UREY BLASTS IKE ADMINISTRATION

Calls Leadership 'Weakest This Century', Says United Nations Can't Prevent War

(Editor's Note—Nobel prize-winning scientist Dr. Harold Urey, one of the creators of the atomic bomb and one of America's most honored researchers, granted El Gaucho an exclusive interview yesterday, prior to speaking on campus. Below is the first of a two-part report of this interview. In this first installment, Dr. Urey explains why he feels the Eisenhower administration is the weakest of this century, why he feels the UN cannot prevent World War III and his views on the missile lag and other world problems. The second installment will feature Urey's comments on some aspects of scientific research).

Is there any hope for an agreement with Russia on a nuclear test ban?

"I have not been following these discussions closely. I am not concerned with them actively. I read occasionally what is happening and that is all. I think that negotiation with the Soviet Union is going to be exceedingly discouraging. They have no intention to accommodate themselves to the Western World at all. I think it well to continue to try, but I don't expect any results. My estimate may be wrong. Mr. Khrushchev will negotiate with us only if we give in and only to that extent. They will not give in an inch."

Should the U.S. base its defense structure on nuclear weapons?

"I feel that it has been a great mistake to let down on the ordinary defenses of the United States. We did come through all right with Quemoy and Matsu and with the Lebanon situation. We were wholly unable to back up a determined effort. The other side decided that this was not the time and the place to do something. When we are asked to put up more than a token force, it may crumble."

"This is something to worry about because there still will be trouble centers around the world. If we wish to stand up against such troubles effectively we must be able to back up our stands with a great deal of power and we should hope that the power would be adequate without using atomic bombs."

"As soon as they are used, everything will be used on both sides and it will go off like tinder . . . It is bad that we have an administration in Washington that feeds us barbiturates and tranquilizers all the time. It doesn't even cause a ripple that we are falling behind in these things. We are being seriously misled by our leaders, the President in particular, on matters of defense in the United States."

"I wish to fight it by increasing taxes and the increased taxes have to pay for the defense of the United States. We should all realize we have this problem to cope with."

What can be the consequences of the missile lag?

"There are many submarines around with effective bombs and if the 'people's democracies' demand that we have a summit conference and we don't pay attention to it, I can outline that these

Saturday is the date for the annual Alpha Delta Pi King of Diamonds dance when gals will escort guys to the all-school event. The dance begins at 8 p.m. at the Rockwood Women's Club.

One of the main features of the evening will be the crowning of a King and two Princes to reign supreme as the King of Diamonds.

There will be seven fraternity men competing for the King of Diamonds crown and bring the perpetual trophy to the sorority house sponsoring them. Last year John Pleasant sponsored by Delta Gamma was the winning candidate.

King Candidates

Vying for the crown are: Dave Quisling, sponsored by Pi Beta Phi; Duke Ellington, entered by Chi Omega; Gil Romoff, candidate of Kappa Alpha Theta; John Lauritzen, entered by Delta Zeta; John Geoghan, candidate of Alpha Phi; Keith LeMotte, sponsored by Delta Gamma and Zeta Kappa rooting for Henry Duke.

Voting At Door

Alpha Delta Pi President Sharon Cody will reveal the winner at intermission Saturday night. Voting to choose the king and two princes will take place at the door the night of the dance. Pictures of candidates are now on display around campus.

Tickets are on sale for $2 in front of the Student Union. "We urge all you gals to ask your dates now and pick up your bids early, since only a limited number of bids are available," advises Miss Cody.

Dietz Dance Concert Tonight, Tomorrow

The fourth annual solo dance concert by Margaret Dietz will be performed tonight and tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. at the Repertory Theatre. Her program will consist of a variety of themes, including "Prelude," "Contrasts," "Portrayals," "Orbital" and "Thoughts."

Offices open are president, first and second vice-president, secretary and treasurer. Sign-ups will close March 13 and elections will be held March 17 and 18.

Project India Trip Confab Tomorrow

All students interested in Project India are invited to the orientation and interview session tomorrow at 3 p.m. in the New Classroom Building Auditorium.

The purpose of this meeting is to describe more fully the requirements and opportunities for students interested in the program of person to person contact with Indian College Students.

The project began seven years ago when a discussion group at the University Religious Conference heard a missionary describe the situation in India as tense but not hopeless and indicate that Americans could do a real job simply by being alert and concerned while in that country.

A vital requirement for prospective team members is that they have a full year in school upon return to participate in speaking engagements in this area.

RHA WORKSHOP CONVENES TODAY

by Linda Garver

The spring semester RHA workshop will be held today and tomorrow at the Circle Bar B Guest Ranch a few miles north of Refugio Beach.

The goal of this year's workshop according to president Lon Robinson, is to put a new constitution into effect and to schedule a semester with more social functions than previous terms.

According to Robinson, "recreation lagged last semester, but we now have money to build up the recreational facilities on campus and to add to them."

Revised Constitution

One of the specific matters that will be brought up is the revised RHA constitution. Although passed by last semester's council, the constitution must be adopted by the new council before it can be brought before the students.

Robinson stated, "The constitution is aimed at the growth of RHA in an attempt to set up a council organization that would carry over into the future."

"I feel that it has been accurately thought out and written up so that the future problems can be solved as they arise."

Semester's Plans

Following a dinner Friday evening, there will be a keynote speaker and then presentation of a general format of the workshop and an introduction of plans for the semester.

Fiscalini Tops Wert For Rep Position, Warren, Hall Win

John Fiscalini scored an easy win over Gay Wert in the race for the vacant Men's Rep at Large position in last week's special elections. Fiscalini polled 365 votes to 220 for Wert.

In the other two open offices, Charles Warren defeated Melville Sayhun in a close race for the Non Affiliated Men's Rep position, 37-32. David Hall won the AMS President's job over Ned Wilson 162-148.

Fiscalini, who is also IFC President, and Warren, who holds his first office at UCSB, will be voting members of the Legislative Council.

Fiscalini was "very happy" after hearing of the results. "I wasn't sure I would win," he explained, "you never know what will happen in an election."

Asked why he defeated Wert so handily, the new Men's Rep explained, "I guess it is because I know more people and have been here longer. I expect to give the students some real intelligent representation and work to the best of my ability and capacity."

The men's rep office became vacant when Vic McKeever resigned after the first semester. Frank Rath filled the non affiliated job before moving on campus, thus becoming ineligible. Bruce Patterson did not make his grades the first semester and was ineligible to hold the AMS presidency.

Dr. Green Named To Ford Seminar

H. A. John Green, assistant professor of economics at UCSB, has been selected for membership in the Ford Foundation's Faculty Research Seminar in Economics, it was announced by the Chancellor's office.

This seminar will be held during the summer in Berkeley and will be conducted by Prof. Andreas Papandreu, chairman of the department of economics at UC, Berkeley. The topic is "The Theory of the Firm."

MARCH 14 DATE OF MILITARY BALL

The annual Military Ball will be held Saturday March 14 at the Rockwood Women's Club. The Student Body is invited to the Ball which is sponsored by Scabbard and Blade and the Colonel's Coeds.

The Ball this year will feature a Grand March, the first at an all-school dance. There will also be a special floor show and the crowning of the queen. The queen will be chosen at the door from three finalists to be selected this coming week.

Bids are available at the Graduate Manager's Office or from any member of Scabbard and Blade or the Colonel's Coeds.

Living Groups Host Clergy For Talks

Fraternities, sororities, dorms and other living groups have invited clergy to speak on the first three nights of Religion in Life Week. Monday night the fraternities and sororities will host men of various denominations for dinner and an informal discussion afterward.

The men, Rabbis, Priests and Ministers will present their thoughts on the relevance of faith in a world grown more and more science oriented.

Tuesday night clergy will visit several of the dorms in the Las Casitas area and Lobero Residence Hall in Santa Barbara. All town girls are invited to the discussion at the Lobero following dinner.

Wednesday night will see a panel of a Catholic priest, a Jewish rabbi and a Protestant minister, as guests of Santa Rosa Hall. The trio will have dinner with the welcoming committee in the Laguna Dining Commons and present a panel in Santa Rosa at 7 p.m.

Julie Felix, Fred Vesper Picked For Leads In 'Romeo and Juliet,' Dr. Glenn Directs

by Linda Garver

Julie Felix and Fred Vesper have been chosen to play the lead roles in the Little Theatre production of William Shakespeare's classic tragedy Romeo and Juliet. The play will open May 7.

Director Stanley Glenn told El Gaucho, "I chose 'Romeo and Juliet' mainly because I like doing Shakespeare and because I think every higher institution should present a Shakespearean play at least every other year."

Miss Felix was last seen on the UCSB stage in "Italian Straw Hat." She also played in "House of Bernada Alba."

Vesper portrayed the lawyer in the fall production "A View From the Bridge."

Cast in the role of the nurse is Gail Anderson, a transfer from San Jose State. Robert Crumb of the Speech and Drama Department Staff will play Mercutio. Dr. Theodore Hatlen will play Friar Lawrence.

Others in the large cast are Diane Percell, Irene Schilling, Ruth Harrison, Cindy Flower, Sylvia House, Georgia Crampton, Sally Whitaker, Mike Benette.

Huxley Discusses World Issues In Interview

Author-Lecturer Talks About Christianity, Foreign Policy, Beat Generation, Schools

Author and lecturer Aldous Huxley praised Christianity and Faulkner and knocked U.S. foreign policy and the Beat Generation in an exclusive El Gauchito interview this week.

Asked if he felt Christianity was a dying religion (as his biologist brother Julian intimated in his book New Bottles for New Wine), Huxley responded, "I think that Christianity, rather than dying out, can and will adapt itself to a changing world. It is perfectly capable of taking on new ideas, for the new liberal Christianity has new forms that were once unthinkable and has abandoned ideas once thought indispensable."

"Adaptation comes in of itself. We tend to preserve forms while still taking in new substance. It seems sure that certain absolute Christian values—as the doctrine of love and the idea of the Fatherhead—will remain unchanged. But new answers will be found in Christianity for new problems that arise in society."

U.S. Policy Unclear

On U.S. foreign policy, Huxley named "lack of a clear-cut ideology" as our most serious failing. "The totalitarian countries have a perfectly clear idea of what they want, while we have only the most unclear statement of what we are after."

"I don't mean that we need one strong man to impose one will, but it is time to get together and formulate a clear policy, think out some actual statement of what the West wants. I suppose that one of the difficulties of a democratic government is the difficulty of getting one clear statement that represents the wishes of millions of people, but the need is great and the time is short."

Disarmament Must Begin

On nuclear weapons: "Some form of disarmament must begin. I frankly don't know if there is a workable solution, but I hope to goodness there is. The tragedy is that, even in a time of peace, the contamination of the air and the soil may lead to crisis."

"We are playing with something we don't really know about. We may know the short-range effects, but we know so little about the eventual consequences, over generations."

Faulkner and Hemingway

Asked about writers who have influenced him, Huxley named the French authors who were current in his youth—Proust, Gide and others—as well as Balzac and Anatole France. Going on, he said, "I think that one of the finest writers of today is William Faulkner. He is uneven, but he is good. He has a poetic quality that I like."

Of Hemingway, "He has concentrated on basic problems—for example passion—to the exclusion, all too often, of the intellectual aspects of man. These intellectual aspects, though they might seem stuffy, are there all the time. They can't be ignored."

"That work of art which harmonizes the greatest amount into the whole is the greatest work of art. That is why, for example, War and Peace is a greater work than, say, a book by Hemingway. Tolstoy is a monumental artist."

Beat Generation

On the Beat Generation, "I frankly don't think this group has had much effect on literature, or will have. They harp too much on one string. The subject of the human being is a much larger affair."

"And any form of literature that doesn't give a truer picture of the world doesn't have lasting influence, since it is one-sided and limited in scope. The Lost Generation, as it was called, had a little wider scope—but not much."

About youth in general, Huxley said, "I can appreciate the feeling of apprehension that must surround young people today. In my youth we lived under the delusion that we were entering an atmosphere of reason, sanity and peace."

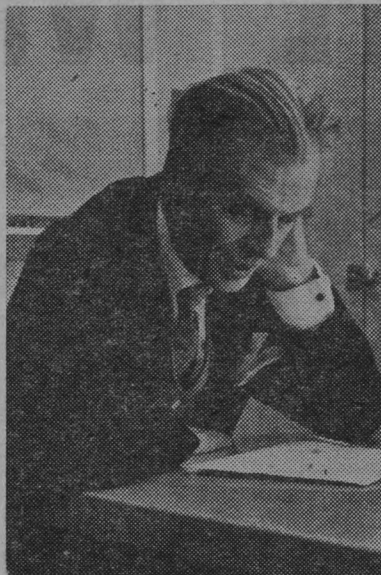

Bomb-Filled Future

"The young people today face a future filled with atom bombs, international tension and an exploding population and I can well understand the strange sense of apprehension and increasing insecurity felt."

"Also in my youth society was well stratified. We felt that we knew where we stood, we knew what was what. Today's society is

"Christianity Can Adapt . . ."

"No Clear Policy . . ."

"Faulkner Is the Finest . . ."

fluid and labile and that feeling of being secure in one's proper place is gone.

"Other changes have taken place since I was in school, of course. Then, the universities were rather an aristocratic institution. That's been gotten rid of now, with state schools and scholarships and so forth."

Segregation By Ability

"There has been some talk here of segregating students according to ability and this seems to make considerable sense. When I was at English public school—you would call it private school—we were enrolled and graded according to our ability. I would usually be in the first form in most things and, I'm sorry to say, in the third or fourth form in mathematics. I was never much use in mathematics. The system, however, seemed to work quite well."

"I am surprised, I must say, to find things on the curricula of American schools like the social arts and marriage relationships and so forth. These subjects used to be left to the home."

"Now the parents have handed these things to the experts. It does seem that this is an admission of some sort of fault in the family. If this is so, it would be one more source of insecurity for the youth."

Huxley, who for many years has had impaired vision, said of himself, "I had always wanted to become a doctor and I am sure that if all had been normal I would have done something in medicine. I am sure, though, that I would have moved on into writing eventually nevertheless."

Huxley's next in a series of public lectures will be Monday at 4 in the UCSB campus auditorium.

VALUE OF FAITH KNOWN BY DR. JOSEPH KAPLAN

by Lee Story, Publicity Chairman
Religion In Life Week

Dr. Joseph Kaplan, the featured speaker for Religion in Life Week and recent chairman of the National Committee to the International Geophysical Year, will address the student body in the campus auditorium, Wednesday March 4 at 11 a.m.

Dr. Kaplan reacted enthusiastically to the theme of Religion in Life Week, "A Living Faith for a Changing World." The world is changing," he agreed. Because of his own experience and active participation in the tremendous scientific advances of the last decade, it is not surprising that he should conclude this. During the second world war he served as chief of the Operations Analysis Section of the Second Air Force and later of the Air Weather Service.

One of the scientific giants of its organization, Dr. Kaplan believes that this far-reaching quest for more knowledge of the secrets of our universe "will never end, at least not in spirit. It will go on and on."

However, in spite of his impressive list of scientific achievements, Dr. Kaplan is not a walking IBM machine, but a genuinely warm and human person, who is very much concerned with the question, "What kind of a world have we created?"

As Dr. Kaplan is a professor at UCLA, some of his concern is naturally directed towards the aspect of education. It is within the universities that students are supposed to be instructed in preparation for our "changing world."

UCSB's Decision

Dr. Kaplan pointed out in a recent interview that the University of California at Santa Barbara is faced with making an important decision. The university is expanding rapidly and much of its future character depends upon the nature of the plans assumed now. In order to provide responsible future citizens from the campus community, UCSB must determine its aims and purposes. "Where are we going? What are our values?" Dr. Kaplan asks us.

An important decision had to be made in Dr. Kaplan's life too. At the rise of his career, when he received his doctorate from Johns Hopkins University, he began to be recognized for his brilliant work on the nature of active hydrogen and nitrogen, especially in their relation to the excitation of the green auroral line in the laboratory.

Hard-Boiled or Human?

It was during this period he had to determine in what direction his work would take him. Would he devote his life completely to his studies and risk becoming a hard-boiled research scientist? Or, would he become a more humane person, developing interests in the leadership of his community, religious affairs and matters concerning the university where he had begun to teach?

Dr. Kaplan decided upon the latter. In serving the community of West Los Angeles, his present residence, he acted as president of the Rotary Club and Chairman of the Coordinating Council. Through his contributions in time and energy towards the American Friends of the Hebrew University, he became president of the Southern California Chapter.

Encourages Athletics

In the affairs of the university, Dr. Kaplan has been equally active, his interests including athletics as well as science. Athletics, Dr. Kaplan believes, should play an important part in the curriculum of any educational institution. This, he says, is because "they put a premium on performance" and encourage the student to "strive for the element of perfection."

Dr. Kaplan's dual concern for religious and educational matters has led him to endorse the activities of the University Religious Conference. It is his opinion that the URC has groped and fought with the problem of giving the students more than what a classroom situation can offer. From his own experience as a geophysicist he has found that science leads one to a contemplation of the universe and the unknown. He acknowledges that "It was faith in the geophysical year" that contributed to its success.

It may be said, then, that Dr. Kaplan will be welcomed to this campus as one of the best-qualified men to discuss, "A Living Faith for a Changing World."

BULL SESSIONS ON FOUR FAITHS SET FOR HUDDLE

An important part of Religion in Life Week will be the bull sessions held in the Huddle of the Student Union each day, with the exception of Wednesday, at 12 noon. Several notable spokesmen for various religious faiths will be on campus at this time.

Monday's session will include three experts on the Eastern religions, Dr. D. MacKenzie Brown, George Takaya and Ishag Shahuijav. Judaism will be the topic on Tuesday with Rabbis Max H. Kert and Joseph Glaser available to speak and answer questions.

Thursday, the Reverends George Hall, Edward Ray, Charles Cooper and Walter Weiss will compose a panel on Protestantism. Fathers Virgil, Quiros and Harvey will discuss Catholicism on Friday.

Students are encouraged to bring questions to these informal sessions and may feel free to eat their lunches in the Huddle while the discussion is going on.

The bull sessions are designed to meet the need for expression, one of the four-fold aims of Religion in Life Week.

It is hoped that many students will take advantage of this unique opportunity and attend these noon programs.

Faculty-Clergy Panel Discussion Features Rabbi Kert, Rev. Kearns, Dr. Voskuyl

Rabbi Max H. Kert, Reverend Paul S. Kearns and Dr. Roger Voskuyl, President of Westmont College will be the featured speakers on the panel "Faith and Education in a Changing World." The discussion is one of the features of Religion in Life Week which begins Sunday.

Rabbi Kert has led a varied and interesting life. A Canadian by birth, he spent part of his early life in the Gold Rush Country of northern Canada.

He was educated at the University of Manitoba and did graduate work at New York University, the Jewish Theological Seminary and the Hebrew Theological Seminary. After becoming a Rabbi in 1938, he was in the Olympic Jewish Temple in Los Angeles.

Rev. Kearns

Coming to Santa Barbara especially for Religion in Life Week is the Reverend Kearns, Associate Secretary of the Department of Campus Christian Life of the United Presbyterian Church.

Kearns is a graduate of Colorado College and holds the B. D. degree from McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago.

Westmont President

Dr. Voskuyl can claim achievements other than education. After graduating from Hope College, he attended Harvard University where he received his PhD in Chemistry in 1938.

He immediately began teaching his specialty at Wheaton College in Illinois where he spent the next 12 years except for a two-year leave of absence during World War II.

Religion Week Has Variety of Displays

A special attraction during Religion in Life Week are the displays provided by the Religious Advisors Council of the University Religious Conference. They will be located in the new classroom building and the Student Book Store.

The new classroom building displays will be housed in three of the display cases there. Newman Movement Advisor Fr. William Harvey will show objects and book titles important to the Catholic Church.

Rabbi Max H. Kert, advisor to the Hillel Council of Jewish Students, will utilize several ancient books and items of religious significance to the Jewish tradition.

Coffee and Religion Mixed Next Week

Free coffee will be served in the Huddle at 4 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of Religion in Life Week. All students are invited to attend.

The purpose of the coffee hour is to provide an informal situation for students to discuss all phases of religion with faculty members and clergy.

Since one of the purposes of the week is to encourage thought about religion, the Religion in Life executive committee felt that students, faculty and clergy would feel free to think and express themselves at an informal coffee hour.

Members of Spurs will be serving coffee during the hour.

SOLONS SELECT BROWN, WERT TO MAJOR JOBS

Covell Brown was appointed the new chairman of Finance Committee and Gay Wert was named to head the Standards Committee by the Legislative Council Tuesday night.

The third vacant position, Recreation Control Board, went unfilled because nobody applied. The matter was referred to the Constitution Committee. Here the necessity of continuing the RCB will be studied.

In other important actions, a tentative amendment to the AS constitution which would have given the AS President the power to appoint committee and board chairman with the approval of council and dismiss chairmen without council recourse, was defeated.

Tentative Change

The council did tentatively approve a constitutional change to eliminate the IFC, Pan Hellenic and Residence Hall President's from non-voting positions on council.

Council's proposed constitution amendments must be voted on by the student body in the Spring election.

The attempt to give additional authority to the AS President carried 7-5 but did not receive the 3/4 support. Bill Harris spoke against the proposal, pointing out that it would be impossible for the president to be impartial when making his appointments. Harris also stated that the change would be unfair, unjust and undemocratic.

More Responsible

George Hart and Carolyn Jones favored the change saying that it would make the chairmen more responsible. They pointed out that since the burden of responsibility for the actions of student government rests ultimately with the president, he should be allowed to appoint and dismiss committee chairmen.

The Council approved a new plan changing the term of office for Spectrum editors. The term of office for the editor will begin at mid-semester rather than at the start of the year.

Council rejected having either Cy Zetner or Claude Gordon for the Barbary Coast Dance. Les Brown's band, who has been performing for the dance, is not available this year. The Social Committee is currently making further contacts in an effort to get a "name" orchestra.

A special committee to study the parking situation on campus was provided by council.

Plans Progressing For Student Center.

by Neila Loeb

Plans are rapidly progressing on the new Student Center which may be completed by 1963. An overall planning committee, the Student Center Building Subcommittee headed by Dr. Lyle Reynolds has contacted the architects and given them the space allotment and the list of facilities desired.

The building is planned to be larger than the Arts Building which is nearing completion. It will be several stories high and located between the present dining commons and the music building.

It is estimated that actual construction time will be two years. This means the building will need to be started before '61.

The Center has been envisioned by the committee as a future focal point for student activities. With this in mind they have planned to include bowling alleys, recreation rooms with billiard tables and pingpong tables, a ballroom, special shops and adequate room for the student government operations including AS publications.

Plans for the Student Center have been thus far based on the figure of 10 usable sq. ft. per enrolled student. The projected enrollment of 10,000 has been taken into consideration in the planning of the Center.

The actual building may be built in sections to avoid upkeep of unused space. Ideally, the building program will coincide with the growth of the student body.

The building is expected to cost approximately six million dollars. Monies thus far collected for the Center total about $800.

KAPLAN TALK

The Kick-off Dinner will preview the week for the 300 students attending. Executive Chairman, Eric Bruckner, will outline the activities to be held and the opportunities for discussion and other participation open to all students on campus.

Aims of Week

In a recent interview Bruckner indicated the aims of the week are four-fold; stimulation, introspection, expression and application.

"If the week gives students a chance to hear spokesmen of the various religions, stimulates them to think, provides the opportunity to discuss their own feelings and to apply them in their own lives the week will be a success," concluded Bruckner.

Registration Deadlines

Friday, Feb. 27, is the last day for adding courses. Friday is also the last day for petitioning for change of program without paying an additional fee.

RELIGION IN LIFE WEEK—MARCH 1-8

THE COPY CAT...

by Pat Gower

Bring out the mononucleosis remedies . . . the long WILD weekend is over! Wandering around the SU in various stages of fatigue on Tuesday were the students-turned-skiers, the three-day-non-stop-party-goers and the adventurous tourists.

In the first category were a number of Alpha Delta Pi's who invaded Badger Pass Saturday for a two-day holiday . . . accompanied by some Cal-Poly ski enthusiasts. Ski boots and parkas are now on all the girls' Christmas lists and their small talk proves they've learned new meanings for such words as "powder," "track," "rope," "smashed" and "suave."

At Snow Summit enjoying the offerings of the white wilderness were Judy Hunt and Harriet Harvey and Sharon Foley made it to Frazier Park with the JC crowd . . . A side comment — The bookstore had better replenish its supply of SKI magazine.

In the party realm this past weekend were the Kappa Sigs with a steak barbecue at their Cabrillo stomping grounds. We heard the music was good and the steaks were HUGE . . . Saturday night in Isla Vista Norm Prigge welcomed the art lovers to his abode for a soiree of sorts

"San Francisco will never recover" is the comment from Chi O's Judy Wolf, Patta Stevens, Anne Bonnie, Lu Simmons and Janis Silver. Crazy time was had by all! . . . Other travelers afar, as far as Tucson, Arizona, were Mary Lou Thompson, Marlene Gillette, Henry Duke and Phil McMillan who crossed the Cal border for the Arizona Inter-Collegiate Tennis Tournament.

Midst all the weekend excitement some pinning and engagement news happened to come our way. Chi O's Carole Lewis, Rosemary Deauville and Sally Moore, recent recipients of SAE pins, were jointly serenaded Tuesday night. Respectively, they are pinned to George Baldwin, Pat McKinga and Russ Symonds . . . On Valentine's Day Theta Dianne Ferrill announced her engagement to Howard Crawford and plans for a June wedding . . . ADPi Caroline Rehbock received a diamond ring for her twenty-second birthday Sunday night and announced her engagement Monday to Jerry Harter, a Delta Sigma Pi from down south. Aug. 22 is the wedding date.

King Candidates Discuss Coeds

There are seven "King of Diamond's" candidates, each with this to say about a "major" UCSB issue:

DO YOU THINK THE PRESENT RATIO OF MEN TO WOMEN HAS ANY EFFECT ON THE BEHAVIOR OF THE UCSB MALE?

John Geohagan '59: Definitely . . . he's more casual . . . doesn't have to keep the shoes so shined or shirt tucked in . . . but the engineering department will change things.

Henry Duke '59: Yes . . . Elem Ed majors are mostly female . . . which gives fellows more confidence . . . and a lax attitude.

Duke Ellington '59: No . . . boys act the same no matter what the ratio is.

John Lauritzen '61: More girls . . . make things easier . . . but the presence of the SU has the best effect on husseling.

Keith La Motte '60: Yes . . . It gives a guy more confidence.

Dave Quisling '61: No! . . . But I don't feel like changing the ratio.

Gil Romoff '60: Boys are more serious than when . . . I was a was a freshman . . . but not as result of ratio . . . which is evening out.

Jim Nuckolls, Staff Work on Making 'Beautiful People'

by Janice Asper

What makes people beautiful? One extremely important consideration is the picture they present and that is the problem of Jim Nuckolls, in charge of lights for the production of "The Beautiful People" to be presented in the campus Little Theatre March 5, 6, 7, 12, 13 and 14. The play is a whimsical comedy by William Saroyan, a character as colorful as the people he writes about.

From the technical viewpoint Nuckolls has two major problems. First, the mood of the play is light and airy. A great deal of its charm comes from the effective presentation of people separated, if ever so slightly, from the harsh realities of the world.

Special Lighting

Special lighting is necessary to produce this effect. The second problem is the physical limitations of the Little Theatre. As Nuckolls wryly put it "We don't have a proper auditorium, enough equipment or space, but then, you don't have far to go to find a plug."

Although the play has a single stage setting the problem of lighting is compounded as, in addition to the interior of the Jonah

Webster home, the set reveals a portion of the front porch and a hill in the background which must appear to be far away.

To the uninitiated the difference between interior and exterior light may be negligible but it is important on stage where realism is secondary to achieving a plastic three-dimensional effect.

Professional Experience

Nuckolls is a sophomore business major at UCSB. His experience in lighting comes from working in professional theatre with a San Francisco company supplying lighting for many major productions including the opera.

Other members of the technical staff include Arnold Shapiro, stage manager, Ann Zantop, properties, Shirley Smith, costume, Fred Witt, sound, Laurie Stevens and Pat Hayes, assistants to Nuckolls, Nancy Brooks, make-up, Ken Kagiwada, assistant to the technical director.

CAL POLY JINX BAFFLES UCSB ONCE AGAIN, 75-59

by Wils Winnek
Sports Writer

FINALE — John Fitzgerald is one of four Seniors who will be playing last game for Gauchos tonight at Fresno State.

The Cal Poly Mustangs made it four straight basketball wins over the University of California, Santa Barbara last Saturday night with a 75-59 victory in the National Guard Armory.

Coach Art Gallon's crew hasn't been able to corral the Mustangs since the final game of the 1958 season when they turned the trick, 76-60.

The story of last Saturday's game was short. A cold band of Gauchos were completely outclassed by the bigger and faster Cal Poly team, as the Mustangs led from the opening tip and were never in trouble.

Fifteen minutes into the first half the Gauchos had tied the game at 20-20. But Joe Rycraw put the visitors back into the lead almost immediately with a lay-in and from that moment the winners were never headed. At intermission, Poly led 29-22.

Rycraw paced the Mustangs with 19 points. However, the evening's scoring honors went to Gaucho guard Frank Bennett, who netted 20 points. Bennett was the only UCSB player who could seem to find the range consistently throughout the contest.

Dennis Nielson, who has been a consistent outside point-getter for Gallon, was held scoreless until the last ten minutes of the game when he was able to drop in five baskets for ten points. Gene Freeman, the only other Gaucho to hit the double figures, ended with 12.

Poly dominated both backboards, which gave the Gauchos only a single shot at their own bucket during most of the game, while many of the Mustang points came from tip-ins and close follow shots. UCSB was out-rebounded 55-47, which, coupled with their inability to hit the basket, spelled defeat for the Gallonmen in their final home appearance of the season.

Freshman Cagers End Season With Record, 84-70 Loss

A record-shattering 108-71 victory and a loss to powerful Hancock Junior College coupled to close the final chapter of the University of California at Santa Barbara's first Freshman basketball season.

Coach Frank Rohter's Gaucho yearlings finished their 16-game season with an even 8-8 record, polishing off the Cal Poly Freshmen for the second time this season with a lopsided 37-point triumph before losing an 84-70 decision to Hancock, the nation's third-best JC cage power.

Thirty-five points from Pete Sachse, the team's leading scorer for the season, and 27 more from guard Dick Palmer helped to boost the Frosh over the century mark, good enough for a new individual game scoring record. Sachse's individual shooting display also established a new mark.

The Bulldogs, however, polished up their 23-3 record with their second straight conquest of UCSB, beating back a second-half surge by the Gauchos to post a 14-point victory.

Santa Barbara, leading early in the game, fell behind, 41-24 at the half, but rallied to cut the Hancock lead to four points midway through the final round before the Bulldogs began to pull away.

Palmer paced the Frosh scoring, cashing in on his outside jump shots for 24 points.

GaUCHO HorsehidErs Open Practice Play Against Alumni Nine Tomorrow Afternoon

by Tom Morgan
Sports Editor

Coach Rene Rochelle and his University of California, Santa Barbara baseballers usher in the 1959 season tomorrow afternoon.

The Gauchos lift the lid on a nine-game practice stand at the campus diamond when they entertain a talented Alumni team in a 2 p.m. contest.

Expecting to field a stronger team than last season's squad which finished with a mediocre 13-12 record, Rochelle will have until April to ready his forces for conference action. Santa Barbara begins its weekend double-header routine next Friday at San Diego before playing for keeps starting at Los Angeles St. April 11.

The UCSB practice slate includes such formidable foes as USC's defending NCAA champions, UCLA and a pair of games against cross-town rival Westmont.

Wet grounds have slowed up the Gaucho practice sessions over the past three weeks, but the local horsehidErs will be in the thick of things, ready or not, by next weekend when they travel to San Diego to tackle the Naval Depot and Marine Recruiting Station squads in a Friday-Saturday twin bill.

Rochelle is planning to mold the Gaucho varsity around his four-man pitching staff, which includes veterans Jim Hezlep, Bill Wetzel and Fred Warricker along with newcomer Jim Escrignano, a transfer from Ventura Junior College. Warricker is the lone left-hander on the mound corps.

UCSB will have help in the infield from Bill Shortell, Santa Monica CC transfer, along with returnees Ned Perementer, Leon Schumaker, Dave Quisling and Ron Huesser.

Vaughn Wiph, a third-year man in the Gaucho lineup, will anchor Rochelle's starting outfield from his position in center field, while the other two fly-hawk posts remain a question mark for tomorrow's game.

GAUCHO FIVE CLOSES SCHEDULE TONIGHT

Bennett, Nielson Sum Up UCSB Basketball Season

(Editor's Note: Two of the four Senior members of this year's Gaucho basketball squad, guards Dennis Nielson and Frank Bennett, were interviewed by El Gaucho prior to tonight's game against Fresno State. Below are the questions and the replies of the two, who will be starting their final game for Santa Barbara.)

Are You Glad the Season Is Over?

Nielson—"I am."
Bennett—"I'm not. I like to play basketball. Every time we go out for a game it is like a new season, but it doesn't feel so good when we don't win."

Why Didn't the Gauchos Win More Games This Year?

Nielson—"Not enough home games and too tough competition at the start of the year."

Bennett—"We got some tough breaks. We could give anyone a good game, but we just couldn't win."

Was the Material Good Enough to Produce a Winner?

Bennett—"Man for man we were as good as anyone but the big schools. But our five best players were not always the best team. Somewhere we must have the combination to make the best team. There was some animosity on the squad, but not enough that it hurt us."

Nielson—"Our lack of height was not much of a factor. We proved that against UCLA."

Was the Coaching Adequate?

Bennett—"You can always use the coach as a whipping boy. I honestly think Gallon gave a 100% effort. He didn't get enough breaks. Certain people, myself included, didn't come through. I should have played better—been more consistent."

Nielson—"Gallon did the best job possible. He expected more of what he had and we didn't give it to him."

Is It Very Dissappointing to Play on a Losing Team?

Nielson—"Naturally it is disappointing in a way. It is an experience not to many people share. I learned a lot and gained a lot from it as a future coach. I think it did everyone some good to play on a losing squad."

Bennett—"I don't like it. I never played on a losing team before and never hope to again. Losing is something I lie awake at night thinking about."

What Was the Best Game This Year?

Nielson—"UCLA. We had a long time to build up for it. We were hoping we could make a good showing and not get stopped like everyone thought we would. We were real high and played together. It was almost a dream come true. At halftime when we were ahead by 11 points, we thought we could win."

Bennett—"UCLA was definitely our best game."

What Was the Gauchos Worst Game This Year?

Bennett—"Last Saturday's Poly game was on a par with the worst. The first Long Beach State game was sort of pathetic. Last Saturday night against Poly we had no heart—no fight. They scored and we just accepted it."

Nielson—"Last Saturday's game was the worst home game but not the worst game of all. New Mexico and Long Beach were the worst. Nobody was hitting against Poly Saturday."

Who Has the Best Team in the CCAA?

Bennett—"We played our best league game against Fresno and got beat, so I would say they are the best."

Nielson—"I would have to give the nod to Fresno, with San Diego a close second."

Will the Gauchos Be Better Next Year?

Bennett—"I would say they will be better, definitely. They will have a better record."

Nielson—"Well, Gallon has the talent. They can't help but have a better year. They will have three sophs back who started this year."

Did the Gauchos Lack the Desire to Win This Year?

Nielson—"We didn't lack the desire to win. It was just a case of being too individualistic. There are two principles to consider, what you want to do for yourself and what you should do for the team. Often we were worrying too much about ourselves. I am not eliminating myself from this, but we worried about our points and played for ourselves at times."

Bennett—"On this team nobody is head and shoulders over anyone else. Consequently we thought we had to score to start. This was one of our problems. When we should have looked for the other guy, we looked out for ourselves."

Hoping to salvage a few scraps of a dismal season, the University of California, Santa Barbara basketballers wind it up tonight against the favored Fresno State College Bulldogs in the "Raisin City" gym.

Times have changed since these two teams clashed in the Armory Feb. 6. Then the Gauchos were clinging to the thinnest championship hopes and Fresno led the CCAA.

Now, the Gauchos are in the league cellar with Long Beach State while the Bulldogs are virtually eliminated from the race as a result of their double loss to San Diego and Los Angeles State last weekend.

Despite a 4-19 record, the Gauchos still aren't conceding anything to the talented Fresnoans. "It's the last game and we'd like to go out on a win" declared UCSB captain and leading scorer Frank Bennett. "If we play the type of ball we are capable of, we can win."

"The boys will be trying hard" remarked Gallon. "They are not happy with the season and want to end on a winning note. Whether we are capable or not, I don't know. They still have Alcorn and we don't have a healthy center." John McMillan suffered a minor foot injury prior to the Cal Poly game last weekend, but still played; while Ed Haertel is still nursing a lame ankle.

Gallon will open with Gene Freeman and Joel Fleiss at forwards, either McMillan or Haertel at center and Bennett and Nielson at guards.

Tonight's will be the last game for four seniors, Bennett, Nielson, guard Carl Bosque and reserve center John Fitzgerald.

GAUCHO GUARDS—Dennis Nielson (left) and Frank Bennett (right) review the concluding basketball season. The Santa Barbara seniors talked of the poor (4-19) season record, explained some of the reasons for losing and discussed the bright spots of the year.

SHOP-EARLY FOR BEST APTS. . . .

(Editor's Note: The proposed plan of El Gaucho to carefully study the housing situation in the Isla Vista area has been terminated. The two reporters scheduled to make the study are unable to continue the work. The following is the final article of the series.)

Although there are many vacant apartments in Isla Vista now, the UCSB student housing office predicts they will all be filled in the fall. Many new units are being started throughout the area.

The building of these units has been hurried and as a result many are not up to par. El Gaucho has received many reports from students of the inferior quality of the apartments in which they live.

Careful Study Advised

The only solution El Gaucho can offer for this is that the students shop more carefully before they lease for the coming year. Hurried renting often results in disappointed renters. The student should bear in mind that he must live in the place for the coming year and plan accordingly.

The rent set by the apartment owners is usually $40 per student per month. The student should try to get the best quality for his money. Not all apartments are the same. Some of the newer houses have two baths, rugs on the floor and many other things which make them more desirable.

The student who makes arrangements earliest and most carefully will get the best apartments. Those who wait will be stuck with those which are not as good.

Apt. List Available

The housing office has a list of the apartments in the area. This list is available to any student who wishes a copy. El Gaucho recommends the students begin making arrangements now for the coming year.

Nothing can be done right now to improve the quality of some of the apartments in which students will be forced to live. It is hoped that as more apartments are erected the students will be able to avoid the poor quality apartments and force the owners to improve conditions.

The women students living off campus must live in approved housing. The deadline is nearing for them to make arrangements for the coming year. These students should contact the housing office as soon as possible.

For male students arrangements can be made independently with the apartment owners.

Some owners require a year lease, others do not. These and many other problems must be taken into consideration. If the students desire help in renting an apartment, the housing office will gladly oblige them.

OUR VEEP--UNTAPPED POTENTIAL . . .

(Editor's Note—This is the third in a series of editorials evaluating the first semester's work of the voting Legislative Council members.)

Carolyn Jones has not approached her potential ability as vice-president of the Associated Students.

During the campaign last year she told El Gaucho, "The vice-president should serve as a trouble shooter for the president and aid him in the investigation of important issues as they arise throughout the year."

No 'Trouble Shooter'

Miss Jones has not been that "trouble shooter." Only on rare occasions has she taken the lead in council meetings. This is unfortunate since, when she does speak, her contributions are sound.

In addition to her shortcomings as a council leader Miss Jones has not lived up to many of her campaign pledges. She promised to work for: 1) a board to establish better campus-town relations, 2) bull sessions by the Legislative Council, 3) regular office hours to discuss problems with students, 4) free assembly once per week, 5) traditional campus activities such as Ugly Man, Charities and Jr.-Sr. Prom.

With the exception of point five, this platform has not been carried out — in some instances not even attempted.

Many Leadership Qualities

Miss Jones has all of the qualities which go to make an outstanding council member. Rarely has anyone in UCSB student government been qualified to "trouble shoot" for the AS as Miss Jones.

She won the AWS award last year as the outstanding woman student on campus. She has had extensive training as a leader, as President of the Chi Omega Sorority and currently chairman of Cal Club. Miss Jones has had successful experience in forensics. She is extremely popular and respected by her fellow students. She can draw from four years of experience in student government.

Heightened Responsibility

However, her exceptional qualifications coupled with the fact that this year's council sorely needs capable leaders, only serves to heighten her responsibility.

Aside from her platform, Miss Jones has done a commendable job on the two AS elections to date. As a member of the ACB her advice is sought and respected since she was chairman of the board last year.

However, it is from the floor of council that Miss Jones can do the most good. The potential is there, no question about that. Once it is realized, the council and the whole school will be better off. will be bettered.

UREY INTERVIEW . . .

submarines can line up against the shores of the United States and knock out every city. They (Russia) intend to do this, I have no doubt whatever. The only thing holding them in check is the Strategic Air Command and the threat that their cities will be destroyed. If they could nullify this defense arm of the United States I could expect an ultimatum (from Russia) to be delivered immediately." Has the United States lacked great leaders in the last three administrations?

"No We had outstanding leadership under Roosevelt and Truman. The Eisenhower administration is the weakest administration in this century and will go down in history as the weakest administration of the century.

"If we are not careful it will be the last one. I don't know Eisenhower at all, but I know people who do. And they say that he is intelligent but doesn't work. He doesn't work at his job, he never has. I see no signs of any up-turning whatever."

Is war with Russia inevitable?

"No, I don't think so. It is more probable than any other outcome of world events. The reason I think so is that war is what people have always done. From the beginning of history they have wanted peace but the sort of things that have happened in this century, if you change names and dates, read like the history of the Pelloponesian Wars in the third century B.C. . . . What is likely to happen in an arms race is that at some state one or the other side thinks he can win the war and so the war starts. Germany thought she could win the war and this started it.

"It may happen that again somebody will think they can win the war. One cannot tell what the outcome will be."

Is the UN the answer to world peace?

"No, I don't think the United Nations can prevent war at all. They could not prevent the Korean War. They settled the Suez difficulty but they settled this difficulty by restoring the defeated party to its original position, with the forced acquiescence of the allies at our insistence. In no way did we meet any truculence that exists that is so dangerous . . . You might as well leave the United Nations working, it is not doing any harm, but it is not able to prevent a war."

Should the U.S. recognize Red China?

"I don't believe in recognizing crooks."

Rep. for B.A.C.
