Associated Students Pass New Board of Athletic Control, Council Elects Three Members

Jones, McKeon, Russell Fill Vacant Posts

Legislators Close Athletic House on Committee Sanction

Three representatives to the newly formed board of athletic control were elected by the council in their meeting in Pine hall Wednesday night. The legislators unanimously elected Dean of Men Paul A. Jones, chairman of the old board, to the position of faculty member, Bill Russell as athletic representative, and Dick McKeon as student member at large.

In another important decision, the council, acting upon the recommendation of the finance committee, closed the athletic house. The action will become effective at the end of this month.

House Too Far

The reason for the action was the small number of students boarding at the house, seven miles from the campus. Graduate Manager Don Follett announced that he believed athletes would prefer living closer to the college, and having a "training table" next semester.

A cheerful trend in athletics was announced by Follett who predicted a profit of $100 for the basketball team. "Student support has been better this year than in the past," Follett declared.

New Board Plan

Tom Loeffler, serving his first meeting as representative of the speech department, presented a plan for a new speech board to go into effect next semester. As this proposal necessitates a change in the by-laws, Student body President Bob Scalapino will be required to call for another student body meeting, probably next semester.

Loeffler's new board would have nine members instead of the six who now serve. "It will be much more democratic," he explained. Some of the members are elected by students who have gained at least 10 points in speech or debating, and others are appointed.

WAA Sponsors Formal Dinner

"Winter Carnival" will be the theme of the semi-annual Women's Athletic Association formal banquet to be held tomorrow at 6:45 p.m. at Restaurant del Paseo. Tickets to the affair may be purchased for $1 in the Women's gym.

With Jane Wood as toastmistress, the banquet will provide W.A.A. president Louella Daerweiler with an opportunity of handing over her gavel to Lois Delker, present vice-president. Miss Daerweiler is a mid-year graduate.

All campus women and alumnae are invited to attend the dinner, according to Miss Daerweiler. Guests will include Miss Elsie A. Pond and Miss Betty H. Collins of the State college faculty.

Crown, Scepter Breakfasts Today

Crown and Scepter, senior women's honorary service organization, breakfasted together this morning at 7 in the Faculty dining room. According to President Alice Boeske, newly accepted members were presented to the group.

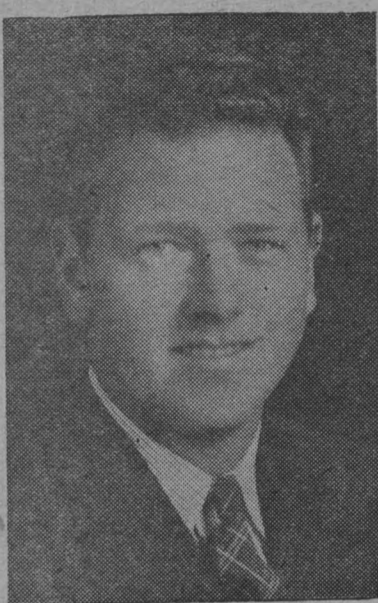

The formal initiation ceremony and dinner will take place Thursday evening, the initiation to be held in the A.W.S. club room and the dinner afterwards at a downtown restaurant.

Gaucho Staff Takes Respite

Because of final examinations, which begin Wednesday, today's issue of El Gaucho, the 17th since September, will be the last published during this semester.

According to Syd Cohen, editor, publication will be resumed Friday, February 9, with the first issue of the spring semester.

BILL RUSSELL, top, and DICK McKEON were unanimously chosen as voting members of the newly-formed Board of Athletic Control by the Executive Council at its meeting Wednesday night.

State College Gauchos Assist 'Dimes' Drive

Santa Barbara city clubs and parent-teachers organizations have united to promote the annual March of Dimes campaign, a drive held throughout the United States to raise money to fight Infantile Paralysis through the sale of Infantile Paralysis buttons.

The proceeds derived from the sale of these red, white and blue shields will aid in perpetuating a fund which, during the coming year, will help care for thousands of unfortunate stricken children.

The Samaritan hotel has been donated as "The Warm Springs of the West" by Mrs. Elmer A. Wolfe. It is felt by civic leaders that it offers an ideal opportunity for treatment and care of the victims.

State college students will be given a chance to assist in the drive on-campus between now and Tuesday. Ralph Hand is campus representative of the local 20-30 club, assisted by Muriel Wolfe.

New Building Contract Ready

"We expect to award the contract for the industrial education building on the new State college site within two days," President Clarence L. Phelps said late last night after conferring with P. T. Poage, assistant State architect who visited here yesterday.

The contract must be awarded by January 26 by a legal limit, but it will probably be within the next forty-eight hours in order to speed up the building as much as possible. The $350,000 contract will be let in its original form in order to avoid delay.

First of the new buildings to be constructed on Leadbetter Mesa will be the industrial education plant, which should be ready by September of this year, according to administration plans.

Work on the project was begun early last year, with landscaping the major accomplishment of the first part of the work.

Record Vote Approves Issue Unanimously

Collegians Voice No Dissention to Offered Amendment

The allegedly "red-hot" board of athletic control proposal turned out to be all smoke and no fire Tuesday morning, as a record number of 200 students passed the amendment to the by-laws without so much as a single dissenting opinion at the semester's seventh student body meeting.

The actual motion to adopt the council's proposal for a new board of athletic control to succeed the faculty-dominated board killed at an early student body meeting was made by Don Estey, junior class representative. A standing vote was taken, and the motion was passed overwhelmingly.

Composition of Board

The new board will be composed of four students and three faculty members, all seven of whom will have votes. In addition coaches of all the athletic teams and the graduate manager will act as ex-officio members, without vote.

In effect, the board will be an advisory committee to the legislative council. The minutes of every meeting it holds will be read to the council, and either approved or sent back for further action.

Student Queries

The greater part of the student body meeting was taken up by questions by students concerning student government, and by announcements.

It was announced by several students evidently prompted by the sign that was on the bulletin board for over a week reading: "Gauchos meet Cal Aggies in Basketball Tonight" that Bill Russell had resigned from his position as custodian of the bulletin board. Milton Berman was unanimously elected to fill the post.

Minor Sports

Several questions were asked as to the position of minor sports, and student body president Bob Scalapino announced that minor sports would receive more money than in previous years, if the proposed budget for next semester is not changed.

Dean Paul A. Jones announced a new seminar in student government to be given next semester, and asked all those interested in taking it to contact him or Scalapino.

Two Students Receive $50

Norma Pratt and Yvonne Nelson were unanimously chosen as recipients of $50 which has been set aside by the Elementary department as scholarship money for the spring semester.

A committee comprised of Lester Clemons, Ian Crow, Mabel Forsythe and Mrs. Laura S. Price, consulted with the two deans to select the two seniors for this award on the basis of scholarship, professional ability and activity in the Elementary department.

In addition, the department has set aside $20 as a temporary loan fund for any Elementary student who wishes to borrow a maximum of $5 for one month at a time.

The last social event of the semester for the Elementary department was the annual tea in honor of the February and June graduates, held Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m. at the home of Joan Schmitz, 1732 Paterna Road.

Supervisors and faculty from local Elementary schools were among the 150 guests present.

Leaf, Scarab Delays Planetarium Trip

Due to poor weather and insufficient information regarding admittance, the proposed field trip to the Griffith Park planetarium in Los Angeles by Leaf and Scarab, biological science organization has been postponed until the week-end after final examinations.

At a recent meeting of the group, the trip was planned for last week-end.

Seniors Fete 49 Graduates At El Paseo

Burbank Educator Delivers Address At Annual Banquet

Honoring the February graduates, Santa Barbara State college seniors will hold their annual winter banquet at Restaurant del Paseo next Friday at 6 p.m. With Senior President Cliff Romer as master of ceremonies, the program is planned to include a special ceremony feting the 49 departing seniors.

W. Charles Redding, class sponsor, is to be the conductor. Dr. Harry K. Girvetz and Mrs. Jane Miller Abraham, advisers, will also be present.

"Whistle While You Work" is the lyrical title of the main speaker, B. F. Enyart, superintendent of Burbank city schools. Also on the dinner program are Vernon Duncan's solos "Thine Alone" and "The Trumpeter." Accompaniment will be furnished by Bill Watson. The Paseo entertainers will also contribute to the entertainment.

Service Group Aids Enrollees

Plans for an information booth to aid in the orientation of new students to college traditions and to acquaint them with the campus during registration time, were outlined by Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, at their regular meeting this week.

The booth will be situated at the southwest corner of the administration building so as to be easily available for any bewildered newcomer,

THEO "SPUD" HARDER, State College athletic director and football coach, will present awards to football lettermen at Tuesday's awards assembly during fourth hour in the College auditorium.

College Bares Plans of Early Registration

Administrators Prepare for 'Streamlined' Procedure, List Entrance Exams February 5

Registration for the spring semester will begin Monday, February 5, at 9 a.m. in Ebbett's Hall, immediately after a short meeting in the auditorium for all new students, including freshmen as well as transfers. Registration hours are from 9 a.m. to 12 m. and from 1 to 4 p.m. on Monday, and will open an hour earlier for the same period of time the following day.

English A examinations for students who have not taken them will be given from 9 to 11 a.m. Monday. Aptitude tests must be taken between 2 and 4 p.m. Monday.

Returning students who have financial or other school obligations must clear them in order to receive their final grades. Grades will be given out in Room 50 of the Quad. New students must present admission cards mailed with an evaluation report. Anyone who has lost his admission card may secure a duplicate from Mrs. Ruth M. Henry in the Controller's office.

Students are urged to follow the registration line as quickly as possible and to be sure to complete all necessary requirements. If a student steps out of line before completing registration, he must file his book at the A.W.S. check-out table.

Schedules of courses and directions for registration will be out next Monday.

according to Lewis Moore, vice-president of the fraternity. This service will be continued in the future if successful results are obtained this February, Moore added.

Saturday, March 2, the fraternity will hold a semi-formal dance at Rockwood with the entire student body in invited. Music will be furnished by Doug Hoag and his orchestra with an admission charge of 75 cents a couple. Roland Gaitskill is in charge of the decoration.

First Night Audience Applauds Opening of 'Both Your Houses'

Manspeaker, Hanley, Cadwell Stand Out In Anderson's Political Satire; Drama Group Gives Final Performance Tonight

By SYD COHEN
El Gaucho Editor

Politicians, patronage, and power policies were revealed last night in the College auditorium when the local drama group drew the curtain on Maxwell Anderson's brilliant satire, "Both Your Houses." A near capacity audience applauded the efforts of the College thespians, outstanding of whom were Irving Manspeaker, Ted Hanley and Clyde Cadwell, all veterans.

College Heads List Awards For Collegians

Musical Comedy Cast Presents Preview Numbers From Lobero Production

Most prominent notice will be given to athletes receiving awards when heads of the college's various departments present awards of recognition in a student assembly Tuesday during fourth hour in the College auditorium.

The program, prepared by Carlos Bee, vice-president of the Associated Students, will be highlighted by the appearance of two members of the cast of "Of These I Sing," including Linda Nisen, who will preview numbers contained in the musical comedy. The duo are directed by Jimmy Murray of the Lobero Theater.

They will sing "Love is Sweeping the Country", "Who Cares" and the title song.

Editorial Comment

Names Make News In Political Review

Having lived through one amazing investigation, the good Lord only knows how he ever made it with all those nasty people he came in contact with, Martin Dies has asked Congress to make another appropriation for the continuation of his committee. Mr. Dies admits that communism in the U.S. lies prostrate, if not dead, but he finds that the country is due for a holy war, waged between Marxist materialism on one side and Christian idealism on the other.

Just to see how near the battle line we are, let's look at the committee's report. The sabotaging of our state begins with, "First, attacks upon one phase or another of our economic system (could be the new deal reform.) Second, the advocacy of the principle that the government has the duty to support the people (could be relief, such as S.E.R.A.). Third, subtle proposals to regiment agriculture (could be A.A.A.), labor (could be N.L.R.B.), and industry (could be S.E.C.) under some system of planned economy. Fourth, the final abolition of private property in favor of public ownership of basic industries (could be T.V.A.), and, finally, complete dictatorship (could be that Roosevelt is the Keresky who precedes the dictator). We are now witnessing the first stages of this (Marxist-atheist-pagan) campaign."

The mere thought of the perils that we are living under makes us shudder. Come to our rescue, Sir Dies.

It is apparent that Dies is still bent on a campaign of New Deal destruction.

Most Progressive Governor Ex-banker Lehman continues his liberal legislation with the abolition of the "blue-ribbon-jury," and for the outlawing of wire-tapping. He asks for an amendment to make state ownership of water-power resources a reality. He promises to speed up public housing and asks for legislation to make it easier to remove corrupt judges and municipal officials. And he proposes to forbid discrimination against the Negro by labor unions and all business affected with a public interest.

N.L.R.B. Investigated by

The Smith committee investigating the National Labor Relations board "reveals" that the Board has employed many young college graduates who know little or nothing about labor relations. Taking a course in labor problems at the present time we realize the momentous problems involved. However it seems that the Smith committee must be pretty hard up for opposition material when they have to report that college grads are being hired as assistants to the Labor board. Probably the real purpose of the committee is to turn the Wagner act into a means of oppressing rather than helping labor. During the last fiscal year the number of strikes called to obtain the right to organize, decreased two-thirds. European Federation?

Talk of a Federated Europe to insure a permanent peace after the end of the present war has stirred up much enthusiasm. Such notables as Chamberlain, Halifax, Daladier, and the Pope have spoken favorably of such a plan. Such problems as representation, military forces, taxation, and type of government would have to be answered before such a plan might function.

Wanted! Intelligent group of men similar to those who thrashed out similar issues prior to the adoption of the American constitution. Note . . . Daring and common sense essential.

Snoopidity

By Dave Westaway

Statistics say that it takes a student twenty minutes longer to say what he thinks than to tell what he knows—so here goes.

Well, we could start out with some of the impressions which were left after the Sadie Hawkins Spinsters Hop—one instance which we will recall was a certain Joe Collich who came to school on the fatal day with high hopes of getting tagged by the little girl with whom he had been exchanging coy glances. Joe meets her in the hall and she hesitates and says, "Hello." You see—she is waiting for our boy to wrest the tag from her hand. They finally part with no tag. Then imagine the blow to poor Joe when an hour later, to quote her: "Hello Joe! Would you have gone with me to the dance if I'd have tagged you? Oh heck, Joe? I was afraid, so I tagged somebody else." Joe didn't kill her nor nothin'.

Then the dozen or more reliable instances where the girls ordered and then walked out with their boy friends in tow without paying the check—of course this was from force of habit.

Another squawk we have—about Ruth Mathews. She took Gil Macy in the Model T, but she had the insolence to refuse to crank it. Which all goes to show you that men are mice and women are weasels.

After the hop there was quite a number of couples at El Paso dancing to the rhythm of Jimmy Long who plays the drums for his own amazement.

We will take time out now to announce the engagement of Elizabeth McCance to Henry Bisaccia—and rumor has it that they are planning to get married in five years—you see they don't believe in long engagements.

Another story—Donna Lambert wanted a ride to Pasadena. After scanning the bulletin board she put a note in Bob Irwin's box. On Friday afternoon Donna waited but nobody showed up, so she thought she had better wait outside. Just at that time Bus Bolas came on the scene. She, mistaking him for her ride, rushed up and said, "Hello, I was afraid you weren't coming." Well, Bus was pleasantly astounded having such a pretty little stranger talking to him in that tone of voice. Before he could reply, she said, "Are we going right away?"

So with a neat bit of deception Bolas encountered, "No, I have to wait for a friend—let's go in and play games."

That come into my parlor stuff is just what you could expect from Bolas the Blackguard.

Time passed on and Donna finally said in despair, "You know I have to get to Pasadena sometime." Bus thought then that he had better make a clean breast of his deed or else make a special trip to Pasadena—He chose the former and told her that he was only make believing—the varlet.

Students Get Additional Speaking Aid

One of the most stringent qualities required of a teacher is the ability to speak. Santa Barbara State's speech clinic is now employing every modern device to eliminate speech deficiencies in prospective graduates.

To better illustrate the effectiveness of posture and gestures in public speaking, Charles Redding and Frederic Hile, speech and dramatic instructors, are now preparing a motion picture which will be used in the speech classes to show various degrees of these two speech requisites. The picture is of the sixteen millimeter type and is being edited by Jack Thompson, a speech student.

Examples are Local The film, when finished, will include examples of students from the present semester, and the spring and summer session of last year. In the future, motion pictures of student talks will be a regular part of the speech course.

A voice recording of each student is made so that the student may detect for himself his good and bad points. The clinic's record library includes recordings of speeches of internationally known personalities among which are, Roosevelt, Chamberlain, Hitler, and many others. These records were made directly from the radio broadcasts.

Instruments Complicated

Among the more complicated instruments to detect and correct speech defects is the "Van-Riper Critical Angle board," for use in correcting maladjustments, and "Electro-dermograph," a machine somewhat similar to the lie-detector which reveals the speaker's own reaction to his audience. This machine will show all phases of speech defects such as bad breathing, stuttering, nervousness and the like.

Story Shows Pathos of War

"Johnny Got His Gun," by Dalton Trumbo; J. B. Lippincott, 304 pages.

Current among the many war stories of this day is "Johnny Got His Gun," a bitter condemnation of war conveyed in short, brittle, rapid-fire sentences. Dalton Trumbo has written with the hardness of reality, and yet with sympathy, the story of the most pitied remnant of the Great War, the "basket" case: the soldier who has nothing left to him but a mind with which to think and a heart to beat out an existence which he is unwilling to accept, yet is helpless to repel.

Story Descriptive

As page after page is turned, the story reaches more deeply into the emotions of the mind—pity, laughter, horror, sorrow, each has its moment in the tale of hapless Joe Bonham. "Johnny" reaches out its tentacles of interest, and refuses to be placed aside; and long after the book is finished, its substance returns again and again to the consciousness. Its dread import beats at the mind and the spirit screams out in terror for the destined fate of the many "Joe Bonhams" of this world.

The entire book is a succession of the thoughts of the crippled man, sketched vividly with the atmosphere of vagueness, unearthliness and confusion which surrounds the subconscious. In this potent protest against war, author Trumbo has inserted many observations characteristic of the contemporary thought; in particular, his soliloquies on the Little Man will clarify these ideas. The book is definitely a "must-read." —Jane Galbraith.

of business should be carried. Socialization of business is the probable major controversy of the ensuing election and the housing problem will be one major phase of that election. Our intention is to keep our eye on the problem. —F.D.

Government Housing Likely to Become Main Issue in Election

When the third largest capitalistic enterprise in the United States is threatened by interference of government enterpris in private business the nation had well turn its attention to the problem. Such a condition exists in the relationship of the United States Housing authority and the Federal Housing authority and the housing industry, according to Charles Christian, president of the California Apartment House association.

In a meeting held in Santa Barbara Monday evening the apartment house leader stated that in comparison with the East there was no housing problem in California.

His opinion is correct in that California conditions are not as bad as the East's; however, if his statement implies that there is no housing problem in California, he is wrong. A problem there decidedly is, but there also appears to be an equivalent problem in possible misdirection of government action in this field.

The proposals of the FHA are acknowledged by several groups as mistaken. It has too frequently provided ownership of real estate to persons who neither need it nor can afford it. The plan of the U.S.H.A. is more highly disputed with strong advocates on both sides.

Strong epithets are being thrown back and forth. Proponents say that their plan would not interfere in the profitable field of rent income, while the opponents state that renting houses for twelve dollars a month for which the private owner must charge twenty dollars is definitely competition. The non-partisan sits on the sideline and wonders just how far socialization

Editor's Note:

The year 1940 seems to be a year for polls, what with the national census leading the way. People are becoming increasingly interested in what other people think and the ways in which they react to certain situations, paving the way for Mr. Gallup and a number of national magazines. Leading questions of the poll-takers seem to be on the possibilities of Franklin Roosevelt's seeking a third term. College students, Congressmen and the man in the street have all been sounded out and from the sentiments thus far expressed, one would be led to believe that F.D.R. is not even considering the possibilities of throwing his hat in the ring.

Astute newspapermen have been constantly trying to make the President commit himself by phrasing innocent-sounding questions, but the man in the White House has shrewdly evaded their anxious queries and has seen through every attempt. All good Democrats, meanwhile, seem to be holding back waiting for instructions, although a number of our leading citizens in high political office have tentatively sent out lines to test their chances for the nomination. Most of these ambitious men, including Senator Burton K. Wheeler and Vice-president "Cactus Jack" Garner have definitely expressed their desire for the nomination and have minimized the President's third term chances by using the old Republican argument of tradition.

This puerile argument, strange as it may seem, has caught the public fancy and students the nation over have expressed their opposition to a third term in college newspaper editorials by a two-thirds majority. Many of these editorials have expressed agreement with the policies of the incumbent administration, but are unalterably opposed to one man's breaking of a precedent set up by our founding fathers. One argument used is that a twelve year term for one man would undermine the very foundations of our Constitution. In our opinion, if the Constitution is not strong enough to stand under the onslaught of a single individual, it is too weak a document to govern a nation of 140 million people. The foundations of the argument, of course, are ridiculous, for the Constitution states nothing about the number of terms a man might hold in the highest executive position. Sooner or later, the President will be forced to commit himself as to his plans for 1940. Meanwhile the statements of our leading legislators should provide interesting newspaper copy.

With final examinations just around the corner, we feel that El Gaucho's staff merits a well-deserved rest so we are covering the typewriters in this barn of a newspaper office for a couple of weeks and will proceed to crack a number of text books for catching up purposes. A number of individuals we know are not so fortunate, their extra-curricular activities coming during finals. We are speaking of Mr. Wilton Wilton's basketball boys, who play tonight, tomorrow night and all of next week.

Gauchos Mix With San Jose Five in Two Game Series

On The Sportside..

By JACK NEWMAN

Jack Newman's radio column, "On the Sportside" can be heard on the Mutual Broadcasting station, KDB, at 6:15 p.m. every Friday night.

After many many years of mediocrity, it seems that beginning with this season's basketball club, Santa Barbara State is moving into a Golden Era of athletic achievement.

Never before has the town or college had the pleasure of witnessing a smoother basketball machine than the one now being guided into the 2C2A championship by Pilot Willie Wilton. The squad has everything a championship team needs. Color—speed—great passing—scoring punch—right attitude—and strong reserves. Attending to the ability of the local contingent is the two-fold win over the House of David aggregation who had previous to the Gaucho series, lost but one game in 47, and that to the strong University of Iowa unit. House of David players remarked that they believed Tommy Guerrero to be one of the finest floor men in the game.

And prospects for Spud Harder's baseball team are just as bright. Watching them at a little pre-season workout Wednesday afternoon, we saw the same men returning who brought us to the championship last year, plus several newcomers who will bolster the hitting attack. Spud was confident that this outfit couldn't lose unless the unexpected arose and he felt that he had the finest collegiate ball club on the Pacific Coast to coach.

Football?—with the bulk of last season's aggregation returning and a number of nuggets arriving via the Jaycee route, it looks like San Jose and Fresno will have to hustle in order to grab a victory over the Gaucho. Only doubtful spot in the lineup thus far ranges between the ends, north and south to the center. Plenty of good backs and ends.

Yessir! That Golden Era is on its way.

Santa Barbara, Spartans Battle for League Lead On Armory Hardwood

Wiltonmen Rate Edge over Invading Quintet in Crucial 2C2A Series Tonight And Tomorrow; Guerrero Paces Locals

By GEORGE STEPANIAN
El Gaucho Sports Associate

San Jose State College's powerful basketball quintet, tied for first place in the California Collegiate Athletic Association with Santa Barbara, makes its bid for sole leadership tonight and tomorrow nights at the local Armory when they hook up in a "Sudden death" series with a gang of inspired Gauchos, who themselves are in the middle of a sensational winning spree.

The Spartans, badly beaten in the recent San Jose Basketball Tournament, have since then blossomed out into a dangerous five with two sophomores, recently injected into the starting lineup, sparking the Spartans to three consecutive victories over the potent College of Pacific and Fresno State aggregations.

Defeat for either team will almost automatically eliminate that team from the title chase, while the winner will play off for the championship with the 1939 champions, the powerful San Diego Aztecs, who, as yet, have not engaged in league competition.

Heading the Spartan's offensive attack from their forward berths will be Captain Gus Kotta, diminutive 5'7" sharpshooting senior, and Hal Carruth, San Jose's discovery of the season, who sank 2 points to insure victory over the Pacific squad.

Dick Urhammer, husky 6'2", 190 pound junior, gets the starting call at the center post. Urhammer, although not much of a scoring threat, is a valuable man in feeding the ball to the Spartan forwards.

Opening at the guard positions will be Johnny Allen, great Negro griddler, who is just about as effective on the hardwood, and Frank Maestri, the second of San Jose's sensational sophomores.

Coach Willie Wilton is still in a dilemma over his starting lineup as several of his so-called reserves have shown so much stuff in the last few games that it will be hard to keep them off the court.

Tommy Guerrero and Paddy Caudillo seem a safe bet to get the starting call at the forward positions, although Wilton may sacrifice the sparkling teamwork of the two crack forwards to get some badly needed height and use "Barking Bill" Russell at one of the posts instead.

Lowell Steward, who seems to find the San Jose defense to his liking, as attested by the fact that he ran wild against them in the Cage Clinic, seems to have an edge for the opening lineup over 6'5" Gordon Gray.

Larry "Crash" Brewster and Bill Sears will probably form the starting guard combination with Russell and Louie Bedell held in reserve.

For the first time this season, the Gauchos will have the edge in height over their opponents. The Spartans are essentially a small, tricky, fast-breaking outfit who depend on their speed to get away for scores. Only two of San Jose's starting cagers are over 6 feet in height.

Gauchitos Drop Gammill Outfit, 53-44

The greatest Frosh basketball team in Santa Barbara State college's history added the powerful Gammill quintet, leaders in the city commercial league, to its growing list of victims as they garnered a handy 53 to 44 win last night at the Armory in the preliminary game.

Coach Howie Yeager's outfit took the lead at the onset and never relinquished it as Bob Sherman, dropping n shots from all angles piled up a total of 21 points for high scoring honors. Doug Winters, center, turned in his best game to date and proved the bulwark of the Gauchitos' defense as well as potting 11 points.

Hal "Rubber Legs" Romero, the slippery Frosh forward, kept in the commercial five's hair all evening as he repeatedly took the ball off the backboard and dropped it in to score 13 points.

Baseball Club Has Workout

With several new prospects and nearly all of last year's championship team returning, Spud Harder feels that the '40 baseball squad is to be the best in State history. Harder reported that Coleman Stewart, who managed the Frosh last year, will handle the first year men again this season.

The barnstorming House of David basketball squad ran into a case of too much class last night and Wednesday night when Tommy Guerrero and his cohorts handed the "Bearded Methuselahs" a double trimming.

Gauchos Trim Davidites Twice; Frosh Face Lumber Squad

Guerrero, Steward Lead Local Attack

Santa Barbara State college's great basketball quintet, turning in some of the most sensational playing ever seen on the local court, added another brace of victories in its amazing climb to the top brackets of casaba play as they completely outplayed the House of David five in two hard fought battles last night and Wednesday night in the Armory, by scores of 38-31 and 44-33.

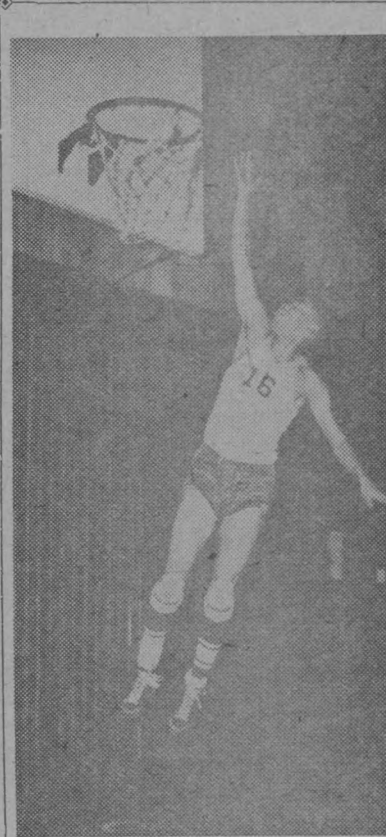

Last night's game was by far superior in every aspect. The "Hairless Joe" outfit, incensed at the defeat inflicted on it the previous night, were out for blood but the only thing they got was a pair of left hooks from the strong arm of aggressive Larry "Crash" Brewster, who seemed to resent the back-hand slapping of Frank Lee, bearded forward.

Both were allowed to continue in the game and immediately afterwards Brewster almost had another battle on his hands when he accidentally (?) slapped 6'11" Art Stoelting in the jaw. The officials straightened out the argument and the game went on.

The House of David fugitives from the Grapes of Wrath, piled up an early 6-0 lead in last night's fracas but could not hold it against the sharpshooting tactics of Tommy Guerrero, who upheld his claim to being the outstanding ball handler on the coast, and Lowell Steward, who took high point honors for the two game series with 23 points.

The bearded behemoths, who did everything with the ball but put it in the basket where it counts, reluctantly admitted that the Gauchos were about as classy a basketball squad as they have seen this year.

The team unanimously complimented the marvelous floor work of little Guerrero and declared that he was one of the greatest ball handlers they had ever run up against.

Broadway Clowns Play Gauchos Here

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18—America's greatest comedy quintet, the Broadway Clowns, invades Santa Barbara Wednesday night when they tangle with Coach Willie Wilton's fast-travelling Gaucho five in the local armory. The entertaining all-Negro squad is headed by the great Runt Pullins, one of basketball's greatest ball handlers.

PATSY
SAYS...

DEAR MARGIE:

I can hardly realize that it is time for finals already. It seems just a short while ago that I was looking forward to the new semester and anticipating the football games, rallies, dances and other events that have passed so quickly.

You must feel the same way though, because remember when you came over to my house right after vacation and made me tell you all about State? You were so excited over going to college and wanted to make absolutely sure that you wouldn't miss a thing. Gee, you must have asked me a million questions. You were so worried that you would get off on the wrong foot that we talked almost until midnight planning your debut.

And from all of the good reports I have been hearing, you are IN and no mistake about it!

You can't fail if you continue to match your good looks with smart dressing.

Will you meet me today in the Co-op? I want to show you my new outfit—

It is composed of a dark blue gabardine skirt ($4.95) with a blue and white Gaucho shirt (prices range from $1.95 to $3.95) and a red botany flannel loafer jacket. Just between you and me, flag colors are going to lead the fashion parade this year.

See you then,
Patsy,

Greeks Elect Officers for New Semester

Sig Alphas Sponsor After-Meeting Hop With Gamma Sigs

Most important business undertaken by campus social fraternities at their meetings Monday night, consisted of elections of officers to serve next semester.

Following their business sessions, members of Gamma Sigma Pi and Sigma Alpha Kappa continued a drive for better inter-Fraternity relations when they danced at Stroller's Hall.

BETA SIGMA CHI

Officers for next semester will be Jim Widman, president; Jack Richards, vice-president; Harvey Wilson, secretary; Bob Miller, treasurer; and Carlos Bee, pledge captain.

Following the election of officers Monday night the fraternity held a discussion of prospective pledges for next semester.

The Beta Sigma Chi bowling team was defeated by Tau Omega in an after-meeting match.

TAU OMEGA

adopted a revised constitution at their meeting Monday night. Election of officers will be held next Monday night. Art Steiner, who missed his initiation because of illness, was formally initiated at the last meeting.

Following the meeting a Tau Omega bowling team defeated a team from Beta Sigma Chi.

GAMMA SIGMA PI

Selected officers at its meeting Monday night at the home of Cliff Romer. President for the coming semester will be Howard Joham, while the rest of the officers are as follows: vice-president, Fred Baer; secretary, Kelly Hopmans; treasurer, Jack Hart; sergeant-at-arms, Gordon Gray; pledge captain, Lester Barnwell.

SIGMA ALPHA KAPPA

will elect officers for the coming semester at their meeting Monday night. Last Monday, a list of nominees was presented to the fraternity by the executive committee. Nominees are Bill Sears and Dick McKeon, president; George McDonald, vice-president; Ian Crow, pledge captain; Edward Cravio, corresponding secretary; Micky Berman, sergeant-at-arms; and Bill Sears and Jim O'Brien, social chairman.

Tomorrow night, following the Gaucho-San Jose game, the fraternity has planned a skating party.

Following a short meeting, the fraternity was host to Gamma Sigma Pi in the second of a series of dances given to improve inter-fraternity relations.

tendent and principal of Goleta Union school.

Ten minutes of each broadcast is devoted to a question period with members of the studio audience participating. Any student is invited to join in the audience and in the question panel, according to Cross.

Two Women Win Roles in Lobero Farce

Gaucho co-eds who won the "Of Thee I Sing" beauty contest at restaurant del Paseo last Saturday night were Florence Williams and Dwala Branyon. The women have joined the cast of the Kaufman-Ryskind musical comedy as a reward for their triumph. "Of Thee I Sing" will be presented at the Lobero theater February 1, 2 and 3.

Music for the show was written by the late George Gershwin, composer of "Rhapsody in Blue". The lyrics were composed by his brother, Ira Gershwin. Hit tunes from the syncopated musical satire are "Of Thee I Sing", "Wintergreen for President", "Who Cares" and "Love is Sweeping the Country."

The story deals with the presidential candidacy of John P. Wintergreen, who runs on a platform of one word—"Love". One girl is selected from a group of beauty contestants to be his running mate and he decides on another one. As a result of his publicized romance, he wins the election, but the girl he spurns creates many amusing complications.

A cast of sixty singers, dancers and actors is rehearsing at the Lobero under the direction of Dan W. Sattler. Special student tickets may be secured.

After a Fashion . . .

By MARY ROBERTS

Wal, tis all ovah but the memories, this hyar dancin' party that our collich gals gave fur all the purty l'il boys. Oh happy daze it wuz—and the stiles the mails wore war e'nuf to set the town talking about—

The fetching cough-ure that alumnus Douglas Oldershaw showed up in. I'm sure he copied it from the fashion setter, Hairless Joe; and the headpiece of perky peasantry that perched so precisely 'neath the pate of Jim Habif promoted progress in this season's beanie, to say nothing of the "Coal-bearish" bangs that caressed his forehead.

Bookays and corsages of variable nay-chure war seen. D'mure was the lapel holder-downer of Dorothy Loudenclos' date Jimmy Summer—elephant leaves centered with a dainty poinsetta; and the fragrance of Fred Wessel's vegetable corsage was verra alluring (yes, it allured you away from it) with its colorful blossoms.

Traveling salesman Carlos Bee did allright by our little er-ah-Gawgia Mae (Krebs), for it wuz supper he carried in the little black bag. City feller Howard Joham dazzled all the gals with his high hat and stiff collar.

Purhaps Davey White didn't know these wimmen hav' no patience—greetin' them in bare feet and a mug-ful (and I don't mean cup) of shaving cream and havin' them wait till he wuz attired (and they war jist plain tar'd).

Betcha Jask Ashley's Sunday-go-to-meetin' clothes will set the vogue in Hickville this y'ar—what with straw sailor, red shirt, 'n' everything. And we mus toss a bookay of sun-flowers to Bob Hall for depicting so cleverly the goin's on of the Skunk Holler community.

Graphic Arts Frat Bills Open House

Open house for prospective rush-ees will be held Sunday by Xi Omicron Pi, professional graphic arts fraternity, at the home of John T. Porter, 181 Alameda Padre Serra.

The tacaar will last from 4 to 8 p.m. and will feature impromptu games and entertainment. Prizes will be awarded to winners of the various games.

Present at the open house will be Hobart Skofield, prominent designer-topographer, who has accepted the honorary position of off-campus of the fraternity.

Officers and charter members of the organization are Jim Stanley, president; James Widman, vice-president; Bill Sparrow, secretary; Reg Sundin, treasurer; and Charles Noble, social chairman.

Virgil Volla Praises Training At Industrial Education Dinner

That there is a greater need for well-trained crafts-instructors in the Industrial Education field was the gist of Virgil Volla's talk at the Industrial Education department banquet held last Saturday at El Paseo. Volla stated that Santa Barbara was the only college that trained teachers for this wide field in Industrial Arts. He also stated that there would be several positions open in the near future in Los Angeles.

E. E. Ericson, head of the local I.E. department, was invited to participate in an Industrial Arts Curriculum conference called by Mr. Curtis A. Warren. The conference began yesterday and will continue today at the Santa Barbara Board of Education offices. The conclave was slated in order to study and reorganize the Industrial Education curriculum of the Santa Barbara city schools. Present at the meetings were Will C. Matthews, supervisor of Industrial Arts, Oakland; J. C. Beswick, State Chief of Trade and Industrial Education, Sacramento; C. E. Nihart, supervisor of Vocational and Practical Arts, Los Angeles city schools; and George D. Henck, director of Vocational and Industrial Arts, Pasadena.

Last night the Industrial Education faculty of the college met with the Industrial Arts teachers of the city schools to welcome the curriculum conference delegates.

The new Horticultural school will be opened next semester, according to Ericson. He stated that Dana Tyson, State Landscape Architect, was in Santa Barbara last week to make arrangements for tools and supplies, and for the finishing touches on the buildings in the plant.

A course in home and school gardening is to be offered next semester. It will be open to prospective teachers now in college and to city school teachers.

Staters Talk on Japan Treaty

Answering the question "What kind of new treaty should we make with Japan?", three students of the College will participate in the weekly "College Town Meeting" broadcast on station K.T.M.S. at 6:30 p.m. on Wednesday. Names of students are not yet definite, according to the Reverend Gordon Cross, master of ceremonies for the series.

State collegians Mary Ellen Putman, Patrick Drury and Noel Frodsham discussed the topic, "Are modern educational methods more effective?" on last Wednesday's broadcast. Guest speaker for the evening was Hal Caywood, district superin-
