San Franciscan Sells Plane to Student After Narrow Escape

Director Clears Revue Mystery

More Students Participate in Comedy in College Auditorium

Putting to an end rumors that the "Roadrunner Revue" would be held off campus Jimmie Fullerton, director of the show, announced today that the performances would be held Thursday and Friday evening, March 24, and 25 in the College auditorium. It was also stated that a matinee performance may be planned for the afternoon of March 23, Wednesday, for high school and junior high students.

This evening at 7:45 in the auditorium tryouts for specialty numbers and male and female, vocal and dance choruses will be held. All types of acts, entertainers, and dancers are urged to attend and try for parts in the comedy. Ballet, swing, tap, ballroom, native and art dancing will be used in the routines for the show.

Adds Talent

Announcement of additional cast members was made at the same time as the above. Petrouchka, a girl friend, will be played by Carol Warren; De Witt Trehitt and Allen Sprague portray the parts of Bo and Bum, the college enemies; Bill Hurst will play the part of Jack Strait, escape artist; and Harry Sloan, who is also dance director, imitates President F. D. Roosevelt in a sketch.

There is still two cast principle positions open, that of Premier B. Mussolini, must be able to do Italian dialogue; and Chancellor A. Hitler, must be able to do German dialogue. These parts will also be cast tonight. For a rhythm scene, eight principles with exceptional speaking voices and sense of vocal rhythm are needed to tryout tonight.

Name Specialties

Named as specialty acts within the show so far are Jean McArthur, singer; Tom Kelly, lyric tenor; Donk Hart and Tony Morelli, comedy; and Cecile Kez, monodramatist.

A special meeting this afternoon at 3 p.m. in Dr. H. E. Sweet's office will decide the budgets for the different departments of the show. Tryouts will start tomorrow afternoon at 1:15 p.m. in the Music bungalow, according to Petie McKinney, assistant to the director.

Stater Rebuilds Damaged Plane Plan to Float Fallen Waco for Use

"To float through the air with the greatest of ease" is the aim of an enterprising young Stater by the name of Erni Smith, who took advantage of a good situation to procure for himself a slightly damaged airplane over last weekend.

A San Franciscan, former owner of the plane, a red Waco F biplane, lost his way on the local coastline and set his plane down on the beach outside the breakwater. After inquiring his way to the Goleta airport and picking up a guide, he attempted to take off, but encountered difficulties which left him sitting in the breakers. With one wing drooping after the narrow escape, the northerner sold his sad bird to Smith, who has hangered his new possession in the workshop of the industrial education building.

Jeffries Aids

Working with Smith in repairing the Waco ship is Elmer Jeffries. The pair announce that they hope to have the airship up in the blue again by May. The plane is powered by a 125 horsepower Warner Scarabe giving a cruising speed of approximately 105 miles per hour. Once repaired, it will be put on Edo pontoons and kept in back of the local breakwater for use in student instruction.

The plane has been dismantled by the two Staters, with the sand being cleaned out of the motor to prevent corroding. The fuselage and wings will be entirely recovered the owner reports and will be put in first class condition before it again flies.

Review Shows Development of 'Jazzocracy' of Late

Symphonic Swing Heads Change in Popular Music, Says State Student

by Jimmie Stanley

The golden age of music has seen a decided change in the style of music popular in the hearts of American people. Long ago the first music that was found to be heard by the colonial peoples was classical music. From this grandfather of all music, several modifications have developed, along with several styles of dancing. Early songs were ballads sung by colonial peoples, anthems, and of course the chants of the southern colonists. The hymn-like influx on the songs was due to the influence of the negroes, who were imported from Africa, and who knew only the chant of the drums as their music.

From these forerunners of our present day swing, there sprang up the soft, heart stirring waltzes and sweet four-beat compositions to which people danced the schottische, waltz and polka.

Jazz Begins

A new idiom in the world of music was reached when the Dixieland Band started blaring out with what is called "jazz." This band was composed of five pieces, and it played the first hot jazz known at that time. The rage of jazz started up and spread like wildfire over the country and bands, such as the Wolverines, at a later date, sprang up. The Wolverines have some of the best jazz soloists in the country, such as Tommy Dorsey, who now has his own orchestra and plays the trombone, and the immortal Bix Biederbecke, deceased, who was and still is the best trumpet player that ever lived. (Bunny Berigan included.) From jazz has sprung still other variations, till we have the present day swing. Foremost exponents of this idiom are Benny Goodman, "King of Swing," Tommy Dorsey, Glen Gray, Jimmie Dorsey, Art Shaw, Sammy Kaye, Kay Kyser, and Horace Heidt. Also the swing idea has reached foreign shores to such orchestras as Bert Ambrose, Ray Noble, and Spike Hughes. Not to be forgotten by a long ways is Paul Whiteman who has lived with jazz, made it popular, died with it, and now is living with swing.

Style Returns

Now, a new age or perhaps a return to the old style is in the making. The instrumental novelties that were popular in colonial times are returning in the modern idiom. Such compositions as Twilight in Turkey, Minuet in Jazz, Power House, Toy Trumpet, and The Penguin, descriptive instrumental novelties, were all written by Raymond Scott and his quintet and will go as swing masterpieces. Other compositions are in plenty at this time, but those of Scott stand out for their consistent brilliancy and freshness. Scott's Minuet in Jazz attempts to and does give you the swing version of Paderewski's Minuet in A. Our good friend Andre Kostelanetz just turned a trick on Raymond the other day when he played Scott's Twilight in Turkey as a classical selection, proving that swing can be converted into classic without mutilating the beauty of the composition.

State Approves Construction

Plans Design Building to Hold 350 Students in New Pine Hall

Approval of the plans for the new building to be constructed on the State college campus was recommended by the department of education in presenting the plans to the state architect's office according to word received by the administrative office early this week. Previously Dr. Walter F. Dexter, superintendent of public instruction, had announced his satisfaction with the plans as sketched by President Phelps.

The new building designed to hold about 350 students will be built north west of the administration building in the same style as Pine Hall. The building will be used entirely to handle expected overflow of the existing capacities next fall.

According to President Phelps the new building will in no way interfere with the projected Leadbetter campus but will rather give more evidence of the need for entire construction of State facilities as the increases in enrollment indicate the present growth as a problem of more than temporary importance.

Council Election Procedure

• Within the next few months the subject of elections will occupy the center of the stage. No doubt the presidential election will attract the most attention, overshadowing the others. It has been on this account that a second and most vital choosing of representatives of student government has yearly been overlooked in its importance. Under our student body government the final authority in all matters rests with the student legislative council. It has been a noticeable fact in recent years that this body has not been all which it might have been. We have no particular quarrel with the present council, in fact, it seems to be of a higher order than many previous ones.

We do believe however, that the manner of electing council members from the various classes has been one of the major causes of the lack of interest which is displayed in council meetings. As it usually happens in class elections, the president and all subordinate officers are chosen first, and then the representative to the council is voted upon lastly, with little consideration being attached to the choice made.

With all the difficulties faced even by interested parties in making themselves intelligent about student body affairs, and they certainly are complicated and growing more so with the enlargement of the enrollment, it seems only correct that a more efficient means of election of council members from the four classes be devised. To this end, and to the end that various defunct portions of the present constitution be eliminated a constitution committee is being set up by presidential appointment. We feel that one of the first matters for consideration by this group is that of the manner of the choosing of our legislative council so that it may function efficiently and thus avoid the danger of a hierarchy of control in individuals and committees.

Of aid in making the election of council members from classes better, the suggestion that closed balloting methods be used is a good one and is likely to prevent "railroading" tactics which have characterized past elections.

Pupils Visit Class in Activity Work

• Under the direction of Dave Rumbaugh, student teacher, a delegation of fifth grade children from Roosevelt grammar school visited the State college campus yesterday morning in order to aid their studies in colonial and pioneer studies by seeing a unit on this subject that has been constructed by the class in integrated activities. Mrs. R. C. Lyans, instructor in the elementary department, is in charge of this work done on the college campus.

In the exhibit is a full sized fire-rock shape designed to give the appearance of building paper in ppearance of stone. The hearth is constructed of like materials designed as brick. All of these materials are based on products that would be waste materials in their original form.

Colonial crafts are also exhibited in the work by the college students. Included in the collection are a spinning wheel, paper made by hand, soap and candles, hand-woven rugs, furniture such as stools and tables carved from logs, and dish cabinets including hand made vessels.

Questionnaire

• What is your opinion of sorority rushing rules?

Marjorie Marshburn, Areta Gamma—"The rules here are good in comparison to other colleges. There is more animosity in rushing on other campuses than on ours."

Margaret Mellinger, Tau Gamma Sigma—"The rules are all right except there should be more and smaller rushing parties to allow girls in sororities to know better the ones they are considering."

Carol Warren, Alpha Theta Chi—"If they allowed pre-rushing it would be a mess. Everyone would be falling all over each other."

Barbara Putman, Alpha Theta Chi—"I think the rules are swell. You get to know the girls' characters a lot better after hazing. You find out who can take it."

Janice Westwick, Delta Zeta Delta—"I think pledging should be done twice a year."

Jean McSkimming, Delta Zeta Delta—"The rules would be adequate if consistently enforced."

Jean Clausen, Delta Sigma Epsilon—"I'd like to see more rushing parties, otherwise, I think everything is fine."

Ruth Anguin, Tau Gamma Sigma—"Pledging rules make it fun for everyone, pledges and actives."

Lesbalynn Fitzgerald, Phi Kappa Gamma—"I can't think of any improvement on the rules. They are okay as far as I can see."

Winifred Olson, Gamma Delta Chi—"The pledges get about as much fun as the actives. The rules are fine."

Oscar, (none)—"The Pan-Hellenic Assn. should meet right after each rushing party to smooth-out difficulties."

Cadwell and Hanley, playing the parts of Neb Withers and Red Ike Brazier, appear in comedy roles in the drama of pioneer days in Oklahoma and the newly opened Indian territory. Both men are familiar to State college audiences, Cadwell having carried the leading role of Rufe Pryor in the last Players' club production, "Hell Bent Fer Heaven" and Hanley having appeared in two previous plays, "The Royal Family," and "Outward Bound," in the college auditorium.

The cast of "Roadside" is under the direction of A. Douglas Harmer, head of the Pueblo Players, a downtown organization.

By WALDO PHELPS

Frosh baseball coach Jimmy Van Meter is just bubbling over with enthusiasm these days as he prepares for the coming season. He has lined up the hardest schedule any first year team has ever tackled in this school, and he is confident that the team he has, will give a good account of itself in games with the strongest junior college outfits in this end of the state. Over 20 games are on tap for this season. As they are on a home and home basis the frosh will play many home games. Watch for the opening date when Van sends his boys on the field—it isn't very far in the future.

Track really gets underway this weekend as Coach "Dimmie" Mather takes a relay team to the Long Beach relays. Best prospects for the Gauchos appear in the shuttle-hurdle relay, where Harold Fortress and Howard Yeager will run the 220-yard lows and Captain Bill Gray and Clyde Frisholtz the 110-yard highs.

Had a talk with an undergraduate of Stanford university the other night and it appears that Gaucho Swinson wasn't the only Santa Barbara player on the field who gave the Indians a bad night. When practice was resumed the following week after the game here, eight of Stanford's first string 15 rugby players failed to show up for practice.

Chatter. Bill Russell really went to town in the San Diego basketball series, scoring 28 points in the two games. . . . pre-season dope points to strength in the running events for the Gaucho track team this year, and a lack of material in the field. . . . Coach Spud Harder isn't saying much these days, but there is a sneaking suspicion that he is going to turn up with another classy baseball team this year. . . . Howard Yeager is going to do double duty for a while this season—completing the rugby season and also taking part in track events.

Santa Maria Plays Freshmen Here Saturday

Arrangements finally completed for the game with Santa Maria J.C. frosh baseball will swing into play Saturday, February 26, on Cabrillo field. Meanwhile Coach Jimmy Van Meter has been working out his team and will be ready for the jaysee when they get here. In past games the jaysee squad has beaten both a Santa Maria Texaco team and a Lompoc merchant team. This should make a good comparison with Van Meter's boys who have been holding their own with local semi-pro outfits. The game looks like the most equal match possible for an opener.

Playing the infield will be Jack Fitzgerald, Markham, MacMurray, Halferty. At pitching positions will be Jim Fitzgerald and Wrightson while Doc Wilson and Widman will do the catching. Meanwhile West, Morgan, Silvett, Lyman, Bailey, Navarro will handle the outfield positions.

Of interest to frosh fans was the gentle note from John Thurman, coach of the Pasadena jaysee team who will give the frosh a game April 2. "Consider yourself being taken for a ride, April 2 at 2:00 p.m. in Santa Barbara. If you desire your services may be added."

Aztecs Score Twice Over Gauchos

San Diegans Defeat State Squad 41-30, 57-36 in Border City

The varsity basketball men lost two more cage games to the Aztecs of San Diego who after having suffered a mid-season slump found the combination that functioned properly last Friday and Saturday evenings by scores of 41-30 and 57-36. Practically all of both games was in favor of the Aztecs except for a few minutes in the first half of the first game.

Leading the start the Gauchos were immediately stopped by the Aztecs who took the lead from the Gauchos and at half-time were able to hold a lead of 22-17. In the second half the Aztecs turned on the heat and this half ended in the Red Devils leading after having built up six more points to their lead.

Bill Russell High

High scorers were Jack Anderson with ten digits for the Red Devils and Thompson, their stellar center, with eight points. For the Gauchos Bill Russell led with eight points which he garnered on four field goals.

In the second game the massacre of the Gauchos was even worse as the Border City squad won by 21 points. This time the San Diego sophomores proved that barring grade hazards which have not bothered them so far they will produce good teams for the next two years.

Aztecs Hot

After running up a ten point advantage in the first half by a score of 22-12 the Aztecs led by their second year men really poured on the heat. In this second half Coach Moris Gross put Paterson, Harris and Priesler on the floor to finish the game with no challenge to their lead.

However, it took the Gauchos to produce the man who could not be stopped. It was Bill Russell who walked away with the scoring honors and made the rest of the players look like high school punks as he scored terson andanscr]e 19 points to the nearest, 12 by Bill Patterson and the nearest on his own team of five by Howsman.

State Battles Venturans

Pirates Invade Pershing Park Friday for Game with Baseballers

Slightly irritated at the fact that the frosh are making so much trouble for his ball players Coach Spud Harder is preparing to turn on the heat as the first game looms for Friday afternoon with the Ventura Jaysee Pirates. While Harder seems little worried about his losses by way of graduation and ineligibility he realizes the schedule he has bitten off for himself is a good sized mouthful for anybody's ball club.

In comparison with last year's squad the 1938 batch of nuggets will be about the equal with Holman, Van Meter, Morris, and Busby gone and Merlo, Gardenhire, Hallen, Ripsch, White and Brothers added. It should appear that the varsity is a considerably improved team. However, Harder does not appear too sure of himself because of the improved schedule and because the team doesn't seem to be showing the team work that Van Meter is getting out of the frosh.

Stars Return

Rated as all-conference men last year are Erhard, Lee and Evans. While Busby also made this group he is idle because of grade deficiencies. With Gardenhire coming out this just about balances Busby's absence among the real top-notch men. Also Bob Murray who made all-conference two years ago also appears to be on a return to his former skills.

Handling the catching responsibilities is Peirino Merlo, who will be the first good catcher State has had in years. The pitchers will have plenty of strength with Gardenhire, Erhard and McNeice. The latter turned the one trick that few Staters have been able to do in recent years. He beat San Diego 10-3.

Infield Has Power

The infield will have Elmo Evans, Powell Lee, Hallen, Ripsch, Young and Erhard when he is not on the mound. Of these Hallen entered from Compton and Ripsch from L.A.J.C. In the outfield there will be White, Murray, Duckham, Smith, Fugimoto, Brothers. This group could find use for Busby quite easily but as it is they will have to get along without him. How this outfield will finally work out is the most interesting question concerning the team.

Ruggers Lose to S. C. After Jaysee Win

Pettus Directs State in Two Games Here As Gauchos Win From Santa Ana, 11-0; Drop Contest to Trojans, 8-3 Tuesday

Brute force, speed and accuracy with the experienced coaching of Reverend John Pettus gave victory to the Santa Barbara State college rugby varsity weakened and dropped an 8 to 3 decision to the Trojans of the University of Southern California yesterday afternoon on Peabody stadium. Leading 3 to 0 at half-time as the result of a fifty-yard run by Howard Yeager, the Gauchos played one of their best games of the season and outplayed the Trojans a large part of the time. It was only during the final minutes that the southerners were able to function, and they rushed over two tries and a conversion in short order.

Rain which forced the game to Murphy field also compelled the officials to shorten both halves. It was reported that otherwise the ruggers might have developed a good water polo team. All scoring took place in the first half as it was practically impossible to do anything with the ball in the second half.

The Santa Barbarans opened the game with a score by the scrum who were able to shove their way over the lighter Santa Ana men. The ball was pushed over from the five-yard line and fallen upon by Marvin Oldershaw's attempted conversion Palmer to score the three-point try, was short of its mark.

Within a very few minutes Howie Yeager who has given thrills on the gridiron to so many fans opened up with some beautiful runs and scored another three points. This time Oldershaw connected squarely with goal and gave two more points.

Oldershaw Scores

Oldershaw completed the scoring by sailing the ball 25-yards on a placekick to tally. This kick was one of the sensations of the day as it came from a difficult angle for a perfect goal.

In the second half there was no scoring as the Santa Ana defense strengthened and they were able to keep the ball most of the time. The dribbling by the Dons kept the Gauchos out of dangerous ground as the State ruggers were only able to get to the 10-yard line twice and then were able to do nothing.

The southern team coached by Ernest Butterworth was really a better team than the score showed but they lacked experience as a team unit. The Dons were extremely hard hit by grades and there were nine men in the game who had never played before.

a game with the Big Bears of Berkeley who will send their team here for a game March 16. Every man looking forward to this chance to meet such stars of the sporting world as Bob Herwig and Sam Chapman will work hard to start in this game and prove that State can equal the best of the west.

After holding their opponents scoreless until the final few minutes of play, Santa Barbara State college rugby varsity weakened and dropped an 8 to 3 decision to the Trojans of the University of Southern California yesterday afternoon on Peabody stadium. Leading 3 to 0 at half-time as the result of a fifty-yard run by Howard Yeager, the Gauchos played one of their best games of the season and outplayed the Trojans a large part of the time. It was only during the final minutes that the southerners were able to function, and they rushed over two tries and a conversion in short order.

Coach John Pettus had his scrum working in fine shape, and the Gaucho forwards were able to hold their own with the heavy Trojan line, which was composed of many of last year's football players. The line repeatedly got the ball out to the backfield and Yeager had the Trojans constantly in hot water.

Need Penalties

Absence of penalties on Southern California handicapped the Gauchos for Captain Doug Oldershaw was not given an opportunity to use his accurate toe to gather in points. The Trojan kicker was not very adept at penalty shots, and missed the attempts given him on Santa Barbara infractions of rules.

The Gauchos functioned better as a unit in this game than in any other contest and showed the effects of the practice session which Coach Pettus has been conducting. A fair-sized crowd was on hand for the first afternoon game of the year.
