Charlie Jones Elected To President's Post; Session Under Way

At the Assembly held on June 22 in the Riviera Auditorium, Charlie Jones was elected to the post of Student Body President for the first Summer Session. Other officers elected for the session are Frank Kirkland, vice-president; Bev Miller, secretary; and Dink Sheehan, Social Chairman.

The Assembly was opened by John Caldwell, Student Body President for 1948-49, who introduced Dr. Van A. Christy, chairman of the Music Department. Dr. Christy led the students in several songs.

Acting Provost J. Harold Williams gave a brief address welcoming the Summer students and giving an outline of the background and function of summer study at Santa Barbara College.

Dean Dillman then made an announcement about the June 24 production of "Home of the Brave." The cast for this Pulitzer prize play which the students were to take down South, included Paul Kliss, James McBride, and Jay Briton.

Information about the social program planned for the Summer Session was given by Don Gill, who also emphasized the money saving aspects of holding a Student Body Card. Activities will include meetings of the Bridge Club, Dances, Garden Tours, Twilight Sings, a beach picnic and swim carnival, the athletic program, and at least one Moonlight Cruise and a fishing trip.

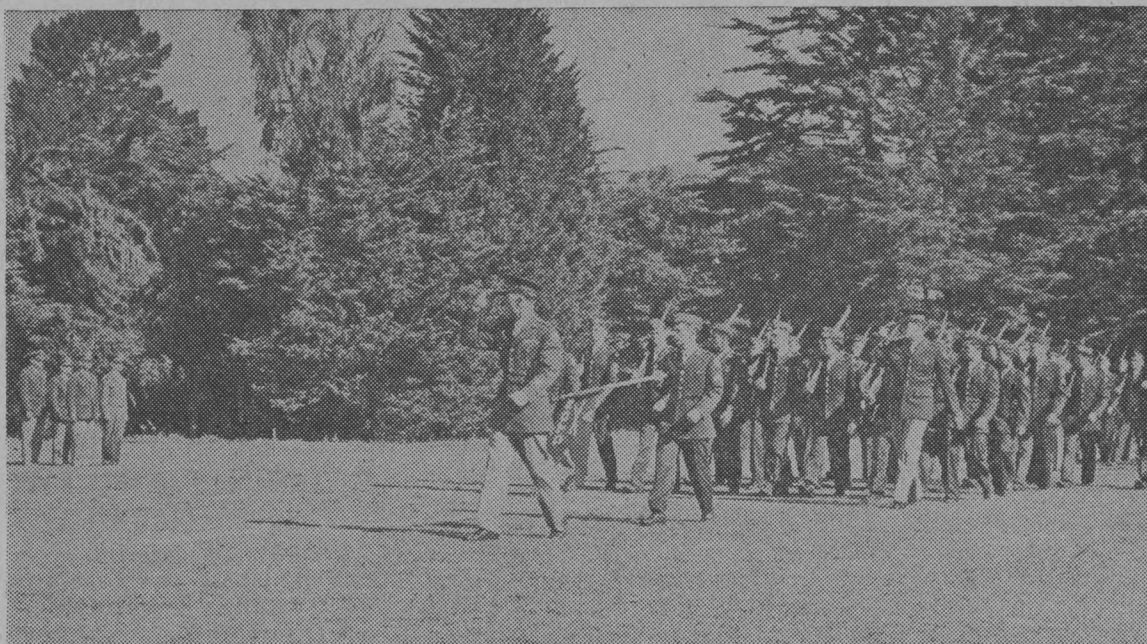

Registration Hits 1200 Mark; Vets Still Out in Front

According to the latest word from the Registrar's office, registration for the first Summer Session has reached a total of 1237 students. Veteran students outnumber non-veterans by a 637 to 600 count. At the first Summer Session last year, a total of 1316 students signed up for classes. Included in the many new students are two visitors from Oslo, Norway.

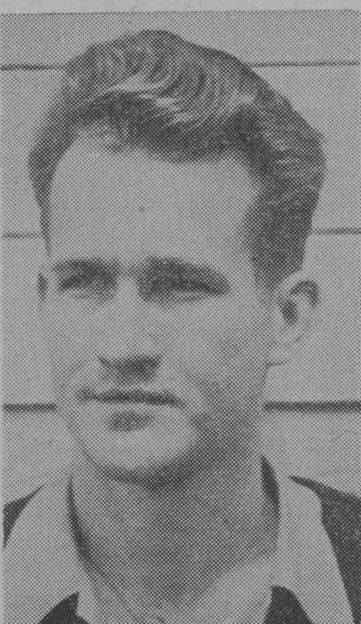

Cure for Cancer Sought by U of C

Searching for a cure of cancer—the disease which kills one out of every six people in the United States—the University of California is now engaged in the most extensive and closely integrated attack on cancer in the history of the state.

Over 90 faculty members, or investigators, all with doctor's degrees, are tackling more than 80 different cancer research projects, according to the University Explorer who reports the story of this cancer battle in a broadcast at 10:15 pm Sunday, June 27, over the Columbia Broadcasting System. All students interested in the cancer problem are urged to listen to this excellent program.

Shown above is the Santa Barbara College ROTC Unit, which has been rated as Excellent, according to word received from James C. Adams, First Lieutenant, Adjutant General's Department.

Engman Qualifies For Olympic Trials

Bringing glory both to Santa Barbara College and to himself, Gaucha track star Earl Engman placed fourth in the Hop-Step-Jump at the recent NCAA Track and Field championships at Minneapolis. By doing this Earl automatically qualifies for the Olympic trials to be held at Northwestern University in two weeks.

Just one day before his outstanding performance, Earl missed qualifying in the Broad Jump by one quarter of an inch. San Diego's Willie Steele won the event the next day.

Engman is staying with relatives in Minneapolis, and it is not known whether he will return to Santa Barbara before the Olympic trials.

Checks Will Be Cashed By Graduate Manager

George Obern announced that the Graduate Manager's office will cash checks for students throughout the summer sessions. A service charge of 10c per check will be charged. The Graduate Manager's office is located near the coke machines in the cafeteria.

Riverside Campus Site for Proposed Liberal Arts School

Funds have been made available for the initial work in planning a new college of liberal arts on the Riverside campus of the University of California, in connection with its Citrus Experiment Station there.

Word has been received by Dean C. B. Hutchinson, dean of the College of Agriculture that $50,000 has been approved by the State Public Works Board for preliminary plans for the new college, and an additional $50,000 for the expansion of the heating plant and utilities distributing system. For development of a similar college at Davis, $50,000 also was released.

One million dollars was provided by the Legislature and Governor Earl Warren for the preliminary work in establishing colleges of liberal arts in connection with the College of Agriculture, both at Davis and at Riverside. This money will be used in campus planning and in the development of buildings to be erected under the program to be adopted. This action of the Public oWrks Board is the first to make part of these funds available.

Dr. Willson At Delaware For Summer

Dr. Lawrence Willson, assistant professor of English, has left for Newark, Delaware, to offer courses in the summer session at the University of Delaware. Dr. Willson, who is completing his first year as a member of the Santa Barbara College staff, is a graduate of Wesleyan University, and holds M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Yale University. He has held teaching positions at the University of Connecticut, Yale University, Colgate University, and the University of Tennessee.

Mark Schorer Member Of Visiting Faculty

Mark Schorer, West Coast editorial representative of the Viking Press, will be a member of the visiting faculty for the first summer session at UCSBC. He will instruct Short Story and English Literature Since 1900. In addition Mr. Schorer will accept manuscripts for reading prior to publication.

Mr. Schorer is nationally known as a novelist, critic and teacher. As editorial representative for the Viking Press he has been instrumental in the publication of several recent best sellers and the discovery of new talent.

Students with book ideas or completed manuscripts may discuss their works with Mr. Schorer. He will be available by appointment at his office or his home. Mr. Schorer will reside during his stay in Santa Barbara at 603 East Valerio Street.

NEW HOME EC HEAD TO JOIN UCSB FACULTY

Dr. Edna Meshke has been appointed head of the Department of Home Economics replacing Miss Charlotte Biester. At the present time Dr. Meshke is serving in the capacity of head of the Department of Home Economics at the University of Maryland. She is a native of Minnesota and a graduate of the University of Minnesota. Dr. Meshke obtained her Master of Arts at Columbia University, and her Ph.D. at the University of Minnesota. She was formerly at Buffalo State Teachers College, and was the Supervisor of Homemaking for the State of New York.

Miss Biester will remain at Santa Barbara College as an instructor in home economics courses.

First Summer Dance Called 'Ice-Breaker'

The Santa Barbara College summer social season opens tonight at 9 p.m. with the presentation of the "Ice-Breaker" Dance at the Recreation Center on Carrillo Street. Admission to the informal affair is 60c per person, or gratis to holders of Associated Students Activity Cards. Tickets or cards may be purchased in the Graduate Manager's office.

Dink Sheehan, newly elected Social Chairman, has planned the dance to be an informal fun fest designed to break down social barriers, and make all new students feel at home here at Santa Barbara. Those in charge of the dance expressed hope that a majority of the students attending the dance would come stag, and in that way have a better opportunity to become acquainted with the other students.

Decorations for the dance are in the capable hands of the Social Committee, and they promise to give the students the best decorations possible. Music will be supplied by popular Herb Fredlund and his Orchestra.

Plans are already underway for the final dance of the summer session at the oRckwood Women's Club. Sheehan and his Social Committee are busy making arrangements for this affair.

Couples Honored By Rec Dept. On Tuesday Nights

The Santa Barbara City Recreation Department is sponsoring a couples night each Tuesday evening at the Recreation Center, 100 E. Carrillo Street.

Entertainment will include bingo, cards, group games and dancing. Prizes will be awarded for bingo. Future plans include moonlight boat rides, fishing trips to the islands and other activities.

The program will begin next Tuesday night at 8:00 pm. It is under the direction of Mr. R. J. MacDonald, recreation council advisor who is attending summer session classes. Anyone interested in taking part in these activities should contact Mr. MacDonald on campus.

Moonlight Cruise Plans Completed

The Graduate Manager's office announced the completion of plans for a Moonlight Cruise up and down the coast on Friday, July 2, from 7:30-11:00 pm. The cruise will be limited to 100 Santa Barbara College students, and hope was expressed for a majority of couples rather than stags. The cost of this cruise will be $1.00 to non-Student Body Card holders, and 75c for those who have their activity cards.

Don Gill of the Graduate Manager's office emphasized the fact that future Moonlight Cruises will be determined by the success of this first one.

Anyone wishing to sign up for the cruise may do so in the Graduate Manager's office.

College History and Bridge Fiends Revealed by Arndt

By Walter Arndt

Santa Barbara, gay, mad city of the roaring twenties, felt the need of an institution of learning on a higher level than the high school so it purchased a plot of ground on the hill from several Indians named Laughing Boy (for four dollars and some glass beads.) The plot had to be thickened considerably before any building would hang on the face of the cliff—but I am getting ahead of my story. Most of the Indians (who are still laughing), retired and went back to the old country, Indiana, except for a few who went to Cleveland.

First Buildings

The first buildings were erected in a quadrangle—a pretty square proposition, so the landscaper planted some eucalyptus. Later a ditch or pool was dug in the middle to catch leaves. Now whenever the ground crew removes the leaves, the pool is filled with water and a number of photos are taken for use in the General Catalogue.

The athletic teams of Santa Barbara College have been dubbed at various times Hillrunners, Roadtoppers, Gaucherenos, and Barbs. There is now a movement on foot to call them Bear Cubs.

Of the secondary sports, bridge is easily the leader. The College has provided the bridge addicts with a playing area twice the size of the women's gym. It is too bad non-members insist on going in there with nasty old trays of food especially during the noon hour. The noise makes them forget how many trumps are still out. Should you be trapped in the Bridge Club with a tray full of roast beef and vegetables, do not disturb the players by wandering aimlessly up and down the aisles. Nod unobtrusively to the nearest table and back out into the hall. You now have two lines of action open. You can sit on the steps leading to the Home Ec Library, or you can muss up your hair, let the shoulders droop slightly and saunter casually into the Faculty tearoom.

Quick Thinking

If you execute this maneuver and find yourself, for example, next to Dr. Girvetz from whom you are taking philosophy, there is still a straw at which you can clutch. You blink like an owl and say, "Busted my specs this morning, Alice. Wasn't that physics test hell?"

The Roadrunner Revue has come to be the high point of the whole year. It is an all-student affair and operates somewhat as follows: the entire student body races for the aud; those who cannot grab a seat run up on the stage; those who cannot force their way up on the stage or find a seat are handed musical instruments and in a few minutes the show is underway.

Supper Club Radio Shows Cater to College Students

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 21—The Chesterfield Supper Club, long a favorite with America's college students, has recently announced that its summer program will feature the Swing and Sway Rhythms of Sammy Kaye and His Orchestra.

Replacing Jo Stafford and Perry Como, who are on vacation, the versatile Kaye band will be heard five nights weekly, Monday through Friday, on an NBC coast-to-coast hook-up.

Regular broadcast features will be the Supper Club version of Kaye's "So You Want To Lead A Band?" each Wednesday, and his "Serenade" program on Tuesdays. A guest star will be welcomed to the Supper Club every Thursday.

College Night

College Night will be a regular Friday night feature in the Supper Club with a salute to the ABC Girl of the Week, a beautiful co-ed chosen each week from a different American college.

The girl will be picked by the beauty jury, consisting of columnist Ed Sullivan, designer Tina Lesser, and John Robert Powers. At the end of the season, each co-ed presented will compete for the national title of "Miss American Co-ed of 1948."

Laura Leslie, Don Cornell, Dick Edwards and the Kayedets, and the Kaye Choir will last Kaye in airing many new production numbers and the latest in popular music.

Godfrey Every Morning

The incomparable Arthur Godfrey will continue his "Arthur Godfrey Time" under Chesterfield sponsorship during the summer.

As before, Godfrey's unpredictable humor and wit will be carried over all CBS stations each morning, Monday through Friday.

Supporting this all-time favorite home-spun philosopher and comedian will be the glamorous Janette Davis, the Too Fat Trio, The Mariners, announcer Tony Mar-

"Her name's Miss Huft—you can study with her—I'll date her."

New Prexy Prefers Summer Sessions to Regular School Year

"Summer sessions are better and more fun than the regular school year." With this enlightening remark, Charlie Jones took office as the Student Body president of the first Summer Session. Well known for his many campus activities before graduating from Santa Barbara College this June, Charlie has many good ideas for the furthering of a successful Summer Session.

A Physical Education major, Charlie begins his teaching career next year at an elementary school at Camarillo. Some of his activities and achievements while at Santa Barbara College include member of Gamma Sigma Pi Fraternity, President of Blue Key, the upper division honorary, a member of the Cal Club, and a three year letterman on Willie Wilton's basketball squad.

At the present time Charlie is living in a trailer with two roommates, and is attending summer school to take elementary procedure to qualify for a teaching credential so that he can take that job next year.

BILL RUSSELL TO RETURN FROM TWO WEEK VACATION

Graduate Manager Bill Russell will return next week from a two week vacation during which he toured through Canada. The trip was started at the completion of the Pacific Coast Conference meeting at Missoula, Montana, which Mr. Russell attended. He will remain at the college for the rest of the summer.

EX-COLLEGE COED WINS WINGS AS AIR STEWARDESS

Miss Helen Sue Knight, daughter of Mrs. D. C. Knight of Ellenville, Mis., has won her wings as an American Airlines stewardess following her graduation last week from American's stewardess school at Ardmore, Oklahoma.

Miss Knight, a member of a 49-girl class which spent two weeks in a shortened and intensified stewardess course, will be based in Fort Worth, Texas, where she will fly on American's Flagships to all stations of the nation. American's stewardess course ordinarily takes four full weeks but Miss Knight's class was shortened to provide stewardesses for American's DC-6 Flagships which are returning to service after extensive modifications.

Miss Knight attended schools in California, Mount Saint Mary's College, Los Angeles, University of California, and Santa Barbara College, majoring in Pre-Med. Her hobbies are dancing, sailing and skiing. She was a Wave from Oct. 1943 to May 1947 stationed at U. S. Naval Communications Annex, Washington, D. C.

Movie-Going Pests Rapped By Fenn College Student

(Part one of two parts)

In Joe Blotts is combined all the obnoxious characteristics of movie-goers. Joe is normally a quiet, easy-going person, but when he goes to the movie—look out! Let us follow Joe to the Bijou and observe him.

Ticket Line

Approaching the theater we are confronted by a long line of people waiting to buy tickets. Joe, never one to waste time sweating out a line, has two standard methods of circumventing this problem. The first is what is known as the old friend technique. Joe walks slowly down the line until he meets a friend, although a casual acquaintance will do, and greets him with the warmth of a long-lost brother. The conversation, under Joe's able guidance, takes such a turn that the friend (unless he wants to be a cad) must offer to purchase Joe's tickets for him. The second method, while less subtle, is equally effective. This method is plan, out-and-out bribery. Joe is careful, however, to pick young children so that his bribe can be as small as possible.

No Seats

After getting the tickets and entering the theater, Joe, finding the lobby filled with people waiting for seats, indulges in a couple of favorite diversions guaranteed to make any theater manager cringe in pain. He either strolls casually over to the "no smoking" sign and nonchalantly lights a cigarette, or he makes himself a nuisance by heckling the usher with his standard line of questions and more or less funny sayings, all of which the long suffering usher has heard at least a thousand times.

Seat Hunting

Let us assume, for the sake of argument, that these tactics do not get Joe thrown out of the theater, and that he is at last conducted to a seat. The usher shows Joe the only pair of seats left in the house. Joe, not taking the usher's word, does some searching on his own. This search is accomplished by much shouting of "are there two in there?" Satisfied, at last, that there aren't "two in there," he takes the two seats the usher had shown him in the first place. As Joe enters the aisle to take the seats, he accomplishes the almost impossible feat of disturbing two rows of people at the same time. This is done by allowing his coat to knock off hats and muss hair-does in the row in front, and at the same time stepping on the feet of the people behind him. No sooner does Joe get comfortably seated, and the rest of the people relax again to enjoy the picture, than Joe decides he wants a bag of popcorn. He therefore proceeds to disturb the same people again.

Building Contractor Head Tells Plans for Low-Cost Housing

"Homes designed to fit the individual needs of the occupants eventually realize a greater economy for their owners than is provided by standardizing homes to the single complete unit plan of a mass production process."

This was the opinion expressed this week by Vern R. Huck, president of the Building Contractors Association of California.

Everyone is conscious of the need for lower cost housing and maximum economy in the construction of homes, Huck said. The danger exists that an immediate saving will overshadow a more valuable long-range economy, he disclosed. Housing on a production line basis similar to the process used in manufacturing automobiles is continually being proposed as a means of reducing building costs, he pointed out. It is true that standardization of products that go into the construction of a home does provide savings, he said. However, he continued, all attempts to turn out complete houses under mass production complete unit methods have resulted in failures because the needs of the individual families are not allowed for in the production process. As a result, the original savings that may have occurred are eliminated by inconveniences and wasted space, he asserted.

SPORTS PROGRAM PLANNED BY SOCIAL GROUP

It was revealed recently that an extensive sports program is being planned for the benefit of the students at Santa Barbara College during the summer sessions. Some of the activities under consideration of the Social Committee, with Dink Sheehan as chairman, are badminton, ping-pong, volleyball, shuffleboard and softball.

Huck disclosed that various members of his association are developing plans for lower cost homes which can be expanded with a minimum expense to fit the needs of the occupants. "It is the objective of our association membership to create homes which achieve both immediate and long-range economies while providing for every need of the individual families," he declared.

New Auto Accident Law Will Protect California Drivers

Beginning next month, California's new auto accident law will go into effect. Under this law passed by the 1947 State Legislature, any driver involved in a car accident, in which any person is killed or injured or damage is over $100, is required to report the accident. The driver is also required to post a sum with the department of motor vehicles to cover damages, unless such driver is covered by insurance or bond.

Report Accident

The accident must be reported either by the driver or by the owner of the car within ten days and the security must be posted within 60 days after filing the report. Failure to do these things will result in the Department suspending the driver's license. In the case of an out-of-stater, California driving privileges will be denied. The amount of security to be posted will be determined by evaluation of the accident reports.

Driving with a suspended license carries a maximum penalty of a year imprisonment or $1000 fine, or both.

Motorists can familiarize themselves with the law through a folder now available at most service stations, police departments, branches of the Department of Motor Vehicles, offices of the Highway Patrol, and insurance agents.

Insurance Dope

The law does not require anyone to carry insurance nor does it force insurance companies to issue policies to everyone who applies. No field force will be maintained by the Department to evaluate accidents on the scene. Evaluation will be based on the accident reports. Vehicles must not be brought to Department of Motor Vehicle offices for determination of damages.

Operators and drivers of vehicles subject to Interstate Commerce Commission or State Public Utilities Commission or those owned by the federal, state, or

Attendance in Class Effected by Balmy S.B. College Weather

Curious about the effect of the balmy weather on attendance of classes, (this was, of course, before the foggy, foggy dew had foamed over our eyes), we set out to interview several known celebrities of the blackboard.

As we approached him, Dr. Perigord put down the May edition of Holiday, which features Paris in the spring. "The sun?" said he, "je ne me suis apprecu de rien." There is a faraway look in his eyes, the glint of the vieux boulevardier breathing in spring and admiring passing "parisiennes." As we leave him, he is wistfully gazing at a view of the Champs Elysees.

Next Victim

Our next victim, Dr. Goodspeed, greets our question with a wry smile. We feel right away that such an obvious problem did not warrant the trouble of formulating it, and an overpowering sense of inadequacy leads us to rephrase our question, mumbling softly as we get muddled up in our syntax. But the "sphinx" decides to grace us with an answer, explaining clearly and without equivocation that there is a direct relationship between classes possessing textbooks, the sun and those not having any texts. eW thank him gratefully as he expounds further on the good attendance record of his 8 o'clock classes and the direct correlation of sunny Friday afternoons and desert-like conditions of the seating arrangement.

Meeting Dr. Aggeler, we decide to submit him to the same questioning. Right away he smiles, and opening up a voluminous file, proceeds to demonstrate to us that he has given the question much thought. He points to an intricate mathematical formula, and meeting our dumfounded look, explains that as far as he is concerned, the grade is indirectly proportional to 1 over the depth of tan, i.e. the deeper the tan, the lower the grade.

Perfect Formula

As we rush to press with this invaluable info, Dr. Aggeler appears, loaded down by a slide rule, a table of log and an electronic computer. "I have it," he exclaims, "the perfect formula giving a just criticism of the grade, and here it is."

So we pass it on to you.

$$\text{Aggeler's Law Grade} = \frac{\text{KC}}{\text{Depth of tan}}$$
 where KC in the coefficient of complexion which has been established empirically and takes into account such factors as color of eyelids, color of hair, texture of skin, etc.

Final Diamond Statistics Released by Baseball Bureau

Individual and team honors were evenly divided around the CCAA, final figures revealed today. The champion College of Pacific Tigers, who dethroned San Diego State, boasted the top hurlers in the circuit, but the rest of the titles were scattered among the other five teams.

Big Stan McWilliams, first-year sensation of the Pacific squad, had the best won-lost record with a perfect 6-0 slate. His earned run average of 1.24 also was tops in the conference. Teammate Lou Bronzan and Fresno Bulldog Bob Lurker were right behind with 3-0 records. Strikeout honors went to Don Garman, flashy southpaw of Cal Poly, who finished fast with a record of four wins against one loss while fanning 42. San Jose's Ralph Romero whiffed 41.

Gaucha Wins

Cy Williams, Santa Barbara's man with the bat, ran away from the pack in the hitting department with a robust .473 for the season. Nearly a hundred points behind, but still up in the higher brackets, was Earle Brucker of San Diego. Brucker, last year's CCAA batting champion, hit .379 and was the home run king with five. He also was runner-up in the runs-batted-in chase, captured by little Art Shahzade, Fresno's left fielder. Shahzade drove in 18. Stolen base title fell to Joe Blake, swift-footed centerfielder from Santa Barbara, with 12.

Batting Crown

In team figures, Cal Poly's Mustangs came from nowhere to win the batting crown with a .278 average. Fresno, buried in last place with a .195 average at the half-way mark, finished in a whirl to place second at .268. San Jose's last-place Spartans emerged the top defensive club with a fielding average of .923, just a shade above the Mustangs.

Proof that COP's secret to success lay in their pitching was borne out in the fact that they finished last in team batting and fourth in team fielding. Cal Poly, on paper, appears to have had the best balanced team. They were first in batting, second in fielding.

"Smoking pleasure means Chesterfield to me every time"

Anne Baxter

STARRING IN "THE WALLS OF JERICHO" A 20th CENTURY-FOX PICTURE

WHY... I smoke Chesterfield

(FROM A SERIES OF STATEMENTS BY PROMINENT TOBACCO FARMERS)

Chesterfield buys the best mild, ripe, sweet tobacco. They consistently pay the best prices to get the kind of tobacco they want.

I've been smoking Chesterfields more than 25 years. It's a good, mild cigarette with more real tobacco taste.
