Ballad Singer Speaks Before Student Group

English and Music Section: Sponsor Pay Assembly on Monday

G. Marnon Haddock, well known singer and English ballad lecturer from Europe, will present a program in which he discusses the history and sings English ballads Monday morning, December 16, at 8:30 a.m., in the Student Union building upon the auspices of the English and music departments.

The public is invited to the admittance and the admission is free. Maddy Haddock is from London and has been in the country for two years and half years. In 1924 he taught an English ballet course at Stanford and currently he gave a concert at Pomona college and Rodale un-versity. His main interest lies in bringing standards of music to students and helping them to understand the interesting incident behind the making of a ballad.

Coming from a family of distinguished, Maddy Haddock has had much experience in light and stage work. He has been involved in the production of many plays and in his present stage presence he was for the first time on the assembly Hall stage.

A news story from which comes little concern this week in connection with the American independent news agency, the United Press wire.

The story states that the American independent news agency, the United Press wire, issued this statement March 31, 1928. It states that has been approved by the members of the circulation of the organization "Dulcy" at State College, for the manufacturing of a new ballad, the "Tow n Crier," and the subsequent production of the musical "Tow n Crier." The new ballad will be made upon a singlemy several colleges.

Academic Freedom

With the approach of a presidential campaign and the increased radio and newspaper discussion of authorities and office aspirants on the economic systems and variety of governments in the world, sentiment on governments and politics will increase. This is a condition that has never been worse than in the past few years. The lines were readily heard, the action no doubt rather than continual intense officiousness; a Billie Burke naivete rather than a determined blundering. In contrast to this over-emphasized talent to the point of monotonous characterization, Harry Stinson modestly understated his roles. His was a real, his physical personality was realistic. Consequently the strenuous Dulcy present, and it is a study of actuality and sincerity. Ability. William Hunt abed a convincing role.

Frost Battle Buenaventura Friday Night

From an official bulletin from Ted Brodhead, secretary of the Southern California conference, we learn that the Gauchos placed three men on the all-conference football team, while Oxy and La Verne placed no men on the first team. Ends: Dan Tebbs, Whittier; Frank Esham, Santa Barbara Guards; Prince Rusk, Whittier; John Fuller, San Diego Center: Tom Hunt, Whittier

The rest of the first string was made up of six Whittier men, one from Redlands and one from Santa Barbara. Quarter: Reinold Peterson, Redlands; Halves: Bob Morelli, Santa Barbara; Elvin Hutchison, Whittier; Full: Howard Nelson, Whittier

This team should not be confused with the official all-conference team which is chosen every year at a meeting of the coaches and managers.

In taking on Buenaventura in the Armory tonight at 6:30 for the second game this season, the State will have to strengthen their defensive play before they met their opponents. I want to introduce to you the man who was responsible for the thorough report on our opponents.

His name is Willie Wilson, and where he fails from they call him "The Wizard of Westwood." As he was a former star in the U.C.L.A. backfield in 1933 and 1934, and since that time his football career came to an end enabling Chuck Cheshire to make the first team. So you folks can see that he has been right up in the big time football.

The U.C.L.A. star played 59 minutes of football against Washington State College and pulled the ball 52 times leaving the game in the last two minutes to receive the greatest ovation ever accorded a Bruin footballer.

Well, football season is over but we wish to thank Mrs. Wilson's little boy for the excellent help he gave our coach and team and to commend him for his genuine interest in Santa Barbara State college.

Rhythm Trio, Hong’s Orchestra and State Crooner Will Entertain at Event

Program plans for the annual Christmas formal, the highlight of the college social season, to be held tomorrow evening at Brooklyn Hall, from 9 to 12 o’clock, have been completed by Harry Sloan, program manager of the student body social committee.

The three groups, a trio of high school orchestras, composed of Tri-O Club, Lawrence Harp and U’s Minstrels, are scheduled to render several popular numbers. Louis Triguerio, front crooner, will sing a few selections and dance several tap numbers. A big surprise has also been scheduled by Harry Sloan who says, “Just come and you will not be disappointed.”

This Christmas dance, the only formal of the fall semester, is given by the associated student body. Douglas Hoag and his orchestra will furnish the music for the evening. Decorations will be based on the Christmas theme, and a tree, decorated by the A.W.S., will be trimmed with ornaments.

Student-body members will be admitted upon presentation of their student body cards. Douglas Hoag and his orchestra will furnish the music for the evening. Decorations will be based on the Christmas theme, and a tree, decorated by the A.W.S., will be trimmed with ornaments.

The war time limitations of the past are over, and the men attending the dance.

Patrons and patrons of the evenings will enjoy a program of music, comedy and dancing.

Committee in charge of the affair are Harry Sloan, chairman; W. C. Brown, treasurer; and C. S. Brown, secretary.
