FORUM TO REORGANIZE UNDER DIRECTION OF ASHWORTH; NEW PLANS

Two Plays Being Planned by Organization; To Be Active Club

Reorganization of the Forum, the dramatics organization, was decided upon Tuesday by Dean Ashworth and several students interested in dramatics. The organization will soon be placed on an active basis under the leadership of Dean Ashworth.

The Dean said in part: "Dramatics will be a good advertisement for the college. A great many have told me that they missed our annual Lenten play last year, so you see there is an interest being taken in our dramatic activities."

The Forum plans to present several plays this year, chief among them being the Lenten play and College Night. New members and those interested in dramatics are being urged to join by Floyd Kenney.

Frosh Prove Workers in Construction of Bonfire; Much Debris is Gathered

Construction of the thirty-foot by twenty-foot square bonfire pyre for the Bakersfield game rally is being advanced rapidly by the Frosh Bonfire Committee. The Peagreens are being complimented by many for the way they are putting over a difficult task.

The site of the fire is on the East beach, a location being secured suitable for large crowds and safe from fire hazards. The pyre will be burned next Friday night.

Gene Harris, chairman of the Bonfire Committee, when interviewed said that plans were being made for a real, he-man bonfire. Here are a few of the ingredients, according to Harris. Four thirty-foot telephone poles for the corners, a flock of pole stubs for filling, 600 gallons of oil, 6 barrels of sawdust, scraps from the Daily News and a quantity of tires, and there are still several days to gather material.

Sheesely Chosen to Lead Outing Club at First Meet

Clayton Sheesely was elected president of the Outing club at the first meeting of the organization held after the student body meeting in the gym yesterday. Wallace Loveland was chosen vice-president and Marlyn Jameson, secretary-treasurer. Philip Brotherton was appointed to report on the conditions of Club property in the Santa Ynez region.

Three faculty advisors will be appointed for one, two, and three years at a later date.

The dues of this club consist of one dollar for new members, and fifty cents for old members.

A Chance; and Much to be Done

Editorial

Next week is generally conceded as Santa Barbara State's opportunity to display its qualities. It is true; a truth recognized by the Pep Committee in its formulation of plans for the game.

Big things will take place preceding the Bakersfield tangle. An immense bonfire is planned; and it will go over in splendid fashion. A parade that promises to give Santa Barbara State a big shove forward in reputation will take place. Everything is ready.

But there is a danger—there is a factor which may spoil the entire program. It is the part to be played by the students, not through the parade nor the bonfire, but the singing and yelling. If this part of the program fails, practically all will be diminished in effect that much.

The Eagle is not trying to be pessimistic over the big program that is coming, but we feel that this danger must be remedied. The only way this can be corrected is to have a hundred percent support of the students in the rallies next week. It is something that the Pep Committee can recommend and try to materialize; but the actual thing can only be realized by whole-hearted support of the students. It lies with the students alone.

RALLY PLANS FORMED BY COMMITTEE IN TUESDAY MEET

Complete plans for the rally and bonfire to be held next Friday night were outlined by the Pep Committee at a meeting held Wednesday night at 430 East Sola street.

An elaborate program is being planned for the fire, which will be on the East beach. The most conspicuous, other than the fire itself, will be the cremation of the Renegades, which will be borne up the pyre before it is lighted with the accompaniment of a funeral song. Besides yelling and singing, there will be speeches by Coach DeGroot and Captain "Tainy" Annin of the Roadrunners, and by the coach and captain of the Bakersfield squad.

Another big feature of the evening will be a parade down State street preceding the fire. This parade will start at State and Mission streets, organizing at 7 p.m. and starting at 7:15 p.m. The Pep Committee is endeavoring to secure the use of the city motor police to gain right of way down State street. Attempts are also being made to secure the Scouts' band to attract attention and provide the major music of the night. Several merchants have entered cars in the parade, and four automobile companies have loaned machines for the teams and the officials. The Committee is offering two worthwhile prizes for the best decorated cars, the awarding of these prizes to take place at the fire. Dr. Ellison, Dr. Maxwell and Miss Frye will be the judges.

Dan Britton and his newly organized band will create a little diversion with a clown orchestration.

Two searchlights are being constructed by the class in electricity, one with a green lens and one with a white lens. They will be placed in front of the campus and played over the town while the parade is in progress.

Funds for La Cumbre Are Suspended Pending Further Recommendation of Council

Additional funds for La Cumbre to be drawn from the sinking fund were withheld at the student body meeting yesterday pending further recommendation from the council. The proposed $500 was denied by the students.

It is the consensus of opinion that the students will give the annual an additional fund of about $300, to be drawn from the same fund. It is also expected that about $505 will be drawn from the fund for the Forum, which was denied funds by the council when their one percent was withdrawn this year.

NOON DANCING IN GYM GAINS POPULARITY

Noon dances in the gym will be held Monday, Wednesday and Friday noons because of their extreme popularity.

Through the aid of Isabel Vaughn, Marjorie Scofield and Richard Begg, music has been provided. It is expected that this noon trap drums and a banjo can be added to the orchestra, which has been piano and saxophone.

The Pep Committee is sponsoring the dances.

La Cumbre Editor Announces Staff For Coming Year; Few Positions Open

Work on this year's annual is underway with the announcement of the staff by the Editor-in-Chief, Elizabeth Campbell. Although not complete, the main part of the writers and business staff has been selected and approved by Dean Ashworth, faculty advisor for the book.

Complete plans for the annual await action of the student body and council on appropriation of part of the sinking fund.

The staff as announced follows: Assistant editors: Campus, W. Pol-

President Phelps Receives Financial Announcement For New Science Building

Notice was received Wednesday by President Phelps from state offices to the effect that at a meeting of the Board of Control and Superintendent Wood at Lake Tahoe on October 8, the Santa Barbara State College budget included appropriations for a new science building with equipment to cost $200,000. Repair expenses for the present main building were appropriated at $10,000. President Phelps stated that the announcements gave the starting date of plan drawing as next April.

FEW ENTRIES TURNED IN TO SONG AND YELL COMPETITION

Only one entry had been submitted to the Pep Committee up to yesterday noon in the song and yell contest, which closes Monday.

An appeal to the student body was made by Warren Atwood, chairman of the Pep Committee, at the student body meeting yesterday. It is expected that the entries will be submitted Monday, as the week-end yet remains. It has been pointed out that new songs and yells are necessary, and that they must be obtained before the Bakersfield game.

The prizes for the best yells are $2 for the first, $1 for the second and third. Two mail subscriptions to The Eagle will be given those who fail to place but whose entries were accepted. The prizes for the best songs are $3 first prize, $2 second prize, and $1 third prize.

LOYOLA LIONS TO BE TACKLED BY LOCAL GRIDMEN TOMORROW

Coach is Pessimistic Over Prospects; Game is Out of Local Class

Tomorrow Coach DeGroot is taking his pets south to see what can be done against Loyola College, which is expecting to tear out Roadrunner feathers to the extent of 75-0.

DeGroot isn't extremely cheerful about the game, and says that it is a matter of holding the Lions as much as possible. To substantiate his opinion, he cites the following facts: Loyola defeated the Trojan Frosh 13-10 last Saturday, held Occidental to a 7 to 7 score, the Tigers holding Stanford 19-0. In a scrimmage with the Branch squad recently, the Lions managed to shove across five tallies. Then he explained that several of the Roadrunners' best men are on the sick list. Vandam is out with a bad cold and is out of the tangle definitely. Batchelder has not recovered yet from the bad knee he got at the Southern Branch game. Curtis received a bum shoulder in the scrimmage Friday and will be unable to play, although he will be in condition for the Bakersfield game. Clapp tore a ligament in his arm in scrimmage the first of the week and will be unable to fill his berth at guard. Owing to a bad knee obtained Friday, Tad Foss will not start.

Although the situation looks bad, the coach explained that it is simply a matter of playing an eleven out of our class. The Lions have managed to gather together some star high school material, and have the best line-up that the college has ever produced; being one of the best outfits in Los Angeles city.

The probable starting line-up for Santa Barbara will be Pollard at center, Sheesely and Evans at guard, Mabe and Denno, tackles, Lopez and Martin at the wings. An entirely new backfield will begin: O'Reilly at quarter, Brubaker and Gates Foss at the halves, and Clemore at the fullback position. Twenty-eight men will make the trip, the gang leaving Saturday morning on a special Pickwick stage.

Faculty and Students Take Part in Local Production

Dean William Ashworth as Pothinus and Professor William Maxwell as Lucius played their roles to perfection in "Caesar and Cleopatra," a play with which the Community Arts players opened their seventh season at the Lobero theater the last two week-ends.

Never have the Players presented a spectacular play that compared with this. The play consisted of five acts and nine scenes.

Many college students witnessed the production, and those that took part were Ben Margolis, Mary Wilkinson, Roscoe McGuire.

Loyola Sport Writer Says That Lion Team Wants Clean Slate

By M. J. BERNARD,

Sporting Editor, The Loyolan
(Special to The Eagle)

When Coach DeGroot's Santa Barbara State outfit pounces upon the turf Saturday to take on the lashing Lions, at Loyola, it will face what is probably the best squad that has ever borne the name of the Southern institution.

Thus far the Lions have played a 7-7 toss-up with the Oxy Tigers, whipping Redlands 14-0, and last Saturday showed the Trojan babes a 13-10 setback. Coach Bill Hess' crew will be out to keep their grid slate clean and pure, and will bid fair to give the Roadrunners no small amount of trouble.

Hess will throw his full strength into the fray. Haddock, a guard, and Currin, flashy blond halfback, have been laid up with injuries, but both were seen in action against the U.S.C. Frosh and are apparently none the worse for it.

The veteran backfield composed of Captain Tunney at quarter, Ed Lowery and Currin at halves, and Hoeffler at full, is booked to start the game. However, from what the fans have seen of Whitney Hoffman, the pair are most certain to break into the game sooner or later.

Shovel Sherwood, center, and Arolski, tackle, both of whom caused much havoc in last year's game, will again thrive to embarrass the Roadrunners. Sherwood played like a wildman in the Oxy game and has been the main topic of conversation around Loyola ever since. He is extremely light for a pivot man, but is as smart and scrappy as centers come, and if he plays Saturday like he is accustomed, he will grab an immense portion of the spotlight.

Last year's battle was played on a soggy field in a drizzling rain. The Lions emerged the victors by a 6-0 count. As sunshine is very much in vogue at present, due to a lack of mudslinging, the bystander ought to get more of a measurement on the respective ability of the two squads.

Hard Time Hop in Gym Goes Over Big; Many There

"What th—!"
"Say, is this a hobo convention?"
"No, not that, 'cause there goes Eleanor Warren and—"

It was the hard time dance in the gym last Friday. Rags, tags, mother Hubbard's, blue jeans, rippled stockings, misplaced patches, in fact, every kind of adornment that gave the impression of a visit from Old Man Hard Luck garnished the figures of the students who came to the dance, and even the orchestra boys had costumes.

Corn stalk and hay caused many to look, fearfully or manfully, according to sex, for members of the bovine family! Luckily, none were present, and the hilarity and fun progressed steadily, augmented by the Paul Jones, clap and whistle dances.

The punch, served upstairs, refreshed those who needed it, and encouraged those who did not. Thus everybody who came thoroughly enjoyed themselves and their companion.

Campus Rally Band Is Organized by Men's Club; May Play for Game Rally

A college band of twenty pieces is being organized by the Men's club under the direction of Dan Britton. It is expected that it may be organized sufficiently to play at the Bakersfield game and rally.

The first meeting of the band took place yesterday noon, preliminary organization taking place. Present plans by Britton call for rehearsals next Tuesday and Thursday, with practice of marching tactics included.

Regular rehearsals will be on Tuesdays and Thursdays. At present the band consists of four trombones, two clarinets, four saxophones, and two drums, with others being added.

Britton was leader of the local high school band three years ago, having charge of the organization at the Santa Maria-Santa Barbara football game held in the north that year.

Dottie: "Is the clock running, Harlan?"

Lee: "No, it's standing still and wagging its tail."

Grid Scores of Past Week Brighten Local Outlook; Coach Builds for Future

A comparison of scores run up in inter-collegiate games the past week-end tends to brighten Santa Barbara State's outlook for the remainder of the grid season.

Probably the hardest game of the season will be played next Saturday when the Roadrunners journey south to clash with Loyola on their home field. The southern team has always been noted for its pigskinners and is putting out an unusually strong team this year. Their tilt last Saturday with the University of Southern California freshmen resulted in a 13-10 win for Loyola. When it is considered that U.S.C. draws from the football talent of Los Angeles, such a victory can be considered as decisive evidence of a strong team.

Bakersfield, the Roadrunner's pet enemy, lost a 14-0 game to San Jose State in a game played on the northern field. The Spartans scored on a pass early in the second quarter, and again in the third, when Berton intercepted a Bakersfield pass and ran 60 yards through a broken field for a touchdown.

From the results of the Southern Branch-San Diego State game the Roadrunners will make their pilgrimage of November 6 with a more even chance of bringing home a win. San Diego went away with the short end of a 42-7 score as a result of their last Saturday's engagement with the Grizzlies. Theoretically this gives Santa Barbara a 9-point edge over the Aztecs.

Cal Christian has tentatively scheduled a game with the locals for October 29. The date has not been confirmed yet. All available dope points to a fairly evenly matched game in the event that it occurs.

A most pessimistic supporter must admit that Coach DeGroot is making wonderful progress with his men. He can put a mixed team of first and second string men on the field and hold and gain through the Santa Barbara High team, which is more than Bakersfield, prep champs of the State, was able to do last Saturday. The valley team won 20-0, but their own coach admitted that the local high outplayed his men at every stage of the game, and lost only on the breaks of the game. Here is a real index to the rapidly developing capability of our men.

DeGroot states that he is building for the future. With the start he has made this year, despite all adverse conditions, his future teams should bring Santa Barbara State recognition as a worthy challenger for athletic honors in its section of the country.

Miss Lowsley, financial secretary, was kept away from her work all last week by illness. She returned to college Monday.

Clam Diggers and Mussel Scrapers Scrap in Grid Scrimmage

To the loud applause of a packed stadium, the fire-eating Clamdiggers and the ruff-and-tuff Mussel-scrapers clashed in the most exhilarating pigskin tussle of the year at Peabody stadium the afternoon of Friday, October 8. The scrimmage of the squad was held by Coach DeGroot in order to fill the vacant date of Saturday, caused by the cancellation of the Southwestern game.

Ted Foss, who was imported at tremendous cost to referee the game, commenced the battle at 4:30 sharp, after untangling his pinnemen, who were busy making penny bets on their favorites.

The Mussel-scrapers, ably coached by the well-known Clarence "Tiny" Annin, took the upper hand during the early part of the first quarter, much to the surprise of Ed Dundas, their manager. He made a ten-cent bet with Floyd Kenney, opposing manager, and his team lost the ball on a fumble. The Clamdiggers commenced a march down the field while Kenney danced the Charleston on the sidelines and chewed up all the gum left in the medicine case. He was suppressed by Linesman Hoben, who had his meal ticket up on the results.

The half ended with the ball in midfield, and both teams struggling hard, too evenly matched to make decisive gains on each other. While they were recuperating a loud commotion was heard in the grandstands. This was found to be Dan Britton and Hal Farman attempting to decide upon the handsomest man on the field. Lots were drawn and Batchelder, the scientific linesman, won the doubtful honor.

The game was resumed with the Clamdiggers weakened by the loss of Curtis, who was rushed to the doctor's with a dislocated shoulder. The third quarters was enlivened by heated bench generalship, the battle being won by Annin's superiority in weight.

The fourth quarter was a repetition of the third, drawing to a close with the ball well out in the field. A ten-minute extra period was requested and played without either side scoring, and the game was called a draw.

Laying aside the humorous aspect of the game, it must be admitted that extremely good work was done by both teams. The result of constant practice was shown quite plainly, and DeGroot was enabled to get a line on the efficiency of various men in positions different from their regular line-up. The teams were too evenly matched to play a spectacular game, but gained valuable experience.

The officials for the game were as follows: Ted Foss, referee; Jack Meade, umpire; Henry Batchelder, head linesman; Reid Hollingsworth and Leo Hoben, linesmen.

The Clamdiggers were coached by Clarence Annin and managed by Ed Dundas. Coach DeGroot sponsored the Mussel-scrapers, while Kenney officiated as manager.

ART OFFICERS ELECTED

The Art department organized at the last departmental meeting, electing the following officers: President, Cecelia Hauser; Vice-President, Lillian Stevens; Secretary-Treasurer, Ray Denno; Social Chairman, Kathryn Bennink, and Publicity Manager, Jean Donart.

TEST HOLES DUG FOR NEW ADMINISTRATION BUILDING THIS WEEK

Minor Changes are Made In Inside Features of Building

Two members of the State architectural board visited the campus yesterday to make an inspection of ground contour to determine the type of foundation in the new Administration Building. Three test holes were dug this week, following authorization received by President Phelps from State Architect McDougall and these were the main objects of the visitors' study.

Details in plans of the new building will be taken back by the state officials to complete the main project. These include different types of drawers, shelves, and built-in features of the library and offices. A change making the reading room of the library 100 feet long was also made. The reading porch adjoining the library will have one entrance instead of several French doors as was previously planned, and seats along the wall will seat fifty students. First class staging will be present in the little theatre type of stage. The auditorium will seat 900.

Drafting of the project will be completed, according to the present schedule, between now and December, and the date of occupancy is definitely assured as next fall. Soule, Murphy and Hastings are handling the architectural drawings.

President Phelps reported completion of a drawing plan of the campus which calls for five new structures to be built when funds are budgeted. The new science building, which will cost approximately $200,000, has been assured in the 1927 budget, according to latest information.

DELTA ZETS GIVE SOCIAL

Delta Sigma Epsilon gave a social last Saturday night in honor of their new patroness, Mrs. Clarence Phelps. It was held at the home of Margaret Ellison, the decorations carrying out the sorority's colors, cream and green.

GLEE CLUB MEETS

The Men's glee club held a business meeting last Monday night at which plans were formulated for the concerts to be held at the end of this semester. Arrangements for the annual glee club dance which will take place next month were also discussed.

A CAMPUS CAMPANILE

A 150-foot campanile for the campus has been suggested. This bell tower with a clock at the top and quarter or half-hour chimes, would be placed at some center point of the campus, probably between the quad and the gym.

Nothing could be more impressive to visitors than a high tower rising on the hill. It would be a hailing to the Santa Barbara State campus. It would stand out distinctly, and would be beautiful at night lit with flood lights.

At the University of California a huge campanile in the center of the campus lends a distinctive and impressive aspect to the layout of the University. Around the tower many traditions have formed.

The principal difficulty with the erection of such a tower here would be finances. It could, however, be built with steel framework for not more than three thousand dollars. These funds could be raised through help from alumni and friends of the college, with possibility that some help come from the State.

If active work on the proposition starts this year and subscriptions are raised, a campanile could be seen rising from the campus, complete, within two years. It would provide a center for campus life, and would be an incentive to traditions.

A COMMENDABLE STEP

The initiative taken by the Men's club in organizing a campus band is a real forward step. It deserves the hearty support of every student and anyone who can play a band instrument should be seen toting around such when definite rehearsals start next week.

In order to make anything of such a scale successful with a backing of only one hundred seventy-five men at the College, every available musician must be obtained. In fact, with any enterprise at an institution of this size, every student is expected to do so much, and it must be done to be successful. It may not be playing in a rally band, but it would coincide with the abilities of the student.

Britton, who is leading the band, is entitled to the support of every musician.

NOT A BAD SIGN

It is a common saying that dissatisfaction is the sign of progress, and from all indications it is quite possible that this adage would apply to our campus, too.

There are some groups on the campus whose sense of Santa Barbara State Normal School tradition cannot be ousted. In short, Normal School ideas exist instead of State College methods.

Before 1920 the group of buildings which we now occupy was known to the world as a State Normal School. It gradually evolved into a State College, and naturally some of these Normal School ideas stuck. In the course of the change two types of students met, and clashed, those with Normal School ideas and those who wanted a "collegiate" institution.

The college is gradually drawing away from any traces of the School, and when dissatisfaction is heard in regard to some old, Normal School tradition that is out of style, it is not a sign of danger—it is progress.

TRAFFIC AND THE COLLEGE

Practically every college car has a Roadrunner windshield sticker on it, and the town knows and judges the college by how the cars sporting these stickers manage to get around in traffic.

It has been brought to the attention of The Eagle that occasionally one of these cars happens to get a little too much gasoline flowing through that feed pipe and the muffler manages to get open somehow, and oh, what a whizz and noise follows. That car just shoots up the street.

And then some citizen on the street corner happens to hear that car coming and he adjusts his optics in that direction, noticing the Roadrunner sticker on the car. And he forms an opinion of that car, and of the college, too.

A little more carefulness in driving will help the reputation of the college, and maybe it will save a few dollars and possibly the necessity of cutting classes for ten or thirty days. The police are opening a drive against mufflers and too much speed.

It looked as if Coach DeGroot was trying to make a football team out of the Social Science club, according to a write-up in last week's Eagle. But it wasn't quite that bad. A headline had managed to find a place on the wrong article.

SINGERS NEEDED

There is a demand for college women in the choir of the First Congregational Church, under the direction of Mrs. Florence N. Weiler, former college music instructor. Arrangements may be made with either Mrs. Weiler or the Reverend Davies. The church is located on State street above Sola.

Mary: "Some of these fellows are so stingy that they don't know how to spend a week-end."

THE EAGLE'S EYE

—An Upper Classmen Observes

THE Men's club had their first business meeting of the year last Tuesday.

Real plans were made for a really active year for the club. Let's hope these plans are carried out.

In previous years the Men's club has been an organization with a good name, and not much else.

The College needs more pep and loyalty among her men, and the College will have it if she has an active Men's club.

THERE is only a week left before we play Bakersfield.

It is our team's first home game and is the most important football game of the year.

Furthermore, it is going to be the best chance we'll ever have to tell the world that we have a real live college here.

RUMOR has it that the Men's Glee club is planning to give its Annual Dance.

However, there is a new ruling in effect this year that states that no college organization shall give "pay dances."

Maybe such a ruling is a good thing; maybe it's not. But that isn't the question.

But this is what happened. One of the Bolsheviks on the campus informed the Glee club that the powers that be had made this ruling to spite the club.

It was said that the only thing to do was to proclaim the independence of the club; refuse to sing for the benefit of the College; and force the authorities to permit the club to stage a dance.

Faculty opposition to any legal activity seemed so absurd that the matter was investigated and it was discovered that the afore-mentioned Bolshevik was all wet.

The powers that be are only too anxious to help any College activity, especially the Glee club.

The ruling as to "pay dances" was put into effect because it was sincerely believed that it was a good thing for the College.

If it is possible an exception to this ruling may be granted the Glee club.

To make a long story short, Santa Barbara State has no need for these loud-mouthed radicals, who do little besides creating trouble and ill-feeling.

SECRET TREASURE FOUND

A treasure found in the sand by the Art Department and which is claimed to be valuable, is being kept a secret by the art students. The treasure was unearthed at a "weenie" roast held at Milpas beach last week. It is being kept by the department.

Staff Changes of Eagle Made to Fill Vacancies

Ed Dundas has been appointed business manager of The Eagle to replace Irwin Vandam, who, because of extra duties, was unable to continue the managership.

Dundas has been a good worker and faithful business assistant, and was consequently awarded the open position. Phil Kiney, second assistant manager, has been promoted to fill the vacancy left by Dundas.

Lack of time also compelled Hazel Scolari, feature writer and desk assistant, to drop her active work with the staff. Estelle Nelson has been appointed to her position. Miss Nelson is new to the campus this year, but has proven a capable journalist.

Ad Week is Scheduled for Middle of November

The week of November 15-20 has been set aside on the campus as Ad Week. During this period attempts will be made to show the merchants of the town that college trade they receive is much greater than generally believed.

"The town merchants get much more trade from the college than they think they do," Warren Atwood, chairman of the Pep Committee, which is sponsoring the week, stated Tuesday, "and the purpose of this week is to show them the facts."

Small green cards, about the size of a calling card, will be printed and distributed to the student body, which will be asked to give a merchant with which they make a trade one of these cards, showing that the sale was college trade.

The wording on the cards will be to the effect that the bearer is from the college, and that the student would appreciate seeing this merchant's advertising in a college publication.

It is believed that the institution is suffering from a financial backing from the town because it does not realize the benefits derived from the student body and from the college as a whole. Such a plan as Ad Week is expected to remedy this condition considerably.
