POLITICAL SCIENTIST TO DISCUSS HUMAN RIGHTS

Dr. David J. Danelski, Assistant Professor of Political Science at the University of Washington who also is a distinguished attorney, will discuss "Human Rights in A Democratic Society" in South Hall Lecture Room at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Dr. Danelski currently is on the UCSB campus as a discussion leader for the two-week Bill of Rights workshop sponsored by the University Extension.

The visiting lecturer was admitted to the bar before the Spureme Court of the United States in 1962, and before that was admitted to the bar in Illinois and in Washington state.

Currently practicing as a consultant in constitutional law, Danelski has handled such cases as Koch vs. Illinois, involving the right of free speech of professors in state universities. He formerly was a research attorney for the American Bar Foundation in Chicago and was in general practice in Mt. Vernon, Washington. During service with the navy, he was a trial and defense counsel for the 13th Naval District General Court Martial.

Danelski taught at Skagit Valley Junior College and at the University of Illinois before going to the University of Washington. During his own schooling, he was an honor student throughout college and on the Dean's List in law school. He was a Louis E. Asher Fellow at the University of Chicago and was a University Fellow there. The lecturer was a guest scholar at the Center for Advanced Study, Brookings, and currently is a Walter E. Meyer Research Fellow completing a study of decision-making in the Supreme Court. He also has a graduate school summer grant from the University of Washington.

Dr. Danelski's degrees include the LL.B. from DePaul University, a certificate from the School of Naval Justice, a Bachelor's Degree from Seattle University and a Master of Arts and Ph.D. from the University of Chicago.

PAGANINI QUARTET PRESENTS SECOND PERFORMANCE TOMORROW

A noon concert in Campbell Hall tomorrow will be the second performance this week for the Paganini Quartet. Tomorrow's concert, and last night's performance are highlights of the first annual Paganini Quartet String Workshop currently being held on campus.

The program for the noon concert will include "Quartet Opus 41, No. 1" by Schumann, Webern's "Five Movements for String Quartet, Opus 5" and "Quartet in G Major K. 387" by Mozart.

Offered through the University Extension, the string workshop has held daily meetings treating violin, viola and cello techniques, music literature and string pedagogy. The finale for the workshop will be Friday's 3 p.m. concert in South Hall Lecture Room when workshop participants will perform.

The quartet, named for the Stradivarius instruments it uses which were once owned by the great virtuoso Paganini, includes Henri Temianka, co-founder, leader and first violinist; Stefan Krayk, associate professor of music and second violinist; Albert Gillis, graduate of Yale University and Juilliard School of Music and violist for the quartet, and Lucien LaPorte, co-founder of three chamber groups, formerly soloist with the New York Symphony and cellist of the Paganini group.

HALLMARK EXHIBIT OF CONTEMPORARY ART ON DISPLAY IN SANTA BARBARA MUSEUM

A new collection of 57 contemporary oils representing almost every style of painting flourishing in the Western world today is on exhibition at the Santa Barbara Museum of Art.

There are realist, semi-realist and abstract paintings by both young and older artists from this country and abroad. The exhibition is entitled "The Question of the Future," and the artists represented are termed "painters of promise."

Artists from 20 American and European countries are represented in the exhibition. Although American artists represented in the exhibition have drawn warm praise, the top prize went to a Belgian artist, Pierre Alechinsky for his oil painting of James Ensor, Belgium's greatest artist of the 19th Century.

DEPARTMENT CHANGES NAME

The Department of Spanish Language and Literature has been authorized to change its name to conform with the corresponding departmental name on other University of California campuses to the "Department of Spanish and Portuguese."

Beginning in the Fall Semester, Portuguese will be taught for the first time. Related courses will eventually follow the initial study in Portuguese, as student enrollment warrants.

BOWLING LEAGUE FORMING FOR FALL SEMESTER COMPETITION

The organization of a faculty-staff bowling league is under way, with play scheduled to begin late in September.

Deadline for entries of a mixed foursome is Sept. 20, and league play will start on September 27. Contests will be held at 7:30 p.m. Fridays in the Orchid Bowl.

Teams may register with Bud Girtch in the Dean of Students Office. The league is limited to 12 teams.

TRIP TO HOLLYWOOD FOR CONCERT BY NEW YORK CITY PHILHARMONIC

Arrangements have been made for a trip to the Hollywood Bowl for the concert Friday, August 30, by the New York City Philharmonic Orchestra, under the baton of Leonard Bernstein.

Transportation and concert tickets may be purchased in the Graduate Manager's Office for $6. The deadline for reservations is Wednesday, August 28.

The concert-goers will leave the campus at 5:45 p.m. and stop at Kerry's Restaurant at 6 p.m. to pick up the rest of the group.

MATHEMATICS LECTURE TOMORROW NIGHT

Dr. Frederick Thompson will lecture at 7 p.m. tomorrow in North Hall 1006 on the topic "Mathematics, The Language of Structural Exploration."

Dr. Thompson will be lecturing on the above topic to the finite-mathematics class and the public is invited to attend. He will deal with questions arising from man's desire to discuss relations perceived in the actual world.

Students attending the special summer session for high schoolers will be honored at a dance Saturday evening from 8 to 11 p.m. in Anacapa Recreation Room.

At 10 p.m., a prize will be awarded to the couple winning a dance contest, and refreshments will be served.

BOOKMEN'S ASSOCIATION REPRESENTATIVE

A representative of the California Bookmen's Association will be on campus from 12 noon yesterday to noon tomorrow in Room 102 of Building 431.

On display there will be the latest in educational materials, modern mathematics, reading skills, languages and other subject matter for elementary and high school students.

COMPUTER CENTER ESTABLISHED HERE FOR FACULTY, STUDENTS

An electronic computer center will be established at UCSB this fall.

The center, to be available to both faculty members and students for use in problems originating in research or course work, will be located in the North Hall computer wing. Initial funds for the facility have been made available under a $50,000 grant from the National Science Foundation.

Dr. Charles G. McClintock, Assistant Professor of Psychology at UCSB and past head of the computer committee, reports that equipment scheduled to arrive for the center early in December will include an IBM-1620-II electronic computer with on-line disc storage (memory increasing equipment), an IBM 407 accounting machine and other auxiliary machines. The computer wing itself will be air conditioned and is being planned with expansion in mind.

Authorized by The Regents of the University of California, the computer center on the Santa Barbara campus is purposed to provide an instructional center for the use of high speed computing equipment and in support of advanced and experimental curricula as well as a computing facility in direct support of the research programs of both faculty members and graduate students. Additionally, the center, which will be the first research organization at UCSB, will be a focal point for a systematic program of research in the information sciences. The research program of the center will also provide a strong interdisciplinary link between the biological and physical sciences, social sciences and mathematics.

A faculty selection committee presently engaged in choosing an acting director for the new computer center is headed by Professor Marvin Marcus, chairman of the Department of Mathematics at UCSB. Other members of the committee include Dr. P. Frank Ordnung, chairman of the Department of Electrical Engineering; Dr. James M. Sloss, Assistant Professor of Mathematics; Dr. Peter J. Redmond, Associate Professor of Physics;

FIELD CONSERVATION SPECIALISTS WILL CONVENE ON CAMPUS JULY 29

Six specialists in various areas of nature study will team for the 31st annual Field Science and Conservation Workshop presented by the University Extension Division July 29 through Aug. 9.

The workshop is offered in cooperation with the Santa Barbara Botanic Garden, Santa Barbara Museum of Natural History and the California Conservation Council.

Percy Krich, Acting Assistant Professor of Education at UCSB and coordinator of the workshop, will be assisted by Capt. Crutchfield Adair, Research Associate for the Museum of Natural History; Dr. Robert M. Norris, Associate Professor of Geology and Chairman of the Department at UCSB; Dr. Roger C. Owen, Assistant Professor of Anthropology at UCSB, Dr. Otto M. Sokol, Associate in Biology at UCSB, and William L. Theobald, UCSB Associate in Botany.

One semester unit of professional credit may be earned for each section, and participants are required to enroll in two different field sections. Though a teaching credential or a Bachelor's Degree is a prerequisite for credit, any interested persons may enroll.

and Dr. Walter J. Mead, Associate Professor of Economics. Dr. William C. Walker, Associate Professor of Physics, and Dr. McClintock are acting as consultants to the committee.

EL GAUCHITO

El Gauchito is issued each Tuesday. Contributions should be received in the Public Information Office, Building 427, by noon on the Thursday preceding publication.

Each publication is distributed in the Bookstore, Student Union, Anacapa Santa Cruz, Dean of Students Office and various departments.
