors certainly did not look like a demoralized outfit. They looked as snappy as a well drilled army and on coming out of their huddle, they took their formations with a dash and fire that boded ill for the enemy. By virtue of seven costly "breaks" against Santa Barbara, the Engineers managed to hold on to their lead acquired in the first period on a place kick by Captain Phil Craig.

12-MAN TEAM IDEA GETS TRIAL IN OXY GRID TILT

Santa Barbara State Roadrunners and the Occidental Tigers will play the first "different" game of football in Southern California this year when they meet at the Pasadena Rose Bowl in a southern conference conflict, Friday, November 4.

This game is in application of the famed Andy Kerr's "twelve-man team" idea.

If this method of play is successful it will probably be used by all the teams in the country within the next few seasons because it is reported that many coaches of the large universities and colleges will be present to witness the game.

The field general, as the twelfth man will be called, for the Roadrunners will be either Harry Killian, "Pinky" Greeson, or Bob Main. If Killian gets the job Greeson and Main will probably play in the game as active members. All three are competent for the job. The latter two have played before as quarter backs on the team and the first is one of the frosh coaches under Luke Trimble. He played quarterback on last year's varsity team.

From all indications, the twelfth man will make possible a game with no blunders as to the calling of the right play and will give another individual a chance to play for his school.

Craig's Dropkick Only Score of Game as Tech Engineers Eke Out Narrow Margin Win

Fumbles galore wrecked the aspirations of Coach Hal Davis' fighting Santa Barbara State College Roadrunners last Friday night in Pershing Park in a regular conference tilt against Fox Stanton's Engineers from Cal-Tech college as the locals came out on the short end of a 3-0 score.

Seven of these penalties were executed to precision by the State backs, and it got to be such a habit with them that the spectators could anticipate when the next one was to occur. The first fumble of the game, one of a series of which were personally enacted by Pat McCullough, proved the most costly as it led to the place kick that eventually won the game.

Craig Kick's Before the teams had been in action 10 minutes, and after a State fumble put the ball in Cal-Tech's possession on State's 31 yard line, Captain Phil Craig of the visitors, nonchalantly booted the ball through the uprights to give the Engineers their three points and their first conference win of the season. It was one of three kicks attempted by Craig and every time that capable young man's educated toe connected with the ball, its flight was usually headed for the goal posts. His second kick was two or three inches wide of being good.

In the face of all these obstacles, it took a fighting team to hold the score down to what it was, and a fighting team is exactly what Coach Davis has. Much credit should be given to the line. It is to their credit that the boys from Cal-Tech could not budge them at the critical moments, and in the face of grave difficulties, it takes a team with plenty of "fighting heart" to give the exhibition which they enacted before the home crowd Friday.

Cal Tech Fumble Cal-Tech, however did not get all the breaks, for late in the last quarter with two minutes left to play, the locals made their strongest bid for victory. It was a fumbling act put on by the visitors that nearly proved their downfall. A recovered fumble gave Santa Barbara the ball on Tech's 30 yard line. Then the locals put on a mighty drive down to the Engineers' 15 yard stripe. Here critical offside penalty hurt considerable, but the greatest bugaboo of the game again intervened, a fumble by Greeson was captured by the alert Tech crew and ruined the best scoring chance of the game.

No Need for Shame Not a man who played in that line against Cal-Tech may be ashamed of the showing he put on, and there were no standouts for every man on the forward wall displayed more fight than in any game this season barring perhaps the San Diego game. If you want standouts, point your finger at Johnny Eckhardt and then at George Harper and over at Ed Kerrigan, and Mr. Hoppy Hopkins as well as Don Fisher and Tiny McCullough plus Lyn Earhart and you have the answer why Santa Barbara's forward wall came through with colors flying.

In the backfield one man stood head and shoulders above the rest and that young man was Ralph "Stocky" Stockel, a sophomore who passes, kicks, and runs with great ability.

New Men at Posts Although the men in the backfield fumbled their way to defeat, it was largely due to unfamiliarity with their posts. Pat McCullough has never played fullback before, and his switch to fullback position after playing tackle for a year and

ORVILLE MOHLER TALKS TO LOCAL S.B.H.S. STUDENTS

"Whether you win or lose is not the important factor, it's how you play the game," said Orville Mohler, student body president of U.S.C. in a talk before the local high school student body last Friday morning.

"Traditional rivalry makes football what it is today and without it schools do not have that fine sportsmanlike school spirit," continued Orv. "In this rivalry the rooting sections play an important part. In fact the success of the teams depends on their backing. No team can hope to be a success without the whole-hearted support of their followers."

Mr. Mohler gave an example of a team's fighting spirit through the loyal support of their followers by pointing out the great record of the Southern California Trojans last year. After losing the first game of the year to St. Mary's, the great Trojan squad went on to win every one of its remaining games and the National Championship.

a half was necessitated because of the hard luck that has camped on the trail of the Roadrunners through the injury of Captain "Tuffy" Trejoar's and another promising man in Shirley Keith who filled Trejoar's berth until he was injured in the Redlands game.

There should not be any doubt in any one's mind now as to whether or not Milt Burnham can stand up under fire, for the "Midge" looked like a veteran out there last Friday. Pinky Greeson failed to turn in his usual brilliant game on offense but showed up well on defense, a department of the game in which he has been excelling all year.

Disloyalty Surplus

Loyalty, as a concept, is something the significance and value of which is regrettably unrecognized by many students among us. Not only do these persons fail to grasp the fundamentals of loyalty in its larger applications; they are unable to exercise the principles of loyal conduct in situations of a most elementary nature.

There occurred in a certain small and restricted campus organization last week, a series of altercations among the members which threatened not only to disrupt the group permanently but to carry over into other organizations and the student body as a whole, with disastrous effects upon the amicable relations and splendid cooperation already established this year. The remainder of the present term would undoubtedly have been fraught with friction, steeped in ill-feeling and beset with the innumerable obstacles to progress which arise when each man is pitched against his neighbor.

The organization mentioned had decided upon a certain line of action and had adopted principles appurtenant thereto in the form of a gentlemen's agreement, trusting those most directly involved in the action to live up to the trust placed in them. Knowing what was expected of them and being supposedly of an age and degree of intelligence with which ethical behavior is naturally associated, these individuals nevertheless attempted to betray their co-workers—deliberately planned to cast aside the principles agreed to in good faith and to bring definite injury to fellow members of their group, as well as to other campus organizations and other persons.

We do not mention names because we believe in giving every man a chance to redeem himself. The one of whom we speak particularly may be man enough to pull himself together and behave like a creditable human being. If so, he is entitled to the opportunity and we hope that he will make the most of it. Another, who shared his most recent guilt has already offered written and oral apologies. We feel sure that he repents, that he has learned his lesson and that he was led on by the former anyway. We have no desire to heap harm upon his head.

The point to this dissertation, if it has not yet been made clear, is that the Roadrunner pledges itself to henceforth bring to light and to attempt to ultimately stamp out all cases of disloyal conduct discovered on our campus. We will give every man his chance, his timely warning but, in the end, we will spare no one.

Loyalty is the basis of all human endeavor. Without it man must perish by his own hand from the face of the earth. We must have loyalty in our families, in our churches, our lodges, our clubs and most assuredly in our schools. The scope of the Roadrunner is small; but if it be humanly possible, its activities will result in a marked decrease in the number of agitators, dissenters, cowards, and traitors in the State college student body by the end of the current school year.

La Cumbre Wins Honors

Again Santa Barbara State college comes through with honors; this time, All-American rating to La Cumbre, State's yearbook, edited last year under great difficulties by Rose Greenwell, Paul Hylton and Kay Bishop successively.

This coveted award of the National Scholastic Press Association is the highest that the association has to offer; and it will be recalled that the Roadrunner achieved this same distinction last year. To receive one such rating is an achievement; to receive two, simultaneously, is something to be written down as one of the highlights of the college's history. State may well be congratulated for the distinction brought to her by her student journalists.

It may be appropriate at this time to state that the present Roadrunner staff does not expect to duplicate the prize winning feat of the staff of last year. One of the All-American requirements of the N.S.P.A. is the pyramiding of advertisements on the inside pages of the newspaper. While we readily grant that this adds to the appearance of the paper, we must state that it also detracts from its value in the eyes of the advertiser, our local advertisers at least. Since we are mainly concerned with putting out a newspaper which best meets the needs of the students of the college, and wish at the same time to show a profit at the end of the year we consider it wise to abandon honors for something more material.

Nevertheless, we shall enter the Roadrunner as a contestant, in the N.S.P.A. critical award contest this year—hoping that something good may fall our way, in spite of our practicality.

On Politics

The Roadrunner views with much gratification the establishing of a student political club on our campus. It is encouraging to learn that our young people are awakening to their responsibilities in the conduct of their government and are taking an active interest in the current presidential campaign.

Douglas Kirkpatrick, leader of the Hoover flying squadron, as the new organization is named, deserves commendation for the qualities of good citizenship he has exhibited in assuming leadership, as do the students who are working with him.

The remainder of the student body, whether or not of voting age, might well follow their example and open their eyes to the fact that after all they are as much "the government" as

Football--Romantic Game

The CHATTERBOX

By HOOTEN-ANNY

It was with tears in our eyes that we read of the unfortunate demise of the College Widow(er). We'll certainly miss the old dear, (he, she, or it), what with all the good clean fun we had snorting over the scandal that was unearthed. You see, in common with a lot of people hereabouts, we just haven't a nose for that kind of news, but oh how we love to read it!

Our favorite sport of late seems to consist of going to the "moon pitches" in search of heroes to get hot and bothered about. Just at the moment, our little bosom heaves whenever we see George Raft, Paul Cavanaugh, or George Brent. We have a perfect passion you see, for the straight, black-haired type with the dangerous look in their eyes. And we seem to run towards gunmen, bootleggers, remittance men, forgers, and others of their ilk. So if you ever hear of our falling by the wayside, you'll know what caused it.

Imagine our sensations when we read this ad' in last Sunday's L.A. Times:

"WILL PAY $100 FOR BABY grand piano."

At the dance Saturday night we saw President Tubbs of the Gigolo Club being attentive to a blonde in a brown print dress. Personally, we'd be a bit chary about going out with any of the lads in that little organization. The question being of course, was it business-or-pleasure?

are the rest of our one hundred fifty million, more or less, population.

With election day now upon us and so many vital issues at stake, upon which the future of our nation depends, it behooves every one of us to give each candidate and each question our most serious thought. Those who are eligible to vote and who have received their sample ballots are definitely mitigating the stability of their country and their own future happiness if they fail to study each question and to form definite opinions thereon; and, subsequently to express those opinions by the medium available to every citizen, the ballot.

Remember that when you say "let the other fellow do it," you're "the other fellow" to him. If the real majority of our people had not had the "other fellow" complex four years ago, as well as four years before that, and so on, our national structure would not be in its present toppling condition. If the majority of our people had expressed their opinions with ballots rather than mental telepathy, there would now be more expression and less depression.

Regardless of your party affiliation; no matter whether you be for Hoover or Roosevelt or any of the other candidates; disregarding the hopelessness with which you view our present political plight—get out and vote. Your ballot is a treasure, without which you would be sorely vexed but with which you are apt to be careless.

It's the vote that counts, not the post-mortems. Be prepared to cast yours next Tuesday.

We hear that the gardener at the Jefferson school is practically losing his teeth with fury because Hugh Bruce mused up his nice new lawn. It seems that the president of the Roadrunner "Y" was giving the infants a few lessons in gymnastics and picked out the grassy sward as the softest place to fall.

Edide Cantor was burbling over the radio last Sunday night about his fixed determination to simplify the English (American) language for the benefit of the school children. He started out with plurals and here are a few of them. If the plural of tooth is teeth, then for two telephone booths, we oughta have beeth. If for ox, we have oxen, for box, it should be boxen. More than one mouse equals micé, so for house we should have hicc. Etc., etc., ad infinitum.

We noticed this little item on the menu in the Cabrillo Cafe: Ham Sadtwich.....15c. Guess the printer must've had a cold. Have you tried gargling soda and water?

Casting an idle eye over the copy in the basket in the Roadrunner office, we came on this little note among the social events scheduled for next week: "Saturday, November 5—Industrial Education and Home Economics Joint dance." We've heard of muscle dances, stomach dances, and almost every kind, but a joint dance is a new one on us. Page Gilda Gray!

PRESIDENT MEET RESULTS IN NO FINAL DECISIONS

"a century ago," the president stated. "They also felt that if such a reversal of policy should be necessary, it must be so declared by the legislature, and not merely by the Director of Finance, and seven teachers college presidents."

Although the imposing of the $50 tuition would be considered an emergency measure, it was agreed last year, President Phelps indicated, that the $6.50 fee levied this year was an emergency fee and would not be raised excepting in the face of a crisis. In spite of the fact that such a tuition would mean over $1,000,000 to the financing of the Santa Barbara State college, the measure was opposed.

A 20% slice in college budgets, the second of these proposals, was opposed by the group at the Sacramento meeting, according to the college president. Such a slice in budget expenses, would of necessity affect faculty salaries, to which the presidents were strongly opposed.

As to the possible closing up of several of the institutions, President Phelps said, "The Santa Barbara State college position is very favorable. Because of the excellent financial standing in the past, because of the new campus site, and because of the possible adaptation of the new 48-week plan budget, there is little danger of this college being affected by such legislation."

Suzallo Has One Day With approximately seventy representatives of all the different divisions of education present, one whole day was devoted to a discussion of the Dr. Henry A. Suzallo report on higher education. From the teachers college viewpoint, the hearing on the report was quite gratifying, Phelps explained.

Because of the time occupied in other discussion, the new 48-week budget plan devised by President Phelps was not brought up for consideration.

The State Teachers college presidents will meet again in the latter part of November at Fresno, for further discussion of the financial management of these schools.

Shades o' Green

"An outrage!" said some. "Funny razzing," said others. In our opinion the publishers of "Swill Stuff" made four mistakes with their periodical. First, by not printing the group or staff that sponsored the thing. Next, in selling the sheet to the general public, and not confining its sale to the campus. Third, including too many of the faculty in the razz stories. And last, trying to pull a big college stunt in a smaller institution.

What is all this furor in connection with our "College Widow"?

An excellent showing of school spirit was exhibited at the rally held in our auditorium last Thursday night. The enthusiasm of the audience made the evening the success that it was. The entertainment suffered from lack of time in preparation and general planning was difficult due to constant shifting of the location of the event. A cooperative, and spirited crowd of 300 put the evening over.

Who said Carmel Leach is the "College Widow"? It can be said truthfully she is not.

Our student body is doubly fortunate in having such a man as Oscar Trautz as its head during this year. First, you have selected a man with a will to boost State College. Secondly, our executive has formed a group of plans for this "depression" year which will forward State greatly in its relations with other institutions, and, the fortunate part of it is, will be comparatively inexpensive.

Nothing ever appeared in the "Wider's" column at which one could take offense.

Question: "Why did college students have to pay fifty-cents for admission to the last high school game, when Allred had made an agreement with the high school for twenty-five cents admission?" State's admission to their games for high school students was placed at 25-cents and kept there, regardless of the importance of the game.

Wah! to these spreading ears was the news that the Aretas were plenty burned up over the gigolo crack in the "Chicklet".

Wahah! (see Wheeler and Woolley for proper pronunciation) were we embarrassed? The party so vividly described here last week as being given by the Gnome club was, strange as it may seem, not given by that organization at all. It was just a gang of good fellows who got together.

Another believe it or not. In the manly chest of Alan Flock beats the heart of a speed demon. He confided in Shirley Keith and the wish that his Ford (model T) will run 65 miles per hour. After a ride from the game to the dance the other night, both listeners were ready to believe Mr. Flock's story. The snorting thing of iron was only permitted a brief 40 coming up Santa Barbara street, and a change of gears on the hill resulted in a mere 35 the remainder of the trip. The driver offered to "let her out" on the boulevard, but, really, well, we wanted to dance.

"The moon was colored the amber of spilt beer on a modern aluminum bar." Tie that one, Hoot. You and your old tea.

Which is Clare and which is Connie?

Worth remembering: Connie is the taller and Clare is the shorter.

A.W.S. PLANS SUPPER

A "Pajamerino pot luck" supper will be given Friday, November 18, in the college cafeteria by the A.W.S.

The program is to be furnished by the newly organized women's social clubs. Everyone coming to the supper will bring food enough for six people.

Luella Hiebert is in charge of the party and Margaret Keeley is chairman of the food committee.
