

SANTA BARBARA COLLEGE
EL GAUCHO

"PAPA IS ALL" ENDS TONIGHT

El Dia Del Gaucho Honors University's Birth

El Dia Del Gaucho was chosen this week as the name for the Santa Barbara college observance next Thursday night commemorating the granting of a charter to the University of California in 1868. Dick Struck, publicity chairman for the event scheduled for next Thursday night on the Mesa campus, announced that the name was submitted by Angie McGarvin.

This is the first observance by Santa Barbara College of Charter week which has become a traditional event on the Berkeley and U.C.L.A. campuses of the University. "By celebrating El Dia Del Gaucho (The Day of the Gaucho) we join with other parts of the University in paying tribute to the initial Charter Day of the University of California," Struck stated.

"Thursday evening's program promises to be one of the biggest events in the history of Santa Barbara College," Bobbie Berry, general chairman of the affair, announced.

Program for the evening will include a dinner at 5:30 on the Mesa campus, served by members of the home economics department, an open house sponsored by members of the industrial education department showing students and townspeople the I.E. building, rated as one of the finest in the west.

At 8 p.m., students and guests will gather around a bonfire and from this point a torchlight processional will form and proceed around the grounds of the campus. Route of the processional is being planned so that it will be visible from the town.

Following the processional, in which 300 torchbearers will participate, students and townspeople will witness a rally in the patio of the I.E. building.

At this time, Tito Gorrindo, student body president, will introduce the student body president from the Berkeley campus of the University, the student body president, presidents of the A.W.S. and A.M.S. from the Los Angeles campuses. Other speakers will include Sidney Anderson, alumni president of the Berkeley campus, and Louis Taylor, president of the local alumni association.

Following the rally a dance will be held to climax the evening.

Art Students See Home Films

Delta Phi Delta, honorary art fraternity, held an informal meeting at the home of President Jane Lewis, 13 Rametto Road, last February 22.

Outstanding students in the art department and old alumni were invited to attend.

Movies of Mexico, Guatemala, and South America were shown by Mr. Robert Lewis. Jewelry, basketry, silver, modern pieces and antiques owned by the Lewis' were exhibited.

Mrs. Eleanor Morrissey is the sponsor.

Men Students Plan Charter Day Bonfire, Torch Processional

Associated Men Students will play an important part in Charter Day festivities under plans discussed at the meeting held Monday evening in Pine Hall. Under the joint-committeeship of Tom Burt, Gordie Griffith, and Jack Murphy, the group will have charge of the bonfire and torches for the procession and rally next Thursday.

Means of raising money to purchase jackets for members of the baseball team were suggested. Tentative plans include a program in the auditorium and a dance under the sponsorship of the AMS.

The stag party, which was postponed because of the rains, will be held the first of May at the Gaucho cabin in combination with a fishing trip.

After all outstanding business was disposed of, the meeting was adjourned to the Delta Zelta Delta sorority house where entertainment and women were furnished by the sorority. Neophytes amused the men with various skits and impersonations. Refreshments consisted of cocoa and buttered toast.

Pledges Entertain Dramatics Students

Theta Alpha Phi, national honorary dramatics fraternity, met at the Montecito home of Janine Rupertice last Saturday.

Pledges presented scenes from plays, "Murder in the Cathedral," and "They Know What They Wanted."

Those attending the meeting were Miss Marion Hammond, Dean Ashworth, Delphia Nash, and Lucille Johnson, member; Sue Knott and Janine Rupertice, alumni; and Sally Dunlap, Jim Costy, Tito Gorrindo, Frances Mattson, and Harriet Webb pledges.

Formal invitation will be held at the college auditorium on Sunday, March 18, at 12:30. Afterwards, the members will lunch at El Encanto.

The fraternity plans to give two one-act plays this semester, and sponsor some playwright in Santa Barbara, and give three scholarships next year. Next year an original play and a classic will be given.

Noni Williams as Mama comforts her daughter, Emma, played by Lynn Wiggins, in a touching scene from "Papa Is All," which has its closing performance tonight.

Mitchell Leaves Speech Dept. To Become Army Chaplain

Dr. Albert O. Mitchell, director in the division of speech and of the College Theatre since June, 1941, left Saturday for Fort Devens, Massachusetts, where he will enter the service clergy as chaplain. Mitchell has contemplated entrance into the armed forces for some time, but had hoped to be able to complete this semester's work at the college first.

However, the army is known to be no respecter of hopes and the college play "Papa Is All," had to continue rehearsals without its original director.

Mrs. Mitchell will teach her husband's classes for the balance of the semester, though their two younger children will have to visit a nursery daily to make such an arrangement possible.

His activities at Santa Barbara College in the last three and a half years in drama and speech have made Dr. Mitchell a familiar figure to all members of the student body, and many have expressed their admiration of his work with them.

Because of his work in Santa Barbara as an elder in the Church of Latter-day Saints, Dr. Mitchell qualifies as a lay minister and will enter the service as a first lieutenant.

"Due to unfortunate and unforeseen difficulties the sophomore dance has been postponed. The lack of an orchestra prevented us from giving you the kind of a dance you want. So girls hold on to your dates, the dance is definitely set for May 11."

—Sharon Smith, social chairman.

Gauche Women Entertain Men

Weekly afternoon and evening festivities at the Biltmore Redistribution Center will begin at 3:00 p.m. this Sunday. Buses will leave the campus at 3:00 with the 25 women who have signed up to go.

This week's program will include ping-pong and dancing before the buffet supper, and some sort of show is scheduled after the meal. It will be either a stage performance or motion picture.

Mrs. Thomas McGarvin, S.E.C. social chairman, who is in charge of service affairs for student participation, says, "We were very pleased and proud to have so many new girls sign up for the last event at the Miramar. I hope new girls will continue to cooperate, and join in the good times." She stresses that the girls who take part in these activities are doing a real service to the war-weary veterans stationed at the Redistribution Centers around Santa Barbara.

Costy, Williams Star In Play

With Jim Costy and Noni Williams in the leading roles, members of the Speech department will present the last performance of "Papa Is All" tonight at 8:30 in the college auditorium. Ray Puissegur as Jake, the inhibited son; Lynn Wiggins, Emma; Pat Neely as the talkative and meddling Mrs. Yoder and Tom Fowl, the surveyor, Brendle, complete the cast.

The story is a comedy treatment of the revolt of a family against a domineering and fanatically religious father, played by Jim Costy. Noni Williams is Mama, who acts as intermediary between him and the children.

Jim Costy directs the play, in the absence of Dr. Mitchell, assisted by Ross Everman and Pat Bradfish. Other members of the staff include Dorothy Simmons, Gwen Messenger and Sylvan Osiel, property; Bob Graves, stage manager; Barbara Barton and Ross Everman, publicity; Jean Calderon, costumes; Ross Everman, business manager; Margaret Wheeler, promptress; Delphia Nash and Willowdean Wigger, make-up, and Alice Chard, printing. Pat Bradfish and members of the stage design class are stage crew.

Science Department Travels to Capitan

From the mountains—to the ocean white with foam—members of the Science department will go on their field trip April 8. Formerly planned for Sunday, the trip was postponed because of a previously scheduled event on the same day to be sponsored by the Santa Barbara Botanical Gardens.

Geology, zoology, botany and ornithology students will meet at the Quad at 8:45 a.m. for the morning's sojourn to the mountains back of El Capitan.

Under Helen Decker's supervision arrangements are being made for refreshments and transportation for fifty or more students who are expected to participate in the expedition.

After a picnic on El Capitan Beach, zoologists will take advantage of the low tide to study the sea life adjoining the shoreline rocks which are inaccessible during higher tides.

Students who have not yet paid the 50 cent charge should do so no later than 1 p.m. Friday, April 6. Donations of red points for meat should also be given to Mrs. Henry by then.

Do your part, Junior Hostesses, come and help the boys celebrate St. Patrick's day at Hoff Hospital, tomorrow from 6:30 to 9:00, appealed Marcia Hess, chairman. Twenty-five girls are needed. Sign up now before it is too late in Dean Sweet's office.

THE MESA CAMPUS

Thursday, March 22nd, the Mesa Campus will play host to members of the student body and townspeople participating in the "College Torch Parade." The purpose of this open house is to acquaint the students who have never seen this campus with the buildings and equipment which are housed there. Students and friends will be taken on a complete tour of the buildings and will see most of the machines in action. After the tours have been completed, a rally program will be presented in the auditorium. Everybody is welcomed to come to the open house party and see the future land upon which the new campus is being surveyed.

If you think it isn't still possible to have a lot of fun these days in school you should have attended the Industrial Education club's "Slack and Levi" dance. The party was highlighted by the games and stories of Mr. Taylor and the "Mutt and Jeff" interpretation of the New Yorker by Kay Updegraff and Bob Shottland.

Lois Stanhilber and Kay Updegraff did a good job on the decorating, carrying out the theme of a Fisherman's Friday. Fish nets were strung along the walls, old logs draped with chains crowded the corners and ropes lay in coils along the floor. For refreshments we had punch and cookies. We'd like to thank Bernie Rumack, social chairman, for the grand job of arranging the party.

Mr. Ericson and Mr. Soules attended a committee meeting in Los Angeles to discuss the postwar planning in Vocational and Industrial Education. The committee is headed by H. C. Compion, assistant superintendent of schools in Los Angeles. The committee consisted of supervisors, administrators, and teacher training personnel in Vocational and Industrial Arts.

Among our visitors for the week we were honored with Dr. Dykstro, Provost of U.C.L.A., and Dr. R. J. Kerner of U.C. They were very pleased with the buildings and equipment.

What is this gossip going around about the "lone, blonde stranger," Delwich?

Coach Terry Dearborn has asked that any men interested in playing softball this season report for practice next Tuesday at 3:00. Several service teams are eager to play the Gauchos and games will be scheduled if enough men will turn out for the team.

Off the Beam

By the SQUARE

Out of the smoke-filled corners of our local den of iniquity, otherwise known as the Gaucho Room, we bring you the latest flashes, hot off the coke-smearred tables.

Late as usual, we announce the engagement of KAY KING and CPL. PHILLIP DOBBS, permanently stationed at the Biltmore. They plan to be married in July.

WILLIE WIGGER is sporting a ring—not the usual kind mentioned in this scandal sheet, but a birthday present from ARCHIE ARCHIBALD. Apparently, no one has ever told the aforementioned Archie that one should be very careful about giving away rings. We were all set for a big scoop, and then discovered that it was only a gift. The irony of it all.

JEAN CALDERON is in Dutch with GEORGE BRADVICA, and all because of a sailor, CHRISTIE, by name. That Navy, they're always popping up in the most unexpected places.

Our Gestapo and OGPU representatives report that ROXIE DOUGHERTY was seen El Cortijo-ing and El Paseo-ing with a certain Marine tech sergeant. Once again the Marines have the situation well in hand.

B. G. STEELE and LIEUTENANT NICK NICHANDROS were also seen at the El Paseo. There are two places in Santa Barbara that one may visit if one wishes to see our entire student body at any time. They are, of course, Ye Olde Golden State and that ever popular El Paseo.

Instead of knitting for Britain, or doing the usually accepted volunteer work, GLORIA BYRNES and GENNY GIBNEY have discovered something new. They play blackjack with lonely Marine lieutenants, known as Berg and Bickering.

LEON LICKENS has something, exactly what we are not sure. Whatever it is there is a beautiful woman who always sits in the first booth at the Golden State when he is playing the pin-ball machines. We don't wish to pry, but please tell us, LEON, what is your secret, or is it some mysterious new discovery?

The girls of 1427 Laguna are doing all right by the handsome naval officers stationed at Oxnard. Admittedly, a rose by any other name would smell as sweet, but these roses are PATTY GEYER, ELAINE GARNER, BOBBIE BRITCH, HARRIET WEBB, and DONNETTE GAMBY.

BOB KELLY and JOHNNY FALXA, former Gauchos, visited their old hangouts recently. In fact, BOB spent some trying to find the table on which he had inscribed his name, lo these many years ago.

ANSWER TO A LOVER

Dearest Lover Goochie,

I just read your sweet letter over again for the twelfth time. It was just like you . . . so full of hidden sentiments.

I can understand, dear, why geraniums would make you think of me. Ever since I first admitted that gardenias gave me sneezing spells, geraniums were the only flower you would bring me.

Your reminiscing made me sentimental. I, too, remember the party at Glendessary; during the third number of the floor show I reached for your hand and found you had ditched me. A miniature Betty Hutton was giving a rendition of "I Love You Drooly" and I wanted to show you where the dark hairs of her coiffeur were giving a postlude to what you had so blindly called her, "Symphony in Gold." If you had left off the "Sym" it might have been more accurate.

I looked high and low for you, finally locating you in the very latter. You'll have to admit that it was a pretty warm night to be hiding under the rug . . . even if pink elephants were chasing you.

Yes, darling, I feel the same as you do about being separated for so long. You must miss me terribly. Don't worry, dearest, they'll improve the sights on those long range guns soon.

Speaking of sights, I've just about finished my new book. You'll enjoy it. It's all pictorial. I'll send you one of the first copies.

I'm featuring candid snapshots of all men on the Riviera campus. Tonight there's to be an AMS meeting and I'm hoping to get a group pose of all twenty-two of them.

That should cinch a sale of seven hundred copies to the girls on campus who don't know any male students in person anymore. Oh yes, the title makes it a sequence to the book you mentioned in your letter as I'm going to name it "Fuehrer and Fuehrer, Volume 2, Only More So."

"Going down?"

Yes, Goochie, it's lonely here without you. But I promise to leave you alone until you come home, if you'll just drag some more men behind you. Do that like a sweet little lamb and you'll be surprised how many Mary's will welcome you.

Until that time then, or your next letter, I remain, I assure you . . .

At home nights,
Gachi.

SPORTRAITS

By FRED BURROUS

Plans for the season's big all-campus show, The Roadrunner, are really booming. Among the more interesting features of this great show will be the all male chorus picked from Terry Dearborn's physical education department. Among the cuties doing the can-can and the bumps will undoubtedly be such alluring creatures as Schecter, Mendoza, Dahl, Grabast, Rodriguez, Cocks, Ginn, Gorindo, and Keener. Another sweat and loathely pair who could quicken the pulses of the local howling majority is the Puissegur - Schottland team, and what's sarong with a sarong dance by that buxom darling, Gordena Griffithsovitch? Sounds like a great night for frustrated femininity!

The Yacht Clubbers had a hilarious time last Saturday as boards, canvas, paint, and sundry articles flew in all directions in the effort to get their fleet in readiness for the coming sailing season. They'll be working down at the Mesa Campus for the next few Saturdays from 10:00 to 4:00 so how about dropping around and lending a hand, matey (Navy lingo for chum or chump, whichever the case may be)? We'll have all the dope next week on the flashes and features of the girls' basketball tourney. Gosh, fellahs, remember when they came out to cheer for us? Oh well, war is . . . isn't it?

Phi Lambda Mu Holds Formal Initiation

A formal initiation was held for new members by Phi Lambda Mu, honorary music fraternity, at the home of Mrs. Alice B. Barnett, 1107 North Nopal St., on Tuesday, at 7:30.

The music faculty and wives were invited to attend. The new members, chosen on the basis of scholarship and performance, gave a recital, and the constitution was read.

Gaucha Women Entertain Soldiers

Last Sunday afternoon, special buses left the Riviera campus at 3 p.m. for the Buffet Supper at the Miramar Redistribution Center with 25 student hostesses.

Music in the South American style was furnished by a family band. During intermission, two of the younger members of the group entertained with a genuine Mexican Hat Dance, and there were also ping-pong games as a diversion from dancing.

Following the buffet supper, guests were taken to the Biltmore Redistribution Center, where there was a stage show. "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" concluded the evening's varied program.

Badminton Tourney Approaches Finals

Several more matches have been played in the badminton tournament. In the men's singles Bob Casier and Ed Grabast advanced to the quarterfinals by virtue of wins over Jerry Cocks and Bob Schottland respectively.

There were two matches played in the women's singles. Elda Tonello defeated Audrey Sutherland 11-3, 11-6. Annabell Blue outlasted Joanne Curtis 11-8, 2-11, 11-9. In the women's doubles the Curtis-Weber duo eliminated Romer and Teeteis 15-8, 15-8. Anderson and Parrish downed Hodge and Faurion 11-7, 11-8.

Elliott and Little advanced in the mixed doubles by virtue of a win over the Cocks-Daugherty team 15-5, 15-2. Burrous and Tan were eliminated by Grabast and Parrish by a score of 15-9, 15-14.

Those who have not played off their matches yet should do so in the near future or else withdraw their names from the tournament.

Increase In Veteran Enrollment Expected

C. Douglas Woodhouse, Dean of Men and Coordinator of Veteran's Affairs on the campus here, revealed in a recent interview that a great increase in the number of veterans in schools everywhere is expected this year and every year until the war is over.

He emphasized the desire of this college to offer all of its facilities to returning students . . . "to help them gain their educational objectives and simultaneously readjust themselves to civilian life."

"It has been indicated," stated Mr. Woodhouse, "that campus life with its attendant activities and lack of economic pressure is an ideal medium of rehabilitation for a man who has been through the regimentation and ordeal of war."

"The ex-service man makes friends easily and quickly on campus . . . friends who speak his own language and are thinking of the future as he is."

Continuing, the dean pointed out that this condition, prevalent on college campuses because youth is concentrated there more than any other place in particular, makes for common understanding of the problems which the young man of today must face in the post war world.

"Stimulated by these thoughts and relationships, the veterans are able to forget the experiences of the past in the promise of the future!"

In order to show that the service man may realize his place in the student body with as full an interest and participation as he pleases, Mr. Woodhouse stressed the fact that no attempt is made on this campus to set the service man apart from regular students.

"In truth," he accorded, "the veteran becomes a regular student."

"Discussion with returning service men clearly reveals that they have a mature sense of educational objectives. Gone is the school of thought which was entertained by many in the past that completion of the eighth grade is an adequate preparation for a vocation." (Dean Woodhouse believes this is largely the result of guidance and study in the armed forces, plus the realization that the post war world will demand education of the highest order.)

ACCENTS AND DIALECTS DEMONSTRATED TO SPEECH DEPARTMENT GROUP

Groman, appeared before the members of the Division of Speech at their last regular meeting. Pvt. Groman, who is at present stationed at Hoff General Hospital, spent four years in Hollywood prior to entering the service, teaching dialects and accents as well as corrective speech to many notables of the film and radio.

Groman himself has appeared in various radio programs, including the radio version of "The Amazing Dr. Clitterhouse," with Humphrey Bogart, Edward G. Robinson and Marsha Hunt. He also took part in the radio presentation of "Captains of the Clouds," with Jimmy Cagney and Dennis Morgan. He was regularly featured on such programs as Big Town, Calling All Cars, Strange as it Seems, and "The Grouch Club."

A dialect expert, Pvt. Groman has lectured on accents and dialects before colleges, schools, and fraternal organizations all over the U. S. He has made a profession of an art which he developed for his own amusement while in high school. After winning several amateur contests, including a Major Bowes show when he was attending the University of Minnesota, he became interested in the "reason for dialects," and took a degree in speech at the University of Southern California to make a serious study of the why and wherefore of accents and dialects. After teaching corrective speech for the Los Angeles Board of Education for some time, he established his own studio where he instructed in speech as well as accents and dialects for character acting.

A clever impersonator, Groman has a repertoire of more than thirty characterizations, several of which he presented before the speech group. Interspersed with his talk was a factual history of dialects and how they originate through a conflict between the language heritage of native countries with the peculiarities of American speech.

From his store of thirty-five different dialects, he presented over a dozen, including Scotch, Swedish, Italian, Cockney, Jewish, Mexican, Irish, German, Dutch, and French. He also differentiated between the Chinese and the Japanese types of speech.

As a specialist in both teaching and unteaching dialects, Pvt. Groman said, "Learning the dominant melody in a language is the most important thing. Most people who have tried to learn English have tried to learn through the trial and error method. Foreigners are not cognizant of the American pattern of speech."

He went on to say, "As far as your own speech is concerned, there is no rigid standard. Speak clearly and distinctly so that you may be easily understood, and remember to speak from your heart instead of from your throat."
