

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL DISCARDS CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT PROPOSAL

Stan McGinley

by Bruce Loebs

In an unexpected decision, reached after hours of deliberation, the Legislative Council voted to discard the proposed Constitutional amendment providing for a special judicial council. The meeting was held Tuesday evening in the Huddle.

The proposed amendment, which was printed in its entirety in last week's El Gaucho, would have established a judicial council with far-reaching powers to interpret the Constitution and By-Laws, and rule on the constitutionality of acts of the Legislative Council.

This measure was drawn up in committee and initially presented in last week's meeting. Final action had been postponed pending further study.

Lengthy Deliberation

After hearing more than two hours of discussion on various aspects of the amendment, the Council voted by a 7-4 margin to reject the judicial council. A three-fourths vote of the 15 voting members of the legislative body was required before the amendment could have been placed before the student body for final approval in a special election.

Reasons for Rejection

After Tuesday's marathon meeting, which did not adjourn until after 11 p.m., President

Jerry Combs summed up the Council's reasons for not adopting the amendment as follows:

"The Council members felt that they should not relinquish a great amount of power to a committee of four members when they are the elected representatives of the people. They felt that the judicial committee would not be free of political considerations, and perhaps the members of the committee would not be overly qualified because those interested students are already on the Legislative Council."

Had the judicial amendment passed, it would have given the judicial council the power to rule null and void any act of the Legislative Council which it felt to be unconstitutional.

Too Much Power

However, final decision would have been reserved to the Legislative Council, but it would have required a three-fourths vote of that body to over-ride the judicial council.

Many of the members were not willing to give the proposed judicial council this much power.

New Committee

After the measure was defeated, the Council voted to establish a Constitution Revision Committee, to be chaired by AMS President Stan McGinley. Mc-

GINLEY also headed the committee which drew up the judicial council proposal.

The purpose of this new committee is to study and recommend possible changes in the present Constitution and By-Laws. The need for such revisions has been shown in the past.

Other Council Action

In other Council action, Lenart Gille, Student Union chairman, was appointed to head the Library Committee.

A proposal to allow additional time for skit tryouts for the Galloping Gaucho Review was defeated, 7 to 4, after considerable discussion.

Thursday night, Nov. 7, is the opening night of the Galloping Gaucho Review, which consists of skits from campus organizations, living groups, sororities and fraternities. A highlight of the evening will be the crowning of the Homecoming queen and her court. The show starts at 8 p.m.

Volleyball Enthusiasts

All men interested in participating in six-man single "A" volleyball competition this semester are invited to meet in the Huddle at noon Oct. 29. For further information contact Les Meredith or Bill Conway.

Hardin Lecture on 'Evils of Clarity' Continues All-College Lecture Series

by Louis G. Robinson

Tuesday, Oct. 22, Dr. Garrett Hardin spoke on "The Evils of Clarity" in continuation of the weekly All-College Lecture Series. Before a full crowd in the Classroom Auditorium, Dr. Hardin clarified the statement of the lecture topic by defining the modern obstructions to clarity.

Hardin opened the lecture by stating that the language of a particular society will necessarily dictate its thinking patterns and that the main function of language is that of communication and thinking. He stated that clarity is not so essential in communication but that it is of utmost importance to the thinking process. "Clarity of language is primary; we see the world around us in the way our language allows us to see it," said Hardin. "The elaboration of nouns has caused us to demand the active of all concrete terms."

The English language, said Hardin, always has a doer plus a following action. This is not so in some other languages. In the English language a wave (which is in itself always a moving form) must always break, and so forth. Other languages, Hardin feels, are perhaps superior to ours in that a moving action or an object pertaining to a moving motion is always described as such in the context of defining that word.

Dr. Hardin further feels that this ambiguity in our language has been the cause of the slowing down of science. He gave as examples the immediate definition of the germ theory once it was conceived in contrast to the vitamin theory. The germ theory, he feels, was easily taken to because many of the terms then popular ("devils cause illness," etc.) could easily be transposed to accept the idea of the germ. In contrast, the vitamin theory was not so easily understood because many popular cliches dealing with vitamin terminology stood in the way.

Hardin concluded his talk by saying that our language has to be revamped to allow for a categorical analysis of new-popular terminology.

QUEEN CANDIDATE

Because of the poor turnout of Homecoming queen candidates the Legislative Council voted Tuesday to extend the deadline for signups until this afternoon at 4 p.m.

Ellie Kooser, Special Events chairman, reported that as of Tuesday only nine applications were received. It was felt by the Council that the additional time will give more groups an opportunity to present contestants.

SBC Team Competes In Forensics Tourney

Santa Barbara College got off to a good start in the field of intercollegiate forensics last Saturday at the San Diego practice tournament, according to Dr. Upton Palmer, chairman of the Speech Department.

Three of the upper-division women entered in the tournament—Janice Asper, Peggy Jo Hugans and Yvonne Bonsall—received a ranking of "superior" in the category of oral interpretation. Miss Asper also received an "excellent" rating in oratory.

After this success, the SBC forensics team is looking forward to the novice debate tournament at El Camino College on Nov. 2. This activity will be for individuals who never have debated before. The debate topic for this year is: "Resolved that the requirement of membership in a labor organization as a condition of employment should be illegal." Each debating team is required to discuss both sides of the issue.

Dr. Palmer announced that Santa Barbara College plans to send about 10 people to the Los Angeles City College practice debate on Nov. 8 and 9.

In past years the Gaucho forensics teams have been outstanding. Two years ago the women's team was first in the Western women's upper division in oral interpretation, and four years ago the men of SBC placed first and second in the Western division for oral interpretation. Dr. Palmer is definitely optimistic about the team's performance in the coming months.

Cal Rooters Need Tickets, Not Cards

Tickets for the All-Cal game, to be held at the Coliseum on Nov. 2, are on sale at the Graduate Manager's office now. These tickets are required for admission to both the UCSB-Davis tilt in the morning and the UCLA-Berkeley game in the afternoon, and are available for $1.75. Student Body cards presented at the rooting section.

Reserved tickets for parents and non-students of UCSB can be purchased for $3.50. The seats will be located in the same area as the rooters' section if desired.

Bob Lorden, Graduate Manager, said, "These $1.75 tickets are for the Gauchos' reserved section. They cannot be purchased at the game. Sales will definitely close at 4 p.m., Oct. 29."

ITALIAN STRAW HAT SEARCH NOW IN PROGRESS AS CASTING IS COMPLETED

WANTED! "AN ITALIAN STRAW HAT!" Dr. Stanley Glenn, director of the play of the same name, is searching for a talented hat to fill an important role.

Students are invited to bring their hats (be sure and pin your name to your offering) to the Speech Department office in Bldg. 417 in the next two weeks. The owner of the most suitable hat, in the opinion of the judges, Dr. Glenn and Robert Crumb, will receive four complimentary tickets to the play, to be presented in the Little Theater Nov. 14, 15, 16, 21, 22 and 23.

Dr. Glenn was quoted as saying that he preferred a real Italian straw hat with poppies if possible, but that he would not inquire too closely into the nationality of the right hat.

"An Italian Straw Hat" is a delightful French comedy by Eugene Lacleche and Mark-Michel that centers around a frustrated bridegroom's attempts to marry the girl of his choice, rid himself

GAME CANCELLED WITH CAL POLY

An outbreak of flu among the members of the Santa Barbara College football team has caused cancellation of the scheduled game between the Gauchos and Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo tomorrow night. The game was to be Cal Poly's annual homecoming celebration.

Santa Barbara's director of athletics, Dr. Willie Wilton, announced that "it is with regret that we are forced to cancel the game at this late date, especially in view of the fact that it is Cal Poly's homecoming game. But when only 21 men turned out for practice Monday, we ordered a thorough physical examination for each team member, and when that examination was completed the team physician, Dr. Wilfred Robbins, gave orders that 18 players could not take part in any physical activity for the next few days. Included in the 18 are all of the tackles on the squad and three other first-stringers.

"Every attempt will be made to reschedule the game for the end of the season," continued Wilton.

Cal Poly would have been trying for their fifth straight win in a row without a defeat and Santa Barbara for its fourth win against a single loss.

The San Luis Obispo team was forced to cancel its scheduled game with San Diego State earlier in the season when flu cut its squad down to a handful.

Recital Canceled

The Dorothy Westra recital, scheduled for this Sunday, has been postponed until Sunday, Nov. 3, at 4 p.m. The recital will take place in the UCSB Auditorium and will feature selections by Debussy, de Fallas and Hugo Wolf.

of an unwanted female guest occupying his bedroom, and placate his suspicious future father-in-law, who believes that "one must observe the decencies" at all times.

The action takes place in Paris in the year 1850. Mr. Crumb, technical director, will supervise the construction of the elaborate sets which will be in the flowing, rococo style typical of that period.

A cast of 35 thespians has been assembled to entertain the students of Santa Barbara. There are some new faces present, although many will be familiar to audiences of "Country Girl," "Macbeth" and "House of Bernarda Alba."

Laurin Lewis is cast in the leading role of Fadinard, the troubled bridegroom, with Annette McDonald as Helene, his

Pops Concert Given By SBC Orchestra

The University Orchestra will present its first "pops" concert of the semester Thursday, Oct. 31, at noon in the UCSB auditorium, under the direction of Dr. Maurice Faulkner, director and associate professor of music.

Students, faculty, employees and friends of the University are invited to bring their lunches and attend this event.

Musical selections from Bach to Gershwin will be featured. Jean Cook, soprano, will sing "Summertime" from "Porgy and Bess." Tschaikowsky's "Italian Caprice," tunes from Jerome Kern's "Showboat" and the folk tune "When Johnny Comes Marching Home" are among the selections to be played.

'Ugetsu' Presented Next Wednesday

The first in a series of films will be presented by the Associated Students Assembly Committee next Wednesday in the Classroom Auditorium at 7 p.m. The first movie is the Japanese film, "Ugetsu."

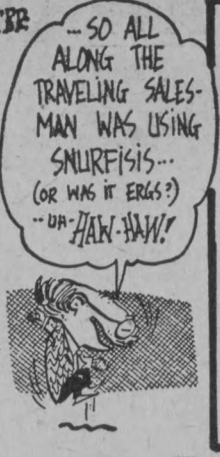

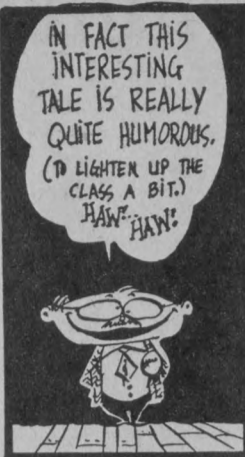

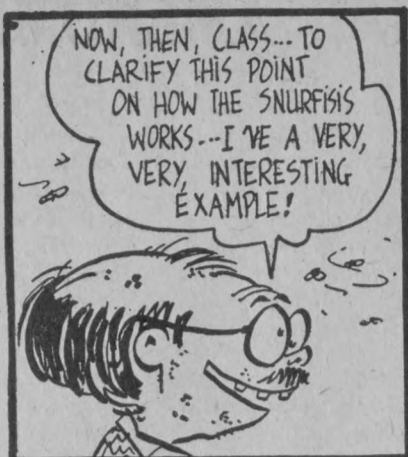

This movie received the grand prize, Venice Film Festival. Originally billed as a successor to "Rasho Mon," "Ugetsu" is, in fact, quite a different type of film and artistically superior.

The story takes place in 16th century Japan and concerns two peasant neighbors who see the opportunity to fulfill their own desires in the confusion of fighting and pillaging by feudal armies. Each travels to the city, the potter hoping to become rich and the farmer craving military glory.

"Ugetsu" is brilliantly made, its scenes alternating between the violence of the military and the magical, eerie quality of the magnificent Lady Wakasa sequence.

There will be no admission charge for any of the movies of this series. Some coming attractions are "Umberto D," "Game of Love," "Open City" and "Eternal Return."

ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE CONTROL ACT RULES EXPLAINED AS 'EL GAUCHO' ASSUMES ROLE OF CAMPUS INFORMER

An article appeared in the Oct. 11 issue of El Gaucho concerning California state laws with regard to drunk driving and sales of liquor to minors. Appearing in the article was the comment that "It is now illegal also for a minor to sit at a table with a person drinking an alcoholic beverage in any establishment whether restaurant or bar."

In actual context, this statement is incorrect in that a minor is allowed to sit at a table with a person consuming alcoholic beverages if the establishment is operating under an "On Sale General License." According to the Santa Barbara Office of the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control, prescribed by the department.

"Public premises does not include dining or club cars, passenger ships, airplanes, or bona fide clubs after such clubs have been lawfully operated for not less than one year; nor does it include premises in which beer is the only alcoholic beverage sold and served for consumption upon the premises."

Actually, the problem doesn't hinge on whether or not a minor is sitting at a table with persons consuming liquor; Section 25665 of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Act prohibits minors from being in an establishment licensed as a "public premise." The law states:

"Any person under the age of 21 years who enters and remains in a licensed public premises without lawful business therein is guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100)."

being in an establishment licensed as a "public premise." The law states:

"Any person under the age of 21 years who enters and remains in a licensed public premises without lawful business therein is guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100)."

In effect, this section places the responsibility of ascertaining that all persons on the premises are of age with the licensee. However, the minor is responsible and liable to a fine if he is in such an establishment. The fine in-

By Popular Consent . . .

Once again the male segment of the student body has been given the opportunity of making its opinion known regarding feminine pulchritude. Recently the Legislative Council passed a by-law change to the effect that this year's Homecoming queen would be, at least in part, chosen by a large part of the student body. In the past, in accordance with the student body constitutional by-laws, the Homecoming queen "shall be selected each year by a committee of judges appointed by the President of the Associated Students in conjunction with the Special Events Committee and approved by the Legislative Council."

The Homecoming queen is traditionally the representation of the feminine beauty boasted by the college she represents; to have a small group make this choice hardly seems fair.

Under the newly adopted method, the men on campus have the opportunity to choose the coed they feel exemplifies this beauty. It is all very well that a small group of judges can deliberate and take into account such things as a three-point grade average, talent in various fields and the like, all supposedly being very objective, but I for one strongly favor the subjective method where I can vote for whom I see and believe fulfills this idea of beauty. To me, beauty is its own excuse for being.

To be able to say "The fairest of them all" during the queen's reign is a tribute, not only to the school but also to the college royalty.

The queen and her court can feel proud in knowing that in the eyes of their fellow students they represent, to them, the male American's personification of beauty, charm, grace and poise.

A vote, by the student body, in this case the male segment, is the only feasible way to place a queen on the throne of Santa Barbara royalty.

True, this is purely a subjective method of choosing but if the end result is kept in mind, it is the only logical way of selecting a coed who will reign by "popular consent."

NEWLY-APPOINTED LANGUAGE INSTRUCTOR COMPARES UCSBC TO FOREIGN UNIVERSITIES

Santa Barbara College affords a pleasant contrast for Ursula Mahlendorf, newly appointed instructor in foreign languages here. Miss Mahlendorf, a refugee of East Germany, has studied in Universitaet Tuebingen and Universitaet Bonn, Germany; London University, England; Pembroke College and, most recently, Brown University, in the U.S. Miss Mahlendorf is awaiting word on the acceptance of her doctoral thesis from the latter institution.

Familiar with the older types of institutions, Miss Mahlendorf finds the atmosphere of Santa Barbara College more fluid, with a greater feeling of vitality lent by the UC campus's expansion and development. The students here on the West Coast seem a little dissimilar from European and Atlantic seaboard scholars, although the subtle differences Miss Mahlendorf finds hard to define. It seems that here they are, perhaps, "a bit more carefree—their movements, even, seem freer."

Particularly enjoyed by Miss Mahlendorf is the more relaxed relationship between teachers and students of the American universities. "The German university is pretty much isolated from the public," she explained. "The student is of little concern to the instructor, which is understandable when you consider that the lecture audiences in most of the classes number upwards of 200 people. This situation might tend to separate the professor from contact with reality," she mused.

Miss Mahlendorf asserts that the generally held feeling that the European academic system is superior is not at all accurate. "On the contrary, you receive more financial assistance in your research. You have a number of activities such as plays, concerts, lectures, and so forth, that I appreciate very much.

"Policy is formed by the deans of the four faculties in Germany," she continued. "The process here is more democratic—everyone has a part in it. It may take longer to make decisions and to get things done, but it seems to work out better."

Miss Mahlendorf commented on other contrasts between the several universities she has attended. European professors live within a social aristocracy that permits them little contact with the public, she said. In Germany the university professor carries such prestige within the community that his opinions on any given matter are considered very carefully.

In America, where the community is apt to be more critical of university professors, there is the advantage of offsetting the "ivory tower" atmosphere.

Miss Mahlendorf's impression of life in Santa Barbara: "It seems strange to live in such a beautiful place all the time—to be impressed with it every day. I have never known such a halcyon climate—it takes some getting used to."

TUCKER'S GROVE HOSTS BICYCLE TREK AND PICNIC

Bicyclists will wheel to Tucker's Grove Sunday, Oct. 27, in a faculty-student "Bicycle Trek." Sponsored by the Recreation Control Board, the group will assemble in the main parking lot at 10 Sunday morning.

Students living on campus should sign up at Las Casitas Dining Hall for bag lunches; off-campus participants should prepare their own picnic lunches.

Recreational games and contests will add to the afternoon entertainment. Non-bicyclists are invited to drive to Tucker's Grove.

THIS IS JUST ONE OF THE MANY exciting scenes to be seen this Friday in "Sun, Sea and Surf," a two-hour movie to be shown in the Campus Auditorium at 8 p.m. The film, sponsored by Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, features the American longboard surfing championships, 15- to 20-foot board surfing in Hawaii, and scenes of Southern California surfing areas. The two-hour all-color film will be followed by a stag or drag dance.

Greek Houses Offer Jrs. Monetary Help

Three sororities and four fraternities have donated financial assistance to the Junior Class in order to promote a new activity at All-Cal weekend. Sigma Phi Epsilon, Pi Beta Phi, Alpha Delta Pi, Chi Omega, Sigma Tau Gamma, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Delta Tau Delta have pledged support in the coming Inter-School Junior Class open house at All-Cal.

According to Bob Kieding, the event has been planned by UCSB Junior Class Council in conjunction with Bob Kaufman's Juniors at UCLA, Davis, Riverside and Berkeley. There will be an expected attendance of over 1000 at the UCLA fraternity which is hosting the event and which, it is reported, has a swimming pool. A popular jazz band will keep things lively as will a large supply of liquid refreshment.

Express Gratitude

Members of the Junior Council here have expressed their gratitude to the organization's help in presenting this event and have extended admission to all of their members. With this exception, admission will be by Junior Class cards.

"A lot of work has gone into this event," reports Mavrene Mahoney, Junior Class V.P. "The band will be of high caliber and the location is quite spectacular. The open house should be one of the highlights of All-Cal weekend. Class government needs backing to raise its status and these six Greek groups have been of notable assistance."

CAL POLY GAME CANCELLED

SANTA BARBARA SEEKS UPSET WIN IN TOMORROW NIGHT'S BIG GAME

by Russ Hoyt

Now comes the big test for Coach Ed Cody's Gauchos gridders. After splitting two non-conference games, Santa Barbara has come on with a rush and has demolished both Los Angeles State and Long Beach State. Tomorrow night in San Luis Obispo the Gauchos will have a chance to show just what they can do against some really top-flight competition.

Tomorrow's Gaucho opponent is our traditional rival Cal Poly, for years one of the top small-college independents of the West. The Mustangs have one of their typically great ball clubs, being unbeaten in four contests this year. The San Luis Obispo outfit proved its worth last week as it downed powerful Fresno State, 14-7. Some think the Mustangs have their best ball club in their history.

Judging from the Gauchos' performance of the past two weeks, the UCSB eleven is quite capable of playing some really great football. Two weeks ago they ran roughshod over L.A. State, 39-0, and last week they completely outclassed the Long Beach State Forty-Niners, 28-7.

The flu-ridden Gauchos convinced Long Beach that they have a large quantity of that stuff which makes the difference between a winner and a loser on the gridiron—desire.

Last week's win, accomplished despite the loss of several key men who were struck down with the flu, must be judged a complete team victory. If the Gaucho spirit remains as high as it was last week, and indeed it should, then the Mustangs could be in for a real surprise tomorrow night.

If any individual Gaucho is to be given special acclaim for last week's victory, that person must be quarterback Don Trauthen. Trauthen passed for two touchdowns and scored a third on a 23-yard bootleg play. The 185-pound Nebraskan mixed his plays well and threw effectively when necessary.

Bruce Varner, Johnny Morris and Duke Ellington again proved their worth as ball carriers.

The alert Gaucho defense hauled down three enemy passes and recovered four of five Long Beach fumbles, which made the Gaucho cause much, much easier.

The Gaucho line play has shown tremendous improvement. The men up front—

Schumaker, Pullman, Snider, Lopez, Whalen, Schaack, Dyas, Hoover and Lyons—have enabled the Gaucho backs to romp against their last two opponents. These men succeeded in pushing both the L.A. State and Long Beach linemen all over the field.

Santa Barbara will have to be at its best if it hopes to contain Poly's sensational backfield combination of Don Delgado and Walt Gurney.

In addition to Poly's 14-7 conquest of Fresno State, its unbeaten string includes these victims: Linfield of Oregon (32-7), New Mexico A&M (18-0) and Pepperdine (32-18).

Game time tomorrow is 8:15 p.m. at San Luis Obispo's Poly Stadium.

Water-Polo Team To Meet Cal Poly

Santa Barbara's fast-improving water-polo team travels tomorrow to meet the Cal Poly "tankmen" at 3 p.m. The Gauchos are in search of their first win after dropping their first four engagements.

The starting lineup for the Gauchos will be: CF, Stan Guth; F, Ron Wilmot and Don Smith; CB, Bill Bryson; G, Les Meredith and Bob Bowen, and Goalie, Brian Hurst.

Also making the trip will be Bob Myashiro, Walt Switkin, Eddie Nelson, Neil Blanc and Warren Glaser.

Gaucho Harriers To Meet With Mustangs

Tomorrow Coach Nick Carter takes his cross-country team to San Luis Obispo to clash with Cal Poly. The meet is scheduled for 3 p.m. Running for the Blue and Gold will be Bill Collins, Raul Yanez, Ned Wilson, Jerry Mullins, Rosendo Castillo, Herb Leipea and Paul Stein.

SPORTS SCENE

by Mike Kahn

Traditional Big Game

Tomorrow night's football game renews a 35-year-old series between Santa Barbara College and California Polytechnic College. Through the years this rivalry has produced many a thrilling game. Only during the past few years, because of inequality in teams and the break-up of the CCAA, has this traditional game lost some of its lustre as the "Big Game."

In 1922 Santa Barbara State Teachers College fielded its first football team and its opening game, in the school's football history, was none other than Cal Poly; Santa Barbara lost 7-13, but turned the tables 22-6 the following year. There seems to be some confusion as to whether the 1924 contest was a track meet or football game; Santa Barbara won 85-42 (must have been before the invention of tackling).

Cal Poly failed to field a team from 1933 to 1940. Then Santa Barbara dropped the sport from 1941 to 1946. In 1946 the rivalry was renewed and the teams have played every year since then with the exception of last year. It was following the war that the rivalry between these schools reached its height. Often a victory by the underdog team would make for a successful season, and this year is no exception.

Going into tomorrow night's game the series stands: Gauchos eight wins, Cal Poly nine wins, with one tie. Both teams will be fighting hard for the win. Cal Poly will try to maintain their unbeaten record in this, their homecoming game. The Gauchos have not beaten Poly since 1950 and feel this is the year. This is the best team on the Gaucho schedule and, being undefeated, schedule (Linfield College, San Diego State, Pepperdine and, of course, Long Beach State). The Long Beach team was very much impressed with the Gauchos after being beaten last Friday night. Comments from some of their players ranged from "By far the best team we have seen" to "Santa Barbara would beat San Diego by two touchdowns."

Cal Poly can hardly afford to regard the Gauchos as a push-over. It's conceivable that Poly will be looking ahead to their game with San Jose State the following week.

Can the Gauchos' speed and hustle pull an upset? Yes, and as soon as the Mustangs let down for a second they'll find themselves on the short end of the score; Ellington around end, Varner up the middle, or Morris from any angle can ruin the Mustang homecoming.

Since football games are won and lost in the line, the upset depends on the ability of the Gaucho linemen to rise to the occasion. Varner has solved the extra-point problem. He kicked them with perfect consistency last Friday night. This I feel will be the margin of victory: Santa Barbara by a p.a.t.

the win for Santa Barbara is highly coveted.

This game marks the homecoming for two Gauchos. End Kelly Hoover and fullback Bruce Varner are both San Luis Obispo products. No doubt the senior Varner will give his best to repeat last week's tremendous performance for his home-town fans.

Cal Poly, after beating Fresno State, must be considered the best small-college team in California and possibly the West.

The Mustangs are really cocky in their attitude towards this game. They stated publicly that they scheduled Santa Barbara for the homecoming game only because the Gauchos are the weakest team on their schedule.

Santa Barbara would beat at least four of the teams on their
