NO ONE YET FOUND TO FILL VACANCY LEFT BY RESIGNATION OF COACH

High School Mentor Denies He Has Been Asked to Fill Open Position

No developments in securing a new coach to replace O. J. Gilliland, who resigned a week ago yesterday, took place this week. President Phelps stated Wednesday that the coast is being scoured to obtain the best possible mentor for Roadrunner athletics next year.

Coach Gilliland will remain at Santa Barbara State in the future as a science instructor, teaching botany and zoology. He will continue his coaching activities here for the remainder of the year.

That attempts to obtain Clarence Schutte, coach of the Santa Barbara High School, as Roadrunner mentor is rumored about the campus. Schutte, however, denies that he has been asked to assume the position.

"No one has asked me, and I have asked no one on the hill," the prep school coach explained. "I am pretty well satisfied with my position at the high school." Whether or not Schutte would consider the college position is uncertain.

According to President Phelps, the salary to be paid the athletic instructor next year will be practically the same as paid this year.

Gilliland Raises Local Athletics

Coach Gilliland came to the local campus four years ago from the Lompoc High School. Upon assuming his duties, "Casey" found the Roadrunner sports in a deplorable condition. He organized athletics immediately, and, after four years of steady development, placed the Roadrunner athlete on the Southern California sport map.

During his first year of coaching he was forced to confine his schedule to high school competition, which he partially obliterated the following year by adding several college teams to the schedules. Since then the Roadrunner has been playing purely college teams.

During his coaching the Santa Barbara State football teams have been mediocre, but the other three major sports have been highly successful.

"Casey" is well known for his ability to bring strong athletes to the local institution, and his resignation leaves this aspect a difficult one to fill.

Art Class Displays Work

Exhibits of free hand drawings of views of various angles of the college building, grounds and vicinity are being displayed in the corridors this week. The drawings are the work of the free hand drawing class under Mrs. Crosswell.

Pep Committee Formulates Plans for "Bible"

Plans for the "Frosh Bible," the Student Body handbook of next year, were completed at a meeting of the Pep Committee held Tuesday. The new book will be much more complete than those previously published.

The "Bible" will be increased to an eighty page book instead of the fifty page size of this year. Illustrations will be added. It is planned to publish views of the campus, as well as pictures of the principal officers of next year.

An added feature of the "Bible" will be "Helpful Hints," written with style and explaining the location of the various campus institutions. This feature is planned for the newcomers especially.

Ideas for the editing of the handbook were obtained from the Pomona and University of California handbooks.

Alumni Wed Sunday

Elsie Douglass, '25, was married to Howard A. Sperber, former student here also, last Sunday. Both are residents of Lompoc, and they came to Santa Barbara to be married.

Mrs. Sperber was well-known while a student here. Entering from the University of California in her third year, Mrs. Sperber completed her General Professional work here, obtaining the Certificate last August.

Two Fail to Petition

There are several students in the college who have not yet petitioned to change their departments as was announced in The Eagle last week. At the request of Miss Severy, head of the credentials committee, the names of these students are being published. They are Elizabeth Jordan and Norma Perry.

Constitution Examination

An examination on the United States Constitution will be given at the court house tomorrow at 10 a.m. Anyone is eligible to take the examination. Two units of college credit will be given if the examination is passed.

Academic and Vocation Instructors Both Needed, States Columbia Dean

"With both the academic and vocational types of mind of a teaching staff it is extremely difficult to foretell an earthquake among them," declared James Earle Russell, dean of the Teachers' College of the Columbia University, who addressed the students Wednesday afternoon in the College court.

The academic teacher is interested primarily in elaborating and beautifying his special subject whereas the vocational or professional type of teacher is concerned with what use the student can make of the subject.

Students Are Invited to Mountain Resort Next Week

An invitation was extended to the students of the college early this week by Mrs. Lucy Sexton of Goleta, who recently donated Foster Glen Park on the San Marcos Road to the county, to visit the park during the Easter vacation next week.

The park is one of the most beautiful locations on the pass, and it is especially beautiful at this time of the year, with all the wild flowers in bloom. According to Mrs. Sexton, who is familiar with the surrounding country, having purchased the land from the government many years ago, the scenery during the next week at the park will never be as beautiful again during the year.

The caretaker at this mountain resort has just cleaned out all the trails which lead into the many corners of the park, some of which lead to Painted Cave and the Santa Ynez River. The caretaker will be at the park all next week to show the students around the grounds and to afford them every convenience possible during their stay at the camp, whether it be for one day or several.

If the students care to stay several days, Mrs. Sexton has consented to allow them the use of her private cabin and all of its conveniences, including stoves, beds, etc.

The park is located at the head of a valley which the San Marcos Pass Road leads up through on this side of the mountains. Consequently, the view of the Goleta Valley below as seen through the length of the valley has enticed many artists to the resort.

As was announced by Oran Booth this week, it would be practically impossible for the Outing Club to make the trip during vacation, because many of the students would be at their homes. If a group of students would care to make the trip, however, the Goleta bus can be secured to take them to the park and back for $1.25 each, but if there are more than twelve members in the party, the bus can be secured for $1.00 per person.

Eight Colleges To Enter Annual Meet Tomorrow at Stadium

Sprints to be Fastest Ever Seen in Santa Barbara, According to Dope from San Jose and Cal Christian

The third annual invitational track meet will be held tomorrow at Peabody stadium at 2:00 p.m. This year's invitational promises to be the biggest one yet held by the local college. Since the invitational meet is always the biggest event of the athletic year for the college, this meet should be well worth seeing.

The medals to be awarded winners of the first three places in each of the events of the meet are now on hand. They will be given out at the meet, because the track dance, at which they are usually awarded, has been called off this year due to conflict with the Easter vacation, which starts today.

There will be eight entered. Those who have sent in acceptance are San Jose State, La Verne College, Cal Poly, Santa Ana Junior College, Ventura Junior College, Cal Christian College and Pasadena Junior College.

Last year Santa Barbara followed the usual custom and walked off with the meet with a score of 99 points against 28 made by the nearest competitor, Santa Ana, and the team is expected to repeat its performance this year. Last year the 28 points made by Santa Ana were amassed by two men, Weber and Vawter, who nearly came to this college this year. These men, however, are ineligible to represent Santa Ana this year.

Bakersfield Also Coming

The latest reports from Bakersfield show that the valley Junior College is also entering the meet with six men. La Verne is entering ten men; Pasadena, nineteen; Ventura J. C., five; Cal Christian fifteen and San Jose, nineteen. San Jose is bringing down the same team that won the state championship of state colleges and junior colleges last year. The Spartans promise to be the most formidable opponents in tomorrow's meet.

Santa Maria is not entering the meet.

Delinquents of the Health Benefit Association Receive Warning

Students who asked for an extension of time in paying their Health Benefit dues and who have not paid by noon today will not be taken into the association at a later date. Those who paid part of the dues must pay the remaining amount by noon today. Students who go to the hospital to receive aid must present membership cards.

It is suggested that all students who are members of the association carefully read the rules concerning the administration of the fund as given on the card.

Play Copies for College Night in Library

Twenty-five copies of Gammer Gurton's Needle, the play to be given by the college students in the court College Night, have been ordered by Colin Clements for the play tryouts and are available in the college library.

Gammer Gurton's Needle was chosen for the annual college get-together to be held near the end of the year because it was considered particularly adaptable to the setting. It is one of the first plays ever written.

Class Inspects Samarkand Kitchen Equipment

With the permission of the manager of Hotel Samarkand the Institutional Management class was allowed to survey the kitchens, pantries, and dining rooms of the institution. Different members of the staff took the group through each, giving information as to arrangement and use of rooms and fixtures. Seven women made the visit.

Cafeteria Plans Sale of Ice Cream after Vacation

In response to a demand of the students, the cafeteria is planning to have ice-cream on sale at all times during the day. This service is planned to begin immediately after the Easter vacation, according to Miss Churchill, manager of the cafeteria.

Need of Professional Art Instructors Stressed

Mr. A. B. Clark, head of the Art Department of Stanford University and President of the Pacific Arts Association, stressed the value of professionally trained artists in the faculty to teach art. Mrs. Crosswell informed the association that Santa Barbara had been so composing its faculty for some time. The local college includes in its art faculty a professional textile designer, a commercial artist, an Italian sculptor, and a landscape artist of wide repute.

Leland Gammill, '29, is a new member on the Pep Committee, according to a recent announcement by Warren Atwood, chairman of the committee.

LEST WE FORGET

The regime of Coach Gilliland in the history of athletics in this college is drawing to a close. It is marked with many ups and downs; but the outstanding achievement of the period, the accomplishment that will be associated with the name of O. J. Gilliland in the minds of the students when they look back upon the college from some distant location, is the placing of athletics upon a firm foundation and the development of athletic recognition in the Santa Barbara State College.

Prior to Mr. Gilliland's mentorship, there were athletics in the college, but all one could say of them was that they existed. During his period as Physical Education Director, Mr. Gilliland has been a devoted worker for the development of athletics in spite of numerous handicaps of student sentiment and external criticism. From a very poorly organized situation in men's athletics, there has arisen a state-wide recognition of the college in athletic circles.

Within the lapse of two or three years the college teams have emerged from the prep school class to a state of ascendancy that any college twice our size would be proud to claim. Mr. Gilliland has been instrumental in enlisting in the Roadrunner teams athletes of the real stuff. It is true that the football teams have not made enviable records against the superior competition during the past two years, but that same competition has not proved superior in any other of the major sports during the development of the past few years.

Every coach is criticized. He gets the blame when his teams lose, and the teams get the blame when they win. Prep school provincialism has been marked in the college for a long time, and resulting sentiments cannot be entirely suppressed. A change of coaches at the college has been cried for by a majority of the students, but, as Dr. Ellison would term it, they are "shooting the organist who is doing the best he can."

IN DEFENSE OF PHI CHI ALPHA

The inclusion of the Phi Chi Alpha sorority with the other Greek letter societies on the campus in rating the grade averages of the organizations has been looked upon with disfavor by the other societies; because it is well known that a majority of the members of that sorority are majoring in art, a subject that is graded largely upon a basis of talent which cannot fairly be rated with subjects taken in other departments, so the objectors remark.

The art students are taking up art work because they like it. At least, that is a fair assumption. Students in other societies, and subsequently in other departments, are also majoring in work they like to a large extent. Of course art does require talent, but other subjects require aptitudes correspondingly important. We don't believe a student would take up a major not suited to his special complex if he had his own decision in the matter as most students have. Hence any student majoring in anything may be said to have an advantage.

The objection that the sorority sponsor is also instructor in many classes of the members is also raised. Partiality would be a natural suspicion, but disinterested students who have been in the classes will assert that such a trend is far from fact.

When a group excels in anything, a reason for the excelling is always looked for. Furthermore, it is human nature to take delight in finding coincidences. Since several coincidences have occurred in the rating of the Phi Chi Alpha sorority, two of which have been mentioned, it is natural to attempt an explanation. The real explanation of the high scholarship average in the sorority is the deep interest that the members hold for the scholarship standing of the group. Meetings are often held to discuss means for improving the grades of the members.

Since scholarship is a primary purpose for organization of a Greek letter society, Phi Chi Alpha should be respected for the success of its efforts.

STUDENT OPINION

This column is conducted by The Eagle for the benefit of the students. All letters are requested to be as brief as possible. They must contain the name of the writer, although it will be suppressed if desired. Place communications in The Eagle box. The Eagle will assume no responsibility for views published.

Dear Editor:

In our opinion "Just a Little Drink" would be established as Santa Barbara State's own particular song and no one would object to its appropriateness. It is an undeniable fact that drinks here at the college are most difficult to obtain, even though all that is demanded is 100 per cent pure water.

With the hot days coming, we girls—I speak for the gentler sex—don't know just what we are going to do, for one fountain repels us with diphtheria germs, and the other frightens us away by the lack of sympathy and civility which characterizes that dormant geyser. If we want a drink, therefore, and are loath to expose ourselves to the maliciousness of the main corridor fountains, we must either trot meekly out to the gymnasium and there risk the wrath of the student teachers upon interrupting their pedagogical pursuits, or else trudge upstairs to the art room and there slake our thirst.

We girls feel that the boys will stand with us in a body in the demand that our drinking fountains be tamed and the germs pried off. If the powers behind these two faults were evenly divided perhaps a happy means would be obtained. As it is, the climb up the hill "drives us to drink," so to speak, and there we remain.

An additional improvement which would be greatly appreciated by the girls would be the institution of a drinking fountain in the Women's Club room; or perhaps we would be satisfied with merely a compartment for paper cups.

Summer is here, and the need is pressing. We beg for more oases in our educational desert.

One of many,
Hazel Scolari.

Dear Mr. Editor:

I was under the impression that the word fad always held connection with the female sex, and that an infringement on their right to monopolize this word was rather a serious offense, but it seems to me that some of our college men have taken it upon themselves either to borrow or steal away the right.

It will be noticed that a few of our prominent athletes have started to cultivate a growth of hair upon their upper lip. This is a fad as I see it. Now the burning question is: Are they trying to beautify their personal makeup or are they trying to prove the old theory that only a man can have a mustache. Personally, I believe the former to hold, because one can only notice the difference in their makeup at very close range. I have seen some of the would-be mustache cultivators quite annoyed when a misguided razor took away an extra hair from one side, leaving an odd number on the other.

Now, in justice to those who are raising real mustaches and to eliminate those who are painfully cultivating them, the sum of one dollar is going to the one who has the best looking would-be mustache by the time Easter vacation is over. Go to it, fellows! I'm betting on the winner, so I guess you all know who I am.

Elementary School Column

By the Children of the Sixth Grade

In the upper grades of the Elementary School we have organized self government with a council. We are trying to stop so much talking in school hours. So we have a box of little slips of paper in it. When anyone talks the teacher puts the child's name in the box. Then at the end of the week the President collects the slips. The council decides their punishment.

We have a citizenship book, too. When the children are reported the first time, they write what class they talked in and that they won't do it anymore. The second time they are reported they lose one of their art of shop periods.

Every Tuesday and Friday two children have to stay a little while and clean up the shop. Otherwise the janitors will have to do it, and they are very busy most of the time.

A few days ago in the upper grades we elected our new Student Body officers who will serve for the rest of the semester. They are as follows: Wilbur Gilliland, president; Ralph Shrader, vice-president; Betty Thompson, secretary; Alice Schott, treasurer; Harold Fulkerson, athletic manager; Warren Fenzi, chairman of the shop committee; Phyllis Badger, chairman of the room committee; Barbara Shurmeier, chairman of the assembly committee; June Vance, chairman of the library committee and Marva Humphreys, chairman of the grounds committee.

The Elementary School entered a large number of things in the Hobby Show. We were glad when we found nine prizes and three honorable mentions. We got two on the boats we made in shop period and one on a stamp collection. The other prizes came from the girls whom Mrs. Lyans teaches.

The Hobby Show was very nice. There were so many kinds of things that I could not tell you all of them. You missed a great thing when you did not go to the Hobby Show.

Exhibition by Local Art Department Receives High Commendation of Visitors

Art exhibits from the college displayed in the Pacific Arts Association Exhibition held at Exposition Park last week by Mrs. Croswell received high commendation from visitors of the exhibit, according to a report by the head of the local Art Department.

Recognition of the Art Department of the college was given through the appointment of Mrs. Croswell as one of three new members on the council of the association. Mrs. Croswell also gave a paper in the college section on the Technical Training in College Art Departments.

As a result of the recommendations suggested in this paper, several committees were appointed to investigate and develop means of improving conditions. Mrs. Croswell was made a committee of one to investigate duplication of college art courses and to see wherein time might be saved for the student.

Pledge Party

Pledges of the Tau Gamma Sigma Sorority entertained the members with a progressive dinner last Monday night. A feeling of mystery was present the entire evening as to just what would happen next.

Barbara Dewlaney, '25, and Madeline Klinke, '25, charter members of the sorority, were also guests of the pledges. The pledges who entertained were Rosamond Martin, Mary Jane Haney, Frances Reese, Esther Hawley, Margaret West and Grace Coffin.

Four pledges of the Sigma Alpha Kappa Fraternity spoiled their whole afternoon last Wednesday by shining shoes in the corridor Wednesday noon. No, the pledges were successful enough in bringing out a good polish, especially as "Spud" Sawyers who monopolized the business, but they felt like round pegs in square holes—going to college when bootblacking is their calling. The pledges were Henry Batchelder, Hubert Sawyers, Keith Gunn and Ted Marshall.

Summer European Tours Planned by Student Federation

Undergraduates who contemplate a trip abroad next summer will for the first time be offered the opportunity to travel in parties for which European students will act as hosts and guides, under a new system of tours, conducted under the joint auspices of the undergraduate organizations of America and Europe, according to a recent dispatch from the National Student Federation of America recently formed at Princeton.

Parties of twelve to fourteen students will travel under the direction of a leader carefully picked by the administration. A choice of twelve routes is offered, each to consume, roughly, three months, and to cost between $500 and $700.

The radical departure from the time-worn method of "doing Europe" lies in the fact that almost without exception European students will accompany the travelers and familiarize them with the details of the country.

Full details of the tours are in the hands of the National Student Federation. The tours are open both to men and women. Application to enroll as a member of one of the parties must be made before June 1 to permit necessary adjustments.

Alumna Will Appear in Redlands Chorus

The Philomela Chorus, composed of a number of women from the University of Redlands, will give a concert at the Presbyterian Church tomorrow evening at 8 p.m. Lois Pearson, who graduated from the Junior College Department of the college last year, is a member of the chorus.

Solos, instrumental and chorus numbers, and readings will compose the entertainment of the evening.

Annual Party Observed by Sorority Friday

The regular sorority formal of the year was held by the Phi Kappa Gamma at the home of Grace Miksch and Mildred Sample last Friday night in honor of the pledges of that sorority.

The pledges were Josephine Black, Winifred Pollard, Edwina Kenny, Alfaretta Keating and Genevieve Moore. Members of the sorority and friends attended.

Dancing, Eating Tie for Honors at Music Festival

Dancing and eating tied for honors at the party held by the music students of the college last Saturday evening in the gymnasium and the Music Bungalow. Following two hours of dancing in the gymnasium, the students serpentine up to the Music Bungalow where they were served with refreshments.

Among the features of the evening was a vocal solo by Richard Proud of Glee Club fame and several piano numbers by other members of the party. About fifty students attended the affair.

State Physical Ed Plans Courses to Benefit in Later Life—Van Hagen

Games and exercises to develop greater physical and nervous control and to aid the individual with physical diversions that will be of benefit in later life is the present course of study being developed by the state physical education department, according to an address to the students in assembly last Monday by Miss Van Hagen, assistant state supervisor of physical education.

The department is at present developing a program of games and other athletic activities which the adult may use to advantage. Since correct use of leisure time is essential to general well being, according to the supervisor, exercises that will be of use to the student in later life should be emphasized.

Local Publisher Addresses Economics Class

"Making money" was the subject of an address by C. A. Storke, local publisher and member of the State Board of Education, who spoke to Dr. Ellison's fourth hour economics class Wednesday.

Mr. Storke explained the United States Federal Reserve System and some current injustices in the wage system, illustrating his talk by episodes from his own experiences.

Mrs. Florence Rabb of Santa Maria addressed the assembled A.W.S. in the college gymnasium Tuesday morning at regular assembly hour. Mrs. Rabb had for her subject "Friendship," and she spoke most entertainingly to the women concerning subjects of actual interest to all of the college women. After the talk, President Janssens took the chair for a few minutes while an amendment to the A.W.S. constitution was passed providing for the previous election of the officers of the organization, a need called forth by the request of the Southern Convention that next year's as well as this year's President be present in Los Angeles at the convention dates.

Annual Invitational Meet at High School Tomorrow

The Roadrunners stand strong in the weights, sprints, high jump, pole vault, and broad jump. Annin was the best bet in the hammer until Anderson stepped into the ring in practice last week and passed "Tiny" by feet. At any rate, Annin has some competition now to shove him to a real mark in that event this year.

The Pomona Frosh meet showed that the Olive and White has a team that can account for a large number of points. If Anderson holds up to his regular form he is good for about 23 points tomorrow. "Bus" Heggie ought to hit his stride and cop the broad jump. Anderson, Vince and Fong ought to be good for the high jump.

Morehead, Greenough, and Treloar will represent us in the pole vault. The distances will be taken care of by Linder, Nicklin, and Sheesley. In the sprints we have O'Reilly, Heggie and Treloar. Vandam will run the 880.

San Jose State comes down this year with some of the best sprinters on the coast. Our nearest competitor in the weights is Cal Christian. Santa Ana, it will be remembered, ran wild in the hurdles, 880, mile, and two-mile last year.

Baseball and Spring Grid Practice Double to Make Possible Enough Credits

Baseball will double up this year with spring football practice in order to give the participants the required number of times out. This is made possible by the extremely short baseball schedule due to lack of funds for that sport.

The baseball schedule is made up of four games, including the U. S. C. Frosh, Cal Poly, Cal Christian and Loyola.

Phelps Speaks to Hi School On Choice of College

"Choosing a College" was the subject of an address to the high school students by President Phelps last Monday. In his address the president enlarged upon the three features the students expect from the college as outlined by the president in The Eagle a short time ago.

Before choosing a college, according to President Phelps, the student should consider as well as the academic and cultural studies, certain fields of practical work that would be of benefit to the student immediately upon graduation from the college.

The third consideration to be born in mind, stated the president is that of putting into practice the first two features as far as possible inside the college through organizations and extra-curricular activities, or outside in some practical field that the student is considering.

Women Begin Baseball

The first women's baseball practice of the season took place at 4:15 p.m. Wednesday. A large number turned out, making baseball enthusiasts look forward to a successful season.

The Men's Glee Club sang a few selections before the Community Chest Committee at Recreation Center yesterday noon at luncheon. According to reports, the concert was well taken.
