

Tillich Lectures Tomorrow On Religion And Culture

The first address in a series of four lectures by Dr. Paul Tillich eminent theologian and philosopher, will be presented this week with a public discussion on "The Meaning of Religion and Culture."

Dr. Tillich's speech tomorrow night at 8 p.m. in Campbell Hall is open to the public free of charge. He will define such terms as religion and culture as a basis for his following lectures on "Religion, Science and Philosophy," "Religion and the Visual Arts," and "Religion and Politics."

Although each of the four lectures is separate, the visiting Arie and Ida Crown Memorial Lecturer advises attendance at the first one in order to receive full benefit from the following lectures.

Dr. Tillich is on a visiting lectureship from Harvard this semester and is now teaching an honors seminar class of 20 at UCSB, focusing on religious institutions in Western Civilization and comparative cultures. Until recently he was a University Professor at Harvard Divinity School, a title reserved for a small number of distinguished scholars who are free to work on the frontiers of knowledge without any restrictions as to their fields. During the fall semester Dr. Tillich lectured at the University of Chicago.

Born in 1886 in Prussia, he is the son of a Lutheran minister. Having studied in several European universities, Tillich received his Ph.D from the University of Greslau in 1911. Because of his criticisms of the Nazi regime, Dr. Tillich was forced to leave Germany and come to the U.S. at the invitation of the Union Theological Seminary in New York in 1933.

Dr. Tillich has received 13 honorary degrees from colleges and universities throughout the world. Among his numerous awards, the theologian received the "Grosse Verdienstkreuz," the highest service award the city of Frankfurt offers, and a similar honor from the city of Hamburg.

The visiting professor of religious institutions at UCSB gave the 1953 Gifford Lectures on Theology at the University of Edinburgh, an honor extended to only four other Americans up to that time. Tillich also delivered the Constantine E. A. Foerster Lecture at the University of California, Berkeley, in 1960.

Author of nearly 30 books on the relation of religion to art, sociology and philosophy, Dr. Tillich's life work has been a three-volume study of "Systematic Theology." His new book, "Christianity and the Encounter of World Religions," was published in January.

Dr. Tillich has focused his main interest in writing on the boundary line between theology and philosophy in the general area of religion and culture. In recent years, one of his deepest interests has been the philosophical movement of existentialism, as well as religion and the visual arts.

In his introductory lecture at UCSB on "Religion and Culture," Dr. Tillich, within the broad definition of religion as "a state of being grasped by an ultimate concern," will discuss its influence on art, music, drama, and its appearance in philosophy and all the sciences. He will also illustrate this "transcendence of self" as it appears in political thought, ranging from communism to extreme fanaticism and feudalism.

A Government Future?

UCSB Hosts Annual Government Career Day

The second annual Federal Careers Day, presented by government officials and university placement personnel, is underway today on the lawn between the library and the placement office.

Approximately 20 federal representatives will be on hand from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. to answer student questions on careers in government. Representatives will also interview students and take orders for related literature.

Applications for the Federal Service Entrance Exam are available through the representatives. Students applying now are eligible for the exam to be given in Santa Barbara March 16.

Primarily directed at upper division students and graduates, the event also provides information on summer jobs available to all students and faculty members. Most areas of government careers offer student trainee jobs.

Co-chairing the program along with Glenn Franklin and Fred Baker, Mrs. Betty Koral of the university placement office supports the Federal Careers Day because "there are so many jobs available regardless of major, and with equal opportunity and advancement for women as well as men."

Some 1962 graduates who now occupy government positions are Miss Merriam French, a Spanish major who is with the Internal Revenue Department in Los Angeles; Claude O. Archer, a math major employed by the Pacific Missile Range in Point Magu; and Jerry Edge, a chemistry student who works for the Los Angeles Food and Drug Administration.

Others include Donald Jacques, who majored in sociology and now works in Modesto's Social Security Department; George Luna, a math student now employed by the Naval Ordnance Lab in Corona; and Jack Webb, an anthropology major now with the Naval Ordnance Test Station Personnel at China Lake.

Gallic Presentation On Stage Tonight; Tragedy, Comedy Subject Of Two Plays

Le Treteau de Paris presentation of two one-act plays goes on the Campbell Hall stage tonight at 8:30.

Here under the auspices of the French Embassy, the plays, "Orphee" and "L'Apollon de Bellac," will be performed in French. Music and sound effects also will remain as they were in the French production.

Tickets, priced at 75 cents for students and $1.50 for the general public, are on sale at the Campbell Hall box office from 1 to 4 p.m., and will be available at the door.

According to producer Jean de Rigault, American audiences have little difficulty understanding French theatre (whether students of the language or merely interested in the language and the country).

"We are sure that not over half of them understand the words, but the meaning is strong enough to reach them," de Rigault said.

Jean Cocteau's "Orphee," a one act tragedy featuring Colette Teissedre and Bernard Verley, is the story of a poet.

Verley has won leading roles in the French theatre, television and movies. Mme. Teissedre has starred in classical and modern roles, winning plaudits for both French movie and television performances.

Nicole Desurmont, starring as Agnes in Jean Giraudoux' "L'Apollon de Bellac," appeared before American and European audiences in Moliere's "L'Ecole des Femmes."

The Giraudoux role presents her in a comic situation as a young woman advised to win men by telling them they are handsome.

Directed by Rene Clermont and Jean Leuvrais, the local performance marks the troupe's West Coast premiere of the French Theatre on the American Campus program and the fifth college and university series organized by de Rigault.

The troupe opened its 1963 three-month tour last month in Washington, D.C. with a schedule calling for 70 performances in a minimum of 50 cities.

In 1958 the troupe presented "Britannicus," and followed with productions of "Le Misanthrope," "L'Ecole des Femmes," "Huis-Close" and "La Cantatrice Chauve."

Dresses for "L'Apollon de Bellac" were designed by Pierre Cardin. Gowns for "Orphee" were created by Balenciaga, marking the grand couturier's debut in theatre design.

SPEAKING OUT -

Does AS Office-Holder Benefit?

by Vic Cox

Why should anyone want to hold an elective office in student government?

Except for a small monetary remuneration, paid to the president and vice-president, no other officers receive pay.

The prestige value of being an

AS office-holder is at best a fluctuating factor depending almost wholly on the current Legislative Council's image. The Council's collective achievements and goofs substantially compose the foundation of the type of image the public perceives. Another equally important and interrelated factor in public image is the personal example set by individual council members.

If the elected representatives sitting on Leg. Council are governed more by a desire for gratifying egotistical drives than a responsibility to their immediate constituents and the university in total, then this cannot help but lower the student community's opinion of its legislators and ultimately of the self-rule process itself.

Besides the dubious reward of external prestige in being a voting member of Council, there is the equally intangible element which each representative must achieve for himself - personal satisfaction of a job well done. This is the area where the line between the pursuit of general welfare and the pursuit of personal ambition is thin indeed. Suffice to state that there is

Job Seekers Cause Problem

An influx of students seeking part-time work has posed quite a job-finding problem for the campus placement office.

The Placement Office is having difficulty finding enough local jobs for students with a variety of skills and experience, according to Miss Martha Aldridge, interviewer for part-time placement.

During the fall semester, the office found jobs for 700 students. Students are looking for all kinds of chores.

nothing healthier and more invigorating than to embark upon a joint endeavor for a common goal of positive value with others equally enthusiastic, self-sacrificing, and hard working.

In short, the benefits that can accrue to the AS UCSB office-holder depend on the individual himself and the manner in which Legislative Council operates as a responsible unit.

External approval and understanding will not always be forthcoming, especially when Legislative Council exercises its role as guider of the Associated Student destiny. That is when personal fortitude and clearness of purpose will gird council members to do what they believe is right.

This then is the challenge of holding an elective office in the Associated Students.

Tryouts Continued

Casting tryouts for Shakespeare's "As You Like It" continue today in the Little Theatre from 3 to 5 p.m.

All students are eligible for the 16 male and five female parts open, Dr. Stanley Glenn of the Speech and Drama Department said.

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "I Was a Teen-age Dwarf," "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis," etc.)

THE CURSE OF THE CAMPUS: NO. 1

Hate me if you will, but I must speak. We college types are far too complacent. Sure, we've got plenty to be proud of. We've got atom smashers, we've got graduate schools, we've got new peaks in scholarship, new highs in academic honors. And yet, in the midst of these triumphs, we have failed dismally to make any progress in solving the oldest and most horrendous of all campus problems: we've still got roommates.

To be sure, all roommates are not bad. There is the well-documented case of Hilquit Glebe, a student at the Manhattan College of Agriculture, majoring in curds and whey, who admitted publicly that he actually liked his roommate—an odd admission when you consider that this roommate, Mervis Trunz by name, was frankly not too winsome a fellow. He practiced his tympani in his room, he kept an alligator, and he collected airplane tires.

But, on the other hand, Mervis bought two packs of Marlboro Cigarettes every day and gave one of them to Hilquit and—I ask you—who can stay mad at a man who gives you Marlboro Cigarettes? Who, upon tasting that flavorful blend of Marlboro tobaccos, upon drawing through that pure white Marlboro filter, upon exulting in this best of all possible cigarettes, Marlboro—who, I say, can harden his heart against his neighbor? Certainly not Hilquit. Certainly not I. Certainly not you, as you will find when you scurry to your nearest tobacconist and buy a supply. Marlbors come in soft pack or Flip-Top Box. Tobacconists come in small, medium, and large.

Today Molly is paying off her debt...

But I digress. Roommates, I say, are still with us and I fear they always will be, so we better learn how to get along with them. It can be done, you know. Take, for instance, the classic case of Dolly Pitcher and Molly Madison.

Dolly and Molly, roommates at a prominent Midwestern girls' school (Vassar) had a problem that seemed insoluble. Dolly could only study late at night, and Molly could not stay awake past nine o'clock. If Dolly kept the lights on, the room was too bright for Molly to sleep. If Molly turned the lights off, the room was too dark for Dolly to study. What to do?

Well sir, those two intelligent American kids found an answer. They got a miner's cap for Dolly! Thus, she had enough light to study by, and still the room was dark enough for Molly to sleep.

It must be admitted, however, that this solution, ingenious as it was, had some unexpected sequelae. Dolly got so enchanted with her miner's cap that she switched her major from 18th Century poetry to mining and metallurgy. Shortly after graduation she had what appeared to be a great stroke of luck: while out prospecting, she discovered what is without question the world's largest feldspar mine. This might have made Dolly very rich except that nobody, alas, has yet discovered a use for feldspar. Today Dolly, a broken woman, squeezes out a meagre living making echoes for tourists in Mammoth Cave.

Nor has Molly fared conspicuously better. Once Dolly got the miner's hat, Molly was able to catch up on her long-lost sleep. She woke after eight days, refreshed and vigorous—more vigorous, alas, than she realized. It was the afternoon of the annual Dean's tea. Molly stood in line with her classmates, waiting to shake the Dean's hand. At last her turn came, and Molly, full of strength and health, gave the Dean a firm handshake—so firm, indeed, that all five of the Dean's knuckles were permanently fused.

The Dean sued for a million dollars, and, of course, won. Today Molly, a broken woman, is paying off her debt by walking the Dean's cat every afternoon for ten cents an hour.

We, the makers of Marlboro and the sponsors of this column, will not attempt to expertize about roommates. But we will tell you about a great pocket or purse mate—Marlboro Cigarettes—fine tobacco, fine filter, fine company always.

Judge Awards Sanity Hearing

Larry Jay Kathary, 23, of Morro Bay, suspected of accosting several girls on the UCSB campus, underwent a psychiatric hearing Monday morning.

He had been held in the Santa Barbara County jail pending the hearing.

Results of the hearing, conducted by the Santa Barbara County Psychiatrist, will be released this week.

Kathary had pleaded guilty Monday, Feb. 4, in Santa Barbara Municipal Court to "grabbing" a UCSB girl.

Graduate Recitals Scheduled For Sun.

The first graduate recital of the music department will feature Gary Echolds, bassoonist, and Jane Schuh, pianist, in a program of contemporary sonatas, Sunday at 8:30 p.m. in the music building Choral Room.

Echols, principal bassoonist with the Santa Barbara Symphony, is a graduate student. He presented an undergraduate recital here last year.

Miss Schuh, a graduate of Oberlin School of Music, is now teaching piano and doing graduate work at UCSB.

AMS To Disband

Associated Men Students will disband due to lack of interest in the organization.

All funds from the AMS treasury will be donated to Camp Conestoga. Members holding cards for the current year may have their membership fee returned by presenting this card at the Graduate Manager's Office February 14-24.

Pep Group Meets

The Gaucho Rally Committee opens the new semester with a meeting this afternoon at 4 in the Student Union patio. Plans for future basketball games will be discussed.

New members are welcome and should attend the meeting to learn about the work of the committee. Pictures for the yearbook will be retaken.

Both mentors strongly urge all who are interested to come out and compete for their respective classes in the meet, which has seen some fine records come out of competition.

Gauchos Host Two Big Foes

Coming off a costly 59-52 CCAA defeat at the hands of Fresno State, UCSB's basketballers prep for their upcoming encounters with Chapman College and LA State this Friday and Saturday.

Taking the floor against the Bulldogs, the Gauchos owned a 5-1 CCAA mark and were tied with San Diego State for the league lead. But the cold Gauchos, scoring only four points in the final eight minutes, handed the game to the Bulldogs on a silver platter.

Chapman College, currently owning a 13-4 record and coming off an impressive 74-70 win over Cal Western, will furnish the opposition for the Blue and Gold this Friday night.

Fo lowing the Chapman fracas, Bill Sharman's Diablos invade UCSB for an important league game. Currently in third place and having defeated the Gauchos 71-68 earlier in the season, State has recently been jolted by the ineligibility of its top center, Dick Barton.

Barton, who was recently voted the "CCAA Player of the Week," averaging 17.5 points a game, leaves a large gap in the middle of the Diablo lineup. 6-1 Jim Beck is now called upon to fill the vacancy.

This is a "must" game for the Gauchos

Shooters Win

Cal Poly (SLO) learned the hard way Saturday that the wages of tangling with the UCSB rifle team is a loss, and Sgt. C. W. Wilson's men turned the trick by a 1387x1500 - 1347x1500 count.

Led by Craig Medlen's 289x300 score, the Gauchos emerged victorious, with strong support lent by Randy Joe Young (280x300), Him Hartmeyer (276x300), Bill Wilson (272x300), and Ken Weeks (270x300).

This weekend, the Gaucho shooters travel to Berkeley to compete in the third annual "Intercollegiate shoulder to shoulder match," sponsored by the National Rifleman's Association.
