WOMEN PLAN PLAY DAY

MANY ARE EXPECTING TO MAKE OUTING CLUB'S ANNUAL MOONLIGHT HIKE

What is predicted to be the biggest moonlight hike in the history of the college take place this Saturday night, beginning an hour after midnight and ending the following morning. It is held under the auspices of the Outing Club.

The hikers will meet at the College and go in machines to the tunnel where the first stage of the overland excursion ends as they abandon the machines, and take to their feet for the rest of the trip. The members will hike to the peak remaining until sunrise. Immediately afterwards they will continue the tramp to Flores Flats and cook breakfast. The Outing Club will furnish hot chocolate and coffee.

Everyone should take enough to eat and equipment with which to eat it, sufficient coats and wraps to protect you from the intense cold, a canteen and flashlight are advisable.

The president has stated that cars to take the group to the tunnel will be appreciated. Also she has requested that no individual parties be planned, as it is desirable that all hikers remain together.

Colonial Costumes Featured at Dance

The social ball of the year was held last Saturday night at the Samarkand, and a large percentage of the college attended, tho all were not in costumes.

A grand march was held during the evening, led by Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, and prizes were given to eight women who wore the prettiest costumes. Those receiving prizes were: Helen Nauman, Rosamond Young, Mrs. George Brown, Isabel Lyons, Estelle Batty, Mrs. Helen Barnett, Dean Pyle, and Laura France. Honorable mention was given to Mrs. Gene Harris, Miss Ebbets, Mrs. Peters, and Dora Woods. The judges were Mr. and Mrs. Pierce, Miss Ebbets, and Mr. and Mrs. Davis.

Music for the dance was furnished by Ray Eldred's Samarkand Orchestra.

DON'T FORGET

Saturday—A. W. S. High Tea, 3:30 to 6:30.

Sunday—Moonlight Hike, 1 A. M.

Tuesday—Student Body Assembly.

Thursday—Department Meetings.

Saturday—W. A. A. Play Day.

SOPHOMORES IN ANNUAL CLASS DAY PROGRAM

Yesterday the sophomores reigned supreme on the campus! With decorations and class colors all over the campus, the second-year class observed the annual sophomore day. Daggers and guns were seen in great numbers throughout the halls and corridors, warning students on the campus to be sure and attend the program given in the assembly during the fourth hour.

The theme of the tragedy portrayed by the sophomores was that of the "Shooting of Dan McGrew," taken from the popular ballad of Robert W. Service. On the parting of the front curtains, scene of the Yukon. Filling the room were the usual "dancing-girls" and gamblers, and of course, a bar, where certain beverages of unknown content and origin were dispensed.

Adding to the general scene of merry-making were a number of specialties, including a bit of soft-shoe dancing by Red Gillum, a little song and dance act by Louise Lowry, and an Apache dance by Elizabeth Peacock and Margaret Jigerian. There was an attempt made by another member of the class to recite another poem written by Service, called "The Parson's Son," but evidently the group in the Malmute Saloon did not appreciate his efforts, for he was hooted down.

With the entrance of the miner from the creeks, "in a buckskin shirt, that was glazed with dirt," the action of the play followed literally the lines of the play to the close.

Whether or not this program equaled that put on by the freshman class a number of weeks ago will be left up to the opinion of the students; but from the number of comments heard after the performance, the sophomore class evidently has a chance to tie the score.—W. J.

TRANSPORTATION WANTED

All women who have cars that can be used Play Day, March 9, for transportation to and from Athletic field, please give their names to Edith Maxwell, chairman of transportation, M. Webster, or leave it at the gym with Miss Van Fossen or Miss Weage.

CELEBRATION OF FOUNDER'S DAY MARCH 16

The Santa Barbara State College faculty and student body will have as guests hundreds of state educators, college alumni, and townspeople on Saturday, March 16, when Founder's Day will be celebrated with an extensive program.

This is the twentieth anniversary of the founding of the college and many faculty members, alumni, and people who remember the college in its infancy will tell of the days when the college was a State Normal School for teachers.

Mrs. Morse Honored

Ednah Rich Morse, founder and first president, will be honored with the unveiling of her portrait in the auditorium. Mrs. Morse is living in New York and can not be present for the ceremony. The program will start at 2:30 o'clock faculty procesional. Among the early faculty members who will take part are Mrs. Jane C. Miller, registrar and alumni secretary, who has served since 1911; Mrs. Isabel Morton Fish who has been on the faculty intermittently since 1911; Miss Winifred M. Frye who became a member of the faculty in 1912; Miss Charlotte Ebbets who joined in 1913; and Miss Hazel Severy who came to the college in 1914.

Speakers Chosen

Among the speakers for the occasion are Charles A. Edwards, former president of the board of trustees of the State Normal School, Miss Ebbets, director of (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

GIRLS FROM NINE HIGH SCHOOLS ARE INVITED; BIG CROWD EXPECTED

COLLEGE WOMEN ARE HOSTESSES AT ANNUAL TEA

Members of the A. W. S. under the leadership of Dorothy Kimes, social chairman are hostesses at the Annual Hi-Tea given in honor of the social service workers of the city, members of the college faculty, and mothers of the students. This tea is to be held at the Girls Scouts' Clubhouse tomorrow afternoon, from 3:30 to 6:30. The tea is one of the most important functions of the year and has been given every year for the last six years.

Those in the receiving line are members of the A. W. S. executive board, Rosamond Martin, Dorothy Kimes, Elizabeth Neblett, Emily Van Wagner, Helen Nauman, Ann Hegeman, Clara Parrett and Dean Pyle.

A program has been arranged by the A. W. S. under the supervision of Rosamond Martin, entertainment chairman. The program will consist of vocal and piano selections. Betty Ferris, Louise Lowry, Angelena Aliverti and Mrs. Helen Barnett will render vocal solos; Anita Cochran Shorkley and Laura Lou Houghton will sing a duet; and the Women's Glee Club will give several numbers.

Dorothy Curtis is arranging to have members of the A. W. S. take certain faculty women as their guests.

Presiding at the tea tables are, Miss Ebbets, Mrs. Croswell, Miss Severy, Miss Frye, Mrs. Phelps and Mrs. Jacobs.

All committees are working hard to make this as successful as last year, and it is hoped that these students will have the support of every woman in this college. Committee chairmen are as follows: Invitations, Emily Van Wagner; Faculty Guests, Dorothy Curtis; Decorations, Dorothy Kimes; Program, Rosamond Martin; Corsages, Lua Thurmond; Refreshments, Elizabeth Neblett; Serving, Katherine King; Cleanup, Jeanette Thompson; Publicity, Ann Hegeman.

The Women's Athletic Association with the assistance of the A. W. S., is entertaining the senior girls of the neighboring high schools at the annual W. A. A. Play Day to be held on the college campus, Saturday, March 9th.

Expectations for this year's event exceed even those of last year, as more schools will be represented and a much larger number of girls will attend. The committees in charge are trying several new features so that the College Play Day will be entirely different from any that the girls have heretofore attended.

The W. A. A. with the advice of Miss Weage and Miss Van Fossen, sponsors, are taking full charge, making and carrying out all plans, refereeing and supervising the games and planning and serving the luncheon. The A. W. S. is cooperating by helping with lunches, transportation and reception.

Answers to the invitations sent by Arleen Klett, chairman of this committee, have been received from nine high schools. Those accepting the invitation are Santa Barbara, Santa Maria, Lompoc, Ventura, Oxnard, Moorpark, Fillmore, Santa Paula and the Santa Barbara Girls School.

The order of events for the day have been scheduled:
Registration—9:00-10:00 A. M.
General Assembly—10:00-1:30.
Games—10:30-12:30.
Lunch—12:30-1:00.
Program—1:00-2:00.
Free Period—2:00-3:00.
Closing—3:00-3:30.

One of the main features of the Play Day this year is the free period which takes place from 2:00 to 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon. During this time there will be a variety of events offered. This will include Archery, Tennis, Horse-shoes, Clogging, decathlon events (Continued on Page 3, Col. 4)

CAMPUS WELFARE

THE Campus Welfare Committee is due the thanks of the student body for its efforts in establishing traffic regulations on the campus. However, the establishment of regulations, and the placing of signs, do not end the problems; the regulations must be obeyed. In this regard the students should appreciate the work of the Welfare Committee by cooperating in every way.

W. A. A. HISTORY

THE first women's athletic organization to exist on the campus was the English "S" Society composed of those women who had won a letter on the basis of a point system in force at that time.

Two years later, in the fall of 1925, work was started on the revision of the point system and on a constitution for another athletic organization. March 10, 1925, the new constitution was accepted by the English "S" society who with others eligible, became charter members of the present Women's Athletic Association. A week later the first Executive Board took office.

In May, 1927, the second annual banquet was held at which time the first sweater to be won was presented.

On March 10, 1928, the association's second birthday was celebrated by initiation of the new Women's Athletic Field and the Play Day which met with great success.

The third annual banquet was held in May, 1928, at this time six sweaters were presented.

Now we are passing another milestone, since on Saturday, March 9th we are not only celebrating another birthday but also the second annual Play Day, and to which we heartily welcome, as our guests, in another week, the Senior girls of the neighboring high schools.

Winifred Weage, P.E. Instructor

PLAY-DAY AN ADVERTISEMENT

LAST year the play-day put on by the Women's Athletic Association proved a success. Now they are making plans for another such day. This is a tremendous thing for them to do, and it means a great deal to the whole college in advertising our campus. To bring the senior girls of twelve high schools together for one day, to have them meet the college women and learn something of college ways, is a great accomplishment for the W. A. A.

Next September these girls, graduated from high school, will be considering in what institution they wish to continue their studies. In all probability they will choose Santa Barbara State. They already know something of the college and the kind of people they will meet there. Why shouldn't they come here?

The college is gaining a reputation everywhere. The women on the campus can add to this reputation, and bring more students here next year, if they support the play-day next Saturday. Don't think that since you are not a W. A. A. member it is not necessary for you to help entertain. The W. A. A. are doing all they can do to make play-day a successful event, but the cooperation of every woman student is needed to make one day go over as it should. Be there and ready to help in some way.

AWARD NIGHT IS WELL ATTENDED

Over five hundred townspeople and college students were present last Friday evening to inaugurate Award Night as a regular event into the college calendar. The feature of the evening's program was the awarding of twenty letters to the football men.

Coach "Fox" Stanton of the California Institute of Technology, who was the principal speaker of the evening, was warmly received by the audience. Mr. Stanton outlined the history of the Southern Conference, of which Santa Barbara State College is to become a member, and told of its early struggles to become a strong organization.

He spoke of the dangers of the practice of recruiting high school stars as now carried on by many of the larger colleges and universities. Coach Stanton declared that if this practice were not soon discontinued athletics would reach a state of corruption where it would be necessary to discontinue them.

Dr. Hardy of Occidental College made a brief address concerning the entrance of the local institution into the Southern Conference. President Phelps, Dr. Jacobs, Coaches Davis and Gerrish, and

Rosamond: "What woke you up?"

Dorsey: "The heat!"

Mickey—"It took me about six weeks of hard work to learn to play hockey."

Klett—"And what have you for your pains?"

Mickey—"Liniment."

Miss Weage says she uses balloon tires now—it's easier on the pedestrians.

Peacock—"What are those big things they used in the war?"

Miss Van—"Tanks."

Peacock—"You're welcome."

Per—"She was born with a silver spoon in her mouth."

Haps—"Rather looks as if it had been a ladle."

Marlyn—"I have a cold in my head."

Lou—"Well, that's something."

Helen N.—"I've been trying to think of a word for two weeks."

Dora—"How about fortnight?"

Gladys—"Do you want chloroform?"

Carmie—"Yeah—who teaches it?"

Edith (listening to dry speaker from back stage)—"Isn't he done yet?"

Dot—"No, he's half baked!"

The party will be gin at 10:00 o'clock.

Did you hear about Miss Van, giving her nails and examination and cutting her classes?

Auto Salesman—"Our cars not good? Why we're selling them by the dozens."

Teddy N.—"I'm not surprised—how much are they a dozen?"

"Just one more glass and we'll all go home"—said the dish washer as he laid down the soap.

Gerrish—"What did you operate on the man for?"

Surgeon—"Two hundred and fifty dollars."

Gerrish—"Yes, but what did the man have?"

Surgeon—"Two hundred and fifty dollars!"

Gates—"Professional."

Gibby—"No, waffle!"

He who laughs last probably had it explained to him.

Virgil Gillum spoke briefly. Other numbers on the program included selections from Wes Dickinson's orchestra, a skit under the direction of Alvetta Van Tuyle, several selections from the men's glee club, and two vocal solos by Louise Lowry.

FORMER STUDENT TELLS OF HIKE

by Franklin Anderson

Asked to write my impressions and reminiscences of the Moonlight Hike, I would reply that my recollection would place it as a nightmare during which one ascends a mountain peak, pauses at the summit alternately to burn one's feet and freeze one's back, and descends thinking only of sleep and rest that were lost.

This description is given not to discourage the fond proponents of that annual event but to warn the unsuspecting and ignorant enthusiasts.

Seriously, I believe that the Moonlight Hike was made for laborers and athletes, not us college students. It runs contrary to the sociological principles and physical make-up of the average college student.

I say average, but I do not include those brazen athletes of the campus to whom the ascension of La Cumbre is no more than a stroll up Pedregosa street is to the normal State collegian.

Yet there are a few advantages, strange to say, in joining that group of hyper-thyroids which annually trots to La Cumbre. One of them is that you will appreciate more than ever the insignificance of climbing college hill each morning. Of course, those that own Fords would not be benefited by this realization, since they do not walk up the hill as often as those without.

Another benefit from the yearly crawl is that you can see what the tops of clouds look like. Those that have been up in an airplane, therefore, would not be interested in the hike.

Still a third advantage lies in the great fatigue that settles in one's veins afterward, which demonstrates clearly in what position we would find ourselves in the event of another war.

Anticipation of the walk is greater and more pleasurable than realization, and could therefore be listed as another advantage. Also, a deeper appreciation of the fireside and bed comes in as a distinct benefit accruing from the Spring nightmare.

If I were to undertake another Moonlight Hike, I would take up training rules and methods a month in advance as preparatory measures. Also, I would have commodious transportation facilities at the foot of the hill and a bathtub full of hot water at home awaiting me at the hike's conclusion.

To those sponsoring the tramp, I would suggest that it either be limited to persons having passed rigid physical examinations, such as athletes, or be reduced in length to a nice little walk to Rattlesnake canyon.

Those desirous of securing more and detailed information on mountain climbing should address their queries to Paul of the Mt. Whitney family, inter-mountain expert on Alpine travel, care of the Daily News.

ART SORORITY HONOR GUESTS AT U. C. L. A.

Members of the Xi chapter of Delta Phi Delta in Santa Barbara were guests of honor last Saturday at the formal installation of a new chapter at U. C. L. A. This chapter, which is the sixteenth to be founded in the United States, is the second to be installed on the coast, that at Santa Barbara being the first.

Mrs. R. D. Stewart, national president, assisted by Frances Jones, alumni member of the Santa Barbara chapter, officiated at the installation of the new chapter. Fourteen women and three men became members of the Los Angeles group at this ceremony which was held Saturday afternoon in the Theta house on Sorority Row.

In the evening the formal installation banquet was held at the Chateau Cafe in Los Angeles. Hansena Fredrickson, president of the newly installed chapter, was toastmistress for the occasion. Among the speakers, Santa Barbara was represented by Mrs. Crowell, sponsor for the local chapter, and Elizabeth Foster, Clara Parret, Clara Fraga, Ida Vizzolini, Maud Robinson, Maurine Crouthers, Emily Wood, Mrs. Ruth Doolittle, Frances Jones, who is now teaching in San Diego, and Edris Nevins, who is also teaching.

Court Gives Way to Ball Diamond, Track

Because most of the basketball men are out for either baseball or track, Coach Hal Davis decided to call off the varsity game Friday night with Cal. Christian college, thus cutting short by one game the 1929 basketball season.

The season just past, while it was unsuccessful in the number of games won, brought out several bright prospects for next season, and if all the men return next season that have signified their intention of doing so, Coach Davis expects to put a first class quintet on the floor for competition in the Southern Conference.

Girls to Have Color Teams for Play Day

Registration will be held in the main hall of the new administration building where it was held last year. The new and visiting girls are to sign their names and school on prepared blanks and each girl will receive a green pennant with a bow of ribbon which will represent her color team. Local girls and officials as well as visiting instructors and any other official or unofficial visitors are requested also to register at this table. The purpose of this is to get some exact estimate as to how many people are present and participating.

Marlyn Jameson, head of the games committee, is having bands with numbers on for the girls so that they will be organized in color teams and by numbers.

NOTICE

The Alpha Theta Chi House has been given up and the house leased by Mrs. Gabbert who will conduct it as a college residence for the remainder of the semester.

At the Theatre

By M. C.

What do you want for your money this week—a murder case, an Indian problem or plain entertainment and amusement? The first may be obtained at the Granada, the second at the California and the last at the Rose or Mission. The Mission, by the way, is certainly improved after its rejuvenation.

The Canary Murder Case

This is the story of a murder that baffled the police for years before Philo Vance, the creation of S. S. Van Dine, came to their aid. The Canary is a chorus girl, found murdered one morning in such a strange manner that the whole country was aroused.

The manner in which the murderer is detected does credit to Sherlock Holmes, although even more subtle than that honorable gentleman. William Powell as the suave, crafty detective who weaves a web that entangles the clever killer is particularly good. His is the outstanding performance of the production. The fact that this role is off his usual beat is another factor that makes his part interesting. He played two other roles, however, that were somewhat similar, Philip Voos in "Interference," and the pal of Clive Brook in "Forgotten Faces."

There is a small love theme running through the story, lightening the tenseness of the other, that of solving the murder mystery. The two who carry the love interest are James Hall and Jean Arthur. Louise Brooks, the girl with the straight bob and cynical mouth, is The Canary.

"Redskin"

No matter what they say about the success of Richard Dix's role in this picture, I shall always prefer him as a young man of the aristocracy who errs amusingly and has to do complicated things in order to win the girl and make his Dad or uncle admit what they always believed—that he was a fine young man no matter what he did or they said.

"Redskin" tells of the enmity aroused by his going to a white man's school and his love for a maiden of another tribe. The most thrilling sequence is Dix's high dive from the top of a cliff into the water below. The movies have more tricks in their bag than Aladdin, but trick or not that high jump certainly took the breath.

Another thing, I wish Richard Dix would be Richard Dix and not Douglas Fairbanks. Mr. Fairbanks is the only one who is able to spring lightly around and do innumerable feats physically and do it convincingly. Aside from all these objections to Richard Dix, this is the best picture of its kind ever put out. If you recall the article in last week's Eagle you will know why it is the best—there is no white girl-redman romance that either flops or ends covered with unreality.

"Scarlet Seas"

Aside from the fact that I never saw a scarlet sea in my many years, I want to see this picture in which Richard Barthelmess stars with Betty Compson as his leading lady.

Trumbull Is Elected to Pilot Baseballers

At the election held Monday night, Art Trumbull was unanimously elected to captain the varsity baseball nine during the coming season.

The first game of the season will be at Fullerton on March 9. The Fullerton team is reputed to have a strong squad and the Road-runners are apt to have a hard struggle on their hands. The squad is working every night and hope to have a fairly strong team by that date.

CHAMPIONSHIP TEAM ASSURED WITH GLEDHILL

Prospects for Santa Barbara State college winning at least one athletic championship in the California Coast Conference before graduating into the Southern Conference soared sky high early this week with the announcement that Keith Gledhill, second ranking junior tennis ace in the United States had smoothed over his difficulties with Stanford University and would play for the Olive and White this season.

With Gledhill on the court, Santa Barbara stands an excellent chance of winning the conference tournament at Stanford University late this spring. Besides Gledhill, there are Bobby Koke, considered by many experts in Southern California, as one of the most promising of the younger set of racquet wielders; Eddie Davens, second ranking player at the Santa Barbara High school last year, and a semi-finalist at the Ojai tournament in 1928; Howard Lane, former Santa Barbara High school netman, and a promising intercollegiate prospect, as well as Kenton Noble, Stewart Thompson, both of last year's high school team, and Walt Barnett, a ranking San Diego county interscholastic player last season.

While no definite matches have been arranged as yet, Coach Davis is trying to line up dual matches with Stanford University, California, and perhaps U. C. L. A., all of which are noted for their tennis teams. Besides these tentative matches, Davis is going to take a four-man team to Stanford University in May for the conference tennis tournament.

INJURED LEG RUINS RELAY TEAM AT L. A.

Ezaki, Hickman, Tinkle and Winters, making up the four-man relay team that journeyed to Los Angeles last Saturday, succeeded in hanging on to the hard luck jinx that has been following Santa Barbara lately.

Tinkle, who was running third man on the team and who was holding down second place in the large field of entries in the relay even, pulled a tendon in his leg after running about 100 yards. He was unable to maintain his speed and the other contestants were able to pass him before he passed the baton to Winters who was fourth man.

The injury may result in Tinkle's retiring from practice for a few weeks.

The members of the team entered the open competition of the century but were unable to place among the field of twenty-five entrants.

Scoreboard to Keep Teams' Total Points

The system of handling points will be the same as was used last year with a few minor changes. There will be a main score sheet posted in a central place on which will be listed the various color teams and the games they will play. As the games are played the scores will be posted on this sheet so that team standings may be seen at any time during the day. For scoring the games, there will be a uniform card used which is so made that it can be used for any game. These cards will be made in such numbers that if a card is lost it can easily be replaced. This system will also eliminate the possibility of mixed cards. The points committee consists of Jean Nielson, Margaret Lane, and Evelyn Dearborn, chairman.

FIVE PRUNED BY VISITING BISON TEAM

Backed by a rooting section of three students, two-thirds of whom were women, the State College basketball team officially closed the 1929 basketball season last Saturday night by dropping a listless 26-23 game to the Southwestern University quintet on the local floor.

So ragged and loose was the game that several townspeople who ventured out to the contest left before the game was three quarters over. The rooting section, however, stuck it out to the finish. Neither team showed the least sign of practice or team work, with the result that the team that shot most won.

Walt Barnett and "Army" Kessler led the scoring attack for the Roadrunners with eight points each. A tall 250-pounder by the name of Augustine pounded his way through whatever defense the locals could muster to score sixteen digits by himself.

Individual scores were:

	S.	B.	S.	C.	fg	ft	pts
Barnett, rf	4	0	8

TENNIS SEASON FOR ALL WOMEN COMMENCES NOW

Tennis season for women opened this week under the management of Marjorie Holmes for the remainder of the college semester. It is expected that a large number of women will come out for the sport, since it has become so popular on the campus.

In order to be eligible for the tournament which is held in the latter part of May, the women who wish to compete must practice two hours each week. If they wish to receive W. A. A. points for their work training rules must be kept as for any other sport.

Last year under the leadership of Helen Nauman, tennis became a rival of all other women's sports, and was reported to have been one of the most successful seasons at the college. With the large number of women already enrolled in tennis classes this year under coach Davis and with those who are expected to show their interest in participation, the season this year promises to be as popular as ever.

Exhibition Planned for Girls' Play Day

Through the cooperation of Mrs. Crosswell, head of the art department, the W. A. A. has been able to have the exhibition of that department as a means of interest and of value to prospective art students. Girls in the art department have offered their time and effort to show the girls who are visiting the various art works and exhibitions of the former and present classes. Mrs. Crosswell has some very valuable and interesting collections so that it will be valuable for students here who have not visited the department to do so that day.

The W. A. A. wishes to thank Mrs. Crosswell for her willing cooperation in thus aiding in making this phase of Play Day a success.
