DZD Candidate Reigns as Campus Queen

Running second and third in the competition and chosen to serve Miss Williams as attendants were Virginia Alderson and Pauline Hayes.

Presented at Parade

The first Homecoming event at which the new queen's sparkling personality was the predominant feature was the Homecoming parade last night on State street. Miss Williams and her court were presented to the citizenry of Santa Barbara in a special car, riding at the front of the procession.

Later in the evening, Miss Williams appeared at the "Cavalcade of Swing" rally in the college auditorium to present awards to the organizations which had the most beautiful floats in the parade.

"Queen of the Ball"

According to plans outlined for the remainder of the Homecoming fete by the General Steering committee, the regal trio will appear at the annual Homecoming dance to be held tomorrow night in the Armory.

Students Speak On War Profits

Howard Walters of the Santa Barbara High school faculty will be guest speaker for next Wednesday's student forum on "How Shall We Prevent War-time Profitteering?" Reverend Gordon Cross acts as chairman of the program which is heard weekly over KTMS from 6:30 until 7 p. m., a new time.

Student speakers for next week have not been chosen as yet. Reverend Cross has subjects for discussion scheduled five weeks in advance. The discussion November 15 will be "Will War Industries Absorb the Unemployed," November 22, "Should We Ignore Racial Differences?" November 29, "What Does American Democracy Mean to Me?" December 6, "What Should We Do for Our Migratory Population?"

C.T.A. Calls Meet Monday

State college branch of the California Teachers' Association will hold an important meeting on Monday, in Pine Hall 80, at 4:15 p. m.

E. E. Ericson, college representative for the organization, will introduce to new student teachers, the scope of the activities offered by the C.T.A. He will explain the services of placement, monthly magazine and valuable professional suggestions and advice printed in frequent bulletins, which are offered by the Association and its supplementary committees and sub-organizations.

Lobero Foundation Presents Recital

Featuring an internationally known trio of musicians, the Lobero Foundation presents "An Hour of Music" Sunday at the Lobero Theater. Phillip Abbas, cellist, will attempt to repeat the success of his recent recital in the Santa Barbara State College auditorium. Others on the program are Roderick White, violinist, and Lloyd Browning, pianist.

Drama Group Presents First Play Thursday

'Petticoat Fever' Uses Unusual Situations

Lohengrin's Wedding March in swing, sizzling hot love scenes, and the Jumpin' Jive (Eskimo Fashion) are among the highlights promised audiences of "Petticoat Fever," Mark Reed's farce to be presented Thursday and Friday evenings, November 9 and 10, in the College auditorium, under the direction of Frederic W. Hile.

All sound effects, including music, radio announcements, and dog sleds were "home-canned" by the new recording instruments of the speech department.

Stage Set Complete

The set and a new sky-drop has been completed three weeks ahead of time by the 18 stage craft members under the supervision of Lawrence Wear and Walter Cheever.

In the cast of "Petticoat Fever" are Douglas Mattson as Dascom Dinsmore, Charloma Axford as Ethel Compson, John C. Smith as Sir James' Fenton, Mary McClanahan as Clara Wilson, Joseph de Freitas as Kimo, Georgia Krebs as Little Seal, Elaine Brown as Snow Bird, Jack Thompson as the reverend Arthur Shapman, Herbert Lowenstein as Scotty, and Irving Manspeaker as Captain John Lundy.

Under the baton of H. Klyne Headley, the State College Theater orchestra will play music in keeping with the mood of the play; a melody from "Show Boat" by Jerome Kern, "Pavanne" by Morton Gould, and "Valse Moderne" by Ben Oakland.

Complex Situation

Full of risqué situations, "Petticoat Fever" delves into the private life of a Labrador telegraph operator—a self-exile from Merric England. When an English lord and his fiancée "drop in" from an airplane wreck, things become complicated, since the exiled finds he wants company in the form of the fiancée.

Admission to both the play and a dance in the music hall following the Thursday night performance is free to all students on presentation of student body cards.

Queen Takes 'Coed' Award

Second in the Hit Parade of prominent women on the campus is Gracie Williams, queen of the homecoming festivities, whom contest judges have chosen "Coed of the Week." Besides emerging victorious over a large field of entrants in the race for homecoming queen, Miss Williams is well known to Gaucho rooters for her song-leading activities.

Radio Station Scene

Scene of the revue was radio station BOPU, with Carlos Bee acting as announcer and Georgia Krebs as the wise-cracking telephone operator. A highlight of the rally was the presentation of a Gaucho victory flag by Miss Meyers to A.S. President Bob Scalapino. The flag was a gift of Alpha Theta Chi sorority and is to be flown on the athletic field after each Gaucho victory.

State newcomer JOHN C. SMITH makes his campus acting debut as the English lord in "Petticoat Fever" opening Thursday in the Little Theater.

With memories of the gala parade and rally which served to open four days of festivities last night, alumni of Santa Barbara State college are preparing today to swing into the remainder of the 1939 Gaucho Homecoming program.

Chief of the activities scheduled for today will be a football game between the Gauchos and the California Ramblers at 8 p. m. on La Playa field.

Departments Hold Meets, Outline Plans

Miss Elizabeth Sehon, physical education instructor, announced that after a short business meeting and the address, there will be a short period of informal discussion.

Men Hear Reports

The Men's Physical Education department meeting is to be featured by several committee reports and discussions. The men will hear a report on "Interscholastic Athletic Standards for Boys" and a report by the Committee on Fund Raising.

Bee Auditions Student Talent

Auditions for student talent to be presented at the regular all-college assembly, November 14, will be held in the college auditorium, next Monday at 12:30 p. m. All college students are eligible for participation in the jamboree. First prize will be $3; second, $2; and, third, $1.

Special Awards

Cups will be awarded to the earliest graduate, the most eligible bachelor, the alumnus who wears the queerest hat, the graduates who has the most "chips" enrolled at State at present, the one who travelled the greatest distance to attend the Homecoming program and the former Gaucho who employed the most unique mode of travel in order to attend the program.

Special Program will be presented in the auditorium at 2 p. m., which time several college talent groups will appear and a report of the morning business meeting will be given by William Stow, president of the Alumni Board of Directors.

Alumni and students will dance at the Armory tomorrow night from 9 until 12:30. The four-day program will be concluded Sunday morning with several fraternity and sorority breakfasts, beginning at 9 a. m.

Work Shop Presents 'Fall of the City' Tomorrow

Special Program Presents Choral, Dance Ensembles

Initial presentation of the Drama Work shop "Fall of the City," will be staged tomorrow at 2 p. m. in the College auditorium as a part of an alumni assembly. The workshop is an organization in the local drama department which prepares students for participation in later productions.

In addition to the play, a program will be presented consisting of musical numbers by the chorus under the direction of Mrs. Anita Cochran Priest and dance selections under Miss Elizabeth Sehon. Admission is free to all student body members and alumni while admission to the luncheon before the program will be available for 75 cents. Tickets may be purchased in Dean Lois Bennink's office.

"Fall of the City" is a one-act play by Archibald MacLeish, one of America's premier poets and Librarian of Congress in the national capital. The play will be directed by Ted Hanley, a student of play production, and will be supervised by Frederic W. Hile, drama instructor. Included in the cast are Beryl Davidson, as the seeress; Jack

TED HANLEY

Thompson and Lawrence Osborne as messengers; Irving Manspeaker in the role of the orator; Leo Hinchcliff as the priest; Giles Liegerot as the general; and Hanley as the announcer. A large antiphonal chorus will provide a background for the presentation.

The play was first presented in 1937 over the Columbia Broadcasting system and was meant originally for radio. For the setting, no definite era is set, yet the play is timely since it deals with the coming of a dictatorship to a democratic nation whose people, from lack of knowledge, cannot defend themselves. For the backdrop, a shadow screen will be employed.

"Fall of the City" is considered by critics to be the only radio drama that is at the same time enduring literature according to the Theatre Arts Monthly. The play is radio drama adapted to actual conditions of legitimate staging. According to Hanley, "Properly produced, it can be a most impressive social document translated in terms of the theater." Members of the production staff are Richard Van Der Hoff, technical advisor; Bill Meeks, studio director; and Margery Low, musical supervisor.

DO YOU WANT TO GO TO WAR? On this coming Monday and Tuesday you will be given a chance to express your opinion on this and on other vital decisions which confront us today.

The International Relations club is sponsoring the second campus straw vote, in the hope that it will truly reflect student sentiment on real American problems. Last week, St. Mary's college conducted a straw vote in which only 250 students voted, and yet they received front page publicity in the San Francisco papers. We have a student body of 1650—it is as potent a source of what youth is thinking as could be found in America today.

Straw Vote is Valuable Test of Collegiate Opinion

A poll such as this is typically American—it couldn't happen in Germany, Italy, or Russia. It is a chance for everyone to record his opinion for the rest of the people to see. The questions are easy; they require no detailed study of international relations. They simply give us the opportunity of throwing in our "two bits worth."

We shouldn't kid ourselves—what youth is thinking matters PLENTY to the leaders and politicians of this country. Our voice may be immature but we are as lusty as bellowing bulls when we get wrought up.—R.S.

America Has Definite War Duty to Perform

Talk as much as you want about isolationism, or about your neutrality, but there is one way in which the United States must make her influence felt in this war.

When the smoke of battle has lifted, and nothing remains but the dictation of terms of surrender, the United States must use her every effort to bring about an equitable peace. It is at this time that a neutral nation will be able to do more good than she could ever have done by going to war on one side or the other.

Why can a strong neutral country be of such value? First, she will not have lost her perspective. She will not be swayed by the treacherous hates and fears that ride roughshod over nations at war. She will not be fooled by lies and atrocity stories that are told by warring governments to their people in order to stir up their frenzy.

Second, a neutral country, by the very fact that she remained neutral, will have proven her stronger desire for peace. She will have at her finger tips, after a vigorous campaign to stay out of war, all the facts and arguments to prevent war. She will be able to forcefully point out that a war is caused by a poor peace, not by a good one.

You may ask, how could we hope to wield any influence after having refused to have anything to do with either side during the entire war? The answer is that we cannot expect to have any type of parliamentary influence. Our influence will be a type of censure or ostracism in which we point out powerfully, and with fairness, the errors that are liable to promulgate another war.

That was the reason for the failure of the Treaty of Versailles—there was no neutral nation powerful enough to step in at the conclusion of the war and urge an equitable peace.

Let us pray that the American people see fit to adopt such a role this time.—T.W.

College Humor

Most humorous gag to come to our attention this week comes strangely enough from a math prof on the campus of Michigan State college . . . a math instructor, of all people. This fellow, who must have spent a long time thinking this one up, has written on the door of his office, "Please knock before entering. If you don't give a rap, you won't get an answer."

Snoopidity

By Dave Westaway

Here we are on the verge of mental exertion. We will rip out this week's "Grapes of Gauchos." Under Yours Truly is OK because how often have you heard that tried proverb, "A sincere friend is one who says naught of all you must realize that nasty things to your face instead of behind your back."

At San Jose everybody had the usual mix up of fun. Ted Tod in a hurry to get there, four hours they tell me. Remind me not to ride with him. We had a sprinkling of alumni there: Bud Burdick and Carl Warren; Clyde and Peg Frishholz. Some of the couples seen together up there: Carlos Bee and Georgia Mae Krebs; Lewis Bedell and Jane Wood; Lloyd Garrison with Faye Thompson. Don Furman and Gnat Thompson, who is the boy all the girls think so cute, were the noisy ones.

Greek "Semi" Valos is really in shape for tonight's game. You want to watch that boy. Jim Kilroy seems to be that waiter with or without the water. At the Five Footers hay ride: Norma Vinson, with Bob Miller gamboling around in the hay; Marie Zappone with the little man who wasn't all there, Redman Bearley; Francis McKown and Bob Shelley; Bob Dodson with Mary Kimbard; Dick O'Brien and Doris Mae Kirsten.

We have heard many adverse comments on these surrealistic stockings in lieu of sex appeal that some of the girls are wearing. We saw Bobbie Morelli and Rose Stockton cruising around the other night, Cliff Romer picnicking up Los Alamos way with "Lil" Sue Smedley and others. At another Barbecue Sunday at the Oso, Bob Newman and Doris Hartfelt went on a joy ride that nearly terminated in a crash and carry plan.

Even her best friends wouldn't tell her so a little girl we know flunked her proficiency exam. Dick Van Der Hoff and Joan Fernan are almost always within arms distance lately; Jean McSkimming doesn't seem to differentiate between the Stewart brothers. Alice Boeseke and Walt Ziegler dating.

At El Paseo last week end: Jane Ellen Nelson with Carl Cummins and Gay Ekdom, Kay Fanning, Jean Clausen, Helen Sandrock all had importations en masse. And a pome: A jitterbug went out to swim Alack too late he found The current grim too much for him "Hep Hep," he cried, and drowned. —Pelican

HOMECOMING

When you're spending an evening at home street shoes are certainly out of place. If you want comfort—and what man doesn't?—put on a pair of slippers. But be sure they're EVANS SLIPPERS . . . EVANS SLIPPERS are comfortable—naturally—but they're also good looking, well made—and built to stand plenty of hard wear. The latest styles are now on display. Come in—won't you?

WHEN DAY is done-

Home Again Day Dreams For Grads of The Future

The way of the world is profuse; men will sit up nights to lay schemes for the days to come. Brilliant and stupid alike; lazy or energetic, man always finds a feeling of satisfaction in designing dream castles for the future.

There is one art student I know who, honestly now, hasn't brains enough to pour water out of a shoe, but you should see the plans for a home that boy has drawn . . . modern to the nth degree; even the steps are built on a revolving platform so he won't have any trouble getting in at night.

He has the kids' room in the basement with a padded stairway going down; says regardless of the condition his kids may be in they won't disturb him when they come in at night. The only thing he hasn't drawn diagrams of is the girl he's going to marry—he forgot to take her into consideration. Well, that's day dreaming for you; it may be a disease, but all mankind is afflicted.

If fortune has smiled on him and given him that dynamic personality that sees things through, his dreams of today are the realities of tomorrow. On the other hand, even the laziest procrastinator gains immeasurable pleasure in realizing, in the sanctum of his mind, those long thwarted urges.

There is the case of this writer, who now that the Homecoming bonfire is lit, dinks discarded and the campus overrun with self-confident old grads, cannot help but look forward to that far off day in the future when he can drop back to the old campus and dreamily say: "Ah, here in this setting was spent the happiest days of my life. Carefree undergraduate days; no worries, just short moments (too short in fact) spent in the ecstasy of securing knowledge.

"Gee, but it's great to be back—for a few days."

Yes, I suppose it's merely wishful thinking, but can't you visualize yourself as an alumnus who can wander undisturbed about the campus at Homecoming, lift an eyebrow and nonchalantly say, "Well, bless my big left toe, if it isn't old Prof. Fizzle, little Napoleon himself. He's a good old duck—even if he did flunk me in Psych."

Sure thing Frosh, it's a long time off and some of us will never make it. But hell, it was sure a darn nice idea—Welcome, Alumni, on your Homecoming.—Don Pennington.

Be At Your Best For Homecoming
With Fresh-Cut-Lovely Flowers
From VICTOR The Florist

Editor's Note:

Homecoming seems to be with us again and festivities are the order of the day. The old grads are happy to be back, we are happy to welcome them back, downtown merchants are glad to see a temporary increase in the population and the only unhappy people, we suspect, are the California Ramblers, who have to take on El Gaucho tonight at La Playa. In order to get into the spirit of Homecoming, we present herewith an imaginary conversation between two alumni. Any resemblance to characters living or dead is entirely possible.

First Grad: Well, well, well, old man, haven't seen you in a dog's age. Where've you been keeping yourself and how're all the family and kids and what're you doing these days?
Second G: Sure good to see you again, old top. Everything's just dandy. Got my last payment off on the Ford last week. Runs swell for four years old. Got new rings but the rear tires . . .

F.G.: Say, the old campus hasn't changed a bit in all these years. Same old buildings. The kids sure change, though. We weren't as young as these kids, were we?

S.G.: Boy, you sure knew what the score was in those days. Nice bunch of kids here now, but they don't seem to know as much as we did in those days. Guess it's like that all the way round. Boy, we had a great bunch . . . remember old Zeke what-was-his-name and Charley whosiz . . . Say, whatever happened to Annabel soandso, you know the one that was always in trouble with the dean of women . . .

F.G.: How d'ya think the team will do tonight? Boy, remember those old teams. We didn't win so many games in my last year, but we sure gave all those other guys a battle. Of course, these kids are in a little tougher competition, but I'll betcha we could still lick 'em if we got all the old boys together. Myself, I'm a little out of shape, heh, heh, but a couple of jogs around the field and boy, oh boy, would I be rarin' to go . . .

S.G.: Yeah, I'm the same way. Well, I've gotta be getting along to my frat's open house. See you later, uh, pal . . .

F.G.: Right, old man. Say, now what is that guy's name? I sat next to him in class for three years . . . Let me see . . .

For the more serious problems immediately at hand, we would like to remind you to vote in the international relations club poll on Monday and Tuesday.

College Press Prints Book By Dr. Outland

As the final edition of Dr. George Outland's book "Boy Transiency in America" was made ready for release late in the evening of May 5, 1939, another forward stride in the general progress of Santa Barbara State college was successfully completed...

Dr. Outland's book is based on the information obtained from case histories and delves into the causes of boys leaving home. It is expected to prove of great value as collateral reading and a reference work in courses in social sciences in schools and colleges.

Especially timely in view of the fact that the federal government is again investigating the problem of transiency with the prospect of a possible reestablishment of a national plan to care for migrants.

Publication of "Boy Transiency in America" marks the second venture into the field of book publication on the part of the State College Press. The first to be presented was the "Status of the Junior High School in California"...

Homecoming Unites Former Students

Homecoming brings together former students who have a few brief moments to fraternize with one another, and above all gives one a chance to ask that important question, "What are you doing now?"

To find out what happened to old friends to know that former students are now holding key positions in many different walks of life, to clasp the hand of a former classmate, are only a few of the joys that homecoming brings.

This year's celebration brings together many ex-State students who are making rapid progress in the world after graduation from other institutions.

In the field of law, State college is proud to boast of several young men who are seemingly making big strides in the direction of success. Here in Santa Barbara, both Lawrence Parma and Ned Scott Porter are building fine reputations as attorneys.

Two former State students, Gene Harris and Jim Gammill are holding high political offices in Santa Barbara. Gene, besides practicing law, is a member of the city council. Jim is the county treasurer.

Former classmates of James Murray will be glad to know that Jimmie has made a fine start in the field of drama. Working at the Lobero, Jimmie produced "Our Town," and "Love from a Stranger," both of which were termed as definite hits.

Several of Santa Barbara's alumni have entered the field of law and order, and five of them are now connected with the local police department. Arthur Evans, Tom Keating, Lorenz Greason, George McCullough, Albert Wade, Ben Romer and Frank Meredith compose the list of law enforcers.

Official date of ground-breaking ceremonies on the Leadbetter site will be announced by President CLARENCE L. PHELPS, above, in a few weeks.

College Heads List of Local Industries

Did you know that Santa Barbara State college is a paying institution in more ways than one? According to a recent survey made under the direction of Captain Paul A. Jones, dean of men, many a startling figure came to light about students and the money they spend.

Dean Jones, after reading the compiled report, stated, "Before this survey was made I had an idea that the college was one of the leading industries of Santa Barbara; since the completion of the survey the college appears to be at the head of the list."

In addition to personal expenditures shown in the survey, which amounted to $618,390.26 for the year, state payroll totals annually $249,140.50. Other State expenditures amount to $41,559.50. The local associated student expenditures total $72,981.60. In addition summer session students spend $55,650.00 and the summer session payroll and state expenses come to $15,500.00. This makes a grand total of $434,831.60. Regular student expenditures amount to $618,390.26 and when added to the payrolls make a total purchasing power of over a million dollars.

This survey covered the 1938-39 registration of 1360 students here at State college. The enrollment for 1939-40 has jumped to a new record high of 1644 students, just about 20 per cent more for this current year.

College N.Y.A. Aids State Students

One hundred sixteen State students' college careers are made possible by the National Youth Administration, it was revealed recently by Dean Lois M. Bennink who is in charge of the local work.

Starting its fifth successful year, N.Y.A. is the government's scheme to aid students in working on vocational projects under faculty supervision. Campus projects, earning a monthly pay roll of $1740, which are carried on by NYA beneficiaries include laboratory and library activities, landscape improvements, reading and clerical work.

Choice of candidates is on the basis of good character and ability which assures scholastic work above average, American citizenship, need and age limit. Students have to be between 16 and 24 years of age to receive NYA assignments. The college quota is at all times utilized, according to Dean Bennink. The applications for assignments far exceed the number of jobs available.

Those administering the college NYA program include besides Dean Bennink, Dean Paul Jones, President Clarence L. Phelps, Mrs. Virginia Cornelsen, assistant dean and time-keeper for the college NYA program, Don Follett, graduate manager; and Miss Barbara Philips, student administrator.

This year can be considered a successful one for the Gaucho cause. Although the team lost to Fresno State, San Diego Marines, and San Jose State, they defeated both Wilamette and Occidental and tied the

Local Alumni Chapter Plans Life Membership

Local Student Designs Test For Interests

Two proposed plans for placing State's alumni organization on a sound financial basis will be presented for consideration at the Saturday morning business session in the auditorium from 11:30 to 12:30 o'clock.

A life membership plan which will entitle alumni to reduced rates at football games and student body dances and to copies of special publications issued for alumni is included in one of the proposals. In addition to the $2.00 payment made at the time of graduation, alumni will be asked to contribute $3.00 more after one year.

The alternate plan proposes a one dollar annual fee to be divided between the local chapter and the central office.

Plans for including ex-students who transferred to other institutions but who have remained in touch with State will also be considered. Among those who have been working on the stabilization of the alumni organization are William Stow, president of the Santa Barbara alumni section, Don Follett, graduate manager, Jack Porter and Mrs. Jane Miller Abraham.

Dr. William H. Ellison, head of the social science department, has made official claim to the title of number one "Gaucho" of State college. This claim is based on the fact that back in 1934 the nickname "Gaucho" was suggested by none other than the Doctor himself.

Dr. Ellison Claims 'Gaucho No. 1' Title

Besides writing a college song for the Green and White, the Doctor also claims to have attended more State football games than any other single person.

To help students decide on choice of educational field in which they are interested and for which they receive preparation at Santa Barbara State college, Wayne Zimmerman has formulated an interest test which has been given to all freshman students. A number of interest tests were considered but none of them were as well-rounded one as the one made up by Zimmerman.

Annual check-up of each student who has taken the test will determine the validity and reliability. Even after the student has completed his course of instruction at State he will be contacted at a further check.

Plan Commended. Dr. Alfred S. Lewerenz, assistant supervisor of the research and guidance department for Los Angeles city schools, complimented Zimmerman's test highly in saying, "So little has been done and it is still being done in so many of our schools to help entrants to choose courses that your work in Santa Barbara may well be called a pioneer guidance movement."

Two home economics graduates of the class of '39, Viola Meroney and Eunice Lynn Gillenwater, are doing social welfare work in Los Angeles for the S.E.R.A. Mrs. Gillenwater was recently chosen to go with a mobile unit to work in the cotton strike area in the San Joaquin valley.

College Adds Instructors to Science, Music Departments

Twelve new instructors and an assistant dean augmented State's staff of faculty members this fall. Doctorate degrees have been acquired by five of the twelve, including Dr. Frederick T. Addicott, Dr. Mary Erickson, Dr. Jeannette Noack, Dr. Lynne C. Monroe, and Dr. Mackenzie Brown.

New additions to the science department are Dr. Addicott, C. D. Woodhouse, and Dr. Erickson. The new biological science head is Dr. Addicott who is replacing Dr. Katherine Kinsell, who retired to be married. Dr. Addicott studied at Cal Tech and Stanford. Mineralogy is being taught by Mr. Woodhouse who attended the University of Paris and Greoble where he studied geology in the Alps. Dr. Erickson received her doctorate at California and is a specialist in vertebrate zoology.

Replacing Raymond G. McKelvey in the social science department is Dr. Brown. Brown studied at Pomona and Mexico and holds his Ph.D. from Stanford.

Music instruction is being handled by Mr. Van Christy and Mr. H. Klyne Headley. Mr. Christy is taking the place of Mrs. Barnett who was unable to return because of illness. He is a former teacher of San Francisco State and has recently presented his dissertation for the doctor's degree at Columbia. Mr. Headley replaces Robert L. Barton, and holds his master's degree from the Eastman school of music. He taught musical education at Palo Alto for several years.

Dr. Jeannette Noack is teaching in the English department. She received her doctorate at Stanford. Also, assisting with the large freshman class is Mrs. Dorothy Knowles Nichols, a former Santa Barbara High school English teacher. She received her preliminary degree at the Universities of California and Stanford.

In the industrial education department is Dr. Lynne C. Monroe, who received her doctorate at Missouri. Miss Betty H. Collins and Ray Bohler are teaching in the physical education department. U.S.C. awarded Mr. Bohler his master's degree, while Miss Collins received her master's degree at Washington.

Supervisor of directed teaching is Miss Nora Bell Heflin. She holds a master's degree from Columbia. Assisting in the offices of Dean Lois M. Bennink and Dean William Ashworth is Mrs. Virginia Cornelsen, who holds a master's degree from U.S.C. Miss Cornelsen was formerly on the dean of women's staff at Columbia.

Library Staff Increased; New Balcony Open

In response to demands of a rapidly expanding student body, the college library has begun to assume more streamlined proportions. This rejuvenation has made itself felt through a more efficient system of handling some 45,000 books as well as the 800-odd students who use the library daily.

The library has increased its student assistant personnel to fourteen and has added a full-time member of the regular staff. Chains have been placed across the stack entrances and only library workers are allowed to enter.

By way of newly established tradition, the library has enclosed its erstwhile sight-seeing balcony in glass and offered it to senior students for study purposes.

Through maintaining a rigid budget, the department has acquired more than 8000 new books during the past two years, as well as an additional row of tables.

Recently inaugurated in the streamlined program have been three lectures to be given each semester to detail usage and regulations of the library. Two of the lectures are included in the orientation program for new students and the third will be delivered to student teachers. With new books constantly being catalogued, the library issues a weekly bulletin to faculty members, listing recent additions.

A pamphlet publication on the use of libraries is now on the press for later distribution to students.

Records Show Successful Seasons of Gaucho Gridders

With sixteen more winning and tying scores than lost games in the seventeen years of State's football career, the Gauchos have more than held their own with opposing rival teams. Since 1923 when, with $623 worth of equipment, the first football team was started, until the present day the Gauchos teams have won 61, lost 60, and tied 14.

Captained by Jack De Land, a big green and white team marched through the 1924 season of twelve games, winning nine and losing but three. They chalked up 273 points as against their opponents' 127.

Change from a two year college to a four year institution and the inauguration of a much tougher schedule proved too much for the States in 1925. They lost 5 and won 2, under the captainship of Jack Vines.

Next year proved to be another disastrous one to the local cause. State lost 5 and won 2. Clarence Anin was captain and star of the team.

Licking San Jose State in their first encounter, 13-7, the locals seemed to be headed for an unbeaten year in 1928 but these hopes were soon smashed by the Aztecs of San Diego who won a heart-breaker to the tune of 16-13. This marked the fifth consecutive time that San Diego had defeated the Gaucho cause.

Wins over two big time opponents made the 1929 year a success. The States won from both California Poly and Redlands University, but lost a close one to San Diego, 7-6.

Led by Captain Ralph Johnston, the 1930 season proved to be the most successful since 1924. This won six, lost one and tied one. The biggest disappointment was the failure to play San Diego.

Next year, 1931, marked the entrance of Santa Barbara into the Southern California Interscholastic Conference. Captain Walt Barnett and Joe Martin were stars. Barnett in the line and Martin in the backfield. This team won one, lost five and tied one.

Defeating the Aztecs of San Diego for the first time in the history of the school brightened what would otherwise have been a disastrous year. The final score was 6-3. This was the only victory marked up by the 1932 varsity. Tiger Kerrigan and Paul Hopkins aided the State cause all season.

Captained by star Ralph Stockel, quarterback, the 1933 varsity team went through a season much like the previous one. Season's record was one win and four losses.

The year 1934 brought a new coach, Spud Harder. Harder finished the season with two wins and three defeats.

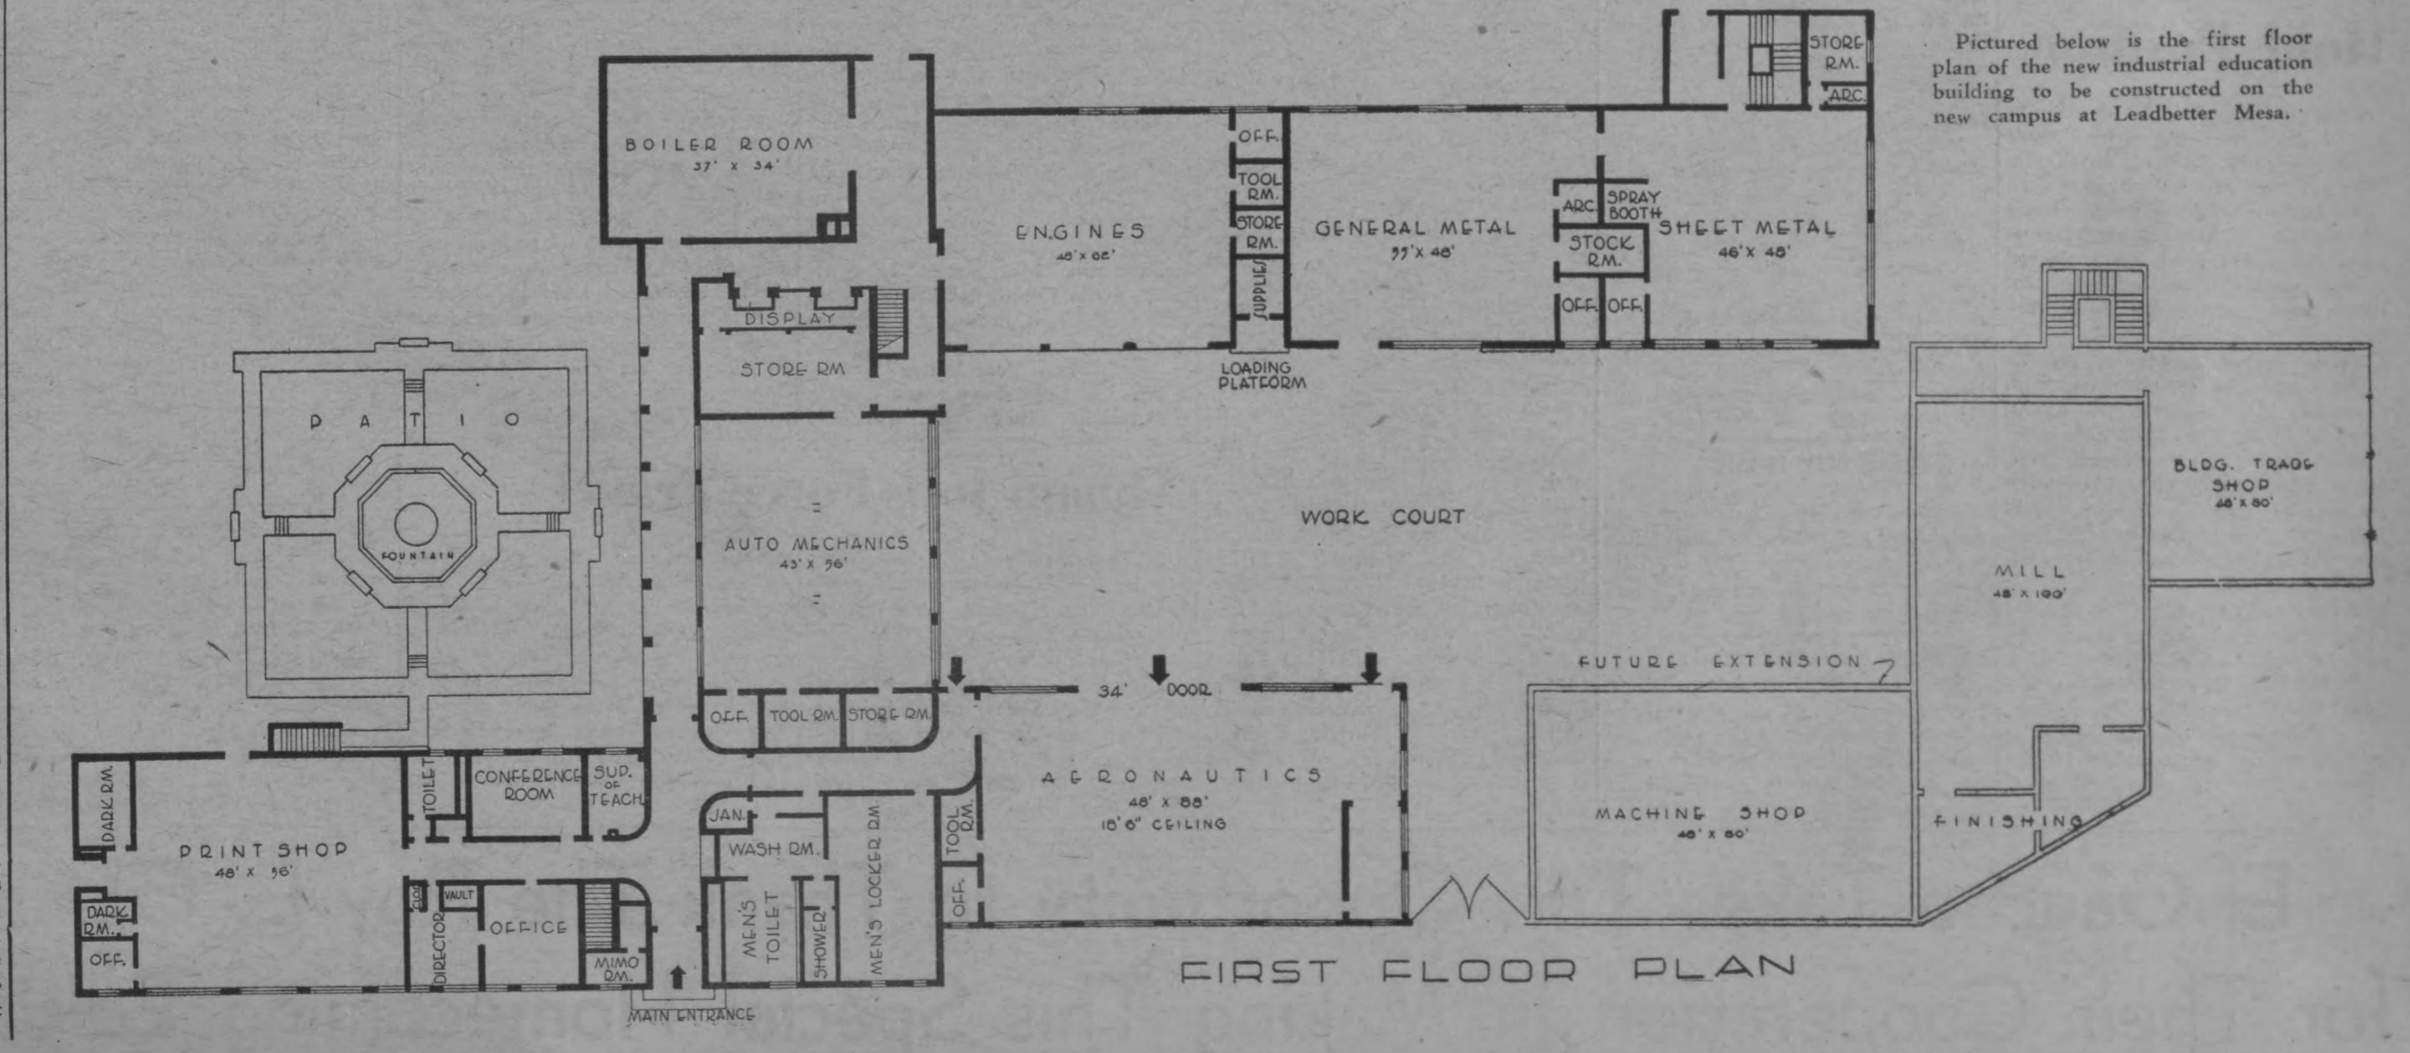

Football under the new deal had one of its most successful years in 1935. Under the leadership of Howard Yeager, Sandy Sanderson and Rezzonico, the team won five, tied two and lost three.

Continuing their winning ways under Coach Harder, the State varsity went through an undefeated season until the last game when San Diego won a thriller, 9-8. Doug Oldershaw and Howard Yeager were outstanding for the Green and White. Both were picked on several Little All-American teams. This season concluded one of the most successful seasons in the history of Santa Barbara State with eight victories and one defeat.

Again led by Howard Yeager and Doug Oldershaw, State went through a successful season by chalking up five wins, two losses and two ties. They lost only to San Diego State 13-0 and New Mexico 9-7. This year ended the football careers of many star players.

1938 proved to be one of the saddest that State has experienced. The team, led by star players, George Valos, Bill McArthur, Jack Smith, Matv Palmer and Fred Monson, won two and lost eight.

This year can be considered a success for the Gaucho cause. Although the team lost to Fresno State, San Diego Marines, and San Jose State, they defeated both Wilamette and Occidental and tied the

On The Sportside..

By JACK NEWMAN

There has been much small talk concerning a proposed game between the Gaucho varsity and the St. Mary's Hornets.

The Hornets, in case you are unfamiliar with them, is a local football team coached by former State college athlete, Ollie Seeley, and is sponsored by the St. Mary's Center.

Now to date, the Hornets have had a very successful season on the gridiron. They have won every game by a substantial margin and have shown considerable power both defensively and offensively.

As a result of their proficiency in the gentle art of gridding, the Hornets have gathered quite a following of townspeople.

The baseball game begins at 12:30 and will be followed immediately by the football game. Admission to the double-header will be 40c.

The scheme was thought up by Bill Russell, ticket sales manager and left fielder on the Gaucho nine, and should it prove a success, will be continued throughout the season.

Coleman Stewart announced he would start his ace southpaw, silent Jim Fitzgerald, as the Gauchos seek a new win streak.

The North American Aviation outfit from Los Angeles snapped the All-Stars winning streak of five wins last Sunday, 12-5.

Don Ripsch, third-sacker, again led the Gaucho attack with three hits, one a homer to deep left center, driving in three runs in the eighth.

Both Coach "Spud" Harder and Coach Walt Gordon announced they would gun for an early victory and will start their first teams at the opening kickoff.

Coach Spud Harder's badly battered Santa Barbara State College grid squad hobbles back into action tonight when it collides with the victory starved California Ramblers who are primed to ruin the Gaucho homecoming celebration.

The Ramblers, scrimmage dummies for the Bear varsity, boast of a stout defense, but, because of its ever-changing offense, has not had time to build up a scoring team.

Spearheads of the northerner's attack are Henry Zacharias, fleetfooted left halfback, and Don Caurson, hard hitting fullback, who has been shipped back to the Ramblers from the varsity eleven.

The Gauchos, who bit off more than they could chew by scheduling successive games with the tough University of San Francisco Dons and the San Jose Spartans, are in poor shape this week with Blynn Wilson, center; Lynn Lightner, right halfback; Mose Neely, fullback; Marvin Palmer, tackle; and Carl Cords, guard; on the doubtful playing list.

The probable starting backfield finds Forrest Gardenhire, the sensation of the past two weeks for the Gauchos, starting at quarterback, Lightner and Billy McArthur at the halfback posts, and Ernie Smezn, who finally hit his stride in the San Jose game, at fullback.

Harry Armstrong and Cliff Romer replace Carl Cords and Marvin Palmer on the starting lineup at guard and tackle respectively.

Students of the college have pointed out that a game with a town team would certainly not enhance the Gaucho reputation, while others feel that the game would be a good drawing card and the school could make some money.

We are not going to take a stand on either side of the fence. We do feel however, that some people might be making a mistake in believing that a game between a good college team and a good town team would be particularly interesting.

Grid Guess Cohen, Russell, Battle For Lead

Syd Cohen loomed as the chief threat to other contestants in the Great Grid Guess when he broke the deadlock existing between himself and Bill Russell, and came to the fore in the prognosticating race.

Cohen picked nine winners out of a possible 10 to boost his point total to 15. Bill Russell who was second, managed to gather 3 points which gives him a total of 13 and puts him in second place.

Following Russell is Gerry Pilling, while Faye Thompson, Tommy Guerrero, and Mel Dennis continue in that order.

Bess Sparks Local Eleven In First Win

Deciding they preferred the sweet taste of victory to the bitter tang of defeat, Coach Howie Yeager's Rustlers today earned the right to abolish their previous nickname of "The Scoreless Wonders" when they trampled Pete Hathoway's La Purisima campers 30-0 yesterday at Dwight Murphy field.

Hovis Bess, ex-Riverside ace of the cinder trails, sparked the Rustlers on to their victory with the aid of Reed Shoemaker, fleet halfback.

Pete Hathoway, ex-Gaucho gridder, acted the double role of player and coach, and although he played a magnificent game, the CCC campers proved no match for the victory starved Gauchos.

The Rustlers scored twice in the second period, and once in the third and last. By virtue of a blocked kick out of bounds and successfully completing every conversion, the Rustlers chalked up 30 points.

Played before a meagre assembly of Barbareños, the minor grid classic featured numerous fumbles, bad centers, and muffed passes, furnishing plenty of action and excitement.

The Rustlers stonewall of defense gave never an inch to the many attempted cracks made by the Campers. While on offense, they opened large holes through which slipped either Shoemaker or Bess heading

Phyllis Watts, an English major of the class of '39, is busy writing an English textbook, besides fulfilling the responsibilities of a housewife.

As words and music play an important part in the life of college students, let's "Swing High, Swing Low" around the campus and see what the wheels—all fashions come in cycles you know—buycycles—ouch) of fashion have turned out this week.

"They Say" Ramona McElahney was the first co-ed to brave the eyes of fellow Gauchos and wore three-quarter sox last Friday. And I'm telling you they were quite the thing—with a Tyrolean accent as Swiss flowers covered the white wool fronts on Mona's shapely "Dieterichs."

A lot of "Change Partners" occurred at the annual freshman-sophomore fun-fest but after the ball was over, Art Chauvel two-somed it home Rachel Walker, Howard Johann squired Jeanne Houston and other candy-stickers in general were Duden with Isabel Stone, Bud White and Ruthe Suggs, Jack Hickok and Jane Galbraith, Johnny Gordon and Virginia Williamson, Lee Winder and Dorothy File.

"Blue Orchid" is the hue of Lois Thompson's swing skirt and the shirt to this effective bit of dress is woodman's plaid with shades of blue predominating the purple.

"Vivacious Lady" typifies Pauline "Mannequin" Hayes who goes collegiate in beige cardigan and brown pleated skirt, while "The Lady in Red," Virginia Alderson, chooses the new deep porto wine for skirt and cabot shoes of suede and wears a sweater of grape to give a bit of color dash to the ensemble.

Registrar, Nurse Make Statements

All students who expect to graduate in February, June or August of this year must sign the Register of Graduates in the Registrar's office immediately, Mrs. Jane Miller Abraham announced today.

Students who so desire may secure Wasserman tests in the Health Cottage, according to Mrs. Elizabeth Shepard, College nurse. The tests are administered at noon each day except Friday.

Gauchos Charter Streamlined Train for San Diego Trip

"Final plans for the trip to San Diego have been formulated," it was announced by Mildred Meacham, chairman of the train committee to San Diego. A crack Southern Pacific streamliner will leave Santa Barbara at 5:30 a.m. Saturday, November 25th, and will head back at midnight of the same day. Students will be charged $5 for the round trip, which will include transportation from the depot to the stadium and back. Tickets may be purchased on the campus and in the administration building before November 15th.

Also announced was the statement that there would be no stop in Los Angeles to pick up students who may be in that town for the holidays. To date 85 students have signed for the trip, approximately half the number needed to meet the train expenses.

The Gaucho band will travel with the routers, and it is hoped that a stripped car for dancing will be available for the trip. The football team will return on the routers' train.

In preparation for the Gaucho-San Diego game, the freshman bonfire will be lighted on Tuesday, November 21. This bonfire was originally scheduled for the homecoming rally and was postponed for the San Diego game. Reports from Ken Mardis, in charge of the fire, assure the student body of the largest fire yet seen in the annals of the school.

Mr. and Mrs. George McCullough (Ruth Laughlin) both of the class of '35 are the parents of a son, Patrick David, born June 21, 1939, in Santa Barbara.
