FALL OFFICERS OF SOCIETIES ARE ANNOUNCED

With the fall semester of 1929 well under way, with the freshmen becoming accustomed to the school, and the upper classmen becoming accustomed to the freshmen, students are resuming their interest in campus organizations.

At Santa Barbara State College there are three social fraternities, five social sororities, two honorary sororities, and two honorary fraternities. Last spring the various organizations elected their officers who are to lead them this fall. The officers of social fraternities are as follows:

Beta Sigma Chi

Have You Noticed?

The childish antics of Joe Vinegas and Jimmy Shoag, those famous cousins, in their classes?

How those pea green frosh caps BECOME some of the studes? Especially those with red hair?

The number of rooters at the S. B. S. C. - Oxy game?

The good time had by all at the Green Dip?

Also "Baby" Walter Powers refusing to take his punishment like all good frosh do?

Eddie Davens' lack of knee reflex?

Mr. Bradley's acrobatic eyebrows?

The colorblind frosh with his red shirt, blue sweater, green tie, and green cap?

"Army" Kessler's chin herbage?

That lack of "it" which Bernard Barnes wore on his upper lip last semester?

L. Mellon Parma and E. Wesley Rodman have given up their roles as twins in one suit?

Albert Eaves in the cafeteria?

FROSH FACES FURNISH FUN AT FIRST HOP

Because they neglected to wear their green caps, two freshmen had their faces painted green in the feature entertainment at the Green Dip, the year's first student body dance, which was held at Rockwood last Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock. Mary and Emmet McTavish of the freshman class, did two exhibition dances to complete the frosh contributions to the program.

Decorations were green, in accord with freshmen, in whose honor the hop was held. Olive and white streamers were strung across the room, with a large green dipper suspended above the center of the floor. Baby faces, some laughing and some crying, peered from the walls at the dancers. Each dance was named in honor of an outstanding member of the freshman class.

Betty Procter, chairman of the social committee, was in charge of the affair, with the following as heads of committees: Laura Breska, decorations; Virginia Weber, entertainment; Dorothea Peterson, refreshments; Ann Sampson, invitations; Whitelaw Birss, floor; William Pensinger, cleanup.

Patrons and patronesses for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ericson, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Davis, Miss Gladys Van Fossen, and Mr. Leon Trimble. Janssens' orchestra furnished the music.

Art Fraternity Given Italian Entertainment

Clara Fraga and Ida Vizzolini entertained the members of the local chapter of Delta Phi Delta with an Italian dinner Monday night at the home of Mrs. Mary E. T. Crowell, sponsor for the group.

Those present included Mrs. Mary Crowell, Miss Camp, Clara Fraga, Ida Vizzolini, Elizabeth Foster, Maud Robinson, Mrs. Ruth Doolittle, Elizabeth Foster, Lyllis Blackie, Katherine Bishop and Emily Wood.

SIGHT OF SLIM CO-EDS IN FLIMSY ATTIRE ROUSES MEN TO BALK AT OWN HOT ATTIRE

Lo, for many, many, and many years, the male of the specie has been watching the female in matters of dress, or lack of dress. While watching his fair sister discard the heavy clothing, this same spineless male has been perspiring his vitality away under stiff collars, boiled shirts, and heavy, cumbersome coats and vests. In a winter clime, such clothing is, of course, absolutely necessary; but, in Southern California, we see no logical reason why the man should swelter under these heavy garments while the woman flits lightly about with anything from one ounce to one pound of clothing on her back, depending upon her sense of modesty. Therefore, the brave men and bold of Santa Barbara State College have decided to inaugurate a dress reform.

Well do we realize the evils of a sudden change from one extreme to another; so, as a start, we have decided to discard coats, sweaters, stiff or high collars, and neckties, with the beginning of next week. These reforms in the matter of clothing apply also to male members of the faculty. They, too, have suffered. So, on Monday morning of next week, expect to notice the absence of coats, collars and ties on male students and members of the faculty.

There will be a few who will talk "dignity" of college students and faculty. But dignity becomes foolish when naturalness and comfort are sacrificed to retain it. So, brave men, let us take this step forward with confidence that we are on the threshold of another epoch in style of attire. Remember, come to school Monday without the collar, without the coat, without vest, without sweater, and without the tie. (Further reforms will follow.)

To The Men:

I hate to harp on a subject that has been mentioned before, but it seems that a lot of people, mostly new-comers to this campus, are not aware of time-honored customs and even state laws.

In the past the smoking problem of this college has been negligible, but with the marked increase in the numbers of the masculine gender has come a very distinct need of checking up in the matter of Sir Walter Raleigh's great hobby as practiced hereabouts.

The State of California very explicitly says that "there shall be no smoking in state buildings," and the members of the faculty interpret that to mean also the quad and all the corridors. It is perfectly permissible to smoke in the driveways, but that is all. Let there be no further smoking in the gymnasium and particularly over near the elementary school. I am sure the reasons for this are very obvious.

Now, how about some cooperation in this matter? Keep our campus clean — use the trash boxes for your waste-paper, etc., and use discretion when smoking.

Yours sincerely,
Llewellyn Goodfield,
Pres. A. S. B.

VARIETY OF DANCES ARE ON SCHEDULE

With the exception of January the coming dances for the school year have been definitely planned and the date set by the social committee.

The next dance will be a Hallo-wen affair occurring on Saturday, October the 26th. When asked as to the entertainment features, the chairman immediately became very non-communicative, vouchsafing only the information that it would be good.

Other dances to come include two sport dances happening on the eighth and the twenty-third of November respectively, the Christmas formal on the sixth of December, a New Year's dance on December the 31st, and the "Exam" dance on February 1st.

STATE THRILLS 12,000 AS STUBORN DEFENSE HOLDS TIGERS TO 14-0

Battered, panting, and fighting with inspired stubbornness, Coach Hal Davis' Roadrunners repulsed attack after attack by the Occidental Tigers last Friday in the night game in the Rose Bowl and allowed the Oxy eleven but two touchdowns but two touchdowns.

Special Program For Assembly Is Promised

On next Tuesday, the 15th of October, there will be a special assembly held in the auditorium. In accordance with the regular monthly schedule, this will be a student body assembly and Mr. Wesley Dickenson has arranged a program for the entertainment of the students. This program, which is being sponsored by the Student Activities Committee, includes several musical and comedy numbers arranged in the general organization of a vaudeville show.

On account of the expenses incurred in securing the orchestration of several popular numbers, and the cost of necessary sets, the Activities Committee has agreed to charge an admission price of ten cents per student. This money will defray the expenses of this entertainment and help to finance future assemblies.

Artists Hold Picnic And Treasure Hunt

Members of the art department gathered at Tuckers' Grove Wednesday night for a combined treasure hunt and picnic supper.

The new members of the department, under the leadership of Eugene Carr, provided a large box of candy as the treasure, which, after due search, was unearthed by Alfreta Keating. The exhausted hunters then repaired to the festive board which was presided over by Mrs. Mary E. T. Crowell, head of the department.

Later songs were sung around the fire. At half past seven the group reluctantly broke up and returned to town and the next day's lessons.

Those present besides the students, included: Mrs. Mary E. T. Crowell, Mrs. Ruth Doolittle, Miss Camp, Mrs. Isabel Fish and Miss Elizabeth Foster.

attempts at conversion failed but a safety added two points. The prediction of experts and the general feeling on the Occidental campus before the game had it that the Bengals would romp over the Olive and White by at least 35 points.

The game opened like a slaughter. Santa Barbara was plainly suffering from fright before the 12,000 spectators and the Oxy reputation, and within three minutes of the kickoff, Rozelle of the southern team had hammered his way from his own 36 yard line across the Roadrunner stripe for a score. He failed to convert. In the third quarter Occidental added two more points when Clemore was nailed behind his own goal line for a safety. Another drive in the final quarter concluded the scoring with another touchdown.

Oxy Makes First Downs

Coach Eddie Kienholz' team tore through for 21 first downs, while the Olive and White made but three. Several Oxy penalties helped the local boys, however. The defense of the State College boys drew the cheers of the entire crowd. On several occasions the winners had the ball within the five yard line and failed on four downs to carry it across. It was quite a jolt for the Tigers who had expected the game to be a mere workout for them.

The Roadrunners line played great ball and in consequence took a lot of punishment. Pierucci battered the Oxy line for many short gains, with Clemore and Kessler adding yards. The Davis-men suffered a loss as the final quarter opened when Kessler was injured and taken out. Imes did some nice punting for the Staters.

After Occidental's first drive to a score, Santa Barbara received the kickoff and after several gains was forced to kick. Oxy's attack was cut short and a kick over the goal gave State the leather on her own 20 yard line. The visitors kicked and after an exchange of punts and short gains through the line, the ball ended up on Santa Barbara's 40 yard line in her possession as the first period ended.

State Defense Invincible

A fumble gave Occidental the ball on State's 35 yard line. Oxy was held on line bucks, but a pass,

CLEANLINESS IS NEXT TO GODLINESS

A POINT that cannot be stressed too far was brought up the other day in Men's Club meeting, that of keeping our grounds clean. A little thought, a little care, and we can have our grounds looking as neat as a Montecito estate.

To drive in the country and see picnic spots littered with the debris left by selfish campers fills us with disgust. How much more, then, on our own campus do we resent the mess of papers and other stuff. Trash cans are placed at convenient corners and but a few steps are necessary to carry your papers to these cans from any part of the campus.

FOOTBALL PUBLICITY

FEW PEOPLE in the college realize the impression that Coach Hal Davis' football team made on the finicky Southern California grid fans when it held Occidental to two touchdowns last Friday. Oxy was expected to score at least five touchdowns and the fighting spirit which the Roadrunners displayed won the cheering support of the 12,000 spectators. Santa Barbara State is in the Southern Conference only on probation, but after the showing against Occidental, acknowledged the strongest team in the conference, there is little doubt but that we shall gain permanent membership.

Santa Barbara has made a name for herself, at least this season, on the football scroll of Southern California. Football followers are always ready to cheer for the so-called "underdog," and that is the way they felt in the Rose Bowl. One sports editor declared that Davis could take his men south again, line them up against Pomona, and draw at least 25,000 people. That does not sound in the least unreasonable, either. Unlike the grid fans in the northern part of the state, according to this sports editor, who become attached to one team, the populace in the southern part turns out principally to see a good game, many of them not particularly interested in who is playing. California could lose game after game and still could gather a crowd in the Memorial Stadium, but not so in the south. And so for the moment, Santa Barbara has become known around Los Angeles and a lot of helpful publicity is gained thereby.

OUR MORONIC ILLUSTRATORS

THE ART DEPARTMENT has not gathered in all the artistic talent on the campus, we have noticed. Several students, presumably men, are turning their aesthetic touch to defacing public notices attached to the bulletin boards. Men with such ability are wasting their talents in such common practice. With the aid of a little technical assistance these men could probably become the nation's best illustrators; but instead, they amuse themselves and seek to amuse others by disfiguring notices.

The practice is childish, the same as scribbling on concrete walks, and yet certain college students, too "busy" to develop their natural abilities in the proper department, find time to scrawl crude witticisms and kindergarten drawings over our notices. Their plight is tragic, these moronic illustrators.

Now the only things left to accomplish to make us die happy are these, to meet Whitney, to shake hands with President Hoover and write as much as This and That does without saying anything. We are ready for all of this because we have seen "The Hollywood Revue of 1929."

The whole production is marvelous, running as smoothly as the waters of The Lethe, scintillating with entertainment, rollicking with comedy and breath-taking with magnificence. Jack Benny, as the master of ceremonies, has a show of his own every time he comes before the curtain, utterly eclipsing Conrad Nagel, although they are both supposed to work that end of the revue.

After discussing the picture variously and otherwise, we have decided upon the best acts and we are willing to stand by our guns. For the one showing the most perfect rhythm and snappiest group work, first place goes to Tommy Atkins on Parade. This is supposed to be Marion Davies', but her part is so small that it would not be noticed if left out entirely. For beauty and grace, the Orange Blossom Time act with the Albertina Rasch ballet dancers. For its lilting, catchy music, cleverness in its dances and for the Brox sisters, "Singing in the Rain."

Here's our choice for individual acts—Joan Crawford for her naturalness, her voice and her dancing comes first; Bessie Love because she is a love and if she did what she is supposed to do, she certainly does not lack in physical courage, comes second; "Ukelele Ike," because he was such an entertaining sap, comes third. Oh, there are others, but we remember those more.

Oh, before we leave this Revue, we must tell something about the adagio dancers (if that adjective is spelled right, just look it up in the dictionary). At the last of their act, there is a girl and three men, the men swing the girl around so that her head and chest miss the floor by a bare six inches. Talk about gasping—whew!

This isn't half the revue, but then, we have to stop somewhere and all of you are going to see it anyway.

Ruth Chatterton

Miss Chatterton is thrilling her admirers at the Granada this week-end in one of the most dramatic plays of the stage and screen—"Madame X." Miss Chatterton portrays the psychological degeneration of a respectable woman who remains respectable to the last. In order to protect her husband and son from being blackmailed by the man with whom she ran away, she kills him. And one of the lawyers at her trial is her son—is he for or against her?

"Madame X" is full of dramatic situations and Ruth Chatterton. It is her play, with Raymond Hackett as her son and Lewis Stone as her husband lending able support. Lionel Barrymore directed.

PREXY FAMOUS RATDESTROYER IN EARLY DAYS

On a certain day in the year of our Lord, 1905, a man-child was born in the little hamlet of Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada. The infant was Llewellyn Goodfield.

When he was two days old, Llewellyn had already become a champion. He could outyell any youth of his size, weight and age. He soon lost interest in his vocal accomplishments, however, and spent his leisure moments reading Greek philosophy.

At the age of five, Lew felt the need for travel and persuaded the family to dash over to Red Deer, Alberta, where he started school. At the age of six and seven-eighths, we find our hero playing quarterback for the Red Deer All-Stars. His athletic fame spread and soon he was in great demand. Guelph, Ontario, made him a good offer and Lew accepted. It was here that the youth knew his first great sorrow.

Came Xenophanes

It seems that one of Llewellyn's admirers presented him with a pet rat as a token of great esteem. Lew became very fond of the rat and named him Xenophanes. The rodent was given comfortable quarters in the cellar. One day, however, Lew was descending the stairs and slipped, breaking his leg and Xenophanes. It was a great blow to both Lew and Xenophanes, but Lew recovered and Xenophanes did not. The broken-hearted lad, in an effort to forget his great misfortune, journeyed to Los Angeles and resumed his schooling in the Los Angeles High School, in which institution he became known as the village cut-up.

The roar of the great metropolis soon began to pall, and he came north to Santa Barbara, where he entered the local high school as a senior, causing quite a stir among feminine hearts.

After a successful year of political, dramatic, and social activities, Lew was graduated and left in the uncertainty of whether to enter S. B. S. C. or to matriculate at Paduca University. She finally decided for him, and he entered the State College. A freshman Lew was elected president of his class, and during his first two years here was prominent in student affairs. He is now a junior, a member of the Sigma Alpha Kappa fraternity, and president of the student body.

story, or the picture of a coward's regeneration. You can figure it out for yourself. Richard Arlen is the coward who develops into a brave man, Fay Wray is the girl, Clive Brook is a principal player and ought, in our opinion, be the leading man. So, that's that.

THESE AND THOSE

Sarah Jane, the new Eagle date-finder, has asked me to help her in her work; and I, in my simple way, have agreed to do so. However, instead of sending in their names, all those who wish my assistance in this rather delicate matter, must make personal application. They will be asked the following questions which they will be required to answer to the best of their abilities: (Those questions in the following list marked with the asterisk are intended for men only):

1. Give right name and address.
2. Where were you born, and if so, why?
3. Do you smoke, drink, chew, and if so, what?
4. Do you possess any of the Deadly Virtues? Where?
5. Are you left handed? Right-handed? Ambidextrous?
6. (*) Do you wear cords?
7. What has been your previous condition of servitude?
8. Have you a gas range in your kitchen and a sofa in your parlor or visa versa?
9. Do you take lemon in your tea? Do you experience any peculiar sensations while eating breakfast?
10. Do you accept or refute Pan-tages' alibi?

These questions have been carefully thought out and they are sure to give us all the information we need in finding the applicant a date.

You make a little candy fudge and then you take your hat.
You smile awhile and say good-night as sweetly as you can.
Now ain't that a Hell of an evening for a great big healthy man?

Eckhart, Frosh, Wins Cross Country Trials

Breaking last year's course record by nearly two minutes, John Eckhart, freshman, won the first time tryouts for the cross country team last Wednesday afternoon by stepping the 3 4-5 miles in 24:56 minutes. The old record was 26:08 minutes set by Chester Tubbs last year.

Coach Trimble was pleased with the times, but expects the boys to make better marks with a little more practice. He is getting them into shape for the meet with Redlands University.

Charlie Van Winkle was second in 26:4 minutes with Bob Imler close behind in 26:47. Marty Bredsteen was next in 27:4. Lawrence Parma, Harold Polley, Chester Tubbs, and Allan Ottley followed in close order. Tubbs was suffering from a pain in the side and was not up to his usual standard.

Student Opinion

Dear Editor:

In last week's Eagle we read an editorial suggesting a name for the athletic field. In the same issue we read that the Home Economics Department had been faced with a similar problem, and had solved it so successfully that we feel sure that the same method should be applied in the case of the field.

In name the practice cottage of the Home Economics Department the authorities reversed the words "a home," which made "Emoha." We quite agree with the editor that the field should have a distinctive title, and what could be more novel than "athletic field" reversed, or "Dleif Citelhta?"

We were also surprised to learn that the women, in their search for novelty, have resorted to military organization of garden parties. We read with amazement the headline in last week's Eagle that "Dean Gives Garden Party to Women in Squad."

Ericson Is Invited To Make Poly Survey

E. E. Ericson, head of the industrial education department, has been invited to make a survey of the California Polytechnic School at San Luis Obispo by Ben R. Crandall, president of the institution. Mr. Ericson was recommended by Sam H. Cohn, state deputy director of education.

The survey will take up the problems of class enrollment, equipment, housing, and instruction and supervision. Ericson left yesterday for the northern school and plans to return at the end of the week.

$13,000 Is Available For Improvement Work

Excavation for the proposed athletic field of the college in Mission Canyon will be completed before the Christmas holidays, according to estimates of workmen. Several million cubic feet of earth have to be removed from both sides of the canyon. One steam shovel is now being used for the work.

A total of $13,000 is available for the work on the field this year. This money was appropriated by the last state legislature. The fund is being spent at the approximate of $75 a day.

Peterson and Kent Reported Engaged

Cupid's unerring darts have claimed another State College couple, it was disclosed yesterday afternoon, when it was learned from authoritative sources that Miss Dorothea Peterson and James Kent are engaged.

Their engagement comes as no mild surprise to their many Santa Barbara friends, who had heard rumors of a reported engagement, although no announcement had been made. Miss Peterson, a sophomore, is prominent in school social work, while Mr. Kent is a prominent figure in men's athletics, having gained State monograms in both basketball and baseball.

First Orchestra Is Planned For College

Under the leadership of Clifford Leedy, Santa Barbara State College is to have its first orchestra. Several attempts have been made in the past to organize an orchestra among the students, but all failed.

Leedy is a graduate of the University of California, college of music. He was added to the faculty of the Santa Barbara State College as an assistant to Helen Manchee Barnett. Rehearsals will be held once a week. Later in the year when the orchestra is completely organized it will give a concert before the student body assembly.

COLLEGE TO CLASH WITH CARD SECONDS

Instead of a defensive team only, which held back the Occidental eleven, the Roadrunners will line up against the Stanford Grays at Palo Alto tomorrow with all the power and speed of an offensive group. Beef has been shifted to positions more for power than quickness, and backfield talent has been added to the line to add that snap and fast charge which Davis has been looking for.

Whether the new offensive style of play will be in any degree successful will be easily noticed when the local lads tangle with the northerners. Stanford depends mostly on offense in her games, and the Cardinal coach will be using some of "Pop" Warner's famous yard-gaining plays. The game will no doubt prove an exciting tilt as Davis himself used to coach the Grays two years ago, and it will be a meeting of two Warner type teams.

Changes In Line

George Barth and Albert Wade, though hard hitting, are too slow in getting under way in their old positions as guards, and Davis has shifted them to tackle jobs. Fred Imes and Francis Williams, who have both been playing in the backfield, can furnish the necessary speed wanted in the center of the line, and they will probably continue the rest of the season flanking Ralph Johnson, center. Ray Denno, who has been playing at tackle, has been changed to a guard. At the wing berths Howard McKibben and Gilbert Martin look fairly secure, with Hubert Sawyers a dangerous threat for an end position. Thayer Kessler, who played against Oxy while weak from a week's illness, didn't benefit any from a knock-out in the final quarter, and has been recuperating under medical care all this week. He will not play against Stanford, but is expected to climb into uniform again early next week. He will play tackle and fullback.

Cecil Hickman is eligible for the team and will probably resume his duties as quarterback. Bert Clemore, Walter Barnett, and Stanley Winters look good for halfback jobs, with Fred Pierucci stacking up as the starting fullback.

Grid Man, Sorority Officer Are Engaged

Mildred Randolph and Ralph Johnson, well known students on the campus, have surprised their many friends by announcing their engagement. Miss Randolph, a junior and corresponding secretary of Tau Gamma Sigma sorority, has been active on the campus and in the work of the Home Economics Department for the past two years. Ralph Johnson, also a junior, is a prominent and popular member of the football squad, playing the position of center. Miss Randolph is a resident of Santa Barbara, and also a graduate of the local high school. Ralph comes from Long Beach, his permanent home. No date has been set for the wedding.

100 STUDENTS ENTERTAINED BY CHURCHES

Over a hundred college students were entertained last Friday evening by the Christian Endeavor societies of the local churches, at the First Methodist Church. The party was held in order to acquaint the out-of-town students with those attending the local churches.

The party started with a bang at eight o'clock, with all assembled in the gym. Songs and other forms of amusement were carried on for the first half hour, after which the guests were entertained by the various church groups. Announcements on the Oxy game were made from time to time. Refreshments concluded the program.

EDITORIAL STAFF OF 'EAGLE' CHOSEN

The staff of the Eagle for the coming semester has been announced by the editor, Allan Ottley. It is larger than in previous years. Many of the members have been on the staff before or have had experience on other papers. Lawrence Parma, who is writing sports, has had experience on the local high school weekly. Carmie Janssens, a member of last year's staff is writing women's notes. The feature writers are Bernard Barnes and Marie Cochran. The editors' associates are Doris Rodehaver, Dora Woods, Emily Wood and Lucille Powers.

An experiment is being tried this year with the use of the journalism class as reporters. This gives the journalism students practical experience and augments the editorial staff as well. William Ashworth, head of the English department, will serve as faculty adviser.

Women's Notice

There are still a number, according to my records, who have not as yet paid their A. W. S. dues. These are only fifty cents and, although we are not making it compulsory, we would appreciate very much to have a one hundred per cent paid organization. The Girls' Club room, which is very extensively furnished, has taken a large amount of our ready money. For this reason all dues will be greatly appreciated.

Frosh Eleven Meets Santa Maria Varsity

Revenge and imitation will battle on the gridiron tomorrow at Santa Maria. The Marians will be out for blood to wash away the 18-0 defeat handed them earlier by the Roadrunners. The local frosh eleven is all hot for imitating its elders and winning from the northerners.

Gates Foss has a fine little defensive team, though it has not as yet been tried on offense. He has a nice passing attack, however. The Roadrunner chicks will line up as follows: Engelson and Huber, ends; Whitford and Ullman, tackles; Smith and Darby, guards; O'Reilly, center; Treloar and Dormann, halves; Greeson, quarterback; Greenough, fullback. Reserves—Lewis, guard; Hillman, tackle; Stuart, end; Shaug and Catchpole, halves.

BIRDS-I-VIEW

By Lawrence Parma

"They're out of their huddle. The ball's snapped. Reverse! Reverse! There goes Clemore with the ball! He slips by the secondary! He's away! Five, ten, fifteen, twenty yards! Look at that boy go! Oh! He's down. Fifteen thousand frenzied fans are wildly cheering the State team. First down and ten to go." And thus again, this time via the radio, the steady progress of Santa Barbara State was brought before all Southern California.

And it won't be long before "the fifteen thousand" will be imploring and beseeching Occidental to hold State—when the Roadrunners have marched down the field to the Tigers' one yard mark, and victory or defeat hangs in the balance. Pass that gastronomic galvanizing gin, Gibby, and we'll drink to the day.

The teams of Stanford, California, Southern Cal, Navy, Washington, Pittsburgh, Oregon State, Notre Dame, Alabama, Georgia Tech, Montana, St. Marys, and Army have performed in games that this scribe has witnessed, but with a clean conscience and a proud mien it can be truthfully said that none of them ever put up as game a battle against such overwhelming odds, or played such marvelous defensive football as this year's varsity did Friday night.

Besides marking a new era in Santa Barbara athletics, the epic struggle did more to make the Roadrunners a feared and respected rival in Southern Conference circles than a thousand victories over teams like Santa Maria J. C. Real admiration is accorded Coach Hal Davis and his hillside aggregation by numerous members of Southern California's sporting fraternity. Compliments won't be repeated here because it would be a hateful sight to see the team wearing sombreros due to expansion of the cranium.

We heard a husky varsity guard tell one of "Luke" Trimble's would-be boxers that he wouldn't take up fighting.

"No, sir," quoth the pigskin artist, limping away with a charley-horse, shiner, sore shoulder, and numerous cuts and bruises, "I wouldn't box if you paid me. It's too damn rough."

Gosh, wonder if, after he got through the Oxy game, his mind was changed?

The sports editor of the College Humor magazine predicted a 7-0 victory over Santa Maria by the Roadrunners. What ho! If that is as closely as he follows Pacific Coast sports, this columnist will have to sneak in and get his job.

Beside Santa Barbara State, Stanford, Southern Cal and Yale are listed in the intercollegiate schedule on the desk here. Ho hum, they must be pretty fair teams, too.

Watch this space next week for details of our big contest.

COLLEGE-Y PROGRAM IS ATTENDED BY 35

Thirty-five men of the college attended the open house given by the College Y at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening and had a very enjoyable time gathering from the remarks heard after the affair.

The meeting was in charge of the recently organized College Y cabinet consisting of Virgil Gillum, Franklin Anderson, Llewellyn Goodfield, Charles Van Winkle and Dave Watson. Neil Trowbridge, activities secretary of the "Y" took charge of the arrangements in the building.

Games of ping-pong, pool and billiards were played in the lobby to open the evening's entertainment. Following these the men went to the gymnasium where more strenuous games were played under the direction of J. C. Lewis, physical director of the "Y." A swim in the pool followed this.

Refreshments consisting of ice-cream and cookies were served in the lobby and several talks were given. Gillum, President Clarence L. Phelps, W. M. Danner, Jr., general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., James H. Bullis and Trowbridge all gave short addresses following which the meeting adjourned.

Loss of Veterans Is Hard Blow to Tennis

Loss of Keith Gledhill, national junior singles and junior doubles champion, Robert Koke, last year varsity member, and Kenton Noble, dealt a hard blow to State College tennis for this season, but Coach Hal Davis is not "throwing up the sponge" in any sense of those words. He says he has some excellent material from last year's squad, Eddie Davens and Howard Lane leading the list.

Four other players may show up as varsity material. They are Walt Barnett, "Stew" Thompson, "Marty" Bredsteen and "Army" Kessler.

Oiy, Oiy, Ikey, and such monies we made on de Oxy game. Oh, yeah?

Rozelle to Glover, made it first down on the 14 yard line. The invaders battered through to the 1 1/2 yard line, where the Roadrunners became invincible, and an incomplete pass over the goal gave them the ball on their 20 yard line. A kick, and Oxy started another trek down the turf, only to lose the oval when Clemore fell on a fumble on the 17 yard line. Another kick and another Oxy attack brought the ball to the 24 yard line where three incomplete passes threw them back ten yards. State held Oxy on downs and, assisted by a 15-yard penalty, worked the ball to the 40 yard line as the half ended.

After several punts Oxy got possession of the ball on the mid-stripe and carried the pigskin to a first down on the 8 yard line. Some strong holding and a flying tackle by Pierucci kept the invaders back, and Santa Barbara took the ball on downs. Instead of the expected punt, Clemore was given the ball for an end run, but Beebe broke through and spilled him behind the goal line for a safety and two points. Score, Oxy 8, Santa Barbara, 0.

The final quarter saw Oxy open up with a stubborn attack which carried the ball for a first down on the 13 yard line. A fumble gave the Staters the ball on their 10 yard line, but it only delayed the drive, for soon Elliott was pounding through for short gains until he took the white leather over for another score. Score, Oxy 14, Santa Barbara 0.

A continual Bengal attack carried the ball to the 8 yard line where a pass was intercepted. On the next play Clemore almost got away for a score. He ran 22 yards, shaking off one tackler, but was stopped by two Tigers on the 30 yard line. With a minute to play the Roadrunners opened with a passing attack which was promptly smothered. The game ended with Elliott being run out of bounds in midfield.
