Graham, Beaver Head Large Cast 'Green Grow the Lilacs' Play

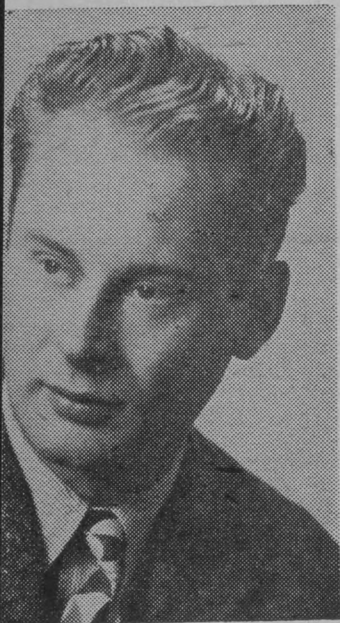

"Well, you can't stop a tornado by wishing!" The act in connection with the next College production, "Green Grow the Lilacs," strongly resembles a tornado, but no one wants to stop it! Long, nightly rehearsals are putting the finishing touches on this gay and touching love story set in Indian Territory about 1900. Dickie Graham and Walter Beaver head the cast.

Other principals in the gala production are Marie Willett, Gill Weston, Beverly Benedict, Ted Link and Mark Borgatta. They will be supported by a large chorus including Dale Goodban, Joe Morgan, Bob McColm, Don Robb, Bill Brown, Oliver Kellogg, Bellows, Cecil Forbes, Jared Merrill, Del Jeanne Palmer, LaLombard, Mary Casmon, Dick Farley, Marie Cornthwaite, Jean van Blaricom, Carol Rhoads, JoAnne Porter and Joanna Lobeski.

Local Store Offers Representative Job

Lou Rose, who will soon open his College Annex "for champagne fashion tastes with coke budgets" is looking for a campus representative. The girl chosen to be his representative, will start on a job that could lead to a fashion and merchandizing career. She will wear Lou Rose College Annex clothes on the campus, work in the store on Saturdays, and help in staging fashion shows and model in them.

Appointment to the job will be made by means of a contest, in which women students will write a letter telling why the writer feels she is qualified for the spot. An impartial committee of merchandizing experts will select the winner on the strength of the letter and a personal interview.

Contestants must be women who will be in college next semester, thus excluding students who will graduate this year. Please address letter to "Lou Rose Campus Representative Contest," c/o El Gaucho. All letters must be in by midnight, May 13th.

Choose Randall "Queen of Arts"

Spring is sprung, and with it comes a brand new 1949 crop of gorgeous young fillies named queens of this and that. "Queen of Arts," monarch of the Festival of Arts, a display of arts and crafts to be held May 12 thru May 15, is Marion Randall.

Marion is an attractive, brown-eyed co-ed. She will reign over all the activities and festivities of the Festival, stated H. Clynne Headley, chairman of the Council of Arts.

Her Highness is 20 years old, a junior, and a member of Gamma Delta Chi sorority.

"This year's Festival will be the most impressive display of arts and crafts, as well as of literary, musical, and dramatic talent, ever held here," said Headley.

Candidates Announce Platforms

El Gaucho, in these columns, has given to each of the candidates for the office of Student Body President an opportunity to present his platform to the members of the student body. Each man was allotted an equal amount of space to use in any way he saw fit. By this means it is hoped that student voters will have a chance to learn more about the candidates and their ideas. Read the platforms carefully and then vote for the man who seems to you best fitted for the job.

Next year the Student Body will need a man in the Presidency who has had experience in local Student Government. This is so because good government next year must rely upon one who has a background of procedure under the old constitution, and has a complete understanding of the new. There is only one candidate that can fulfill that requirement. He is Ed Morris. Not only has Ed served two years on our previous student councils, but he is the only candidate that took time out to attend council meetings during the revisional proceedings in order to be familiar with the change in government. For better school Government, I heartily recommend ED MORRIS for President.

Bob Casier, Chairman
Constitutional Revision Committee

The Students want something tangible from Student Government. The students want more action and less debating for their $20.00 a year. There should be a well rounded program of extra curricular activities—a program whose scope is large enough to provide an outlet for the many and varied interests of all the students. The Student Body Administration which can plan and execute such a program with the least expenditure of student funds, with the least red tape is the logical one to represent the Students.

I believe that there were some mistakes made this year which undoubtedly could have been avoided. These problems were not new—they were the same ones which have confronted the Student Body in the past. Had the higher Student executive officers been able to profit from previous decisions they would have acted more wisely. Filling out the present outrageous number of forms just to give a school function or hold a meeting is NONSENSE. Everytime a small decision must be made there is no need to drag in the Dean's Office and half a dozen boards and committees.

I am sincere in my desire to serve you as President of the Student Body and believe that my previous experience in Santa Barbara College Government qualifies me for this office. My experience includes the following: Chairman of the Cal Club; Chairman of the Rally Committee; Vice-Chairman of the Student Body Social Committee; Sophomore Class Representative and two years on the Student Body Council. In conclusion I promise that if I am elected the following will be in greater evidence: Better Student Government; Harmony and more cooperation between all Departments; more school functions and less red tape.

Ed Morris

In order that all members of the student body may receive attention and consideration on all questions, I have made no promises or guarantees to any group or select element of the student body. If elected to the office of student body president, I do not wish to serve under the burden of impossible pledges. Because of the fact that I am not sponsored by any organization or special-interest group, I am in a position to utilize the talents of those persons best suited to the various appointive positions in student government.

It is my intention: 1. To render the service demanded by the office of student body president to all students without discrimination.

2. To support to the best of my ability the aims of the student body in general by conducting student government as a student representative and not as an arbitrary leader.

3. To keep the student body well informed on all pertinent questions, events, and activities.

4. It is my plan to utilize the new constitution to the fullest in its greater breadth of representation for the advantage of the student body in order to enable me to better serve the entire group and be more closely associated with student demands.

As a student, I am aware of the limited parking facilities, the high prices in the student cafeteria, and the problems they present; however, I am also aware of limitations imposed upon the student body in their attempt to alleviate these situations by lack of space and finances.

Let us face the facts squarely. The real duty of student government is to aid the students themselves and to suggest any remedial measures to the university administration which are considered necessary by the associated students; to sponsor, maintain, and support student activities; and to cooperate with the faculty in the task of administration.

Without making rash campaign promises, I can say unreservedly that I am anxious for the opportunity of giving the student body efficient government by remaining wholly cognizant of their wishes.

Following are the 10 planks of my platform if elected to Presidency of Associated Students:

1. A businesslike administration of student affairs.

2. Immediate action to alleviate parking and traffic problems on both campuses.

3. Satisfactory quality and costs in the cafeterias.

4. Establishment of on-campus facilities for consistent representation of student needs.

5. Establishment of a job-placement bureau for students desiring part-time work.

6. Improvement of relations with Booster Club for more spirited backing of sports programs.

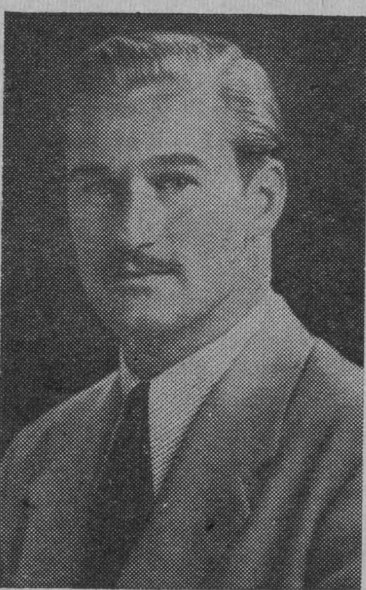

7. Closer cooperation with Chamber of Commerce; bringing other colleges to Santa Barbara for debate tournaments and drama festivals.

8. Recognition of student services on publication staffs and service organizations.

9. Promotion of better Student-Faculty relations without creating any more agencies.

10. Spirit and leadership in Gaucho functions and programs.

In order to arrive at the above ten points, I needed only to reflect upon problems that existed on the Gaucho campuses when I matriculated two years ago. These problems still exist. I see little hope for their solution unless courage and determination are concentrated in the student body government. The president of Associated Students needs to have the vigor and know-how of a corporation executive. We are worth approximately $25,000.00 at each registration and no amount of wishful thinking will guarantee wise expenditure of such a sum. It takes study and experience.

I have decided to run for ASB President at my own expense without being obliged to any sponsors. My platform makes up a college-wide program with benefits and services for all.

To answer questions about my capacity for office, I wish to point to my experience as American Vice Consul in Germany; my work as Industrial Relations Officer for Air Service Command; the contacts and counselling experience as Veterans Service Officer of Santa Barbara County; and the training received as a Political Science major here at Santa Barbara College.

Everybody vote!

On Wednesday and Thursday of this week the student body election under the new constitution will be. In this election will be chosen the officers who will serve test group for that new constitution. We have been given carefully planned and better representation under the form of government. It is now up to us to make it work by electing to office those students who are best qualified to on the new council.

It is up to the individual voter to decide who are candidates best suited to represent him, and it is also up to individual student to vote for his candidate in order that officers chosen may really represent the entire student body not a minority segment of student body or a small clique. There is no point in having an election if the majority of the students are apathetic about expressing their opinions. If you vote you have no right to complain when an officer is elected or an action is taken of which you do not approve. Remember this fact when you go to the polls!

Biology Prof Gives Last 'Great Men' Talk

Modern genetic theory was worked out by "the genius of the backwoods," Gregory Mendel. His life and work in formulating genetic law will be discussed by Dr. Garrett Hardin, acting chairman of the Biology Department, on Wednesday evening, May 5, at Alhecama Theatre. This is the last in the series entitled "Great Men and Their Works" sponsored by the University Extension under the supervision of Dr. Upton Palmer of the Speech Department. Only holders of series tickets will be admitted.

"Mendel evidently had a limited intelligence, but his amazing tenacity made him the discoverer of basic genetic laws and the founder of the science of heredity as we know it today," according to Dr. Hardin.

Walters Family To Study, Teach During Summer

Research and PhD's seem to be community property in the Walters family. This, at least, is one conclusion that could be drawn from a double announcement yesterday.

Dr. James L. Walters, instructor of botany at Santa Barbara College, University of California, will teach this summer at the first session on the Berkeley campus and will conduct research during the remainder of the summer.

Guggenheim Award

His wife, Marta, a PhD in her own right, has been awarded a $2500 Guggenheim Fellowship for a year's research in "chromosome behavior in native California grasses." She will start her preliminary work May 1 at Berkeley where the necessary plants are already growing in the experimental plot. She will return here in the fall to complete the work at the Santa Barbara Botanic Garden, where she is a research associate.

Dr. and Dr.

Dr. (Mrs.) Walters received her PhD in genetics at Berkeley where she also took all her undergraduate and graduate work, and later served as research assistant.

Getting back to the male side of this doctoral partnership, Dr. (Mr.) Walters will teach "General Botany" at Berkeley. His research work following the first summer session there will deal with "chromosome behavior of the California peony."

"SIC TRANSIT GLORIA PSYCHOLOGIA"

Professor Lynne (students misunderstand me) Kettler, professor of Sociology at Slippery Rock Sub-Normal, has formulated a thesis that assumes gigantic proportions to all students of psychology. In a recent lecture Dr. Lynne (I am not a cynic) Kettler avers, "While in Graduate school as a Psychology major I came upon a startling fact. Psychology had run out of work. Therefore, I switched to Sociology." The thesis says the professor, is, "I switched to Sociology because Psychology is sterile because I switched to Sociology." In explaining the thesis to one of his duller students, Dr. Kettler found the following jingle helpful:

(Sing to the tune of the Wheaties Song)

Won't you try Sociology?
Have you tried Sociology?
Its the dandiest science in the land.
Don't study Psychology,
Je ne suis pas Psychologist;
Its run out of work, you understand.

--WAX WORKS--

Well, here we all are back at the old "rock pile" after an only too short vacation. Hope that everyone had a good time and that no one is too sunburned to enjoy their classes.

Columbia's announcement that it is cutting prices on all 78 RPM records came as welcome news to us record buyers who have weak Dun & Bradstreet ratings. It is expected that most of the other record companies will follow suit soon with a similar cut. Columbia's reduction, while not too steep, is a help anyhow. The new cut will drop 10-inch pops to 60 cents, 12-inch pops and 10-inch classical to 85 cents, and the 12-inch classical to $1.

Art, Music, Drama Exhibits Are College Features at Show

Industrial arts exhibits, dramatic and musical performances, and a geological display will highlight Santa Barbara College's participation in the Festival of Arts May 12 through May 15.

Plans for a series of industrial arts exhibits are being shaped by a committee headed by William G. Knife, assistant professor of industrial arts. Other members of the committee are Robert A. McCoy, and John M. Groebli, industrial arts instructors.

Live Exhibit

While final plans will depend on the space available and other factors, Knife said he hoped to be able to set up a live exhibit, which will be changed each day. Such work as weaving, metal craft and leather craft could be demonstrated in process. In addition, various finished products will be displayed, including possibly a boat, cabinet work, metal work, drawings and designs, and radio and electrical materials.

Exhibits from educational institutions will be located in the corridors of the County Courthouse.

TOUCHE!

by Beret Armer

"Hey, you—psst!"

The girl crooked an enticing finger at me and beckoned from darkened alcove of the quad.

I hesitated, noting the pad of paper she held. "Not another opinion poll," I gasped, smiting my forehead with a clammy hand. My voice spoke with thunder as I said—"No, I do not smoke Camels, voted for Dewey in the last election, I read the Kinsey Report and from my own experience, I can say—"

"No, no."

She laid a cool reassuring hand on my arm; her great liquid eyes spoke of a gentle being. "Would you like to work on a committee for the May Dance?" The pressure of her hand on my arm increased. "I don't know," I said truthfully, "I was going to—"

gave a sharp cry of pain; she released by arm and I fell swooning to the ground.

I regained consciousness to find her kneeling by me. "I knew you would, Otis, so I signed you up for decorations; we'll meet this afternoon. The Rec." She ambled off smiling benignly.

I got up, rubbing my bruise and wondering how she had known my name. Had that little wench gone through my wall while I was out?

* * * *

The Rec looked awfully quiet as I drove up. I poked my head through the door and the wench spotted me. She galloped over and led me to the chairman. "Good of you to volunteer," said the chairman briefly. "Art here has an idea—you two can carry it out."

Art's idea was to fill the balloons partly full of beer; at midnight we would pull the cord which held the balloons to the ceiling and they would come crashing down. The rest of the evening would be spent in Bacchanalian revelry.

I was forced to admit that the scheme showed signs of true genius. Our charming tete-a-tete was interrupted; a black-snake whip lash curled above our heads and popped harmlessly. "You two go to work," the chairman urged.

We made for my car and buzzed down to the local brewery. We bought a keg and sampled it to make sure. On the way back, we made doubly sure.

"My fren," I said, burping politely to myself, "this beer will be stale by the night of the dance. As loyal Gauchos—"

"Precisely, my fren," said Art, "and since we're not really needed to help with the decorations—"

"Right." I spun the car around and we headed for Hendry's, singing lewd and lascivious songs for the benefit of the townsfolk.

There are several reasons for the cut. The most apparent is the post-war slump the record business is in. People just won't pay 80 cents anymore to hear Perry Como's latest love-shmoe offering. Some people in the industry are wondering if this new move is the first step in taking the accent off it upon the new microgroove records. Most companies see the day when the 78 RPM records will be a nearly forgotten sideline in the industry.

Regardless of what the cut means or what caused it, it is a welcome relief to us record buyers. I guess I'm just old-fashioned but I'm not quite ready to scrap my "ancient" phonograph yet.

If you like small combo jazz you will want to hear the new Capitol waxing of the Art Van Damme quintet playing "Little Brown Jug" and "After You've Gone." These boys are really good. I think their speed and execution is as good as anyone's in the business today.

I guess there's no doubt in anyone's mind that the song "Ghost Risers" is going to be another "Nature Boy." An interesting thing about this song is the fact that it was written by an unknown forest ranger who was stationed near Death Valley. When he finishes counting the royalty checks from this song, chances are he will never have to look at another forest again. Why are we in school anyhow? Why don't we start writing songs?

Well, that's about it for this sitting. Be seeing you next week.

APES OF WRATH

Ah, 'twas the morning after that bitter night before,
In hordes they swooped upon us, actives by the scroe.
For some reason they were bitter, I cannot fathom why;
They swore about cold water that hit them in the eye.
With grim determination they stormed our hiding place,
Never have such fiendish leers lit up a human face.
The beer that drenched their clothes will smell for evermore,
The rides that they were taken on shook them to the core.
So now they seek revenge it seems for undue hardships wrought;
Why did they crash the pledges' brawl, their trouble was for naught.
There were other actives there who didn't cause a fuss;
Just because these got what they deserved, why should they pick on us?
The bloody battle's over for another year, it seems,
And though for many nights to come I'll hear those frenzied screams,
When next fall rolls around and ditch night is once more due,
I'll dream up tortures much more wierd to put the pledges through.

Gaucha Nine Hits Bottom; Aztecs Take Conference Series, 2 to 1

Neil Goedhard rang up his first conference win of the season Friday night against visiting San Diego State but the Gauchos dropped both ends of a double-header Saturday to lose their fourth consecutive CCAA series. The Hilltoppers took Friday's contest 6-3, but lost Saturday by the identical scores of 9-2.

The double setback over the week-end sent the disheartened Gauchos into a tie for the cellar with the Aztecs, both nines having won four and lost eight. Goedhard was never better under the lights at Laguna Friday, setting the Staters down with six hits and getting three of his own to help the cause. Starter Bill Ruzich retired from the hill after five innings as the Gauchos banged out 12 hits and scored all their runs in the fourth and fifth frames. The Gauchos infield pulled off two quick double plays to add to the laurels of the game. Bob Talley, speedy center fielder, got the only extra base blow of the game, a triple in the big fifth inning. Goedhard drove in three runs with three for four, and Talley, Abbott, and Skeith all collected two for four.

Gmur Scores Two

Saturday, however, was a different story. Dick Barnes and Don Crickmore of the Aztecs came through with their finest pitching performances of the year as they cooled off Gaucha bats with nifty hurling. Barnes gave up two runs in the first frame as Buddy Gmur singled in Kutch and Abbott, but from there on, the tall twirler was never in serious difficulty. His mates pounded Gaucha Bob Johnston for all 10 hits and nine runs, although only five of them were earned due to six errors. Johnston and Danny Kutch were the hitters, both getting two for four. Aztec Willie Steele, he of Olympic broad-jumping fame, found the game of baseball also to his liking as he pounded out a homer, triple, two doubles, and a single in seven trips. The big right-hander held down first base for the visitors, playing errorless ball and batting in the third spot in the San Diego lineup.

Abbott Off

Hal Abbott threw the nightcap for the locals but was far from peak form. He had played third base in the opener and doubtless his ineffectiveness could be traced to that fact. The slight right-hander gave up five runs in the first two frames and two more each in the fourth and fifth innings. Still the team's number one iron man, however, little Hal hit safely three times during the day to keep his batting average up above .350.

Swift Homers

Aztec Crickmore tossed a flossy three-hitter at the Hilltoppers in the nightcap, and all three of them came consecutively to produce the only two Gaucha runs. Abbott's single and Harold Swift's home run out into Cabrillo Boulevard gave two runs to the locals and Kutch followed with another single but here the rally faded out.

The Gauchos wind up their season during the next two weeks by playing Loyola twice, El Toro Marines and California once, and Fresno State three times. Friday afternoon Coach Lantagne's men trek southward to tackle the Lions in a single game at 3 p. m. Then on Saturday they move over to Santa Ana for a shot at the Marines in a game slated for 1 p. m. The next home game will be next Monday night under the arcs at Laguna Park when the Hilltoppers terminate their "brotherly love" series by facing the California Bears who mthey whipped, 7-6, during Spring vacation.

Netters 2nd In Finals

Bob Wright fought his way to the singles crown but College of Pacific's defending champions waltzed to an easy victory in the CCAA tennis tournament held in Santa Barbara at the Stadium courts over the week-end. The flashy Tigers piled up 27 points to 13 for the Gauchos as they easily whipped the five participating conference members. San Jose State finished in a tie for third place with Cal Poly with 11 points, Fresno State was fifty with 9, and San Diego last with 3.

The Gauchos piled up 8 points by winning first singles but could gain only one in doubles. COP concentrated its main strength in the doubles, picking up 8 points in first doubles and 7 in second doubles and also winning second singles to assure themselves the league championship.

Wright pulled off the upset of the day when he dropped highly favored Tiger Hank Pfister in three hard-fought sets, 6-4, 1-6, and 6-4. He was the only Gaucha to get into the finals. The Gaucha ace defeated San Jose State's Bul-

Bob Wright

Pickarts, Dancer Salvage Wins But Gauchos Finish 5th in Finals

Once again it was the two great competitors, Del Pickarts and Willie Dancer, who upheld the name of Santa Barbara on the cinder paths as these two men pulled down first places in their events in the CCAA track meet held at Fresno last Saturday. Pickarts won the javelin and in so doing he broke his own school mark as he tossed the spear 220 feet. Dancer scaled the high jump bar at 6 feet 3 3/4 inches to take top honors even though his effort did not compare with his best efforts of 6 feet 6 inches.

San Jose First

San Jose State won the team title with 45 points while College of Pacific finished up in second place with 37 markers, along with a well balanced Fresno aggregation. San Diego State wound up with 20 digits followed by the Gauchos with 16. Cal Poly finished up in the cellar position with only 10 points.

Gaucha Fred Lloyd copped a third in the javelin with a throw of 180 feet 5 inches. Earl Engman pulled down a fourth in the broadjump by leaping 22 feet 5 1/4 inches. Mel Patton finished up in the fourth spot in the discus with an effort of 130 feet four inches.

S. B. Relayers Third

College of Pacific romped to a new meet record in the mile relay in the time of 3:12.9. The Gaucha foursome finished up in the show wa, 6-1 and 6-2, in the semi-finals to insure his chances of meeting Pfister in the finals.

Santa Barbara's remote chances for victory were all but eliminated in the opening round on Friday when Alan Cobbe and Walter Field were toppled from their favored first doubles spot by Paul Charles and Bob Redden of California Polytechnic. COP finally beat the red-hot Mustang team in the finals, but not before enduring a blistering rally that carried the scores out to 6-4, 11-9. Winrich and Hall of the champions were the doubles victors.

position behind San Jose. Macon of COP won the 440 record breaking time of 48.7. Crowe of San Jose equalled meet record in the century with time of 9.7. Martin of San Jose won the high barrier chase in 1.7 to tie the CCAA record.
