New Vice Chancellors Temporarily Fill Roles

By Susan Burkhardt
Staff Writer

The 1994-95 administrative staff is entering a transitional phase as newly appointed members take their posts.

Chancellor Henry T. Yang has named John M. Weimann acting vice chancellor for institutional advancement and Janet C. Manzi acting vice chancellor for development and acting executive director of the UCSB Foundation.

With the departure of Ed Birch, a new vice chancellor for institutional advancement was needed. "I was asked to take the position about five days before school started," Weimann said. "I was surprised I was asked."

Weimann believes he is qualified for the position while the search for a permanent vice chancellor is under way.

In his 18 years on campus, Weimann has been co-chair with Birch on the Resource Planning Group, a member of the UCSB Foundation Board and the Chancellor's Advisory Council and has served on the faculty legislature in academic planning.

"Because I was so involved in the [Academic] Senate I was asked to be vice chancellor," Weimann said. "I had a good idea about how the campus worked at an administrative level and at the developmental level which is important to the job.

"The job is interesting and challenging. It has not been a bad transition. The people I work with and the chancellor and other vice chancellors have been very helpful and responsive."

Between Birch's departure and Weimann's appointment, the position was vacant, with no one for the staff to report to directly. "Everything functioned fine, but there was more burden on the chancellor," Weimann said.

The job involves leading the Alumni Association, developmental offices, Public Events, Public Affairs, Finance and Administration, and Governmental Relations, according to Weimann.

A committee is seeking a permanent vice chancellor, according to chemical and nuclear engineering Professor Duncan Mellichamp, a member of the search committee.

"We hope to have the bulk of the process [completed] by the end of December," he said. "It's typical to identify the top three to six candidates to the chancellor for final approval."

For Manzi, the transition to

Extra Police on Their Way to Monitor Town

By Nick Robertson
Staff Writer

Law enforcement agencies throughout Southern California will send officers to Isla Vista this weekend to tackle the monster Halloween has become for the seaside community.

Santa Barbara County Sheriff Jim Thomas has again implemented a "no tolerance" policy for the chaotic festivities, following what officials consider a successful Halloween last year due to a similar strategy.

"The 'no tolerance' policy is helping to bring Halloween into a small, safe and local event," said Sgt. George Ornelas of the I.V. Foot Patrol. "I'd say ... due to last year's efforts, this year's Halloween will not be as big as last year."

The police strategy entails increasing the number of officers on duty throughout the extended weekend and stiffer penalties for violations, according to John Buttny, aide to 3rd Dis-

I.V. Residents, Wallace Chew Fat on Autos, Weekend Plans

By Sam Garchik
Reporter

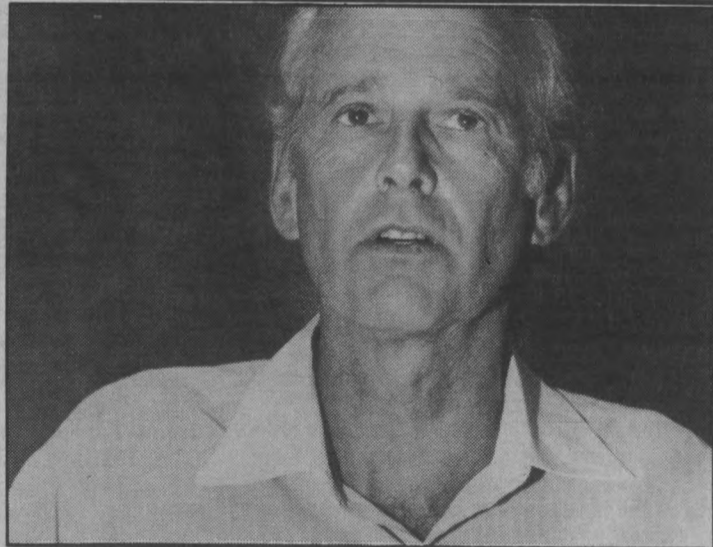

Santa Barbara County 3rd District Supervisor Bill Wallace visited Isla Vista Tuesday evening to discuss local issues with residents.

The community's parking crisis topped the agenda, with a number of local activists and residents on hand to voice their concerns.

"In my opinion, the biggest problem in Isla Vista is overcrowding and overcrowding with cars," Wallace said. "Too many people live in this area for the number of parking places we have."

Wallace's remarks were echoed by Hal Kopeikin, I.V. Recreation and Park Board director, who believes a solution to the parking situation is long overdue.

"UCSB has 20,000 people per day and three parking places," he said. "If we can solve this one, I.V. will be paradise."

RACHEL WEILL/Daily Nexus

Third District Supervisor Bill Wallace believes Isla Vista's biggest problem is its lack of parking. He spoke at a town hall-style meeting Tuesday night and heard community concerns.

The latest parking controversy arose from a plan to charge residents $50 for a permit to park on local roads. The proposal by former Supervisor Willy Chamberlin drew sharp reactions from the crowd.

"An automobile-hostile policy is my goal. When I was a student, I rode and walked my bike everywhere," said Brad Hufschmid, I.V.RPD director. "I'm really no fan of the automobile."

Others believe a permit system is outdated.

"Basically, the parking permit program is dead. There's no constituency," said Derek Cole, Associated Students external vice president. "Francisco Torres has added parking. The university has added a temporary lot. A lot of demand has gone down."

The upcoming Halloween celebration was another topic of interest at the meeting. The discussion focused on a publicity campaign to inform the public of the holiday's impact

Campus Restaurants Cause Decline in I.V. Food Sales

By Eric Steuer
Reporter

The grand opening of the University Center food court caused a noticeable drop in the business of Isla Vista restaurants, leaving many uncertain about their economic future.

The newly remodeled Hub, which opened Oct. 17 and includes eateries such as Panda Express and Wendy's, cut into sales of restaurants in the community.

However, most business owners believe the downturn will end once the novelty of the food complex wears off.

Woodstock's Pizza saw a "noticeable decline" in business, according to manager Kristi Runge. Since the restaurant has traditionally been a place where people "come to hang out and relax while they are eating," Runge believes business will pick up after a few weeks.

Beer was the only item at Woodstock's whose sales increased significantly after The Pub closed two years ago, according to Runge, who does not foresee a long-term effect on business now that the Hub is open.

UCen officials don't expect a significant downturn for I.V. businesses because of the food court's opening.

"What a lot of folks have forgotten is that we offered a lot of food on campus when the UCen was open two years ago and that we are just offering it in a new format now," said UCen Director Alan Kirby.

Specifically, the closing of the UCen cafeteria did not result in a big surge in the restaurant business in Isla Vista, Kirby said.

The majority of restaurant owners experiencing the decline agree that after interest in the on-campus food court dies down, business will return to normal. "In the long run, it doesn't matter what happens outside of Isla Vista," said Fay Javan, owner of Javan's. "We have a loyal clientele and as long as we provide them with good service and food, we have nothing to worry about."

However, some restaurant owners expressed concern about the new competition.

Although Sam's to Go has not seen a drop in business since the grand opening, Mehrdad Homoyouni, owner and manager, believes some eating establish-

Judge Blocks Cuban Refugees' Return

MIAMI (AP) — A federal judge Tuesday blocked the United States from returning Cuban refugees to their homeland, intervening just one minute before a military plane with 23 of them was to leave for Havana.

An immigration official raced to a pay phone to stop the flight from the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay after U.S. District Judge C. Clyde Atkins issued his order, pending a hearing Wednesday.

The order was sought by attorneys who filed a lawsuit Monday to win freedom for the more than 30,000 Cuban refugees held at Guantanamo Bay and in Panama.

President Clinton has refused to let the refugees into the United States, saying they must return to Fidel Castro's Cuba and apply for immigration through routine channels.

Attorneys for the refugees argued that the Cu-filed the lawsuit. "All political solutions are not working. It's time for a legal solution."

Reynaldo Bello, a refugee at Guantanamo, said most refugees at the of minors and medical treatment for 250 pregnant women.

Military officials said 23,699 Cubans are at Guantanamo and 8,206 are in Panama. So far, 42 Cubans have been returned voluntarily to their homeland, the officials said.

"They make them so miserable they want to leave," said Mark Jimenez, one of the attorneys suing. "That is not voluntary repatriation as far as international law and basic human rights principles go."

"All these returns are voluntary," Justice Department spokesperson Carl Stern said. "These are people who have been extensively screened to determine they want to urgently return to Cuba."

bans are being forced to return to Cuba by inhumane conditions in the U.S. camps.

Atkins agreed to halt all such departures while he hears lawyers' arguments.

"This is the last resort," said former Miami Mayor Xavier Suarez, one of the attorneys who U.S. base would rather die than return to Cuba.

"We are here not to go back," Bello said. "What would we do in Cuba now? How would they guarantee us that if we return to Havana nothing would happen to us?"

Israel and Jordan Expected to Sign Peace Accord Today

WADI ARABA, Israel-Jordan Border (AP) — Under a huge banner proclaiming peace in three languages, Israel and Jordan are signing a treaty Wednesday to end 46 years of war, pushing a vision of hope in a Middle East convulsed by Islamic fundamentalism.

The signing will be witnessed by President Clinton and 5,000 guests.

Despite the spectacular ceremony planned at this uninhabited patch of desert just north of the Red Sea, the Israeli mood was sober Tuesday in the aftermath of a string of terrorist attacks by Islamic fundamentalists opposed to the treaty.

Most legislators of the opposition said they would stay away from the ceremony, believing it extravagant and insensitive to families who lost relatives in recent attacks.

Palestinian leader Yasser Arafat was not invited, and Palestinians were skeptical about the treaty, worrying that their quest for statehood would be lost in the Arab rush to reconcile with Israel.

Arafat is angry that the treaty gives Jordan's King

Hussein custody of the Islamic holy sites in Jerusalem, a city the Palestinians claim as the capital of a future Palestinian state.

Arafat on Tuesday reasserted the claim to Jerusalem. "Those who don't like it can drink from the sea of Gaza," he said.

Absent Legislator Holds Up Completion of Haiti Gov't.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — The difficulties of assembling a new government were illustrated Tuesday by the cumbersome process required to name the next Haitian prime minister, wealthy businessman Smarck Michel.

The president of Haiti's lower house announced Tuesday that President Jean-Bertrand Aristide had designated Michel as Haiti's premier-in-waiting.

Frantz Robert Monde showed the Chamber of Deputies a letter from the newly returned president and said Aristide was expected to convene the body within 48 hours to ratify Michel.

But the constitution requires that Aristide consult with the heads of both houses before officially announcing his choice as prime minister. Monde said he met with Aristide on Monday, but Senate President Firmin Jean-Louis has been nowhere to be found.

The fact that the absence of one prominent senator could bring the process of restoring democracy to a standstill illustrates the challenges Aristide faces.

"Things are going in the right direction," said human rights activist Jean-Claude Bajoux, co-leader of the socialist Congress of Democratic Movements. "But they are going much too slowly."

Forensic Techniques Enable Scientists to Probe History

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP) — High-tech tests are inspiring new investigations of the deaths of famous people, including Lincoln assassin John Wilkes Booth, to answer the question "Who dunnit?" and see if the history books are right.

Descendants of Booth, along with two historians, have filed a petition in Baltimore Circuit Court asking to exhume remains from a city cemetery to see if it really is Booth who is buried down there.

Similar investigations already have looked into the deaths of President Zachary Taylor, Louisiana political legend Huey Long, the ax-murdered parents of Lizzie Borden and the victims of Colorado cannibal Alfred Packer.

"There has been a surge of increased recognition at what our forensic sciences can do. It's possible to do things that we couldn't do 15 years ago," said Douglas Ubelaker, curator of physical anthropology at the Smithsonian Institution's Museum of Natural History.

Ubelaker and colleague

Doug Owsley were approached by Booth's relatives and historians who think another man is buried in Booth's grave. They think Booth escaped capture and lived another 38 years before dying.

Advances in DNA testing of soft tissue can help provide genetic fingerprints to aid in identification, Ubelaker said.

USDA Unit Wants Farmers to Grow Non-Food Products

FRESNO (AP) — Most folks don't think of farms manufacturing things in the same sense that industries do.

But a branch of the U.S. Department of Agriculture is trying to get farmers to dream up non-food and non-fiber products that can be manufactured from the crops they grow.

The long-range goals are to use more of the nation's crops, which often are in surplus, and move away from nonrenewable petroleum-based products to goods made from renewable carbohydrates.

"We are beginning to recognize that these [agricultural crops] are renewable materials that can be used in a vast area of industrial products from plastics to lubricants," said Robert Armstrong. He heads the USDA's alternative agricultural research and commercialization center.

"We're talking of a shift in the U.S. economy from nonrenewable petroleum to an economy based on carbohydrates that are renewable annually and do not pollute," Armstrong said. His unit of the USDA is arguing for at least a partial return to the type of manufacturing that existed before oil became plentiful in the mid-19th century.

"One hundred and 50 years ago, most non-food consumer products and industrial materials came from carbohydrate products," said Armstrong.

For the past few months, the attention of Californians has been drawn to an insidious invading force. Do not listen to the propaganda that says that millions of much-needed dollars are being pumped into the state's economy by this alien threat. Let the message be sent: no one is to benefit from California's resources when their entitlement stems solely from making a mad dash across the frontier.

If you haven't already guessed, I'm talking about Michael "Mike" Huffington and his wife Arianna. Last week, Mr. Huffington announced that he supported Proposition 187, the "enclave our state" initiative. This man has lived in California for significantly less time than many who crossed the border with Mexico illegally, yet he presents himself as the person best suited to represent the state's interest in the Senate.

Huffington must have thought living in Texas made him unfit to run for Congress there, so he came to California in search of a job (much like the you-know-who's). The best that can be said about his achievements during his 18-odd months as a representative is that he's spent a hell of a lot of money.

Don't let the unbelievably lame Feinstein ads cloud your vision; her campaign's inability to state the obvious (Huffington hasn't done anything for the state) make her seem that much more abhorrent — but let's take a reality check!

Dormitories Will Not Tolerate Out-of-Town Visitors During Halloween

By Kimberly Epler
Staff Writer

Residential hall residents on campus and off will need some smooth moves if they plan to sneak in out-of-town friends during the Halloween weekend, according to managers.

Both university and privately owned complexes are continuing a no-guest policy that has been in effect for several years, although campus dormitories previously held lotteries for visitors during the October celebration.

The current policy was implemented as a response to community concerns and an attempt to curb damages to campus facilities, according to Linda Croyle, Housing and Residential Services judicial affairs coordinator.

"It's basically as a result of the general community asking us. Even having 100 extra folks in the hall wasn't helping," she said. "That was a really high policy-violation weekend for us. The last couple of years have been really quiet."

Francisco Torres, the off-campus residential hall near Isla Vista Elementary School, is imposing simple restrictions.

"Our policy has been the same for several years and it's strictly enforced Thursday through Monday," said Serina O'Brien, residential manager.

While students may try to evade the rules, F.T. is confident most attempts will be foiled. "If you don't have a meal plan you can't come in," O'Brien said. "It helps cut down traffic in

I.V. and around F.T."

Some students understand the logic behind minimizing the overnight guest population during the high-volume weekend, but believe the policy goes too far.

"I feel like it's a little controlling. You're at college and you should be able to do what you want to do and there's this authority figure telling you, 'No, you can't have guests,'" said Nakeisha Cole, a freshman political science major.

Some believe the policy keeps responsible students from enjoying Halloween, because others have caused trouble in the past.

"By putting a restriction on it, I can't have any family or friends from home, who aren't partiers but just want to see the atmosphere," said Colleen Wilson, a sophomore. "So that restricts my freedom."

Senator Seeks Student Support for Speech

Sen. Dianne Feinstein is visiting Santa Barbara today to drum up support for her re-election campaign.

She will speak at a rally in front of the courthouse at 9:45 a.m., according to Feinstein aide Carol Ruth-Silver.

"The senator will be giving a major policy speech," Ruth-Silver said. "So we hope to see as many interested students there as possible."

Feinstein is vying with Rep. Michael Huffington (R-Santa Barbara) in a hotly contested race for one of two California seats in the U.S. Senate.

Recent polls had the former mayor of San Francisco ahead by six to nine points, with just under two weeks until Election Day.

Although Santa Barbara County comprises a major part of Huffington's congressional district, local support for the freshman representative may be weak.

CALPIRG Mounts Assault on GTE Over Phone Books' Alleged Waste

By Susan Burkhart
Staff Writer

The UCSB chapter of the California Public Interest Research Group is rallying support this week for a campaign designed to protect a temperate rain forest in the Clayoquot Sound on Vancouver Island, Canada.

CALPIRG is mounting an attack against GTE for its use of non-recycled paper in phone books, employing clear-cut timber pulp from the Clayoquot forest.

Private Donations to Campus Rising

By Michiko Takeda
Reporter

UCSB has stepped up its efforts to generate private support to help offset declining state funds, resulting in a 59 percent increase in private donations.

The rise from $13.5 million last year to $21.5 million this year in private gifts contrasts with declining private donations at many other UC campuses.

"There's been a trend over the last five years in an increase in private gifts," said communications Professor John Wei-mann, who helped assemble a board of advisers to assist with fund raising.

Private contributions appear to be at a peak, according to Director of Development Janet Manzi.

"There has been incredible growth, with this being our plateau year," she said. "The past two fiscal years are responsible for such a stellar year."

The $21.5 million comes from sources such as private foundations, corporations and UCSB parents and alumni.

The gifts frequently come in the form of cash, securities and real estate, grants or computer software. One such donation came from Mentor Graphics, which gave $10.7 million in software to the College of Engineering, Manzi said.

"The unusual circumstances of such an extraordinary gift is also responsible for the increase," she said.

Private donations will be used to fund research, scholarships, graduate fellowships, student financial aid, educational and public service programs, and other student and faculty services.

A.S. to Address Anti-Prop. 187 Bill

By M. Jolie Lash
Reporter

Associated Students Legislative Council will meet tonight to discuss Proposition 187 with regard to Smith v. Regents and the appointment of Don Zimmerman as Chicano Studies Dept. chair.

Prop. 187, which would deny state services to illegal immigrants, including the right to attend public school, has drawn A.S. attention because of its effects on students, according to Off-Campus Rep Michelle Schmidt, author of the anti-187 bill to be voted on tonight.

"The reason I wrote the bill about Prop. 187 and not about others is because this is important to the educational system. This issue has a direct bearing on students' lives," she said. "The purpose of the bill is to educate students about a really important bill in the election.”

Schmidt hopes A.S. passage of the anti-187 bill will influence students who are undecided on the issue and show that the council still has power within the limits of Smith v. Regents, the state Supreme Court ruling that prohibits mandatory student fees from funding political, religious or ideological groups on campus.

There is support for the bill in the council, according to Off-Campus Rep Cami Cooper. "Hopefully, the bill will pass and I think it probably will if enough members of Leg Council vote for it," she said.

The council will also review a measure on the self-appointment of Don Zimmerman, acting dean of social sciences, as an interim replacement for former Chicano studies Chair Yolanda Broyles-González.

"This summer, Leg Council passed a bill that basically stated we admire and respect the hunger strike agreement and [the] Chicano studies dept., specifically respecting their autonomy and academic freedom," said Rep-at-Large Anita Mir-

Vote No on Proposition 186

MATT RAGLAND/Daily Nexus

The high cost of health care is a severe problem in California, but Proposition 186 is not the answer.

Prop. 186, the California Health Security Act, would offer all residents eligibility to receive universal health care coverage effective January 1996. The plan would be financed through payroll taxes up to 8.9 percent on private businesses, individual income taxes up to 5 percent and levies on tobacco products.

But here lies one of the initiative's main problems. In such a financially difficult time, businesses and individuals simply cannot afford a substantial tax increase. This is detrimental to the state's efforts to woo businesses back to California.

Additionally, the system would be run by an elected health commissioner, who, like any political official, would be ripe for corruption. The commissioner's budget would be decided by the Legislature, but the commissioner would only be able to request additional tax increases for funding, which require a two-thirds vote of the Legislature to be enacted. Political realities indicate that funding shortfalls could occur, possibly resulting in rationing or lower-quality care.

At a time when over 6 million Californians lack any health insurance, a solution needs to be found, and universal health care is not out of the question. However, the plan being offered isn't the one. The Daily Nexus urges you to vote NO on 186.

Say No to Proposition 188

Would you believe tobacco companies are financing a law that would restrict smoking? Well, they are, and it's on the ballot as Proposition 188.

They are behind this initiative because it would replace current local smoking regulations with less strict statewide requirements. The measure would permit smoking in designated sections of up to 25 percent seating capacity of restaurants and employee cafeterias, with ventilation guidelines less stringent than current state law. Smoking would also be allowed in bars, racetracks, private offices, hotel and conference rooms, among other places.

This deceptive measure actually promotes smoking and was put on the ballot to eliminate the tough state law signed last July that bans smoking in most workplaces starting Jan. 1, 1995, and that allows local governments to pass stricter legislation if they find it necessary. The measure also does nothing to ensure clean air in enclosed smoking areas, since the proposed ventilation standard removes only the smell of tobacco smoke from the air, not the cancer-causing chemicals.

Local communities should not give up their right to regulate smoking, especially not to a tobacco industry-financed measure that would weaken current ordinances. The Daily Nexus strongly encourages a NO vote on 188.

Kudos For Capps

Editor, Daily Nexus:

After three years at the University of California, San Diego, preparing to graduate early, on the Dean's List and in College.

As much as my parents would like me to, I cannot attribute my academic success to simply the family genes. My motivation and discipline were inspired by a professor in the religion department: Mr. Walter Capps.

On numerous occasions, Walter Capps took the time to give me a number in one of his classes, advice and encouragement. I would get discouraged, I'd remember the words of my father: "If you work hard enough, anything can happen." I did not have the power of these words until I watched Walter Capps being elected to the California's 22nd congressional seat.

As our representative, Walter Capps expands his constituency to include the entire Central Coast. As a supporter of the environment, an advocate of reproductive choice and a believer in education, he will work to uphold the values that we all share. If you believe in positive changes in our community, then you will join me in supporting Walter Capps.

Pedal Safely!

Editor, Daily Nexus:

This letter is in response to recent letters to the editor regarding bicycle safety. I am a partially blind student who in recent years has seen an increasing number of students disregarding posted signs and instead riding their bikes on the sidewalks around campus.

Those of you doing this should really stop and think about what you're doing. Is it because you're lazy and don't want to walk and talk like you're supposed to be doing? Or is it because you really want to harm some innocent person using the sidewalk?

I realize that as students some of us can often be in a hurry where we need to be, but put your shoes in the life of a disabled person, especially those who are blind or in wheelchairs. It's not just about us, we have to worry about getting across the busy bicycle lanes and now we have to worry about bikes on the sidewalk.

I think a lot of students are aware of the potential for accidents, but they are too fast, or weaving in and out of crowded areas. They don't realize their bad habit and stop. But then, there are others who are totally ignorant and willing to risk it all. To those I say, when you are being selfish, show a lot of consideration for others and be sensitive to people less fortunate than you.

My hope in writing this letter is that I have at least raised your awareness. I know there are others who voice this concern as an activist, working diligently for bicycle reform on campus. Thank you for your support in the future.

Don't be a guest in the Santa Barbara County Jail. It won't be a fun weekend if you are arrested. You won't be in a comfortable situation — you will probably be cold, exhausted and hungry. It will be a long ordeal that simply is not worth whatever risks you may want to take during the Halloween party.

The noise ordinance will be strongly enforced. This means there will be no more warnings for violations of the Sunday to Thursday 10:00 p.m. and Friday and Saturday midnight deadline for noise. Citations will be given.

Alternative Events: The Rocky Horror Picture Show will be shown at the Events Center at midnight Saturday. The Nightmare Before Christmas will be shown at 10:00 p.m. Monday in Campbell Hall. Both shows are free.

The most important thing to remember during all this is to stay safe and don't be stupid. If you are confronted by any law enforcement officer, cooperate. Do not compound your problem by lying, giving false identification or running away. Regardless of how appealing these options may seem — they do not work. You will only make your problem much worse. Also, if your friend or anyone around you is suddenly questioned or in the process of being cited/arrested by authorities, do not interfere or ask any questions (such as "What are you doing?" "He/she hasn't done anything," etc.). This is interfering with justice and may result in your arrest.

Law enforcement agencies — the Sheriff's Department, Foot Patrol, UCSB Police and CHP — will be enforcing this no tolerance policy to the utmost extent of the law. They are doing so in hopes that soon the annual Halloween party will return to what it once was — a community event.

You have the right to expect professional judgment and behavior on the part of law enforcement. Should someone be concerned with any officer's actions, they should immediately contact the UCSB Police or Sheriff's Department. Those who have an encounter with law enforcement officials and do not feel they were dealt with in a proper and reasonable manner have the right to remedy and redress of their situation.

There is a traditional anti-authority attitude in our community, as there is in most college communities, especially when it comes to our annual Halloween party. Please, as I said earlier, don't be stupid. Regardless of what you may think of law enforcement and the various ordinances that affect us, protect yourself and be safe.

And when we've all finished partying, let's clean up our community. Show up at the I.V. Recreation and Park District office (across from Deja Vu) on Tuesday, Nov. 1, for a community cleanup between 10:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. Let's take charge of our community and our residents and make this a safe and fun Halloween for all! If you have any questions, feel free to contact me at 893-4988 or in the A.S. main office at 893-2566.

Is It Me Or...?

Matt Nelson

Do you think the ATM in "automated teller machines" should really stand for Any Time Machines?

I must admit, this is something that's been bugging me for awhile. You see, when I moved here last year, I came to visit the campus in advance as many are wont to do and realized that one of the many adjustments I would have to make is to change my bank. The one that I had been using was local and I needed something nice and convenient. Something that I could get money out of down here (at as many locations as possible) but still be accessible to Dad back home.

But as I was saying, I came and visited and found our wonderful UCen! Post office, coffee shop, travel agency, so many fun things! And I could see the promise of more things to come, by the giant erector sets and dust that permeated the building. All so glorious, but the best thing was, there were Wells Fargo ATMs right in the building.

Well, that settles it, right? How can I beat getting money any time I was on campus, quick and easy? I've also got two branches back in my hometown! It's all perfect, right?

Wrong.

What I had forgotten was that the stupid building doesn't stay open all night and the machines are inside. To get any money for dinner, I had to run and get there before 5:30. Then just about any other time I'd go, there'd always be a long line. More often than not, I'd find myself having to run over between classes, then wait in line for 15 minutes to get my 20 bucks and scam off to class. It's ridiculous.

But now there is hope, right? The UCen is finally finished, the mall is done and the problems of the ATM can be solved.

Wrong.

The place is finished and the stupid machines have made the incredible location improvement of 20 feet. Still inside the door and still hosting large lines. Then, to add insult to injury, Bank of America just put in two of its own ATMs by the Arbor. The agony of it all. I suppose somebody does have a plan for it all, though.

Time is money at ATM lines

You see, they realize everyone is going to need those Wells Fargo ATMs inside the building so they can spend their money at all the wonderful mall-like shops there. It's so convenient. But hey, a word of advice, stay away from Panda Express. They'll bleed you dry.

"The problem is that GTE has a monopoly since there is no other available phone book in the area," said Steve Rice, project coordinator.

Also, CALPIRG is concerned with the consequences of clear-cutting on the animal species inhabiting Clayoquot Sound, since timber wolves, otters, marbled murrelets and two species of whales make their homes there, according to Thompson. "Macmillan Bloedell has been charged with habitat destruction before," she said.

The phone company agrees improvement is needed in printing the books, according to Ben Parker, marketing analyst and GTE spokesperson. "GTE is aware and we are doing everything we possibly can to get recycled paper," he said.

The company has made some advancements, Parker said. "Twenty to 30 percent is on recycled paper," he said. "We plan that by 1998, that number will be up to 40 percent."

However, Parker notes that forests are not being cut down for pulp but rather for the wood to be used in products such as furniture.

Still, CALPIRG believes Macmillan Bloedell converts 98 percent of its timber into pulp for low-quality newsprint production.

Students interested in participating in the campaign can contact CALPIRG at 893-8319 or look for representatives in Storke Plaza from 10 a.m. to noon Wednesday.

"We're going to let everyone know what's going on so that they can comply," said acting Dean of Students Yonie Harris. "We've sent out hundreds of flyers. Red alert volunteers will be patrolling." Last year's 'no tolerance' law enforcement strategy, which drew several complaints of false arrest, came under heavy fire at the meeting.

"They arrested a guy for public drunkenness whose body was unable to process alcohol," said Brent Foster, a senior biology major, noting that it would have been impossible for the student to have been drinking.

Continued from p.5 the few UC campuses that managed to increase its private donations this year, Manzi said.

"I think there are so many different factors that affect private support, it depends on the individual environments of each campus," she said.

Although many of the multimillion-dollar gifts come in the form of computer software and real estate, about $10 million arrived as cash donations.

The increase in pledge dollars can be attributed to the intensified efforts of the Annual Fund staff and the generosity of alumni, according to Michael Mack, UCSB Annual Fund director.

"We just have excellent alumni who are spirited and want to give back to the school," he said. "I think the difference is the fact that we educate them on the importance of these donations."

The Annual Fund's effort is reflected in the 11 percent increase in pledge dollars to UCSB this year. The campus is second only to UCLA in pledge increases compared to last year, while all other UC schools saw a decline, Mack said.

"Since state support has gone down, we have to rely more on private donations," he said.

Zimmerman's motives in designating himself chair of the department are questionable, according to Miralle.

An independent auditor is scheduled to attend the meeting, Schmidt said. "It's to make sure [A.S. is] in compliance with IRS standards for a nonprofit organization," she said.

her department — one of six overseen by Weimann — has been smooth due to her close work with previous Assistant Vice Chancellor for Development Michael Vorhaus. "We each had distinctive jobs but when Michael was absent, I stepped in and assumed his position," she said. Manzi's experience in her prior job also helped the transition. "Having served as deputy director of development, I was prepared for this job," she added. Manzi does not foresee any difficulties with Weimann's performance or her own, despite being new to their positions. "We both have the advantage of already being here," she said. "We are familiar with who the players are. I don't feel I have to start from square one." She will continue with plans made last year. "We're looking to bring in more money and aiming to exceed last year's total," she said. "We're still finalizing all the goals."

trict Supervisor Bill Wallace. "The 'no tolerance' rule means that you won't be given any warnings," he said. "You will be given the maximum citation for any violation." More than 100 officers will patrol I.V. Friday through Monday night, according to Ornelas. "We'll have officers assigned from Del Playa to El Colegio," he said. For the extra manpower, the Sheriff's Dept. will call in officers from Santa Maria, Lompoc, Solvang and Carpinteria. The University Police Dept. will send in policemen from several UC campuses, including San Diego, Irvine, Riverside and Los Angeles, Ornelas said. In addition, the California Highway Patrol will set up a sobriety checkpoint Friday at an undisclosed location, according to traffic Officer Jackie Leeth. "When they know there's going to be one [checkpoint] out there, it may make people think twice before drinking and driving," he said. "Our goal is to not get anybody ... if we don't catch anyone, we've done our job." However, the turnout of visiting revelers will be the ultimate measure of the police strategy's effectiveness, Ornelas said. "We'll find out this weekend if the crowds are smaller," he said. "Then we'll know if 'no tolerance' is working." Officials hope for a peaceful observance of Halloween. "This year, we're hoping everything will go smoothly," Buttny said. "We're asking that [residents] be aware of policies in place and cooperate with law enforcement officials."

tradition. You go to Freebird's or Woodstock's to hang out and see people. I can't see the food court really taking too much business away from Isla Vista," said Collin Regan, a sophomore chemistry major.

Bruin Spikers Blow Past SB in Fourth

Gauchos' Whole-Hearted Effort Can't Hold #4-Ranked Bruins in Four-Game

By Jenny Kok
Staff Writer

The score was 14-9 in favor of the UCSB women's volleyball team. UCLA was up two games to one. All the Gauchos needed was one point, but Bruin blocking and hitting stepped up and said, "Not this time!"

In what could go down as the biggest heartbreaker of the season for the #8 Gauchos (19-3 overall, 8-1 in the Big West), the favored #4 Bruins (21-2, 10-1 in the Pac 10) pulled out a tough four-game match last night at Pauley Pavilion, 10-15, 15-10, 5-15, 14-16.

Nobody expected the Gauchos to blindsides the Bruins, but everyone, including UCLA, knew it could be a tight match. With an ailing setter, UCSB knew its biggest chance at winning against its heavy-hitting opponent was to play an all-heart game.

Struggling with a painful Achilles' tendon injury, UCSB senior setter Chrissy Boehle put it all behind her and led the team through one of its best performances this year, despite the loss.

Santa Barbara kept it close the first game of the match despite never taking the lead.

Both teams made game two a tight match until Boehle came to serve with the score at 9-10 in favor of the Bruins. Outside hitter Heather Collins tied the game with a rocket down the line, and Kim Keys followed Collins' example by showing some power of her own, claiming the lead for the Gauchos, 11-10.

After two quick side-outs, Collins delivered with a service ace, her 30th of the season, and middle blocker Shirley Aboyme and Keys put up a wall, three walls to be exact, enabling the Gauchos to take the second game.

Game three belonged to the Bruins as UCSB struggled during the entire 5-15 loss. UCLA's Annett Buckner, a candidate for national player of the year in 1993, showed no mercy as she and teammates Kim Krull, Alyson Randick and Kelly Flannigan took offensive and defensive control of the game and quickly put the Gauchos out of their misery.

Game four started strong for UCSB as the Bruins committed several service errors and a few key hitting mistakes. With those missteps and a spark from the Gaucho bench from Shannan Meixsell,

Santa Barbara looked as if it was going to push the match to five games, but UCLA would not allow it.

Giving up a 14-9 lead that could have meant a huge win couldn't have been easy for UCSB. The Gauchos, with the exception of a brilliant effort by Meixsell, got a little too predictable towards the end of the match. Against a team like UCLA, predictability means a loss.

Buckner led the Bruin offense with a match high of 21 kills while doing her share defensively, totaling 10 digs. Krull pounded out 10 kills and grabbed 11 digs on the evening.

For the Gauchos, Collins led the attack with 19 kills while also making 15 digs. Keys added 16 kills, and despite her injury, Boehle put out a strong effort setting for Santa Barbara, totalling 55 assists.

Women's Soccer Takes on LMU Hoping to Find Winning Recipe for a Successful Season Ending

With three ties in its last four games, the UCSB women's soccer team is searching for a much-needed victory.

When the Loyola Marymount Lions (2-11-2) arrive at Harder Stadium for today's 2:30 p.m. matchup, the Gauchos (4-7-3) have a great opportunity to earn that win.

"We have to keep our heads up and keep battling forward," UCSB Head Coach Tad Bobak said. "We need to dig in for a victory to be closer to a .500 situation."

In four recent contests, Santa Barbara has tied UC Irvine 2-2 and Cal State Fullerton 1-1, lost to St. Mary's 1-4 and tied Cal Berkeley 0-0.

Sunday against Irvine, Bobak used a new formation for the Gaucho lineup that seemed to result in more scoring opportunities. The switch involved moving defender Adrian Alshin and midfielder Julie Harris up to forward positions. Although Harris suffered a knee injury against Irvine, Bobak will still put the revamped lineup against Loyola. The team will welcome the return of midfielder Rachel Romano, who missed the UCI game due to a family member's illness.

While Harris was unable to play in the second half of the Irvine match, midfielder Julene Peña was able to play the entire game, including both overtime periods. Peña is working her way back from a broken leg.

"She really needs to solidify herself mentally as she's coming back and let the small things that her body doesn't allow her to do be overcome by her mind," Bobak said.

The Lions have had a rough year since opening the season impressively by tying USC and beating Santa Clara. LMU's only other victory came against Sacramento State on Oct. 9.

Loyola's offense is led by Yvonne Dalton (four goals), Heather Farr (three goals, two assists) and Judy Petix (two goals, three assists). Their attack has produced only .88 goal per game while their defense is allowing 2.31 points per contest.

The Gauchos' hot foot belongs to senior defender Kristen Borland, who has scored in the team's last two games. Forward Renee France leads the team with five goals.

"We need to score and win, basically, just put the ball in the back of the net," senior defender Kris Bassler said.

Men's Tennis Program Gets Set for New Year at Fresno State's 'Shakedown' Tourny

With a new season starting in January, the Gaucho men's tennis team looked to get in some practice strokes last weekend at Fresno State.

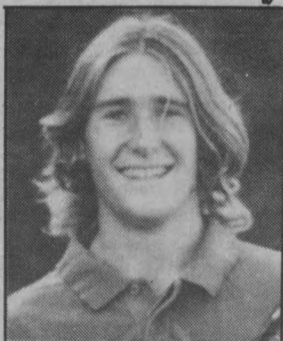

Labeled a "shakedown" tournament by UCSB Head Coach Don Lowry, it was an opportunity for coaches to review the field and for the players to work out their kinks.

"The tournament opened up our eyes and helped us get back on track," Lowry said. "Our focus still needs to be more precise."

Players at the three-day event did not represent their schools, only themselves. Team members who competed in the tournament had to pay their own expenses. The Gauchos sent eight of their 12 men to the sweltering heat of Fresno.

Alex Decret, a freshman blue-chip sensation, did not go, however. Ranked among the top 32 college players in the nation, he competed in Austin, Texas, a few weeks ago at the All-America Hardcourts and survived four rounds of play by beating four top 40-ranked players.

Besides Decret, another big gun, John

Simon Kurth

Bowerbank, was also absent from the field.

"We played flat and loose tennis," Lowry said. "The team needed a wake-up call before the upcoming events."

The players have their sights set on the Rolex Regional at UC Irvine this weekend. To prepare, the team will undergo rigorous cardiovascular and strength training twice a day until the season starts.

According to the coaches' poll, UCSB is ranked only in the top 50 schools nationwide, a figure that Lowry calls "insulting." The same Gaucho group that finished third in conference last year is back for the new season's attack.

Although no UCSB player made it past the second round in Fresno, expectations are high for the Rolex tournament.

"This was the calm before the storm in Irvine," said doubles player Simon Kurth, recapping the weekend.
