NINE PLEDGED TO KAPPA DELTA PI SOCIETY

State Set To Stop Southwestern Tomorrow

OLD DEFEAT TO BE AVENGED BY DAVIS CAGEMEN

By Cleave Hillman

Another fast game on a par with the Cal-Christian epic struggle of last week is scheduled for tomorrow night at 8 o'clock when the Davismen meet the lawyers from Southwestern University of Los Angeles in the Flying "A" pavilion.

Little is known about the barrier cage outfit, except that early in the season they lost to Cal Christian by a five-point margin. This means that two evenly matched teams will take the floor, with the Roadrunners having a slight edge over the visitors. Judging the teams from the scores made by each against Cal Christian, S. B. has a three-point advantage, but such a small difference means nothing in a basketball game.

Last year, the two teams met here on the Junior High court, and the Olive and White were one basket behind when the whistle blew, so that should prove an incentive for some fast playing on the part of the locals to wipe out the mark on the defeat slate.

The Roadrunner lineup will probably be the same as that of the De Paul game, with Barnett and Denno at forwards, "Hankie" Kessler at center, and Foss and Trumbull at guard positions. Bert Clemore will probably be injected into the game at forward some time when the punch he carries is needed. In the De Paul game, his entrance marked a pronounced rally, with basket shooting on the up-grade during the last half.

The fightin' Frosh, in a pre-varsity game, starting at 6 o'clock against the Villanova prep school five from Ojai. Villanova has one of the best teams of the high school class in Ventura county, and should give Coach Luke Trimble's boys some stiff competition.

The frosh quintet is getting in some good practice at the casaba studio evenings against the scrub players, ex gym class stars. Tuesday night the scrub rose to great heights in a short work-out, when they tied the first string, 6 to 6.

The frosh will go on the floor with Hobbs and Pensinger at forwards; Greenough at center, and Greeson and Hopkins at the guard berths.

DEPARTMENTS OFFER TWELVE NEW COURSES

Twelve new courses are being given on the campus this semester. The majority of the subjects are listed as social science, two in education, two in English, two in home economics, three in physical education.

Of the courses that are being given as semester courses without being a full-year subject, history of the Pacific ocean area, is one of unique importance. It is said that this is the only course being given in the United States on the history of the Pacific ocean area. Dr. Ellison, who is a nation-wide authority on the Pacific ocean, is the instructor. Dr. Ellison is also teaching the history of California, an honor course and one of the new subjects.

Dr. Bradley, a history instructor who joined the faculty last semester, is teaching United States Expansion. Milton and Middle English, both taught by Dr. Maxwell, are the two new English courses. Table Appointments and Serving and Tailoring are in the Home Economics department. Several other subjects are being offered and are being taken by large groups of students.

REGISTRATION NEARS RECORD ENROLLMENT

The enrollment record at the end of the second day of the spring semester shows a total registration of 527. Although this is a smaller enrollment than that of the fall semester, it is an increase of 56 over the number of students registered at this time last spring.

The registration for this past semester was 549. This was the highest enrollment in the history of the college, being probably due to the large number of entering freshmen. Although a few students dropped out during the semester, the number of entering students should bring the enrollment up to that of last semester before registration closes next week, according to reports from the Registrar's office.

Sixteen graduates received their degrees the last of January. Of these, two have returned to take post-graduate work, so the enrollment was not greatly decreased on that account.

The greatest registration occurred Monday morning, when the majority of the old students

'MARCH HARES' WILL BE REPEATED THIS WEEK IN CARPINTERIA

A full house and extensive praise for "March Hares," the annual college production given last Friday evening in Lobero theater, demanded repeat performances, and the play was presented last night in the Carpinteria Alcazar theater before a large audience. It will be given again tonight in the Alcazar.

Due to praise given the play after its performance last week, a large number of students and townspeople have expressed a desire for a repeat presentation, and it is expected that tonight's show will draw a large crowd.

Approximately $200 was taken in gross receipts on Friday's presentation. One-half of this sum will be given to the college annual, La Cumbre, inaugurating a new custom in campus finances.

By Doris Rodehaver

"Wasn't it delightful?" said a prominent member of the college faculty after seeing "March Hares," which the College Players presented in the Lobero theater last Friday night. This opinion was expressed by critics, students, and townspeople alike. The players under the direction of Harold Jones are to be congratulated for so successfully presenting the rather light and frothy satire by Harry Wagstaff Gribble. The lines of the play are clever, but the plot and characters are rather thinly sketched and need excellent acting ability to keep up the interest. The fact that the actors were successful in holding the audience was primarily due to the splendid ability of Harold Jones, both as actor and director. Jones worked hard with his cast in trying to give a professional air to his production and achieved exceptional success.

The complete success of the production was manifested by the enthusiastic response of the audience. The Lobero Theatre, which seats about six hundred, was almost completely filled, and the audience, applauding appreciatively, seemed to recognize the fact that all the arts of the theatre had been blended to procure a finished production.

Harold Jones' ability in the theatre was also shown in his reserved and convincing interpretation of Mr. Wareham, the leading male character. He seemed to hold the center of the stage

STUDENTS HOLD EXAM JUBILEE AT ROCKWOOD

Student and faculty members of Santa Barbara State, with the worries and cares of the semester passed, frolicked at the annual Exam Jubilee held last Saturday evening at Rockwood, the Women's clubhouse in Mission canyon. The evening was spent in dancing to the music of Vic Janssens Paseo Troubadors. During intermission William Curley of the Industrial Education department entertained with selections on the musical saw, among which were "Aloha," "In a Little Spanish Town," and "One Alone."

The clubhouse was appropriately decorated with blue books suspended from the chandeliers, drapes and walls. Dance programs also in blue were named after the various classes.

Patrons and patronesses for this annual traditional hop were Miss Austin Camp, Mrs. Ruth Doolittle, Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Markthaler, Dean and Mrs. William Ashworth, and Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Fish.

Committees under the direction of Betty Proctor, social chairman, were, Dorothea Peterson, refreshments; Whitelaw Birss, floor committee; William Pensinger, cleanup; Charlie Huber, Laura Breska, decorations; entertainment, Betty Proctor.

RUSHING IS BEGUN BY SOCIAL GROUPS

Campus fraternities and sororities will inaugurate their semi-annual and annual rushing seasons within the next two weeks with the posting of a large number of bids for membership to the nine social Greek letter groups and the planning of a series of rush parties.

Invitations for the sororities have been issued, while fraternities will post bids week after next.

Indications at present are that the six sororities will take in a large number of women in the yearly Spring period.

The first event for the sororities will take place tomorrow evening, and the final will occur next Thursday evening. During the period intervening, members

ONE MAN AND EIGHT WOMEN ARE INVITED

Nine students were pledged to Alpha Rho chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, international honorary educational society, in the regular meeting of the society held last Tuesday evening in the A. W. S. clubrooms.

Of the nine students whose grades and other points of eligibility brought them the college's highest scholastic honors only one man, Alpheus Lincoln, was included. The others were: Alice Izant, Mrs. Hattie Maguire, Margaret Elwell, Cecile Morrison, Mildred Smyth, Miriam Smyth, Catharine Horsey, and Jennie Lind.

The pledges were given red and pale blue ribbons to wear during their pledgship and until the initiation banquet, which will take place within a few weeks.

The pledging will bring the number of campus students now in the society to eleven. All other members of the organizations are either faculty members or teachers engaged in active work in schools of the city.

The Rev. Oliver Hart Bronson of the Presbyterian Church, was the principal speaker at last Tuesday's meeting, which was presided over by Mrs. Fred Pierce, president.

Dr. Bronson spoke on "Friendship" and said briefly: "We can choose either the bad points or the good qualities in our friends. The social effort of friendship is a sporting challenge. Friendship is at the basis of all religion and of all international relations. Friendship should be one of the prime requirements in a college curriculum."

Alpha Phi Gamma Has Beach Party Tonight

Combined members of the Eagle staff and Alpha Phi Gamma fraternity will have an informal party tonight at seven o'clock at Cabrillo Pavilion beach. Lucille Powers, social secretary of Alpha Phi Gamma, has charge of the party.

Polley Sez:

There were 258 automobiles on and about the campus at Wednesday noon. Of these, 104 were Fords, young and old. These cars would transport more than 1000 persons.

THIS issue of The Eagle marks the transfer of its control to a new editor. It is the hope of the staff and the new editor that the paper may continue to represent the campus as well as it did under the regime of Allan Ottley.

The beginning of the Spring semester sees many marked advantages over the preceding term, and these should result in a better Eagle. Students, faculty, and organization are in full swing at this time of the year, and the machinery started in the Fall will carry smoothly into the present session. In addition, seasonal sprightliness, characteristic of the spring, makes it a period of greater and more buoyant activity, both mentally and physically.

Beginning with this issue will be run a number of new features, in editorial, news and sports. The staff has been enlarged, and it is hoped that departments of the institution will be more accurately represented in the campus weekly. Comments and suggestions from students of the college will be well taken by the editor, since he acts merely as a representative for the students in issuing a journal controlled by the student body.

STUDENTS of the college were treated to a speech of unusual quality from a man of extensive experience last Tuesday. Assemblyman George R. Bliss, in addition to representing the district in state government, is a musician, service leader, farmer and politician, and has university degrees in engineering and law.

"MARCH HARES"

IN THE annual college play given last Friday evening in Lobeño Theatre, Santa Barbara State made permanent record of an extraordinary dramatic talent.

Harold Jones and the cast supporting him deserve a student tribute that will be written in the history and traditions of the college.

In commenting on the production President Phelps said: "The play might have been overdone and produced a wrong impression, but careful insight and restraint was exercised, and the resulting work reflected great credit on the college and its ability to interpret a difficult play."

The play will be given again tonight in Carpinteria Alcazar theatre, and those who failed to see it last Friday should not let 12 miles separate them from what is by far the best piece of drama ever produced on the campus.

And then to the next window, the disintegrating process slowly but surely setting in as the mills of the gods slowly grind on to an inexorable fate. And so on until finally they have wasted a morning and bandits firmly entrenched behind sweet smiles and fair words have reduced their available cash to a mere trifle. Their faces as they come from the administration building are set in a supercilious sneer. They have seen "Life." There is nothing left for them. Suicide offers the only way out.

Shots resound and the sale of poison soars. A few hardy souls linger on and half-heartedly struggle on a few years until they almost attain a degree and once more the ogres of the front office stand in the way. Suddenly and fiercely they sweep down upon the unwary victim, these harpies of the credentials, and with the edict that the proper courses were not taken in the Freshman and Sophomore years all hopes of the coveted degree go glimmering and the poor student, having run the gamut of human experience, quietly and unostentatiously faints away.

of sororities will not be allowed to talk with those women receiving bids or make any indications of favoritism, according to rules of the Pan-Hellenic organization.

Pan-Hellenic also deems that women must have completed one semester's work on the campus with at least a "3" average. Boxes containing the bids issued by each sorority have been placed in Dean Mildred Pyle's office, and women being rushed will be so advised through their mail boxes.

The final sorority events will be formal dinners, to be given next Saturday night. It is customary that all students attending the dinner will become pledges and eventually members of the group they chose.

CAMPUS GOSSIP

By the College Widow

Gather 'round, fair coeds and handsome campus sheiks, the College Widow is here with her broom and dust pan to gather all the dirt she can find. And what is more, she is going to give you the low-down on it all. Every week in this column you will see printed for the world to read, the escapades of unsuspecting students. And here's where you come in: Any dirt you may find that the widow misses, just send it to the Eagle office in care of the Campus Widow and you will soon see it in print.

Our campus isn't free from those "Eternal Triangles." In fact, they are quite the popular thing. Johnny Davis, Margaret Wilson, Fred Imes seem to think so anyway.

Larry Parma is being swamped with applications for dates by the fair coeds of the campus. It seems his poetry makes quite a hit.

The widow has at last found out what has been worrying her all week. And that is — who "Bubbles" Tubbs sent his Tau Omega frat pin to. Here's the dirt: It has gone to Evelyn Dearborn who is attending Cal this year.

When people get so high falootin' as to think the widow will be partial about putting them in this column, that is just where they are all wet. And so you see, Oswald Higgs, your masculine charms can't persuade the widow one bit.

As if eternal triangles weren't enough there are some people who must get into entangling relations. Edyth Smith and Emmett McTavish get into this column by riding around together the other day and so that naturally brings in Margery Johnson, Bill Delaney and Joe McFarland.

The good looking young profs "rate" with the women. Did you ever see Mr. Bradley when there weren't at least three women about him?

These people who ride around Montecito on Sundays and don't recognize their friends are the bunk. Ned Porter, must you be so high toned? I'll admit that she's a mighty cute girl, but such absorption is a little too much.

Sorry, that's all today: the dustpan is full.

BLISS SPEAKS TO COLLEGE ASSEMBLY

Stating that the law touches the individual in every turn and walk of life, George W. Bliss, assemblyman from this district, addressed some 500 college students at the first assembly of the spring semester. According to Mr. Bliss the last one hundred years has made such a tremendous change in the lives of the people of the country, with the coming of the automobile, airplane and the labor saving devices, that the government must be changed accordingly. "Although the savage was free, that was all he had," said the speaker.

"Of course with all these new developments in the world the government must change with the civilization. The running expenses of the city, state and national governments must be kept in accordance with times. Therefore, taxes, since they are the source of financial income for the government, must be set accordingly. It is up to the citizen of the country to see that the money is spent to the best advantage, by the election of the best men to government offices. The average tax per family is $500 per year to a family of four. With the payment of these taxes the citizens of the county buy protection in many forms."

In summing up his address the speaker left these three ideas in the minds of the audience. First, laws are necessary for the highest expression of government, second, true value of taxes; third, it is up to the social organizations such as the church, schools and clubs to see that the best men are elected to public office.

Plans For Building Given to Director

Complete specifications for the science building planned for the northeastern section of the campus were handed Andrew P. Hill, Jr., director of schoolhouse planning, last Thursday by President Clarence Phelps. Plans call for a 14-room building, in addition to offices and storage rooms. They will be returned for revision.

L. Deming Tilton's plan for future development of the campus, printed in last week's Eagle, was also submitted to the state architect.

Outing Club Meets At College Cabin

Only a small group attended the picnic held last Sunday by the Outing club at the college cabin on the Santa Ynez river. The students, with Luke Trimble acting as faculty sponsor, left the college early in the morning. The day was spent in hiking and games. Lunches were brought by the students and chocolate was furnished. Mildred Smyth had charge of the preparing of the hot chocolate.

re-registered. Student body fees were collected at the same time, and the women were given an opportunity to pay their dues to the Associated Women Students.

Regular classes began Tuesday morning in all departments.

FILLMORE HIGH FIVE DEFEATED BY FROSH TEAM

After being held to a 10-10 tie at half time, Coach Luke Trimble's Santa Barbara State College freshman basketball players came back in the second half to run up 16 points and hold the Fillmore High School players to 3 field goals, thus adding another victory to their string for the season. The game was played last Saturday night in the Flying "A" court.

The encounter was fast throughout, with the passing attack of the Roadrunner Chicks featuring the play. The frosh were minus the services of two of their best players, Frank Hobbs and Myron Catchpole. Hobbs found it necessary to go home for the week-end and Catchpole was laid up with injuries.

The Trimblemen led almost all the way through the first half, the Blue and White coming from behind in the last part of the second quarter to even things up. Accurate long shots by Lorenz "Pinky" Greeson in the second half started things rolling for the college babes as they piled up eight field goals in rapid succession.

It is strange but true that in minor roles one often discovers ability and sincerity of character delineation which not only furnish the finishing touches but also actually add a great deal to the development of a play. The performances of Jack Viggars as Oliver, the butler, and of Laura Breska, as Ethyl, the maid, were just such bits as would lend finish to any production.

Dorothea Peterson played the leading female role of Janet Rodney with charm, and Sally Leonard captivated the audience with her vivacity and flirtatious manner in the part of Janet Rodney's "affinity." Rachel Burns gave a very convincing performance as Janet's mother who trotted around stage accusing everyone of being temperamental.

Eddie Davens, George Greenough and Fern Frye completed the cast and gave the others good support. Davens made the most of a straight role and the other two filled their parts with equal ability.

In a light modern satire such as "March Hares" the set is exceedingly important and Laura Breska and Emily Wood should receive unlimited commendation for their work. The set was done in a futuristic design and vivid color, and received much applause when the curtain was first lifted.

The same talent which was so evident in the acting, directing, and stage setting, was also present in the smart way in which the stage managers, Girvan Higginson and Edwin Jacobs, accomplished their tasks. Virgil Gilum, business manager, with Albert Terry, and Ann Sampson also worked for the success of the play.

VARSIITY QUINTET DROPS TWO ENCOUNTERS

PHANTOMS FOIL FAST FORWARDS IN FROSH FRAY

Coach Luke Trimble's frosh basketballers can lay their first claim to a so-called "tough break" as the result of last Monday's preliminary game at the Flying "A". Leading up to the final two minutes of the battle, they were nosed out by Coach Steinert's Methodist Phantoms, 32-29 in a fast encounter.

With both teams composed of several former local high school stars, it was a game of old friend against old friend.

The two quintets found some trouble in the early part of the tilt, and it was not until after six minutes of play that a score was made. After Greeson's initial basket, the frosh piled up points to hold the lead in easy style during the first three quarters of the game. Then a determined rally by the church boys closed up the gap, and two baskets by Chester Myers put them in the lead to take the game.

Greeson was high point man with 18 points. The college youngsters were minus the services of Myron Catchpole, regular guard, who is back in Colorado.

Lineups and scoring:

Frosh		Phantoms
Hobbs (7)	F.	Myers (11)

Greenough (2)	C.	Lane (7)

Finals In Tennis to Be Played on College Courts Next Thursday

The finals of the first annual mid-winter State College tennis tournament will be played next Thursday morning fourth period on the college courts below the new athletic field, according to Howard Lane, tournament manager.

All of the quarter and semi-final matches will be over by next Tuesday which will allow the two men reaching the finals a day's rest before the match.

An effort is being made to postpone assembly on Thursday to allow students of the college to attend the final games of the tournament.

CINDER PATH STARS BEGIN SPRING WORK

Adhering faithfully to a tedious and tiresome routine to work off the effects of summer orgies and mid-winter carousals, a score of State College track aspirants are slowly beginning to round into shape under the watchful tutelage of Coach Luke Trimble, one of America's foremost hurdlers.

The popular adage "Reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet" has no place on the schedule of the cinder path artists who are gradually going into strict training, and getting rid of surplus avoirdupois by hard work and exercise. Prospects for a successful season are fair, but with the rumor that "Army" Kessler is lost to the squad, the Roadrunner field stock dropped several points. About eleven points per meet to be exact.

Veterans Back

Captain Stan Winters, curly headed flyer who runs both the 100 and 220 yard dashes seems to be rounding into good shape, giving promise of equalling his performances of last year. Jimmy Tinkle, another speed merchant, is another potential winner in the furlong and low hurdle events. Chet Tubbs, a half miler who has developed into the best 880 man, in one year, that State has ever had, is the only good distance man in sight so far. Field events seem particularly weak, with consistent point winners extremely scarce. The javelin, the one event in which the varsity outclassed all opposition last year, is bolstered up by the addition of the California Jaysee champ.

With the season not yet started, Trimble expects much more varsity timber to turn out in the next few weeks.

BIRDS-I-VIEW

By Larry Parma

Numerous rumors coming out of the Middle West to the effect that Notre Dame would be asked to join the Big Ten conference in place of Iowa were negated last week, with the announcement that the Hawkeye institution had been reinstated to its former position.

Canute Rockne certainly would not want to join the Big Ten anyway, with its curtailing rules concerning post season inter-sectional contests. Besides the South Bend school never has been on entirely cordial terms with all the members of the league at one time.

Probably nothing would suit the bald headed sage from Indiana better than getting Mr. Zupke and his Illini on a gridiron and giving them a good old fashioned trouncing in the Urbana stadium.

On the other hand it is entirely within reason that the same Mr. Zupke and his hefty henchmen would scalp the Rockne proteges even as they did Army. Which would be too bad for Notre Dame and cause some more fraternity houses at Illinois to be raided successfully for the nectars of Bacchus.

Coach Jim Kelly rises to remark that State has as good material as he can draw from his four thousand men at De Paul. It may be so, I do not know, yo heave ho and a bottle of rum.

The De Paul team has had tough luck with the officiating this year on the coast. Kelly was more than pleased with the work of the Santa Barbara referees, claiming it was the best he has seen out here.

But quoting from the San Francisco Examiner in its account of the De Paul-Athens Club game: "The Athens Club, with the able co-operation of the officials managed to nose out De Paul U. of Chicago, 21-20."

Well, that's one way to look at it.

Orchestra Plays At Baptist Church

State College orchestra gave its second outside concert last Sunday evening before a large audience in the First Baptist church. Under the direction of Clifford Leedy, the 15-piece organization played for the entire service and offertory and prelude numbers.

Enrollment in the orchestra has begun, and a larger group is expected for the coming semester. Tryouts are being held now under Mr. Leedy's supervision. The rehearsal hours will be Monday and Wednesday, 9th.

CAL CHRISTIAN AND DE PAUL U. RUFFLE STATE

C. C. C. Takes Game By Bare Margin of 36-34.

By Larry Parma

The spirit was willing but the flesh was weak, and the basketball was rotten. Which all goes to explain why Santa Barbara lost another two-point battle to the California Christian college Friday night at the Flying "A" gym, 36-34.

A steady, well-conditioned crew that represented C. C. C. proved too versatile for the Green and White, who scored in sporadic outbursts, but wilted temporarily in the third quarter. The game was fast and thrilling and the four hundred fans present were not disappointed with the type of basketball played. As usual the varsity completely stole the show from the two high school quintets that played Santa Paula in preliminary clashes.

State Hot

State started the first half off with a bang, working the ball down under the basket for three set-up shots all of which were missed. After several minutes of play the Roadrunners sank their first counter only to have the Panthers go into the lead with a free throw and a basket. For the remainder of the half the advantage see-sawed back and forth. State's teamwork was disrupted early in the contest, and only spectacular, long shots kept them in the running. Cal Christian meanwhile was missing more shots than the Hilltoppers, enabling the locals to lead 21-17 at the half.

Davis Speaks

A blistering between-the-halves talk by Coach Hal Davis had no effect at all on the weary Roadrunners, and with the opening whistle the southerners' superior physical condition began to tell. After the ejection of Art Trumbull for four personal fouls, they forged into the lead until, with four minutes and thirty seconds left to play, they held a 34-24 margin. At this juncture the Staters brought the stands to their feet with a great rally that was only two points shy of a tie with 20 seconds left to play. Desperate long shots proved ineffective, and the Panthers took the contest 36-34.

Easterners Swamp The Roadrunner by 35-15.

By Allan Ottley

An athletic cyclone of whirling Blue Demons blew out of the Middle West Monday night to scatter Roadrunner feathers about the Flying "A" studio and sweep on to a 35-14 basketball victory. Riding on the crest of a wave of brilliant triumphs, the hoop masters from De Paul University hit Santa Barbara for a short time to wreck State cage prestige, and then rolled on to Los Angeles, continuing their barnstorming tour of the West.

Coach Hal Davis brought his stalwarts out into the full blast of the storm, but though they never gave up fighting, they were gradually pushed back toward the cyclone cellar. It was a struggle of fight and determination against superior technique, and technique won.

De Paul Dominates

The force of the wind suddenly died down as the game opened when Barnett dropped one into the bucket, but gathering force once again, the Chicagoans drove on in easy gusts to lead 20-4 at half time. As the evening wore on, the Roadrunners rallied, donned their sou'westers, and made some progress against the Demons. Chief Davis, who has been shifting his starting line-up lately, opened with what will probably be the regular beginning squad in future games—Barnett and Denno, forwards; Kessler, center; Foss and Trumbull, guards, with Bert Clemore being saved until the battle was well under way.

Chicagoans Praise Referee

De Paul, not essentially a powerful driving team, relies on its superb passing ability. Every man on the squad was an artist at handling the ball, and particularly worthy of note was Captain Manning Powers, whose inimitable flips of the casaba were beautiful.

The fray marked the twelfth encounter of the trip for Coach Jim Kelly's men. The Blue Demon mentor was particularly pleased with the refereeing Monday night, saying after the game that it was the first time on the trip that they had not been given any raw deals.
