Students Poll Favorites In Campus Election

Students of Santa Barbara College will be offered the opportunity to express their views on current problems and the impending national election through the medium of a campus poll next Thursday and Friday, sponsored by the International Relations Club. Polling booths will be located about the campus at strategic points where students may obtain ballots. Members of the club will assist in the voting procedure. All students, regardless of age, are eligible to cast their ballot in the poll.

Natalie Stewart, chairman of the polling committee, stressed the importance of the poll for students. "This is strictly a non-partisan poll, which, however, must have a sufficient number of students participating to make it representative," she stated. Other members of the committee include Betty Pellet and Marjorie Anderson.

Students will be polled on the presidential candidates, President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York; the vice presidential candidates, Senator Harry Truman of Missouri and Governor John Bricker of Ohio. Senatorial candidates listed on the ballot are Sheridan Downey and Fredrick Houser; congressional candidates included are George E. Outland, former faculty member of this college, and Fred Hart.

In addition there will be questions on issues of timely interest to all students. They will allow the student either two or three choices in answering. They include questions such as: Do you think we have a better chance to keep the peace if we join some kind of union of nations? Or if we rely on our own strength?

The questions, also being used by the National League of Women Voters, deal with the problem of postwar trade agreements, employment, government control of business and prices.

All votes will be tabulated by the

Noni Williams Takes Honors

Taking top honors in the annual freshman speech contest, Noni Williams won out over all comers last Thursday afternoon with a timely speech on "Delinquency."

Participants in the final round, which took place in the A.W.S. room, were Noni Williams, Pat Terhune, and Dot Simmons. Jim Costy and Sidney Hutchison were the officiating judges.

At the preliminary round, held the previous Tuesday, the three finalists were chosen from a group of contestants including Arnel Kuden, Ray Richart, Gwen Messenger, Harris Seed, and Elsa Aguirre. Judges of the first round were Marion Hammond, Dr. A. O. Mitchell, Sidney Hutchison, and Pat Neeley.

Under the rules of the contest each participant drew five speech topics dealing with current news events. After a short time allowed for preparation the contestant then spoke for five minutes on the topic of his choice. The subjects were: "The Future of China," "Delinquency," "Racial Prejudice," "Soldier Morale," "Opportunities for Teachers," "The United Nations," "Television," "It's a Small World," "Future of China," "The Golden Rule Today" and "Clean Up America First."

GIFTED PIANIST PERFORMS THURSDAY IN AUDITORIUM

By DORIS HOLT

"A whirlwind virtuoso and a sensitive poet"—so says Olin Downes, New York Times music critic, in speaking of Jeanette Savran, pianist who will play in the college auditorium next Thursday evening, October 26. She is described by the famous Joseph Hofmann as a "pianist of distinctly superlative qualities." Santa Barbara concert-goers will remember that the gifted musician was presented in recital this summer by Associated Artists, at which time she made a favorable impression with her excellent technique and depth of interpretation.

Miss Savran is a brilliant young American artist, who, though still in her early twenties, has had much experience. She is a graduate of Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia, where she was accepted as a pupil at the age of nine.

She has performed as soloist with the Philadelphia Orchestra under Leopold Stokowski, in Robin Hood Dell under Alexander Smallens and in the Hollywood Bowl under Richard Hageman. She has also to her credit three successful appearances last season with the Los Angeles Philharmonic.

The Atwater Kent Foundation will present Miss Savran in her third Carnegie Hall recital on January 29, after which event she will begin a cross-country concert tour.

The attractive young artist resides in Hollywood, coaching and studying with the noted Russian teacher and composer, Michael Kourilsky.

Miss Savran's program next Thursday will include the following: "Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue in D Minor," J. S. Bach; "Songs Without Words, Lost Happiness and Presto," Mendelssohn; "Sonata in B Flat Minor Opus 35," "Grave, Doppio Movimento; Scherzo; Piu Lento; March Funebre; and Presto, Chopin.

Miss Savran's second group is made up of "Elegy in E Flat Minor, Opus 3 No. 1" and "Prelude in G Minor, Opus 23 No. 5," Rachmaninoff; "Soliloque" and "The Dreadful Humoresque," Michael Kourilsky; "Nocturne in D Flat Major, Opus 9 No. 2," Scriabin; "Spanish Rhapsody No. 20, Liszt.

College students* will be admitted free with Associated Student body cards. Reserved seats will be 80 cents. General admission is 60 cents, and tickets for high school students and servicemen are 35 cents.

I. E. Department Holds Meeting

Industrial Education Department members met last night in room 216 on the Mesa campus.

President Ray Normandin was in charge of the meeting. Members discussed the page in the annual and plans for coming social events. Industrial Education keys were sold for 75 cents.

Students Honor Marines Tuesday With Reception

Marines enrolled on campus this semester will be honored guests at an informal faculty-student body reception to be given next Tuesday evening in the music hall from 9 to 10:45 p.m.

Students and faculty will greet the servicemen immediately following the Noyes' lecture in the auditorium. Angie McGarvin, social chairman, heads a committee making arrangements for the affair.

Mrs. McGarvin announced that music for dancing will be provided by the Marine band from the base. Later in the evening refreshments will be served.

"We hope to have a large turnout at this affair for the Marines. We want them to feel at home on campus while they are taking classes here. In order that they may know us and we may know them, let's make it a good party," the social chairman concluded.

SENIORS BREAKFAST AT ABRAHAM HOME

Seniors held their annual breakfast at the home of Mrs. Jane Abraham, 1721 Santa Barbara Street, last Sunday.

A big turnout of class members enjoyed good food and a talk by Mr. Lawrence Chenoweth, class sponsor, on "Educational Objectives." Betty Steele, senior social chairman, was in charge of the affair.

Juniors Host Halloween Dance

Starting their fall activities with a flourish, the junior class will hold a Halloween dance for all student body members at Montecito Country Club next Friday night from 9 to 12 p.m.

The dance is a date affair and admission will be free to all holders of student body cards. College-enrolled Marines and students who bring off-campus guests may obtain guest cards in the Dean of Women's office. Price of the cards is fifty cents.

Music for the dance will be provided by Doug Hoag's orchestra. The decorations will feature Halloween, with cornstalks and pumpkins. Black masks, purchased by the junior class, will be given all guests. Punch will be served.

"This dance promises to be one of the biggest events of the year, and we want a big turnout of students," stated Sam Hixon, vice-president of the junior class. "Since the dance is a date affair, there will be no stag-line," he concluded.

Chaperones for the affair include Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Mathews, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Girvetz, and Dr. William Ellison.

Sam Hixon is in charge, assisted by Alice Barnes, decorations; Virginia Landon, refreshments; and Betty Osterman, publicity.

Clarence Phelps, Mr. E. E. Erickson, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Chenoweth, and Mrs. Abraham.

Members of the junior class, directed by Virginia Landon, prepared and served the food.

Reno Life Attracts Noted Santa Barbara Instructor

Reno, home of the gay divorcees and slot machines, played host to Miss Elsie Pond during the summer session while she was busily engaged in teaching, of course.

The main object of the excursion was to instruct a psychology class and to delve into the wonders of mathematics with students ranging from 18 to 80. The mass of the uneducated in these fields was composed of service people and others coming back for refresher courses. Topping the group in several ways was a student of a mere eighty years who was best in the art of poor eyesight but compensated no end for it with the ambition and enthusiasm to learn.

Living quarters proved to be at a premium, with Miss Pond finally "aboding" in an apartment in one of the various fraternity houses. It was a fraternity house but occupied only by women during the summer session.

"Everyone goes to Lake Tahoe, so we made headquarters there one week-end too," remarked Miss Pond with a favorable light in her eyes. Pyramid Lake, Virginia City, and the Nevada Orphans Home also required week-end duty with Miss Pond approving very highly of the way in which the Nevadans went about taking care of their homeless children. "It seemed more like an actual home than an institution," she said.

"I spent a delightful summer with agreeable weather and snow-capped mountains making a picturesque background of the country, but after all, there is no place like Santa Barbara," Miss Pond concluded.

PASATIEMPO BY THE EDITOR

This week's number one story on the front page was to have been the freshmen rally. Then came the word at something approximating the eleventh hour that the story must be killed. Rally postponed the headline might have read—postponed because of lack of college spirit, postponed because frosh and the rest of us are clogging the rails, tying up transportation on the weekend.

For several weeks the word has been noised about that there would be a freshmen-bonfire rally tomorrow night. It would be a spectacular showing by the frosh and it would be an exhibition of good old class spirit.

Came the time to call for talent, freshmen talent. The story is a sad one indeed. After a three weeks recruiting campaign there were no takers. Frosh just weren't interested in participating in anything as commonplace as a freshmen rally.

The stock answer of freshmen when the talent committee came around was that everybody was going home for the weekend. Yes the trains and buses will be jammed this weekend as they are every other weekend with students who haven't yet been able to tear themselves away from the home ties.

It isn't only the freshmen who are deserting Santa Barbara on these fall weekends—it's a mass migration by upper and lower classmen alike.

Santa Barbara can't be so bad that we have to leave it bodily every Friday afternoon. We can't be such infants that we have to go home to mama every seven days—we could stay in town once in awhile!

Here's our gripe with the freshman class or with whoever thought up the idea of forcing a rally down the throats of the frosh in the first place. It would have been much more effective and helpful to everyone concerned if the rally had originally been scheduled right at the beginning of basketball season in December.

When plans were made three weeks ago for the rally the fact must have been considered that there would be no events to give impetus to the affair until the basketball season started. Why, we ask, was the date set for tomorrow night in the first place?

This is apparently a case where the ends were considered but not the means. This is a case where everyone concerned had to find out the hard way that it wouldn't work. This is a discredit to the freshman class and also to the group who originally instigated the idea.

Chenoweth Advises January Graduates

At the senior meeting held yesterday, Lawrence Chenoweth distributed papers necessary for those who plan to obtain teaching positions after graduation in January.

Chenoweth, head of the college placement bureau, was elected president of the Western Institutional Placement Bureau association at a recent meeting held in Los Angeles. He received this honor because of fine work done by his office during the past four years when almost 100 per cent of the graduates from Santa Barbara College were placed.

The association included thirty teacher-training institutions and colleges in California. As president, Chenoweth is in charge of a committee making a survey of the number of people being trained for teaching positions. Students are being recruited to replace the decrease of 65 per cent that has taken place in teaching staffs.

"It is hoped that by getting new students for training, the situation will be normal again by 1950," Chenoweth stated.

Phrateres Initiate New Members

Phrateres club held their formal initiation Monday night at 7:30 p.m. in the college auditorium. The main feature of the evening was the Phrateres certificates which were presented to each new member.

S.F.S., the new sub-chapter under the sponsorship of Jean Gier and Dolly Geisler announced that its membership would be limited to 25 members.

Sponsors attending the initiation were Miss Esther Firth, Las Meninas Club; Mrs. Blair Cameron, Nani Lelani Club; Miss Marion Hammond, Pu Ko How Club; Dr. Mary Erickson, Tous Les Temps Club; and Mrs. Rafaele Van Curen, Gnome Club.

YACHTERS ENJOY WEEKEND SAILING

Sailing and racing will be featured by members of the Gauchito Yacht Club again this weekend at West Beach.

Their regular meeting was held yesterday during noon hour. According to Coach Terry Dearborn, sponsor, there is still an opportunity for those interested in the organization to take a swimming test and become members.

Council Committee Meets To Plan Constitution Revision

Members of the council-appointed constitution committee met Monday night at the home of Harold Martin to discuss further changes in the present constitution.

The committee, headed by Willard May, plans to finish its work by November in order to allow time for a student body vote before Christmas vacation. The revised constitution must first meet the approval of the student council.

Because of the many defects in the present constitution, the committee has rewritten several articles; for instance, the yell leader is elected, yet he has no vote, and a general athletic manager is mentioned under awards, but his selection, powers and functions are not explained elsewhere.

Considerable discussion has been held concerning the composition of the legislative council. Under the present constitution there are some departments, such as music, athletics, speech and drama, with representation but no vote. The committee will recommend that this setup be changed.

At the last meeting the duties and powers of the graduate manager were outlined as well as the manner in which he is to be hired and fired.

There are two articles in the constitution that are almost certain to cause considerable debate; they are the qualifications of officers and committee members, and the manner in which elections are to be conducted. Neither of these are complete at present.

Working with May on this committee are Eleanor O'Boyle, Marian Agamalian, Art Porter, Dr. Hazel Severy and Harold Martin.

Sororities Entertain Faculty Sunday

Honoring members of the faculty and office staff, two sororities will present their annual teas Sunday afternoon.

Tau Gamma Sigma will entertain faculty members and their families from 3 to 5 at the home of Helen E. Barnett, faculty sponsor, at 1107 N. Nopal. With a tea table dressed in sorority colors, red and silver, members will act as hostesses.

In the receiving line will be Dr. Alma Beaver and Mrs. Barnett, sponsors; Ann Van Horn, president of the Alpha Alumni Chapter; and Maudie Bryant Etchart, president of the active chapter.

With autumn decorations, Alpha Theta Chi will present a faculty tea from 4 to 6 at the home of Anita Hitchcock, 427 S. Alisos St.

W.A.A. Members Plan Future Events

Plans for the coming basketball season were discussed at a dinner meeting held by the Women's Athletic Association, Wednesday, in room 30 at 5:30 p.m.

"The hockey season will be shortened in order to allow adequate time for basketball and other sports. Any group on campus is welcome to participate in intramural sports," stated Katherine Merritt, W.A.A. president.

Mitchell Announces Radio Programs

Intramural Tennis Matches Commence Next Week

Entries in the all-college intramural tennis tournament will be accepted through today with matches scheduled to begin next week, according to Coach Terry Dearborn. Flights will be prepared in men's and women's singles and doubles and in mixed doubles. Persons desiring to compete may sign up on the bulletin board in front of the gym and must pay an entrance fee of 25 cents for each flight in which they plan to play. A student intending to compete only in men's singles will pay 25 cents, while he will be charged 50 cents if he plans to enter both men's singles and either men's or mixed doubles. This entry fee, it is explained, has been necessitated in order that prizes may be secured for champions.

According to the rules governing this year's tournament, two out of three sets constitute a match during early rounds. Finalists will play the best three out of five sets for the title in each division. Matches must be arranged between competitors at a time convenient to both. Immediately upon the conclusion of each match, the winner or an official must submit the result to Bob Schottlund, intramural manager, or to Dearborn.

Pairings will be posted on the bulletin board Monday morning and all first round matches must be completed by Friday afternoon or both players must forfeit. All contestants will be held responsible for consulting the bulletin board and arranging their own matches.

Local Science Men Attend Meet

Chemistry and biology professors from various California colleges and universities gathered for a science seminar at Corona last week-end.

Representatives from Santa Barbara College included Dr. Elmer Noble, Dr. Frederick Addicott, Dr. Ernest L. Bickerdike, and Dr. Willard L. McRary. Others attended from University of California, Stanford, University of California at Los Angeles, California Institute of Technology, and Scripps Institute of Oceanology.

Purpose of the meeting was synchronization of viewpoints held by workers in several fields and to integrate students in those fields. The gathering was devoted to discussion of research carried on by

Casaba Games Start Tuesday

Official competition in the men's intramural basketball tournament begins next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the College gym as the four squads entered square off in two games. Spectator appeal will be the keynote Tuesday night as the teams in both games are evenly matched and should provide some exciting play.

First tip-off will be at 8 with the team of Burt, Elliott, Griffiths, Lawrence, and Zastro facing a combo composed of Archibald, Bradvica, Casier, Gorrindo, and a fifth man not yet known. No favorite can be picked in this game but the winners can be tabbed as having an excellent chance of walking off with the title.

Second game will begin at 9 p.m. and will pit Burroughs, Cocks, Getakys, Hixon, and Seed against a team chosen from Beye, Carlson, Dyck, Hansen, Normandin, Schottlund, and Williams.

The tournament will be conducted on a round-robin basis with all teams meeting at least twice. All games will be open to the entire student body without charge.

representatives from the institutions included in the seminar.

These meetings are held twice a year at either Stanford, University of California, or elsewhere in the southern area.

Local Football Attracts Grid Fans Tonight

Sports fans of Santa Barbara will be offered their second welcome serving of football tonight as the Santa Barbara high school "Dons" entertain a formidable Ventura eleven at 8 p.m. in Peabody Stadium.

While past performances of both squads will necessitate the local outfit being given the short end of pre-game odds, another display of courage such as was shown last Friday night may go a long way toward upsetting the apple cart.

Santa Barbara has played only one game, losing a heartbreaker to Fillmore, 12 to 8, last week. On the other hand, Ventura brings a squad which boasts a decisive win over Santa Paula, a team which earlier fought Fillmore to a standstill. Observers of the Ventura-Santa Paula tilt point out that the Santa Paulans' lone tally was made while the Ventura third-stringers were tearing holes in the gridiron.

Going out on a limb (will we never learn), El Gaucho is forced to predict a high-scoring game with the visitors winding up about three touchdowns in front.

Hicks Visits Campus

Betty Hicks, national women's golf champion will give an exhibition on campus next Friday afternoon under auspices of the women's physical education department, it was announced yesterday by Elizabeth Sehon, department head.

TYPOGRAPHY AUTHORITY TRACES DEVELOPMENTS IN PRINTING

"Changing the style of type to appeal to women is one of the recent developments in printing," Edward Crane, manager of the News-Press job shop, told members of the Newswriting class last Friday. "Until recently a light, feminine type was used in advertisements and books for women. Since the war a heavier, masculine style has been prominent," Crane explained. "This change has been due to women handling men's work."

Faced with many problems caused by the war, such as shortages in metal and paper, other important developments have been made in printing. "A common practice among newspapers today is to make slightly shorter and narrower," the speaker revealed. "The reader gets the same amount of news, but the cost of paper is reduced by several thousand dollars in many cases. Type styles have been changed to meet this new demand," he added.

"Due to the shortage of tin and antimony, several experiments have been made with plastics. This new material is easier to handle than hot metal and will be used in type as well as in cuts," Crane explained. "Because plastics are cheaper more pictures will be used in papers and magazines in the near future. Shorter stories will be used with these illustrations, which will consequently cause a change in journalistic style.

Crane helped the college start its printing department several years ago. He is particularly interested in the educational experiments in printing. He explained how the different sizes and styles of type effect people.

"Some people cannot concentrate on a book due to improper size of type and length of line," he revealed. "Experiments have shown that ten point Memphis Medium on a line 3 1/2 inches long is the easiest to read."

Crane believes that type styles will change after the war. He traced the history of printing and showed that typography followed the lines of architecture.
