Tensions Dominate Leggie Meeting

Affirmative Action By-Law Change Stirs Debate

BY BRENDAN BUHLER
Staff Writer

Tempers and time were stretched to their limits Wednesday night as Associated Students Legislative Council explored social tensions and tabled all 12 bills before it.

One item on the night's agenda was a proposed By-Law change concerning appointments. The bill would have changed A.S. appointment processes to comply with current UC Affirmative Action policies by removing race, gender and sexual orientation as considerations for appointments, and instead using them as considerations while recruiting.

The bill's co-author, University-Owned Housing Rep Mel Fabi, was not able to attend the meeting, but submitted a written statement to be read aloud.

"The clause pertaining to the racial and sexual composition of the campus limit[s] access to the diversity of students on campus to join A.S. ... If we were to follow this clause, the president would have the duty to always appoint a majority of white students and females. As a queer of color on this council, I want to ensure diversity in this student service organization," he stated. "If there are missing students on Legislative Council or Finance Board, we can recruit from the underrepresented populations that lack representation. And from the committee pool of recruits, the president can duly appoint someone based on their experience, their commitment, dedications and effort."

After other supporters of the bill had spoken, External Vice President for Statewide Affairs Sergio Morales questioned them. "You say this bill is to help ensure representation for students of color," he said. "My question is, to the people who authored this bill, what student of color organizations do you belong to?"

The past two Leg Council meetings have seen the resignations of two African-American council members. Off-Campus Rep Myesha Jones resigned last week, and Off-Campus Rep K.C. Mmeje left the board at this week's meeting.

Mmeje said his time on the council had not been valuable. "I don't feel my time here was productive, and I can help a lot of other student groups with my time. Quite honestly, Leg just hasn't been fun to me," he said.

External Vice President for Local Affairs Rebecca Prather said she was disappointed by the recent resignations. "Students of color are resigning off this board, and we have testimony saying that they felt uncomfortable. Yet we have a bill on the floor to re-examine the process that helps them onto the board," she said. "Oppression exists in this country and it's based on white skin."

Before the meeting, Off-Campus Rep Matt McMillan said he hoped the council would examine Finance Board's decision to allocate money for Morales to travel to a conference in Washington, D.C. Additionally, recent resignations from the council prompted some to question whether A.S. is a welcoming environment for

Communities Unite Against Harmful Anti-Iraq Sanctions

Serenaded by the UCSB Middle Eastern ensemble and perfumed by the burning sage of a Sioux ceremony opening prayer, UCSB graduate and local peace activist Michelle Kimball spoke to a group of approximately 50 people about her past and upcoming relief trips to Iraq.

Held at the Santa Barbara Public Library on Wednesday evening, the event featured Kimball, who is one of 100 religious and civic leaders taking part in an illegal delivery of medical supplies and aid to Baghdad on March 12. According to West Coast Director of the International Action Center Richard Becker, who also spoke at the event, economic sanctions imposed against Iraq by the U.S. and United Nations have destroyed the country.

"Iraq used to have a very rapid rate of development because of the nationalization of the Iraqi Oil Company. It was one of the greatest development success stories of the modern world," he said. "This year, Aug. 6, will mark the 10th year anniversary of the economic sanctions against Iraq. Over one and a half million people have died as a result of these. The ceasefire of the war was declared nine years ago, but for the Iraqi people, the war still goes on."

Co-founder of the Santa Barbara Peace Center Jean Hoffman introduced Kimball and said the event symbolized a starting point for U.S.-Iraqi relations.

"This is a time for forgiveness for all of those who took part and place in many of the atrocities that were committed," she said. "We need to eliminate the toxic weapons that are killing children, the economic sanctions that are killing children and the mentality of oil over human

UCSB Players Bring Hot Topics to Old Little Theater

BY TRISHA KANNAN
Reporter

Sex, violence and nudity will be on display March 2-5 when UCSB's Sherwood Players present a double feature at the Old Little Theater near the College of Creative Studies.

The student production titled "Sex and Violence," consists of two plays, "What Kind of Fruit" and "Bang!Bang! You're Dead!" The shows start each night at 8, and will be preceded by musical guest Spiral. "Sex and Violence" producer and junior Bachelor of Fine Arts major Matthew Weinglass said he thinks students will enjoy the double feature because each play deals with issues college students can identify with.

"We choose material that students can relate to, but that will also shock and astound them," he said. "These particular plays should be seen by college students because they will be able to get the most out of them."

"What Kind of Fruit" deals with a heterosexual woman who ventures into the realm of homosexuality with disastrous results, according to play author Gretchen Icenogle, a UCSB graduate student.

"I wrote this play in order to explore the ways that love and desire overlap, and the ways that they don't," Icenogle said. "I have written a play that honestly treats sexuality. My hope is that students will see pieces of themselves in these characters. And the play also challenges the actors; it asks them to do things on stage that they normally would not be asked to do."

"What Kind of Fruit" Director Nikki Kvitky said she chose to present this play because she could relate to it and see herself in the positions of the characters.

"This play deals with sexuality and sexual

Rampage Ends With 2 Dead, 3 Injured

WILKINSBURG, Pa. (AP) — A man set his apartment on fire Wednesday, then shot lunchtime customers at two fast-food restaurants and holed up in an office building before surrendering. Two people were killed and three critically wounded, police said.

The suspect, who had held four or five hostages, surrendered in a hallway, said Thomas Sturgeon, superintendent of Allegheny County police.

He and Gerald Brewer, the Wilkesburg police chief, said two people were killed before the suspect, identified as Ronald Taylor, went to the building, which houses day care and senior citizens' centers.

The hostages were safely released when the suspect surrendered, State Police Trooper Jim Algeo said.

The rampage began at about 11 a.m. in Wilkesburg, about nine miles east of Pittsburgh.

John DeWitt, a 63-year-old maintenance worker in the suspect's apartment building, said he and two other workers went to replace the man's front door, which had been broken several days earlier because the man had lost his keys.

DeWitt told The Associated Press he left to Me and my stepfather were sitting in the truck, and this guy just walked up and started shooting.

— Candy Zambo shooting witness work on another apartment and later saw one of the other maintenance workers carrying the third, who had been shot. DeWitt said he then saw the tenant walk toward the restaurants, about a mile away.

The one-bedroom apartment on the top floor of a five-story building was charred and its windows blown out.

One person was shot at a Burger King and three at a nearby McDonald's restaurant, Brewer said. The fifth victim was the maintenance man at Taylor's apartment building.

Taylor, 39, of Wilkesburg, was awaiting arraignment at the Allegheny County Coroner's office.

Police did not release further information about the victims, but a woman at the scene said her stepfather, Richard Clinger, was shot while sitting in his van in the McDonald's parking lot.

"Me and my stepfather were sitting in the truck, and this guy just walked up and started shooting," said Candy Zambo, who was unhurt. "I thought maybe he was going to ask for directions or something. He just turned and walked into McDonald's."

Tony Elhaja, manager of a Dunkin' Donuts next to the McDonald's, said the daughter of the man shot in the parking lot came into his store to wait for police.

Brewer said the gunman fled into the office building and remained there with the hostages until he surrendered at about 2 p.m.

Four of the victims were taken to University of Pittsburgh Medical Center-Presbyterian, hospital officials said. A 65-year-old man was taken to Mercy Hospital with a single gunshot wound to the head, spokesperson Linda K. Ross said. One person died at Presbyterian; police did not say where the second victim died.

Asians Demand Explanation for McCain Comment

WESTMINSTER, Calif. (AP) — Bruce Hoang understands the anger Sen. John McCain has toward his North Vietnamese captors. It was, after all, war.

But like many in Orange County's Little Saigon, home to the largest group of Vietnamese outside Vietnam, he can't understand McCain's use of the word "gooks" to describe his prison guards.

"You say this in anger when a bad thing happens, not so many years later when you're running for president," said Hoang, who fled Vietnam more than 25 years ago. "This is bad. This offends not just Vietnamese people, but Japanese people, Chinese people. He must explain this."

McCain was scheduled to visit Little Saigon on Wednesday.

At least two groups — the Southeast Asia Resource Action Center and the National Council of Filipino American Associations — want to meet with the Republican presidential candidate, and Asian-oriented TV and radio stations debated whether he should apologize. The consensus: yes.

Although McCain said Tuesday he was considering taking the meetings, he did not plan to address the issue during his campaign stop.

"There's no reason to. They understand. Many of them were in re-education camps and they were also tortured by some of these people," he said. "Look, I have very many good friends who are Vietnamese."

He has said he will not use the word again.

"I apologize if I offended anyone," McCain said recently. "But the validity of my statement, as I said, it was applied to a small group of sadists and murderers and the kindest word I could use about them was that. The rest of them [words] are not fit for family reading."

But Daphne Kwok, chair of the National Council of Asian Pacific Americans, said although McCain's anger was understandable, his comment was outrageous.

"He just doesn't get it," she said. "That's like him using a derogatory word toward the African-American community. 'Gook' is a hurtful word with a long history."

Others said McCain's use of the slur inflamed anti-Asian sentiment, which they say has been fueled by allegations of espionage by a Chinese-American scientist and the federal campaign finance investigation involving Clinton fund-raisers John Huang and Yah Lin "Charlie" Trie.

"If he does not realize that, he should not be running for president," said Nancy Choy of the National Asian Pacific Bar Association. "He made these statements publicly. He should retract them in public."

HOUSTON (AP) — A man who spent 16 years on death row for the stabbing of his former roommate was ordered to be freed by a federal judge Wednesday because prosecutors missed a deadline for keeping him behind bars.

Last year, U.S. District Judge David Hittner threw out Burdine's conviction because his lawyer slept through long stretches of his 1984 trial. Hittner gave prosecutors 120 days to give Burdine a new trial or set him free. That time ran out in late January, and on Wednesday, Hittner ordered Burdine be released from prison within five days.

The judge said the state must adhere to the same rules as defendants.

Burdine was convicted of the 1983 slaying of W.T. Wise, 50, a former housemate. Burdine told police that he had argued with Wise and moved out of their trailer because Wise wanted him to work as a prostitute.

PITTSBURG, Calif. (AP) — An 11-year-old boy whose school confiscated and then lost his 161 Pokemon cards took the school to small claims court and won a $1,500 judgment.

"I'll be able to get more Pokemon cards," Rudy Donithan-Treat said outside the courthouse after the verdict Tuesday.

Rudy, a sixth-grader at O'Hara Park Middle School in Oakley, sued the school district in January for $5,000 after trustees rejected a $500 claim.

A monitor confiscated Rudy's cards in August, but when he went to collect them, they had disappeared.

Principal Diane Frost told Contra Costa County Superior Court Judge John M. Allen the Pokemon cards were disrupting the school.

But the judge said that once school officials took the cards, they were responsible for them. He based the award on estimates provided by the family and the district.

I heard that the Thunderdome will be rocking tonight at 5. It is so cool that TV is coming back to UCSB after a long, crappy-team-induced hiatus. The men's basketball team is playing a more-talented but less-motivated and worse-coached Long Beach State team. The basketball rowdies ride again — yeehaw! Oh yeah, go to the game at 5 — it will be replayed on the tube at 11 p.m.

Today's forecast: Noise.

Positively Magical

your Daily HOROSCOPE
by Linda C. Black

To get the advantage, check the day's rating: 10 is the easiest day, 0 the most challenging.

Aries (March 21-April 19) — Today is a 7 — You and your buddies accomplish quite a lot when you're all on the same track. Set your goals so everybody knows what needs to be done next. You're teaching and learning from each other, and that's good. Minimize travel, though, and keep costs down.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) — Today is a 6 — The thing you'll be most successful at can be quite difficult sometimes. This could be one of those days. If you're running into new barriers, that's because you've already gone past all the old ones. Congratulations! Accept coaching from a friend.

Gemini (May 21-June 21) — Today is a 7 — If anything of yours involves higher education, travel or the law, expect setbacks. Getting your meaning across could be difficult. Be as clear as possible, especially with those who speak different languages. It'll be worth the effort.

Cancer (June 22-July 22) — Today is a 6 — There might be complications with travel again, so take care. If you're in school, you may feel kind of thick-headed. Just go over the material again and again. It'll get through, eventually. Don't spend impetuously, either. Take your time and do it right.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) — Today is a 5 — How are you and a partner going to spend the money you share? Take a few notes so that there isn't a misunderstanding. Don't let nickels and dimes wreck your friendship. If you're considering a big purchase, little details become even more important.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Today is a 5 — You are swamped. There's way too much for one person to do. Your partner doesn't seem to be much help, either. You're in a potentially stressful situation. Do you have a friend who always helps you calm down? Even if it's long distance, call.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) — Today is a 6 — You're pretty lucky, but there could be complications. Better not gamble now; it's not a sure bet. Love should go well, too, especially if you don't get into an argument about money. Emotions are running high, so avoid touchy subjects if you can.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 21) — Today is a 6 — A lot is going on at home. You want to be there, so change things around so you can. Others want your attention, too, of course. You've a popular person! Save time and attention for the folks you love the most.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Today is a 5 — A few things need to be discussed at your house. A couple of things need to be fixed, too. You know it's a good idea, but you might not know how. You might not want to change, either. Learning new skills will make everything easier.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Today is a 7 — Quite a bit of money could be coming in. This is because you're imaginative and creative and you work hard. It could also be due to a coupon you sent off or taxes you don't have to pay. Don't spend this windfall, however. All might not be as it appears.

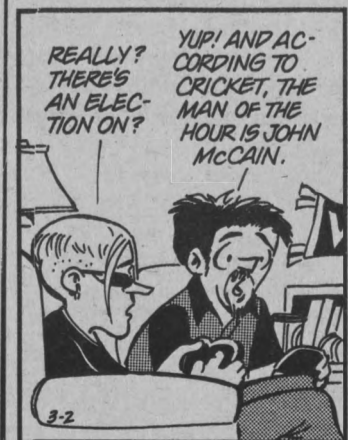

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Today is a 6 — You're looking pretty good. You still need to watch your money, however. If a friend is having financial difficulties, recommend a good bank. Don't make a loan yourself, that could lead to trouble. Don't be a borrower, either, by the way.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20) — Today is a 6 — You're pushed to take care of something important. You've been avoiding it, but that's not a good idea. Don't worry, either. This could be easier than you thought. Just take it one step at a time.

Today's Birthday (March 2) — This year ponder the past and your future, and you may find a way to shed old fears. You've given up on a tough assignment before. If you don't give up in March, you might achieve mastery. A surprise brings money in April, but it could go just as fast. You'll learn well in May if you follow the rules. In August, the way you should serve should be clear. Heed a loved one's urging in November, but follow your own common sense. A secret about your career is revealed in December. Most of February is best spent planning. The more homework you do, the higher your chances of success.

I.V. Tenants Union Endorses Marshall

HARLEY AUGUSTINO &
ALEJANDRO JUAREZ

In 1970, student protest revolved around many issues, including lawful limiting of the political voice of college students. Young people began to ask why 18- to 20-year-olds were old enough to be drafted into the Vietnam War, but not old enough to vote. One of the significant gains made by the national anti-war and student movements was an amendment granting 18-year-olds the right to vote.

This had a huge effect on Isla Vista, which until then had very few eligible voters. Property owners were quite upset with this amendment because it challenged their power. To this day, many say that students should not be allowed to vote in Santa Barbara, arguing that students are not part of this community because we do not live here year round.

Isla Vista is our home, we pay rent and taxes here, we live here most of the year (if not year round) and we deserve a political voice in our community.

Since 18-year-olds were given the right to vote, Isla Vista's votes have determined several local elections, and will determine the upcoming election for 3rd District Supervisor. One-third of eligible voters in Supervisor Gail Marshall's district are in Isla Vista. Twelve years ago, Bill Wallace, strongly supported by Isla Vistans, won by only 12 votes! Your vote will count.

After seeing signs around campus, reading editorials and hearing the debates, one would think that the environment was the only issue of contention in this election. The Isla Vista Tenants Union wanted to hear more on where the candidates stood on housing and social justice issues. We had an endorsement process, asking each candidate questions for 30 minutes, and unanimously endorsed Gail Marshall as the best candidate for renters in Isla Vista.

Gail Marshall has stuck her neck out for renters more than once in her past four years. She initiated the housing inspection program, which is designed to improve the quality of housing in Isla Vista by providing a place where tenants can complain about substandard housing conditions. We believe that Marshall has a good grasp on the unequal power dynamics in many tenant-landlord relationships.

Gail also took a stand on the Just Cause Ordinance, which would require landlords to state a just reason when evicting a tenant. This basic tenant protection ordinance that exists in several counties in the state, but in Santa Barbara it brought on widespread landlord opposition. Marshall took a lot of heat for bringing the Just Cause Ordinance to the board of supervisors, but says she wants to bring it up again.

Gail made some headway on the expensive problem of lighting in Isla Vista, fought the big, ugly seawall Del Playa landlords were proposing, and got much-needed I.V. redevelopment money for future Isla Vista improvement. She is also working with the university and the

which has authority on cityhood proposals. We believe that she will keep the best interests of Isla Vista in mind as the Goleta cityhood and Santa Barbara annexation proposals flesh out.

Marshall's opponent, Larry Mills, wants to run the government like a business. There are many problems with this. First, our government is already too controlled by big business and does not need to emulate its workings. Governing with this mindset damages democracy and limits the power of ordinary people to have a voice in decisions that affect them.

Apart from our feelings about Larry Mills, we believe Gail has been good for Isla Vista in the past four years. She has made progress for I.V., and deserves another four years. As members of the Isla Vista Tenants Union, we believe fair and affordable housing should be a right regardless of your income, race, sexual orientation or physical ability. Gail Marshall comes closest to these ideals and is the best choice for students and tenants in Isla Vista.

You live here, pay rent and taxes here, and maybe party here. Third District Supervisor is our only elected voice in county government, so this district election should not be taken lightly. Please vote for Gail Marshall on Tuesday, March 7.

TO EACH HIS OWN, PLEASE LEAVE ME ALONE

Editor, Daily Nexus:

In my four years here at UCSB, I have been confronted by every type of religious propaganda known to mankind. From one extreme to the other, I have been given pamphlets, Bibles, other religious tracts and even yelled at from across the Arbor by various proselytizing extroverts. Usually, I am content enough in my own spirituality to let it slide off my back. It was not until this barrage of "Do you agree with Glenn?" propaganda hit me that I was induced to speak out.

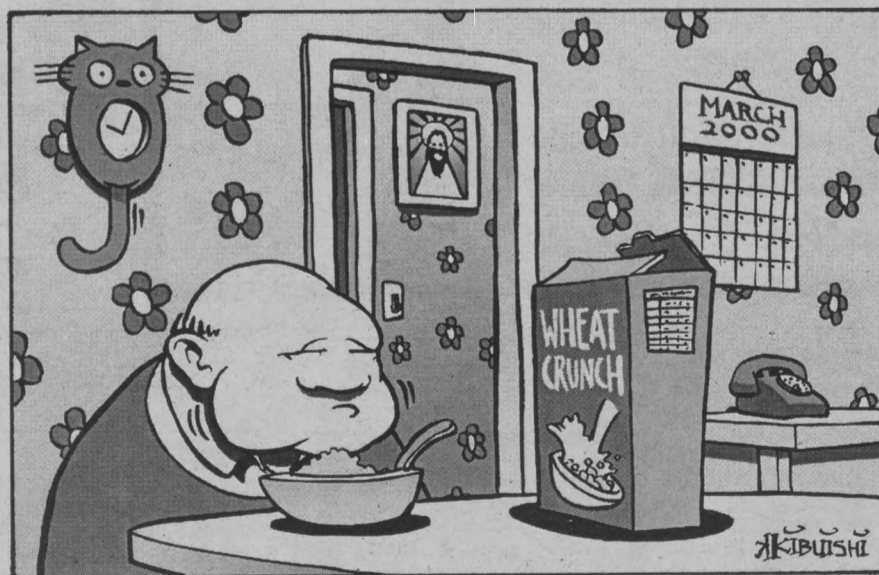

I am a firm believer in one's personal freedom to follow whatever religion one chooses. Whether or not I agree with the principles or doctrine of a particular religion, I still support one's right to follow that religion if they so desire, just as I reserve the right to follow another religion or none at all if I so choose. The point at which I become offended is when someone else chooses to shove their religion in my face in an effort to educate me, convert me or, in extreme cases, attack me.

In general, I welcome intelligent debates about religion. In fact, I think that a healthy debate never hurts anyone, as long as the playing field is level. The overwhelming propaganda concerning this particular case that has taken over this campus in the past week has turned the playing field upside-down! With every turn, I am confronted yet again by another obnoxious orange poster or T-shirt asking me, point blank, if I "agree with Glenn."

The entire tactic that has been taken in this religious campaign, quite frankly, turns my stomach. Any type of advertising, be it religious or otherwise, that begins its crusade with such an ambiguous slogan (one that does not tell you what it is selling) is misleading and dishonest.

Upon first seeing the "Do you agree with Glenn?" posters littering our campus and pasted in the newspaper, I thought it was some sort of political campaign. When I found out that it was yet another religious tactic, I was mildly annoyed and dismayed. It wasn't until a few days ago, when every other person I saw on campus was wearing one of those loud T-shirts that I became truly offended.

When I am confronted by yet another blazing-orange clad missionary every five seconds, it begins to get very intrusive! Even from afar, when I can't possibly make out the words, the pure color of the shirt screams at me, demanding an answer, demanding that I defend myself and my choice of religion. Even without opening their mouths, the proud bearers of these shirts have suddenly and rudely asked me the most personal of questions. Quite frankly, whether or not I agree with Glenn is none of their business! Glenn's message, be it one of peace and love, or one of religious bigotry, is not the issue here. I am not attacking his, or anyone else's beliefs. I just wish to be left alone.

WHAT DO YOU THINK ABOUT GLENN AND GOD?

Editor, Daily Nexus:

"WHO IS GLENN?" Today at least 20 people asked me that question as I walked from class to class wearing my "I agree with Glenn" shirt. I want to give a better answer to all of the people who rushed by and all of the people who wanted to ask, but didn't.

Glenn is a friend of mine, a junior at UCSB, an Engineering major and a Christian. As a Christian he believes that having a relationship with Jesus Christ is the only way to experience true love, peace and joy here on Earth and have eternal life with God after death. I agree with Glenn. So do all of the other people you see wearing orange shirts around campus. I am looking at this week as Christian coming-out week. I am coming out and letting everyone know who I really am and what I believe. Everyone who is wearing an orange shirt is making a public statement that they believe what the Bible says is true.

This week is really about what we believe. It is about the decision that ALL of us have to make about what we believe. Do you agree with Glenn? By not deciding you have already made a decision.

By wearing my orange shirt I am taking a stand for what I believe in. This week is for everyone to take a stand for what they believe! Figure out if you agree with Glenn or not, and don't be ashamed of that choice. College is a time for us to learn things from others and decide on our own. Open your mind, hear other people's ideas and ask them questions. Decide on your own. Come to I.V. Theater tonight at 7 and meet Glenn, then you can make a decision about the question: DO YOU AGREE WITH GLENN?

experimentation," she said. "It shows us our own barriers, our own limitations and how we begin to challenge those."

Bachelor of Fine Arts senior Jessica Green, who plays the main character, said the reason she accepted the role was because of the challenge the character presented for her.

"This play is about tolerance and having an understanding for that which you are not. It is about love; not about where you find it, but about whether or not it is true," she said.

"Bang! Bang! You're Dead!" depicts the story of a high school student who shoots his parents and five classmates. The play deals with the aftermath of the killings, with the deceased returning from the dead to ask "Why?"

Play Author William Mastrosimone also wrote the play "Extremities," which the Players presented last year.

"We have packed the house at every production that we have presented in the past," Co-Director and junior theater major Kristen Vogel said. "We have about 20 people in this production who have been working for the past seven weeks. We are independent and funding ourselves, but we can produce theater unlike anyone else."

Ryan Foland, an undeclared freshman who plays the main character in "Bang! Bang! You're Dead!," said he was uninterested in theater before this year, but is now addicted for life.

"We put in our own time; these are your peers doing this for you. We work our asses off to give students a chance to see what they have not seen before," he said. "The fact that the people on stage could fuck up at any moment makes it an intense experience."

Tonight's game against Long Beach and this Saturday's 7 p.m. game against Pacific will be the Gauchos' last two home games of the year before heading to Reno, Nev., next week for the Big West Tournament. But these games are of special meaning for Allen and the other two seniors, Erick Ashe and Larry Bell.

"I think it's going to be real big," Ashe said. "Especially for me, Derrick and Larry because we're seniors and it's our last two home games. We want to get payback for the last game."

Tickets to this televised clash between the top two teams in the Big West's Western Division will be distributed at noon today in Storke Plaza. According to Williams, UCSB's student body should pick up all the tickets for the 5 p.m. contest.

Simon Shen's Skills Simply Spectacular

BY ZACK O'NEILL
Staff Writer

A lot was on the table when Simon Shen took the court against Peter Luczak in the UCSB men's tennis team's match against Fresno State last Sunday. Sure, the Gauchos' #1 singles player had a 12-match winning streak and a 17-2 overall record on the line, but something much larger was at stake for the senior from San Diego.

What Shen had was a chance to prove himself. Only weeks ago he was a player without a ranking, but the newest NCAA poll had anointed him the #40 player in the nation. This critical Top-64 ranking gave Shen eligibility for the NCAA Tournament in May, but Sunday his status as an elite national player was being seriously challenged by Luczak, who himself was #34.

"I was really nervous in the beginning, because I knew it was a big match," Shen said. "But pressure's always going to be there; it's just how you deal with it, and I think it made me focus more in the match."

And focus Shen did, handling Luczak in straight sets, 7-6, 6-3, and cementing his status as one of the country's best players in the process.

"He definitely was nervous and pressing just a little bit, because [Luczak] has a pretty good reputation," UCSB Head Coach Marty Davis said. "My advice to him was 'settle down and play the way you play normally, because the way you play normally is better than this guy,' and that's what he did. I've encouraged him to be more aggressive and offensive, and that's been a big plus."

Now Simon finds himself riding the crest of a 13-match winning streak, and almost assuredly a higher ranking in the next NCAA poll. Such an accomplishment would seem to be the logical next step for Shen: He won the CIF singles title as a senior at La Jolla High School, was an All-Big West selection as a sophomore at UCSB, and advanced to the qualifying round in the All-American Hard Court Championships last year.

But don't ask him to credit himself; Shen points to everyone but himself when reflecting on his career.

"We've got the best coach in the country," Shen says of Davis. "Marty has helped me a lot, and made a lot of changes in my game. And my teammates make a big difference, when they are cheering me on. And all the people that come out and support us, they give me extra energy and that helps me."

Big West Showdown Tonight in Thunderdome: UCSB vs. Long Beach on Fox Sports West 2

Tonight, the wild, wild west comes to the Thunderdome in more ways than one.

The top two men's basketball teams in the Big West's Western Division will shoot it out in the 'Dome at 5 p.m. Not only will this western gunfight be a shoot-to-the-death match between the second-place UCSB men's basketball team and the first-place Long Beach State 49ers, but it will be televised on Fox Sports West 2.

With last Saturday's victory over Boise State, the Gauchos (13-12 overall, 9-5 in the Big West) clinched second place in the Big West Western Division. With a 21-4 overall mark and 13-1 in the Big West, the 49ers are way out in first.

"In terms of standings, this game is not all that big," UCSB Head Coach Bob Williams said. "But in terms of momentum and in terms of having the knowledge that we can beat [Long Beach], this game is huge."

What makes this game even bigger is the fact that the two squads met earlier this year at The Beach's Pyramid in Long Beach — with the 49ers coming out on top 86-68 over the Gauchos. In that Jan. 29 loss, UCSB led the 49ers by as much as 14 points in the first half before finally faltering.

"We came out pretty confident in the last game," senior guard Derrick Allen said. "We dominated them and we were unstoppable in the first half. But the thing that happened was we beat ourselves. We didn't take care of the ball and they took advantage of that."

Santa Barbara was definitely hurt by its turnovers against Long Beach, as it gave the ball up 25 times to the 49ers.

"We have to do a better job of taking care of the ball," Williams said. "In the last game, they were able to generate most of their offense off of our turnovers. We have to handle their pressure better this time around. We let them play their game and we have to take that away from them."

Gauchos Spot LMU Six Unearned Runs in Loss

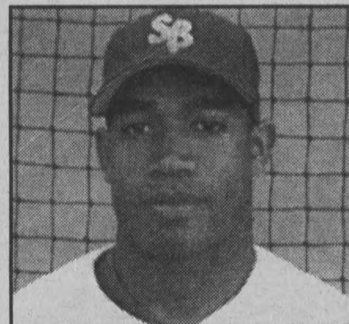

BY BRIAN CHONG
Reporter

The UCSB baseball team entered Wednesday's game against Loyola Marymount looking to bounce back after two tough defeats against a sizzling Pepperdine squad, but the Gauchos' hopes were set back as the #22 Lions came into town and stole a heartbreaker, 11-9.

UCSB (7-7 overall) has consistently jumped out to an early lead on its opponents, and Wednesday was no different. In the first inning, the Gauchos' offense produced a run on two singles and a wild pitch thrown by LMU pitcher Ben Bonilla.

Junior pitcher Jamie Gonzales was throwing well for UCSB, but started to have trouble against the offense of LMU (10-3), and was pulled by UCSB Head Coach Bob Brontsema in the fourth after giving up seven runs. He was replaced by sophomore Jeremy Sugarman.

"Jamie just ran out of gas," Brontsema said. "Everyone saw what he could do in the first few innings, and he was not in 100 percent shape, but he will be better."

#8 Bulldogs Bully the Gauchos, Sweep Doubleheader in Fresno

It had to be a long bus ride home for the Gauchos.

The UCSB softball team was in Fresno on Wednesday night to take on the eighth-ranked Bulldogs of Fresno State in a non-conference doubleheader. In the first game, Santa Barbara's offense was muffled by Bulldog pitcher Amanda Scott, who only allowed three hits in a 4-0 victory for FSU. In game two the Gauchos were blown out 15-0, in a game called after four and a half innings due to NCAA Softball's eight-run mercy rule.

Senior shortstop Mandy Edwards went two for three with a double in the opening game for UCSB (5-8 overall), but that's about all the offense the Gauchos could muster.

Scott took the game over for Fresno, hurling her fifth shutout to improve her overall record to 6-2. Scott also helped the Bulldogs offensively, blasting her second home run of the season in the fifth inning. It was Fresno State's seventh shutout of the season.

UCSB freshman Loren Thornburg turned in four-plus innings of work before she was pulled. Thornburg suffered her second loss of the year, dropping her overall record to 2-2.

"Loren threw a great game," UCSB Head Coach Liz Kelly said of the righthander's performance. "It's tough to score on Scott, she's an excellent pitcher."

In the nightcap, Fresno State jumped all over UCSB, scoring 15 runs in four innings without surrendering so much as a hit to the Gauchos. The final score was 15-0 Bulldogs, dropping Santa Barbara's overall record to three games below .500 for the first time this season.

UCSB will return to action this Saturday, when the Gauchos face Point Loma at Campus Diamond. The game begins at noon.
