GRADUATION DANCE TO TAKE PLACE, HOTEL SAMARKAND TONIGHT

Annual Senior Semi-Formal To Be Started Tonight With Grand March at 8:30

Tonight at the Samarkand ballroom the annual Senior Prom will take place. The grand march starts at 8:30 p.m., dancing beginning at 9 o'clock. The affair will be semi-formal.

The presence of alumni of the College is urged, and arrangements to make possible their attendance are being handled by the Social committee. No features are planned for the dance. Janssens' Seven-Piece orchestra will play.

A grand march will commence at 8:30 o'clock, dancing commencing at 9 p.m. The march will be headed by four couples, Henry Batchelder as president of the Student Body, Eleanor Warren as A. W. S. head and Keith Gunn as Men's club president, and Marian Hauan as chairman of the social committee. Each will be accompanied by their escort. The faculty and students will follow.

Seniors To Wear Cap, Gown On Campus During Last Week

Seniors receiving degrees will appear on the campus all next week in cap and gown, according to a request made by the administration this week and following custom of past years.

Seniors will be excused from classes Tuesday afternoon for the remainder of the week, except those who have to practice teaching courses necessitating them to remain until Thursday afternoon. All students will attend classes regularly until time of commencement on Thursday afternoon.

Compulsory attendance at the commencement exercises will be enforced by the administration, those failing to be present being punished by withholding their grades unless adequate explanation is given. Meetings of classes will take place at 3:45 o'clock to check attendance, report of absentees being made to the registrar, who will be instructed to withhold grades.

As classes are dismissed one day early instead of on Friday, as heretofore, the administration feels that it is the duty of all students to attend commencement, as the speaker, Will John Cooper, state superintendent of public instruction, will largely form an opinion of Santa Barbara state from the appearance made at the exercises.

New Student Officers To Be Installed Next Tuesday

Installation of the new student body officials for next year will take place next Tuesday morning at the last student meeting of the year. Speeches will be given by some, mainly by the new president, Keith Gunn.

Meritorious awards to the outgoing officers will be made at the meeting. The men will receive watch fobs, on which is inscribed "Council" and a College seal with a gavel. The women will receive pins of the same order.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES TO BE HELD THURSDAY; MANY GRADUATE

Seventy-four students will graduate next Thursday at 4 o'clock in the college court at the annual June commencement. Hon. William John Cooper, state superintendent of public instruction, will deliver the address. The public is invited.

After a processional, including the faculty and the graduates, Mr. Cooper will speak, and will be followed by the awarding of the certificates and conferring of the degrees.

The entire student body will be present. The faculty will be seated on the stage and the graduates between the steps and the pond. The undergraduates will sit on each side of the pool.

Nineteen students will be awarded junior college certificates, thirteen will receive A. B. degrees in home economics, seven will receive A. B. degrees in industrial education, and nine will receive elementary certificates in general professional work, three will be awarded in institutional management, and four will receive A. B. degrees in general professional.

LA CUMBRE TO APPEAR ON CAMPUS MONDAY; PICTURES TO FEATURE

After months of labor which never relaxed one moment, the staff of the La Cumbre announces the completion of the college year book, making its appearance on the campus Monday. At that time, those holding two student body membership cards may get a copy of the book. Those having only one card, may get a La Cumbre with an additional two dollars, otherwise the books are $4.00.

"The staff as a whole," stated Elizabeth Campbell, editor of the La Cumbre, "was excellent in its support and co-operation. We have tried to make the book as much of a picture book as possible. There are many surprise features, a point which makes us confident that the students will enjoy our work."

GLEE CLUB OPERETTA TO FEATURE COLLEGE NIGHT NEXT TUESDAY

Proceeds from Event to Go to Faculty Fund for Assistance of Students

As one of the features of commencement week, the annual College Night will take place next Tuesday night in the Quad. The "American Girl," the Women's Glee club operetta, will be given as the feature of the evening. Proceeds will go to the faculty scholarship fund.

A new method of presenting the traditional college roll call will be carried out under the direction of Dean Ashworth, the Men's Glee club singing college songs of the western universities and the graduates of each represented college joining in the singing of their song. This system will replace the old method of roll call of the names of the colleges, relying upon a response from the audience.

Individual songs will be sung from the coast universities, those being California, Stanford, Southern California, and possibly Pomona College. A medley of other college bleacher songs, such as from eastern universities, will be sung. Sign pennants of the colleges to be represented are being made in order to identify the college.

Dancing in the corridors following the presentation of the "American Girl" will take place. Greenough's orchestra will play for the dancing.

The program will open at 8:15 with the college roll call and the singing of the college songs, followed by the operetta. Decoration in the court will harmonize with the school ground setting of the operetta. Pennants, lanterns, and colored flood lights and streamers will make up the court decorations.

The executive committee of College Night consists of Mrs. Barnett, Miss Severy, Mrs. Miller, and Dean Ashworth. The Pep committee has charge of advertising, Estelle Nelson co-operating as the representative of the Women's Glee club. Social activities, such as the dancing, as under the direction of Dean Pyle and the Social committee. Mrs. Crosswell heads the committee on court decorations.

Glee Club Operetta Cast Holds Final Rehearsals for College Night Production

The cast of the "American Girl," the Women's Glee club operetta to be given as a feature of College Night, has been rehearsing steadily on the production. Twenty-four members are in the play.

Dress rehearsal was held Monday night at the home of Mrs. Barnett, director. The play is reported to be a lively and catching comedy, colorful costumes contributing largely to the performance. There are two acts.

The stage decorations are under the charge of Rosamond Martin.

TO HOLD PARTY

Tau Omega will hold an informal mixed party tomorrow night at the home of Franklin Anderson. Officers for the new year will be elected at the time.

CONFERENCE OF I. E. MEN IS PLANNED HERE

State college will be the scene of a conference on Saturday, July 30, headed by Mr. Ericson, to discuss problems of industrial education. About 200 are expected to attend.

The conference will be in connection with a visit here of Professor Charles A. Bennett of the Bradley Polytechnic Institute, who will conduct several courses in industrial education during the summer session.

Morning and afternoon sessions will be held on the campus, followed by a dinner at El Paseo.

Supervisors and directors of California, junior and high schools will attend. Will John Cooper, state superintendent of education; John C. Berwick, state supervisor of industrial education, and Nicholas Ricciardi, state commissioner of vocational education, will be present and will speak on industrial education.

Rally Held Last Night to Advertise College Night

A theater rally to advertise College Night was held last night at the Granada theater at 9 o'clock. A serpentine was held in the aisles of the theater between the two shows, and songs and yells were given.

Members of the Women's Glee club also presented several selections from the operetta, the "American Girl." A notice of the coming event was flashed on the screen.

Reception To Be Given by President for Graduates

President and Mrs. Phelps will give their annual reception for the faculty and graduating students in the College court next Monday evening at 8:30.

Mrs. Crowell, Miss Severy, Miss Frye, and Miss Rogers will assist the host and hostess in the evening's entertainment. The reception is given in honor of the graduating students.

Paragraphs--

WALTER SCHOTT, AS A RESULT OF HIS EXPERIENCES WHILE ON A BOAT LAST WEEK-END, WILL NOW START THE WELL PUMPING BY SINGING THAT FAMOUS OUT-ING CLUB ANTHEM, "THE RETURNING SWALLOWS." A LARGE TURN-OUT IS EXPECTED. SCHOTT POSSESSES A DEEP FATEFUL VOICE.

As a special feature of the Commencement day program, the Out-ing club will sing a few of their favorite sea songs aboard the Freshman Gondola. As the boat gently sways over the pond, flood lights will play on the fish as they bob in and out of the water. Their gay pirate costumes will add further to the color of their act.

Doctor Ellison has a new one for the thinking public. Since Doc is now the proud owner of a brand new cow, he is selling a nice fresh glass of milk and a ride in his Ford for 10c. He calls it a milk shake. This will be a saving of five cents, but which he collects in bluebooks.

It's a good thing Memorial day doesn't come around oftener, else we'd all be sporting out in knickers. We wonder what cemetery Ben Margolis visited.

In fact, they've painted the pond green. Perhaps that's an asset for the sophomores next year. When they capture a dozen or so freshies they can dump them in the pond and no one will even know that they were in there,—and we won't miss them.

I don't know why we have to start vacation by taking those pesky exams. However, I have a little suggestion: Now I lay me down to sleep My brains no more to cram and squeak If I should die before I wake Thank God, my ex's—I won't take.

Franklin Anderson is another lover of Bakersfield "wild poppies." It's a good thing we only have an island trip once a year or Bakersfield J. C. and Santa Barbara would have to combine to hold a J. Spring floods did $500 worth of damage to the Ohio State University stadium.

FORUM PRESENTS ONE ACT PLAY AT SCHOOL

A one-act play, "Thank You, Doctor," by Gilbert Emery, was given by the Forum before the High school students at their weekly assembly on Wednesday at 10 o'clock. The college was requested, by Miss E. Louise Noyes, English instructor at the High school, to present a program. Dean Ashworth and the Forum members consented to represent the college.

Two musical numbers preceded the play, Phyllis Randall giving a violin solo and Ansgar Larsen a vocal solo. Isabel Vaughan was the accompanist.

The cast of the play, under the supervision of Dean Ashworth, learned their parts in one week's time. But before their audience of students, it "went over big." The plot of the play ran the gamut of emotions, pathos, farce, and threatened tragedy. Thelma Morgan, in the feminine lead, was especially good.

Rosamond Martin, Lawrence Pollard, Ben Margolis, and Floyd Kenney were the others of the cast who helped much to make the audience like their play.

Results of the O. A. C. student body election were announced to sororities by a group of serenaders.

"Keep In Touch With The Campus Next Year"

Instructor On Leave To Return To Campus In Fall

Charles Jacobs, head of the education department of Santa Barbara State college, received his Doctor of Philosophy degree on May 24, at Columbia university, New York.

Dr. Jacobs will be back on the campus here next fall. This summer he will teach at Greeley State college, Greeley, Colo.

Expenses of a college student have doubled the last fifty years, according to an expert on financial problems.

"College love affairs do not affect grades," say three deans of Ohio State University. This news comes in refutation to the announcement of Dean Lustner of Western Reserve University, who said that love often plays havoc with the student.

Harvard is offering a series of lectures in the business school on the Motion Picture industry. Will Hays is one of the lecturers.

OVER EIGHTY ENJOY ISLAND TRIP; CLUB MAKES RETURN FROM VALDEZ

Eighty-three College students and guests of the Outing club returned from Valdez harbor at Santa Cruz island last Sunday night and Monday morning after enjoying one of the largest and best Outing club trips in the history of the organization.

Boat trips to points on the island, hiking, fishing, swimming, and other sports made the occasion a tremendous success. The twenty-one Bakersfield Junior college and High school students, together with the five guests from St. Francis hospital and three from the city, mixed in with the local College representation as fellow students.

The party left Stearns' Wharf shortly after 6 o'clock Saturday morning in two boats of the Larco brothers fishing company, the "California" and the "Larco Bros.," a smaller boat. High seas were encountered at mid-channel, a strong wind blowing through the channel from the west and causing considerable sea-sickness. The trip was made in three and one-half hours, the boats arriving at Valdez harbor at 10 o'clock. In order to increase the time in crossing the water, the smaller boat was towed a greater part of the distance by the larger and faster "California."

Many of the party were wet from the trip, as the high seas caused considerable water splashes to pass over both boats. The morning was spent in drying and organizing camp.

During Saturday afternoon, no special entertainment was provided, the party being free to do as desired. Hikes, some to the summit of the range, fishing, swimming, and other activities, took place. A campfire on the beach that night was held.

An excursion trip to points of interest along the island front was made Sunday morning, the entire party making the trip in the "California." Painted Cave, west of Valdez harbor, was first visited, after a rough boat ride because of heavy swells. Trips into the cave were made by rowboat.

From Painted Cave, the party went east along the island past Valdez to Frye's harbor, where the city break-water rock is being blasted out of the mountainside. No landing was made at Frye's harbor, and after circling through the bay, the party continued east to Pelican bay and Prisoner's harbor. A half hour landing was made at Pelican bay, which is the main harbor of Santa Cruz island. They returned to Valdez shortly before noon.

Owing to rough sea, plans were first made for a return trip to Santa Barbara on Monday morning, leaving early enough to avoid the high sea which rises about 10 o'clock. As many of the party were forced to return Sunday night, the small boat made the return trip Sunday, taking back about twenty-five, mainly Bakersfield students. High sea was encountered, the boat landing at Stearns' wharf at 8 o'clock after a four-hour trip.

A camp fire was again held Sunday night for those who remained, who left the island at 5:30 o'clock Monday morning for the mainland. The faster "California" made the trip in two and one-half hours, a comparatively quiet sea making riding easier.

Noel Misemer was head chef of the party, taking care of the six meals necessary. He was assisted by Oran Booth and alternate groups of students. Dean Ashworth was faculty chaperone, and the entire outing was handled by Clayton Sheesley, president of the Outing club, and assisted by Irwin Vandam.

Assistance was also given by the College cafeteria in the preparation of food supplies and considerable general help was given by Miss Severy.

The Outing club meets this noon for the election of officers for next year and to complete business this year.

DELTA ZET GRADS HONORED

Graduating members of the Delta Zeta Delta sorority were honored at a party last Monday at the home of Jeanette Birnie, 518 East Valerio street.

Emily Van Wagner was chosen president of the sorority, Dorothy Merritt, vice-president; Dorothy Mansfield, secretary; Beryl Dunning, corresponding secretary; Jean Donart, treasurer; Dorothy Robbins, social chairman, and Jeanette Birnie, rush captain. The graduating members honored were: Louise Beach, Frances Cattaneo, Ester Janssens, Elizabeth Campbell, Marian Hauan, and Isabel Vaughn.

INVITED TO HONOR DAY

Miss Frye is in receipt of an invitation from Miss Edith Bond to attend the third annual Honors Day Convocation to be held at the University of Illinois.

Following an annual custom, the University pauses in its work to honor its high scholarship students with appropriate exercises. Miss Bond, a former Santa Barbara student, is among those honored for high scholarship in the University.

SECURE POSITIONS

Ester Janssens has secured a position in the Cate school near Carpinteria. Inez Friend has been placed at Taft. Harris Moore and Eleanor Warren are both to teach in Wasco next year.

To avert election scandals, the University of Utah has barred all campaigning on election day.

Princeton undergraduates are now wearing beer suits adorned with a coat of arms that consists of the Harvard seal with a gavel superimposed.

Gene Harris Elected To Head Social Science Club

Gene Harris was elected president of the Social Science club at the meeting held at the library Wednesday night. Lawrence Pollard was elected vice-president, and Douglass Brubaker, secretary-treasurer.

New members taken in were Keith Gunn, Marlyn Jameson, Estella Batty, Emily Van Wagner, Franklin Anderson, Ben Margoles, Johanna Gruys, Florence Izant, and Effie Moorman.

Mr. Jacoby, a teacher at the Junior High school and also a Rhodes scholar, talked on the Aborigines and inhabitants of Central Africa. Mr. Jacoby has traveled extensively with geographic societies, and with Smithsonian Institute expeditions. He had with him at the meeting, relics and pieces of clothing, eating utensils, adornments, skins, swords, and knives that illustrated his talk about the civilization of these people in Africa. Mr. Jacoby also showed the effect of our civilization on them.

Green dinks with cardinal and gold buttons will be worn by next year's freshman class at U. S. C., the executive committee of that school has just decided.

The oldest living graduate of any American college or university is claimed by Ohio Wesleyan. Samuel Wesley Williams, who graduated in 1852, has just passed his ninety-ninth birthday.

Student body presidents of Southern California colleges recently met at Redlands to discuss common problems arising before student bodies.

The Eagle's Eye Campus Observations

WELL, this is the last Eagle's Eye of the year and that is one thing for both the readers and the writer of this column to be thankful for.

At that, this spring has gone too fast, and it is hard to believe that in less than a week it will all be over for another year.

A good many things have been accomplished this year, but it is the prospect of next year that we can look forward to, feeling sure that it is to be the best year in our history. Athletically, the prospects are good. Quite a large number of last year's football lettermen remain with which to build the new team.

And it is hoped that at last we will have our own athletic field. Thanks to the efforts of Coach DeGroot, we have made our entrance into the California Coast Conference.

Then, we have a new building that is to be ready for the fall semester, and another new building will soon be built.

These buildings will give S. B. S. C. a much needed chance to grow.

The auditorium, one of the main features of the new Administration building, will be an important aid in solving the assembly problem.

It is rumored that the co-op will be removed from the basement floor. The co-op deserves to be given a change from its old basement home.

Interest by the townspeople in the college on the hill has been greater this year than ever before. Next year it will be even greater.

It would be hard to get any more reasons for an optimistic outlook than we already have.

All we need is a live student body organization so that we can take full advantage of our opportunities. And the student body will be what student body officers make it.

Pennsylvania State College has a uniformed police force.

Women students of O. A. C. live more extravagantly than men, spending an average of $146.09 a month, as compared to $115.44 spent by men. This is revealed in a campus survey completed recently by a professor of economics.

University of Minnesota students spend more time in working than in any other extra-curricular activity.

A church is to be built by Harvard University in memory of those who died in the World war.

Will Rogers spoke to Yale students last week on the subject, "Which Is More Beneficial to Colleges, Suicide or Football?"

The coming year will be the fiftieth for the Yale Daily News, which is the oldest college daily in the United States.

Ninety freshmen at Western Reserve University were kidnaped, taken in cars to a barn, stripped and painted green by members of the sophomore class. Protosting freshmen were given a second coat.

This Week in the College World---

COMPULSORY military training at De Pauw University in Indiana was lately abolished by faculty decree, according to reports in the New Student. The course will still be given, but will be purely optional.

In the past several years a reaction against compulsory military training has taken place generally throughout the east. The problem also developed at the University of Washington. Reasons given for the objection to compulsory R. O. T. C. are that the nature of the course should make it an elective, and that it is also an anti-peace factor. Other physical education courses, it is argued, can be easily substituted.

On the other hand, the benefits of military training are known to everyone, such as development of the physique and mind, the preparation of an adequate army reserve in cases of national emergency, and a source of much useful knowledge. But regardless of the pro and con of the matter, present day undergraduates have no sympathy for the compulsory element.

Revolt against compulsory R. O. T. C. is only one branch of a general movement against compulsion. Forced chapel attendance was recently abolished at Harvard after a hard struggle, and the new system rapidly spread. All compulsory elements in college life seem to be fading into history, and the recent happening at De Pauw is only a part of this movement.

LABOR unions and colleges are not often connected, but at the University of Wisconsin recently thirty students working part time formed a student labor union to protect their interests.

The purposes of the organization sound familiar: to increase the bargaining power of student workers, to compile information of economic conditions of student employees, and to act as a student spokesman.

Members claim the union to be the first of its kind in the United States. Whether or not the idea has any strong practical bearing is debatable, as it may easily be an organization more for the fun of organizing than for definite ends, as are many other college societies and clubs.

STEPHEN LEACOCK CENSORS EDUCATION

"It is the business of an American college professor to chase his students along over a prescribed ground at a prescribed pace, like a flock of sheep," says Stephen Leacock. "They all go jumping together over the hurdles, the professor chasing them with a bunch of tests and recitations, marks and attendances—the whole process obviously copied from the time clock of the business man's factory.

"This process is called showing results. It has also been called the convoy system of education. This system contains in itself the seeds of dullness. It puts a premium on dullness and a penalty on genius. The pace of the group must be set by the slowest and genius rots."

Considerable truth lies in the above statement of Stephen Leacock. Routine is a dominant factor in educational class methods, the situation is one of bulk learning regardless of individual capabilities.

An experiment is being tried at Antioch College in an effort to break the monotony of study. No classes are conducted; the student is given a semester outline of his subject and he is allowed to cover the ground on his own resources. Only in rare cases, when a difficult problem is encountered, is the student to consult the instructor. The classrooms were turned into study rooms and the instructors made free at all times for consultation.

Of course, the problem is not entirely remedied, but a tremendous step is being attempted, which at later years could further develop student freedom. Such a plan as is being tested at Antioch is a practical answer to the statement of Leacock; its success would mean much to modern educational methods.

THE PAST YEAR AND THE EAGLE

With this issue The Eagle concludes its sixth year of publication. It has developed from a mere mimeographed publication issued irregularly to a five column weekly, and now enjoys a firm position among the campus activities.

Whether or not The Eagle this year is a success from a news reporting standpoint is for the individual student to decide. Whether or not The Eagle exerted the influence on the campus which a student weekly should foster is also a point for individual decision. But from the standpoint of the editorial staff great strides have been taken.

Numerous experiments were tried throughout the year. In the opinion of some readers, they were highly successful; others objected to their degree of plausibility.

From the reactions created by the experiments, the staff next year will profit, and they in turn will take another step toward a higher grade of journalism and a stronger paper.

During the past year The Eagle took strong stands at times on issues before the students. Considerable comment was published. Often strong reactions followed, with the result that students thought for themselves.

The theory for this system is simple. Many college papers take no stand on an issue; they simply print columns of type attempting to force the student body to think. The result is that no factor takes place to lead the desired thought; there is no premise on which to base the debate.

This premise can be best formed by the student paper, which takes a definite and biased stand on the issue. The students will react to this basic argument and they will think for themselves, thus accomplishing the desired result.

Of course there will be cries that a paper representing the entire student body should never represent one faction of the students, as would be the case if a paper took a biased stand. It is to prevent this that the student opinion column is carried in The Eagle, and which was used considerably this year, much to the gratification of the staff.

The Eagle in the past year had no desire to create a miniature Tammany Hall or any political ring, nor did the paper attempt to "run" the Student Body. What it did desire to do, however, was the stimulation of thought and action in student affairs.

It is on this basis that the staff feels that great strides were taken this year.
