

'Need More Nature in Art,' Says Lecturer Huxley Here

by Chris Quarton

Author-lecturer Aldous Huxley linked the destruction of natural resources to man's loss of respect for and identification with nature, in the latest of a series of Monday lectures at UCSB.

Calling for a return to the depiction of the natural in art, Huxley struck out against the modern schools of extreme abstraction and praised Wordsworth and the early Oriental artists.

After summarizing a previous discussion of facts and figures demonstrating man's destruction of his natural resources, Huxley said,

"We have to take the responsibility for what is happening on our planet. If we don't, we shall destroy the ground on which we are living and finish off our species."

Nature and China

"The fact is that we have returned with Darwinism toward the primitive position on a higher level. We now recognize our oneness with nature and try to act upon it in a rational way. The modern conception of nature has a great deal in common with the traditional views of the Chinese."

"The Chinese way of thinking about nature has always been different from that of Western men from the 6th century B.C. The Chinese have never thought in terms of substance. European philosophers have asked 'What is this?' The Chinese have asked, 'What are the relationships between this and this?' This change to thinking about relationships is characteristic of modern science. The Chinese did anticipate in many respects the modern scientific thought."

Leibnitz and Whitehead

"Leibnitz became interested in the translations which Jesuits brought back from China of Chinese philosophy. There is no question at all but that Chinese thought exercised an influence in molding his philosophy. His philosophy has had an influence on such modern philosophers as Whitehead."

"I am an old and unregenerate Wordsworthian," he continued, "and I regard him as among the five greatest poets. In regard to what should be our relation to the world, Wordsworth's whole idea was that man and nature were more closely interlinked."

Wordsworth and Japan

"We find in Chinese poetry and landscaping painting and Japanese poetry and painting, curious prophetic images of the Wordsworthian attitude toward nature. In that strange art form of Japan called the Haiku we find the Wordsworthian conceptions. This idea, characteristic of the 19th century in the West, was commonplace in the far East many centuries before it was with us.

"We see this in the rise of landscape painting in China, which took place at least 1,000 years before it did in Europe," said Huxley. "There is something profoundly religious in the best landscape painting. It seems to explain and express those areas of the human mind which are just as impersonal as the given objects outside of us."

Layer of Conscious

"It seems to me that there is a layer of the conscious beyond the personal conscious. They present us in a powerful way with images of our own mind, of this deep, fundamental essence of the Mind at large, from which the individual mind takes its source."

"We see in painting a retreat into non-representative kinds of painting. These abstract forms which are supposed to be symbolic to my mind are less expressive than the landscapes."

Back to Nature

"In poetry, we see something of the same thing. I find a great deal of contemporary poetry is too abstract for my taste. There is a tendency to use abstract phraseology to escape into the unreal."

"I would like another reaction towards this nature poetry, nature mysticism and nature landscape painting of an earlier day. We can never repeat the past, but the general tendency is a tendency of health and genuine religious feeling. In my own view, we could very well do with more of this type," he said.

Dr. Gordon Baker Awarded Fellowship

A $750 Haynes Fund Summer Fellowship Award has been given to Dr. Gordon E. Baker, a member of the UCSB department of social sciences, it was announced by Dr. Elmer R. Noble, vice chancellor.

This award, the gift of John Randolph and Dora Haynes Foundation in Los Angeles, is given to an instructor or assistant professor who wishes to have the summer free from teaching and other employment to complete the writing of a significant research manuscript.

Dr. Baker is currently on sabbatical leave doing research and writing on the problem of representation and political power, with special reference to the three West Coast states.

Tom Taylor Resigns PCB Post; McGinley Says Council 'Doing a Pretty Good Job'

Tom Taylor resigned as chairman of the Press Control Board at the Legislative Council meeting Tuesday night. Taylor explained in a written resignation that his job as editor of La Cumbre left him no time to hold the PCB position.

Taylor's action brings the total of resigning council members to seven for the year.

In other council action President Stan McGinley evaluated the first semester's work of council. In doing so the president pointed out areas which should be stressed during the spring semester.

As Good as Past Councils

In his comments regarding the work of council as a whole, McGinley stated, "I don't think we can criticize what council has done. It is as good as any of the past councils I have seen."

The president summarized his remarks by saying, "I would say we are doing a pretty good job."

McGinley encouraged the voting members to come into closer contact with their constituents. He also pointed out that "leadership at meetings must be furnished by the voting members from the floor." He encouraged the voting members to ask the advice of the non-voting legislators on major issues.

Council passed a Special Events motion to have the 1959 Barbary Coast in front of the new gym. The president appointed Ned Wilson to head a special committee to study the parking situation on campus. Reps Carol Saindon, Dick Perry and John Fiscalini will serve on the committee.

Fiscalini was also appointed as council rep to the finance committee. Judy Owen was named Easter Relays Queen chairman.

New SU Funds

Student Union co-chairman Neila Loeb informed the solons of the proposed plan for financing the new Student Union. She explained that it might be necessary to assess the student body in the future to make enough money to finance the union.

President McGinley requested council to consider this possibility, since some kind of decision must be made in the near future.

Religion-Life Week Concludes Sunday

Religion in Life Week will conclude this weekend with University Sunday. Chairman Eric Bruckner encourages everyone to attend the church of his choice.

Today at noon the final bull-session of the week will be held discussing Catholicism. The discussion will be held in the Huddle. Fathers Virgil, Quiros and Harvey will lead the discussion.

At 3 p.m. in the classroom auditorium a panel of faculty and clergy will discuss the topic "Faith and Literature in a Changing World." Members of the student body are invited to attend.

The different religious groups affiliated with the University Religious Conference are: Baptist, Mormon, Lutheran, Jewish, Presbyterian, Episcopalian, Catholic, Methodist, Disciples of Christ and Christian Science.

Swiss Alps Climbing Talk, Slides Monday

Herbert Rickert, former student of the University of Zurich in Switzerland now attending UCSB, will deliver a lecture and show slides on his mountain climbing experiences in the Swiss Alps Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Classroom Auditorium.

Accompanied by John Hestenes and David Armstrong, students at UCSB and Brooks Photography School respectively, Rickert climbed the entire main ridge of the Bernese Oberland. Rickert led the party climbing the forty peak ridge for six weeks.

New lightweight equipment developed by Rickert under the auspices of the Swiss Foundation in Alpine Research made it possible to sleep in the snow without tent or sleeping bags.

Saroyan Play 'MY FATHER SURE CAN PICK 'EM' ... Runs Tonight

After opening to a capacity crowd last night, "The Beautiful People" written by William Saroyan and directed by Robert Crumb begins its first of two weekend runs tonight at 8:30 in the Little Theatre.

Tickets for the production can be purchased at the Little Theatre box office or the Graduate Manager's office.

Few Tickets Available

According to Ticket Manager Janiece Asper a few tickets are still available for the weekend performances. The play will continue next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Pulitzer Prize winner Saroyan's play features streetcorner preacher Johan Webster (Arlen Collier), his 15-year-old poet-son Owen (Bob Richards) and his daughter St. Agnes of the Mice (Nancy Evans).

Their subsistence, by means of $24 a month relief checks intended for a man dead seven years, is threatened by the appearance of an insurance investigator.

Included in the cast are Mike Binnette as Dan Hillboy, a philosophical drunk; Nick Scott as Mr. Prim; Allen Knight as Father Hogan; Fay Moss, Harmony Blueblossom; Dave McCleery as Harold Webster and Arnold Shapiro as Steve.

Blood Drive Slips

Permit slips for students under 21 who plan to donate to the Larry Adams Blood Drive March 12 are available in the Graduate Manager's office.

These slips, with the signature of one of the parents, must be presented before a donation can be made.

The AS Charities Committee and the Inter-Fraternity Council, co-sponsors of the drive, have set the goal for this year at 500 pints.

The blood is used to aid both Larry Adams, a hemophiliac and 1958 honor graduate and the AS in general.

500 Visitors Here For College Day

More than 500 high school and junior college students will be introduced to the UCSB campus at the annual College Day tomorrow.

Tours of the campus, visiting periods with faculty members and administrative officials and recreational activities are scheduled for the prospective college students and their parents.

Registration begins at 9:30 a.m. Faculty interviews are scheduled at 12:30. Luncheon will be held in the Dining Commons.

In the afternoon there will be an assembly, a tennis meet and a swimming meet. Residence halls will also be open to the visitors.

Members of the Associated Students will act as guides for the day. Many schools are planning group trips to the campus, although parents and teen-agers coming individually will be welcome.

Annual Formal Dance Features Queen Pick, Dancing From 9-1 to Elliot Brothers Band

This year's Jr.-Sr. Prom, "Starlight Serenade" will be held tomorrow night at the Coral Casino from 9 to 1 a.m. The entire student body is invited to dance to the music of the Elliot Brothers and vote for the prom queen.

S.B. Forensics Team In Individual Events Tourney at UCLA

Hoping to continue its winning record, the UCSB forensics squad will take part in the UCLA Championship Individual Events tournament on the Los Angeles campus today and tomorrow.

In the last five years the local speakers have walked off with sweepstakes honors at this tournament four times. Last year the UCSB squad captured first place in lower division competition.

Santa Barbara will be represented by 14 speakers participating in the four divisions. Bob Rogers is the sole entrant in upper men's division in interp and extemp.

In upper division women's competition are: Kay Armour, interp and discussion; Penny Bell, interp and discussion; Barbara McCready, oratory and extemp and Leslie Higgenbotham, oratory and extemp.

In lower division women's are Wendy Lee, oratory and discussion; Dianne Percell, interp and extemp; Ingrid Bergh, interp and extemp; Carol Richards, interp and extemp and Hazel Tice, interp and discussion.

Lower men's representatives are Bob Oldham, oratory and extemp; John Fox, interp and discussion; Jim Davis, oratory and extemp and Terry Phillips, interp and discussion.

Queen Candidates

They are Gretchen Davis (Sigma Phi Epsilon), Judy Dean (Delta Sigma Phi), Susie Franzman (Sigma Alpha Epsilon) and Marty Campillio (Phi Psi Zeta). Males will vote for the queen at the dance. Pictures of the candidates are on display in the classroom building.

Recommended dress for the formal dance is white dinner jackets or dark suits for the men and formals for the girls. Hours have been extended until 2:30 a.m. for girls.

Theme Winner

The dance theme was picked by Nick Hazdovac as part of a theme contest. He was awarded a free bid to the dance for the winning entry.

The Elliott Brothers band is better known as the Disneyland Date Nighters. Records of their music have been played over the SU P.A. system during the week.

"IF YOU LOOK THIS GOOD NOW you must have been a killer when you were younger" says Owen Webster, played by Robert Richards to Miss Harmony Blueblossom, played by Faye Moss. The scene is from "The Beautiful People" playing in the Little Theatre tonight and tomorrow. Tickets are available at the Little Theatre Box office and the Graduate Manager's office.—(Photo by Bob Quittner).

Anthropologist Mead Expert On Primitive Native Culture

Anthropology is a young science and there have always been women in it—the most outstanding of whom is Dr. Margaret Mead who will lecture at UCSB next Friday at 8:30 p.m. under the auspices of Crown and Scepter.

Dr. Mead, a third-generation professional woman, enrolled in Barnard College to obtain specialized training for studying the cultures of our times. After an initial expedition to Samoa and an M.A. from Columbia, she embarked upon a second expedition—this time to New Guinea.

The results of her first two journeys were Coming of Age in Samoa, published in 1928 and Growing Up in New Guinea, published in 1930.

From Gaucho reporter Phyllis Fisher at Santa Rosa Hall comes this announcement. "Marilyn Venter of Tesoro Hall and Nick Hazdovac of Cypress announced their engagement Feb. 26 at the annual Cypress Hall Sigma Phi Nothing Presents banquet. After the announcement Marilyn and Nick were serenaded by the men of Cypress at Santa Rosa Hall. They plan to be married this Easter Sunday."

Kappa Alpha Theta Carol Howde recently passed the chocolates to sorority sisters announcing her engagement to SAE Bob Bowen. In the pinning department is Chi Omega Kathy Sizoo who blew out the candle Monday night to reveal her pinning to Dick Burry, a Sig Ep at SC. At the ADPI house new active Paula Dove told of her pinning to Delta Tau Delta Kermit Harcos...

Take a hint from the ADPI's when it comes to money making events. It was "Standing Room Only" Saturday night for the King of Diamonds Ball and we suspect it had something to do with the dance being "girl-ask-boy." Congratulations to King Dave Quisling and his Princes John Geohagan and John Lauritzen. The winners were sponsored by Pi Beta Phi, Alpha Phi and Delta Zeta respectively...

A series of other expeditions followed—to the Manus of the Admiralty Island, Bali, Itamil and the Arapesh, Mundugumor and Tchambuli of New Guinea—in the process of which Dr. Mead not only learned as much as there was to know about certain primitive cultures, but managed to interpret her findings in the light of very special knowledge and understanding.

The title of Dr. Mead's lecture will be "Orchestrating the Cultures of the World." Tickets are available, 75c for students and $1.25 for general admission, at the Graduate Manager's Office or from any member of Crown and Scepter on campus and from Gammill's and the Chamber of Commerce in Santa Barbara.

BENNETT, NIELSON WIN HONORS

by Tom Morgan
Sports Editor

The littlest player carted off the top honors from Sunday's annual University of California at Santa Barbara basketball banquet.

Frank Bennett, who at 5'9" provided the spark in Coach Art Gallon's Gauchos attack this past season with an 11.7 scoring average and sterling defensive play, was awarded the Dick Ryder Memorial Trophy, emblematic of the team's "Most Valuable Player."

Bennett's fellow guard, Dennis Nielson, was honored with the Harvey Hubler Memorial Trophy for his outstanding inspirational performance and 8.7 average, second best on the club. Both Bennett and Nielson are seniors.

At the festivities, sponsored by the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity at the Valley House in Goleta, UCSB's Dr. Ted Hatlen was the evening's featured speaker, while SAE President Don Leavey acted as master of ceremonies.

Gallon honored the members of the 1958-59 Gauchos cage squad, as did Frank Rohrer with his freshman basketballers. Gallon also recapped the past season, which found Santa Barbara with a 4-20 seasonal mark and 2-8 CCAA record.

"At no time during the season was there any letdown in the desire to win," commented the popular UCSB mentor, and he looked forward to next year with an air of optimism and seven returning veterans.

"We dedicate our new gym in our opener against California in 1959, and I don't know why now," declared Gallon. "They're the best team on the West Coast. We also are planning a 10-day jaunt to Hawaii. It must have done Sax Elliot's Los Angeles State team some good this season, because they came back from Hawaii and won the conference. We'll try the same thing."

TENNIS PLAY CONTINUES TODAY

by Wils Winnek
Sports Writer

Tennis history was made yesterday as the initial round of play got under way in the first annual UCSB College Invitational tennis tournament at the Santa Barbara Municipal Courts. The matches continue today, with the finals scheduled tomorrow.

There is plenty of talent entered in this year's tournament. Top seeded in the men's division is Stan Ellis of Pepperdine College. Ellis recently won the Arizona Invitational at Tucson. Also participating in the men's play is the CCAA's defending singles champion, Larry Smith from Los Angeles State.

Pomona College has a strong bid for the women's laurels with the likes of Audrey Arnold, winner of last year's Ojai Tournament, and Darlene Hard, third-ranked women's player in the country. UCSB's chief contender is Mary Lou Thompson, who gained the semi-finals of the Tucson matches before bowing to Miss Hard.

An international flavor has been added with the entry of France's junior champion, Pierette Segherns. She is a member of the Santa Barbara JC team. Other schools taking part in the matches include San Francisco State, Long Beach State, Cal Poly of Pomona, and Westmont College.

Gauchos Spikers Leave for SPAAU Relays Tomorrow

Coach Nick Carter departs tomorrow morning with his Gauchos track team for the SPAAU Relays at East Los Angeles Junior College. Making the trip south will be 29 varsity and freshman thinclads.

Though looking very potent in vanquishing Westmont and Pepperdine last week, the Santa Barbara squad will find itself up against some of the nation's top small college talent.

The freshmen will compete in only the 440, 880 and mile relays.

NO OUTSTANDING REPS...

(This is the final in a series of editorials evaluating the first semester's work of the voting members of the Legislative Council.)

The dozen elected Reps make up the heart of the AS Legislative Council. Council's effectiveness depends in large part on the quality of the Reps. Unfortunately our Council does not have any outstanding Representatives.

This has been the major reason for Council's shortcomings the first semester. El Gaucho pointed out in the first issue of the year that the Council lacked floor leaders. This void remains unfilled.

All of the Reps are certainly not inadequate. In evaluating them, only their work at Council meetings will be considered. It should be stressed that all of the Reps serve on various committees in the student government program.

The primary job of a Rep is to intelligently discuss business at meetings before voting final approval. Reps should know the major problems of the students. They should attempt to get as close to the electorate as is feasible.

Harris, Naiman, Owen 'Good'

Bill Harris, Dennis Naiman and Judy Owen are the best Reps on Council. They warrant a "good" rating. All are sincere legislators. They would deserve re-election.

Harris spends considerable time studying various problems and presenting them to Council. However, he lacks the personal leadership required of an outstanding solon. Often some of his good ideas are defeated for this reason.

Naiman is the most ambitious member of Council. He has attempted periodically (as in the "Naiman Survey" on El Gaucho) to seek out the views of the electorate. However, he often lacks objectivity and mature judgment.

Miss Owen is interested in student affairs, but is sometimes naive. She makes a good attempt to clarify motions before they are passed. She also lacks personal leadership.

Don Leavey and Ann Lowry, the Greek Reps, deserves an "adequate" rating. Both are new to Council this year, which could account for their lack of participation at times. When they do speak their comments are usually sound.

Five Reps 'Inadequate'

Five of the Reps must be rated "inadequate" on the basis of their work on the council floor. They are Judy Dean, Jan Bartlett, Dick Perry, Gladys Johnson and Carol Saindon.

They seem to contribute only when their direct interests are involved. All five have lacked any semblance of leadership.

Council has given the AS inadequate government for the fall semester. It has been led by a passive president and a vice-president who has not approached her potential. The Reps have been unable to provide the necessary leadership from the council floor.

However, Council shows signs of improving. In the four meetings of the new term they have accomplished more than in the first four months of school.

Because of the present make-up of Council it is doubtful that it will ever be outstanding. However, following through with the enthusiasm shown early this semester Council can give the AS improved representation.

Spur-Shey Bars

Spurs will hold a "Spur-shey Bar" candy sale Monday and Tuesday, with tables in front of the student union, dining commons and library. Profits go to the student union fund.
