Meat, by virtue of its vitamins over the blond, has been the mainstay of the world's protein intake for years. Protein is essential for growth, repair, and maintenance of body tissues. It is a component of all body tissues, including muscles, bones, skin, and blood. Protein is also necessary for the production of enzymes, hormones, and other important substances in the body. Without protein, the body would be unable to grow and develop normally. Therefore, a diet that is rich in protein is important for maintaining good health.
