The future of Isla Vista was on display Thursday night as world designers offered their solutions to local problems.

Students and I.V. residents gathered in Embarcadero Hall for the opening night of the [Re]Vision Isla Vista Design Competition Exhibit. The exhibition consisted of 29 designs from all around the world, including designs from Iran, Paris, Mexico, Japan, Italy, New York, San Francisco as well as a handful of local entries.

The design competition, co-sponsored by the County of Santa Barbara, UCSB, and the I.V. Recreation and Parks District, is only the first phase in the ongoing I.V. Master Plan process. From the 29 entries, a jury will choose five finalists on Nov. 12. The five

The group is currently without funds. However, it will someday receive $500,000 willed to it by Catholics. the committee will sponsor a series of quarterly lectures on different aspects of Catholicism.

The first lecture in the series took place Wednesday, when Notre Dame Professor Jay Dolan spoke to a crowd of approximately 80 people. Dolan compared the Latino and German-Catholic experiences in the U.S. He said German-Catholic immigrants struggled to maintain their

Because of Morris Dees, an imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan is in jail for the rest of his life and the Aryan Nations white-supremacist group is homeless and bankrupt.

Dees has denounced hate groups such as the Ku Klux Klan to juries across the nation since 1967. At 3 p.m. on Sunday, he will denounce them to UCSB students in Campbell Hall.

He is the most prominent crusader against violent bigotry, Director of Global and International Studies Mark Juergensmeyer said.

"Dees is one of the most influential people in the country in fighting the Christian militia hate groups — the far right wing. He has followed them so they can't hide," he said. "For that reason, he has been on the hit list of several hate groups who regard him as their most serious enemy — and to a certain extent they're right. I regard him as a real hero."

In 1967, Morris Dees was a 31-year-old Alabama lawyer with a thriving mail order and book publishing company. While snowed-in at a Cincinnati airport one night, Dees wrestled with his conscience and decided to become involved in the civil rights movement.

"I had made up my mind. I would sell the company as soon as possible and specialize in civil rights laws," Dees wrote in his 1991 autobiography A Season for Justice. "All the things in my life that had brought me to this point, all the pulls and tugs of my conscience, found a singular peace. It did not matter what my neighbors would think, or the judges, the bankers or even my relatives."

Dees returned home and began filing lawsuits, such as a 1968 suit to integrate the Montgomery, Ala., YMCA, which earned him the enmity of his neighbors. In 1971, Dees and his law partner Joseph Levin founded the Southern Poverty Law Center (SPLC).

Since its founding, the SPLC has won a string of crippling legal victories against numerous white supremacist groups.

In 1998, Dees successfully prosecuted Mississippi White Knights Imperial Wizard Sam Bowers for the 1966 killing of Vernon Dahmer. Dahmer, a civil rights worker registering black voters, was killed in the firebombing of his home. Before the incident, Bowers was overheard talking to Klansmen about "doing something about that Dahmer nigger down south." Bowers walked free when the case's original jury deadlocked. The 1998 jury gave the elderly Bowers a life sentence.

That same year, an Alabama jury ordered the Christian Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, its leader and four other Klansmen to pay the largest judgment against a hate group, $37.8 million — money the Klan didn't have. The verdict bankrupted the organization, which was responsible for a 1995 conspiracy to burn down the predominately black Macedonia Baptist Church.

"That jury's decision was a day of reckoning for

Officers Face Allegations of Misconduct

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Four Oakland police officers face a combined 49 felony charges including assault, kidnapping and filing false reports in one of the city's biggest crack-downs on police misconduct.

The officers — Jude Siapno, 32, Clarence Mabanag, 35, and Matthew Hornung, 28 — were arraigned Thursday in Oakland Superior Court. Frank Vazquez, 43, was out-of-town and did not attend the hearing; a warrant was issued for his arrest, prosecutor David Hollister said.

None of the officers entered pleas and they were expected to be held in protective custody until a bail hearing Nov. 9.

The alleged misconduct took place against seven men between June 13 and July 2 in West Oakland where the officers, who called themselves "The Riders," patrolled late at night, Alameda County District Attorney Tom Orloff said Thursday.

Vazquez and Siapno face the most serious charges of kidnapping and plaint.

The officers also were accused of falsely accusing several men of possessing drugs and weapons.

Mabanag's lawyer, Michael Rains, said the officers are "both sad and anxious to have their stories heard." Attorneys for all three officers, who remain on paid administrative leave, said they have seen no evidence backing to scrutinize all situations."

He said 23 mostly drug possession cases in which the officers were involved have been dismissed.

Oakland Police Chief Richard Word said he's confident the four officers' misconduct "was isolated, but the department has implemented additional protections — including a strengthened internal review and early warning system to help prevent future problems.

He acknowledged, however, that his force faces an uphill battle restoring the public trust. He said the department will grow and learn from this incident.

assaulting two men, including one who was beaten in the face, stomach, back and legs while handcuffed. Vazquez and Mabanag later intimidated him when their supervisor asked about his injuries, according to the com-up any of the charges against their clients.

Orloff, who does not anticipate additional charges although the investigation is ongoing, said the alleged misconduct has "created a heightened sensitivity in all of us

"It's difficult, but you have to take strong and severe action," Word said.

The investigation began after a rookie officer who had been on duty about three weeks came forward to his superiors in early July.

Foreign Bombing Suspects Stab Guard in Eye

NEW YORK (AP) — Two U.S. embassy bombing suspects attacked a guard at a federal lockup, stabbing him in the eye and leaving him in critical condition, authorities said.

Two federal law enforcement sources, speaking on condition of anonymity, told The Associated Press that the guard at the Metropolitan Correctional Center was stabbed in the eye Wednesday with a plastic comb that had been filed to a point.

The thrust was believed to be so severe that the guard lost his eye and the comb penetrated his brain, one source said.

The 43-year-old guard, whose name was not released, was taken to Bellevue Hospital where he underwent surgery for more than 12 hours, said hospital spokesperson Lorinda Klein. He was in critical condition Thursday.

The suspects were identified as Khalfan Khamis Mohamed and Mamdouh Mahmud Salim, both indicted in connection with the Aug. 7, 1998, bombings at embassies in Nairobi, Kenya, and Dar es Salaam, Tanzania. Twelve Americans were among the 224 people killed in the attacks.

Salim, 41, has been charged in the United States with murder conspiracy and use of weapons of mass destruction in an international plot to kill Americans. He is alleged to be the finance chief for Osama bin Laden, the Saudi exile accused of sponsoring the bombings.

Salim was arrested in Germany in September 1998 on a U.S. warrant. He was extradited to the United States three months later.

Mohamed, 24, allegedly rented a house in Tanzania that was used as a bomb factory. He was arrested in October 1999 in South Africa as he applied for a renewal for his temporary residence permit. He was extradited to the United States the next day.

The second source said one of the men had met with his attorney just before the prison attack, although it was not clear which inmate it was.

A second comb that had also been turned into a sharp weapon was found, the second source said. Investigators believed the attack was planned because of the time needed to turn the combs into weapons, the source said.

Salim and Mohamed shared a cell in a section of the prison that was isolated from the general population, the second source said. Salim has been transferred to an upstate prison in Otisville, N.Y., the source said. Mohamed was moved to a medical prison that the source did not identify. The source said Mohamed was injured in the attack, but the nature and seriousness of the wounds were not known.

ACLU Stands Up in Support of Vote-Trading Websites' Rights

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The American Civil Liberties Union on Thursday said it will seek a temporary restraining order to prevent Secretary of State Bill Jones from shutting down vote-swapping Web sites.

Three sites voluntarily shut down this week after Jones told one of the operators they were violating state election laws. The ACLU, however, said the practice constitutes free speech and probably wouldn't have been challenged if promoted through a more traditional medium such as newspaper or radio.

"The ACLU will not allow the Internet to become the First Amendment punching bag for every government official," said Peter Eliasberg, staff attorney for the ACLU of Southern California.

The sites have turned up in recent weeks. Many are aimed at supporters of Green Party presidential candidate Ralph Nader, seen as a threat to siphon votes from Democrat Al

Gore. Democrats fear those voters could decide the election in states that are too close to call.

The websites allow users to discuss a strategy called vote-swapping.

A Nader supporter in a hotly contested state, for example, would contact a Gore supporter in a state that is considered safe for Republican George W. Bush. The Nader supporter would agree to vote for Gore in exchange for the Gore backer casting a vote for Nader.

The online barter could allow Gore to win some swing states while giving the Green Party the 5 percent of the national vote it needs to gain federal campaign money in 2004.

The creators of one such site, www.voteswap2000.com, said they were contacted by Jones' office and told they were violating state law. The site remained closed on Thursday.

Jones' office said the state Election Code prohibits offering payment or any other "valuable consideration" to voters.

"What they were doing was brokering the exchange of votes," Secretary of State spokesperson Shad Balch said. "You can't swap your vote. It's not a commodity. This constitutes fraud."

finalists will each receive a $10,000 honorarium to aid in competition and participation costs. The winner, announced in February, will then receive an additional $10,000 for a grand total of $20,000, while the remaining four will receive certificates of outstanding merit.

The jury, consisting of five professionals and five community members, was selected in order to receive a wide range of views, IVRPD Director Pegeen Soutar said.

"[The jury] is made up of professionals with the experience of architectural planning and a variety of home and property owners, business professionals and students," she said. "We tried to get someone in different disciplines in order to get a broad range of experience."

Student judge Bridget Saltzman said she was pleased with the turnout, but felt that due to the complexity of some of the designs, one visit may not be sufficient.

"Since it was opening night, I wanted to be here to make sure there was good attendance," she said. "I'm going to have to come back a lot, they are very intricate designs."

IVRPD Director Ariana Katovich said the second phase, occurring after the five finalists are selected, would take 2-3 years to complete and 5-10 years to implement.

"We should have a locked-down vision in three years," she said.

I.V. resident John Patton said he attended the exhibit out of curiosity for the future of I.V.

"I'm curious what the response was to the competition," he said. "I'm looking forward to see what the jury decides. Whatever it is, we'll get to see how Isla Vista turns out in the long run."

The 10-day exhibit will allow the community a chance to communicate to the jurors what it feels are the designs' major problems, Katovich said.

"This gets people thinking of the possibilities of what Isla Vista is going to look like," she said. "Since comments are being accepted, we hope the jury will take them into consideration."

The [Re]vision Isla Vista competition exhibit will be on display in Embarcadero Hall, located at 935 Embarcadero del Norte, through Sunday, Nov. 12.

Isla Vistans Give Their Opinion on Who's Hot, Who's Not for IVRPD

Three to Tango

ASIVCRC Endorses Candidates

MEL FABI

On Nov. 7, not only will the names of Bush and Gore be on the ballot, but also some names that might be very familiar to you. Did you know that on Election Day, the names of current and former UCSB students will appear on the ballot? That's right, if you registered locally, and if you live in the Isla Vista area, you will have the opportunity to cast your vote for the local candidates vying for the Isla Vista Recreation and Parks District (IVRPD).

As the only elected body within Isla Vista, the IVRPD puts on community programs and oversees the usage of our parks. Structurally, the IVRPD is comprised of a five-member board of directors. The directors serve four-year terms, and in this race seven community members are running for three open seats.

All the candidates have tremendous enthusiasm and numerous goals toward making a difference in Isla Vista. The Associated Students I.V. Community Relations Committee (ASIVCRC) will use these objectives and promises to hold candidates accountable in their service to the community.

After carefully interviewing each candidate, the ASIVCRC has endorsed the following candidates:

Harley Augustino — As the Santa Barbara County Living Wage campaign director and co-founder of the Isla Vista

ERIC LISTER/ DAILY NEXUS

Tenants Union, Harley has a wealth of experience in organization efforts among families and students. Harley has realistic goals for involving the entire community at IVRPD meetings. Realizing that having bilingual interpreters at the meetings is not enough, he specifically plans to conduct workshops to help community residents understand the political processes of the IVRPD and the County Board of Supervisors. Harley has a close relationship with the university and understands that UCSB has responsibility to provide services in the community. Specifically, Harley plans to closely monitor developments of the I.V. Master Plan and Highway 217 and ensure that students and families are not ignored in the process.

Russell Johnson — As a current member of the I.V. Action Committee and Off-Campus Representative on the A.S. Legislative Council, Russell's top priorities include creation of the I.V. Community Center and improved handicap accessibility in the parks. Russell's other goals include enhancing the I.V. Teen Center's after school recreation program and making the IVRPD meetings more welcoming by providing a larger space, an interpreter for the Spanish-speaking community and translation of all IVRPD minutes. Furthermore, his philanthropic experience through his fraternity brings a different perspective to the board.

Ariana Katovich — Former A.S. Environmental Affairs Board Chair and IVRPD incumbent, Ariana has a strong commitment toward keeping I.V. the most respected organic district in the country. Ariana also has unique goals for the future, including the development of an I.V. skatepark. Ariana was highly involved in the creation and implementation of the Frisbee golf course, utilized by 200-300 individuals, that increased recreational opportunity for community members. Her extensive involvement with student groups and nonstudent community members shows her dedication and accountability to the constituency when making decisions. Ariana is clearly the most experienced candidate.

To comply with the tax-exempt status of the Associated Students, ASIVCRC will not use any of its lock-in funds to support anyone's candidacy. However, the aforementioned candidates can use the name of "ASIVCRC" on their flyers and campaign materials.

Through the representation of students and community members on a campus, community and county level, ASIVCRC works toward creating a vibrant community through education, creativity and collaboration. If anyone has any questions about the endorsement or interview process, you can contact me anytime at <fabi-m@sa.ucsb.edu> or at (805) 893-5085. ASIVCRC meets every Monday at 7 p.m. in the I.V. Community Center, behind Déjà vu.

Protect your freedom of expression by utilizing your power to affect change in the civic and political lives of your community. And whomever you choose, choose to participate. Registering was the first step, so follow through with your vote by becoming an educated voter. It's your right to know how your elected officials will represent you and your power to make a difference in Isla Vista when you cast your decision on Nov. 7.

The Reader's Voice

CANDIDATE CAMPAIGN SIGNS DECEIVE VOTERS

Editor, Daily Nexus:

The Isla Vista Recreation and Parks District (IVRPD) election is an opportunity for community members to run for office and serve to improve the park system in I.V. It's an opportunity for us as students to become educated on local issues and ongoing park programs. And now, after seeing the "Vote Green — Vote Russell Johnson for IVRPD" signs around campus, I've realized the election is something else: the opportunity for a conniving politician to rip off the voters in our community.

To affiliate yourself with the green vote, you need to fall into one of two general categories: a member of the Green Party, or be an environmentalist. Russell Johnson is not a member of the Green Party; he is a member of the Republican Party. Russell Johnson is also not an environmentalist. As an active environmentalist at UCSB, chair of the Environmental Affairs Board and five-year community member, I have never seen nor heard of Russell Johnson working to preserve or protect our natural resources. And after listening to the IVRPD debates in the Hub a few weeks ago, I realize that Russell Johnson also knows nothing about how the environment functions in our park system.

To attempt to deceive voters into believing that you are Green is dishonest and immoral. The voters on this campus are not stupid; we will not vote for a candidate who lacks the integrity and ethics to be honest about his beliefs and intentions. Russell Johnson, I am personally affronted by your defamation of an environmental slogan to further your deceptive political strategy. Remove your "Green" posters and replace them with signs advertising what you really are: a liar.

COURTNEY ESTES, EAB

ASH VOTE BRINGS BALANCE AND COMMITMENT

Editor, Daily Nexus:

On Nov. 7, we have the opportunity to voice our support for two critical issues facing the community — housing and the need for open space — by voting for Ariana, Selena and Harley (ASH) for Isla Vista Recreation and Parks District (IVRPD). As I.V.'s only governing body, the decisions made by the IVRPD are decisions that stand to benefit the entire community.

I.V. is at a critical point in its history, where an unprecedented demand for housing has put a strain on the town's resources. With 20,000 people packed into the most unique square mile in America and UCSB enrollment increasing yearly, the strain will only grow.

In the face of this growth, we are forced to find a balance between the need for adequate (and affordable) housing and the need for open (and accessible) community spaces. Many call this complex issue a divisive one, instead of realizing that advancing both causes benefits the whole.

Ariana Katovich (A) currently serves as the only student representative on the IVRPD. With her passion and commitment to environmental protection, Ariana has prompted policies that have sought to protect and restore sensitive areas in our community. She has encouraged ecological thinking and has worked toward a sustainable and respectable I.V. while promoting activities that implement the notions of "community." If re-elected, she will continue in this light.

Selena Gonzales (S) has worked tirelessly to bring the youth of Isla Vista together, improving current programs to better suit the needs and wishes of I.V.'s little ones. Selena looks to improve the accessibility of the Teen Center and will continue to develop programs that outreach to the children in the community.

Harley Augustino (H) has been I.V.'s crusader for tenants' rights and affordable housing. He currently sits, along with Selena, on the I.V. Tenants Union, working to improve the conditions of local housing woes, while pushing for more programs to assist and support low-income renters. Harley brings with him a vision of fair and decent living conditions in Isla Vista.

By voting ASH on Nov. 7, you ensure that Isla Vista Recreation and Parks District will continue to advocate a cleaner and healthier living environment, strong community programs, beautiful parks and conditions that promote the well being of all I.V. residents. Ariana, Selena and Harley will tackle the tough issues that our town is grappling with, and will work toward solutions that meet everyone's needs.

Remember, the more local the race, the more important the results. Please vote for the community on Nov. 7. Vote ASH for IVRPD.

language, believing they would lose their religion if they started speaking English.

"The relationship between ethnicity and religion play a complementary role," he said. "They interact with one another and in the process determine one's identity."

Focus Group member and history and Chicano studies Professor Mario Garcia said American history highlights the nature of the modern Catholic Church.

"There's no question that religion plays a very important part in the U.S. experience," he said. "We wanted a historian to begin the lecture series because we thought it was important to have a historical reference on the Catholic experience in the U.S. The Catholic Church has been and continues to be an immigrant church."

Garcia said he hopes to develop more curricula and new programs to focus on specific areas of Catholicism, once a permanent chair is established. Currently, there are no courses focusing specifically on Catholicism.

"It will enrich our curriculum and enrich the intelligent life of the campus by focusing on a very important part of our history," he said.

A set precedent separating church from state is one of the main reasons many colleges do not contain a large religious studies department, Dolan said.

"There is a weariness, kind of a coolness in integrating religion into public curriculum," he said. "I think more and more people are returning to religion as an academic field of study; religion is too important to be ignored. We talk about the importance of politics, and the importance of race and gender, and religion is important, too."

The next guest lecturer Father John Coleman of Loyola Marymount University is scheduled to speak in March on his experience with Catholic charities, followed by novelist and journalist Demetria Martinez, who will speak on the Catholic social activism in May.

DEES

the Klan," Dees wrote in a SPLC newsletter. "The verdict shows that there are still some things sacred in the county, still some lines that no one can cross."

This September, Dees won an $11.26 million case against Richard Butler's Idaho-based Aryan Nations. Two years ago, security guards at the group's Coeur d'Alene compound assaulted two passers-by. Victoria Keenan and her son, Jason, were driving past when their car backfired. Apparently mistaking the sound for a gunshot, a truck full of guards ran down the Keenans, firing guns at them. After Keenan's car went into a ditch, the guards dragged Keenan from the car by her hair and beat her son. A jury found Butler responsible for these actions.

In a press conference after the trial, Idaho Gov. Dick Kempthorne said, "This verdict, by a jury of peers, represents a clear victory for the values of Idaho. We are law-abiding citizens who do not condone the violence and antics of a small group of hatemongers."

Dees told the Los Angeles Times that the SPLC had simply "cleaned [Butler's] clock."

The judgment forced the group to abandon the compound and Butler to file for bankruptcy.

Dees and the SPLC continue to work against America's hate groups and are also attacking right-wing paramilitary groups. Dees' most recent book, Gathering Storm, warns of the dangers posed by domestic terrorists, such as those responsible for the 1995 Oklahoma City bombing.

On the SPLC's website, www.splcenter.org, Dees wrote that litigation cannot prevent brutal white-supremacy, only deter it. "We as lawyers cannot literally stop hate violence before it occurs. But we can penalize both the leaders and the foot soldiers who provoke racist confrontations. In so doing, we can give victims a measure of recovery and hopefully deter leaders who incite hate-motivated violence from continuing down that deadly, racist path."

His experiences and work make Dees an important man for students to hear, Juergensmeyer said.

"It's a real coup for the campus that he's here," he said. "The stories he tells are riveting, they're just gripping."

We as lawyers cannot literally stop hate violence before it occurs. But we can penalize both the leaders and the foot soldiers who provoke racist confrontations. ## RBT Prerequisite Checking

We are phasing in RBT enforcement of prerequisites for all undergraduate courses in Letters and Science and Engineering. Some departments have already implemented prerequisites. For Fall 2000, all Math and Science undergraduate courses and many Engineering courses had course prerequisites enforced. Beginning Winter 2001, prerequisites will be enforced for undergraduate courses in Humanities and Fine Arts.

⇒ RBT will deny registration if students have not satisfactorily met the listed prerequisites ⇐

Transfer Work:

If you think you have taken a course elsewhere that satisfies prerequisites, contact the department offering the course BEFORE YOUR PASS 1 RBT APPOINTMENT.

Bring along a copy of your transcript or grade record from that transfer institution. The department will make a determination as to whether a particular course will substitute for the listed prerequisite.

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE
BY EUGINIA LAST

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DAY: Roseanne Barr, Lulu, Charles Bronson, Adam Ant, Dennis Miller
Happy Birthday: Tackle one thing at a time to ensure your success. If you overload your plate, you will fall short of your goals. You need time to take care of your own well-being. Restoring your energy will be a must if you want to be able to enjoy all your accomplishments. Organization will be at the heart of your success. Plan carefully and you will excel. Your numbers: 3, 10, 26, 30, 41, 47

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Financial limitations will result if you are too giving. Don't pay too much in order to join a club or group. Intellectual social activities and enhancing your own appearance should be on your agenda. 4 stars

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Family members may try to burden you with their problems. Offer suggestions, not your valuable time. You can make career moves if you act fast when opportunities arise. 2 stars

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Enjoy the company of old friends. You will obtain insight into your own situation by observing others. Make personal changes that will lift your spirits and bring you a higher self-image. 5 stars

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Hold onto your money. Financial limitations will result if you have been too generous with others. Don't let those you live with upset you. Follow your instincts and stick to your original ideas. 3 stars

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Emotional depression may lead to partnership problems. Take a close look at contracts or agreements. You can stabilize your personal relationship if you are willing to communicate honestly. 3 stars

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Don't let your lowered vitality stop you from completing important paperwork. You may not be up to par, but you can accomplish things if you refrain from letting others upset you. 3 stars

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Leadership can be yours if you are willing to put additional work into organizations you belong to. Concentrate on being the best you can be. A new outlook is in order. 5 stars

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Your home environment may be disrupted. Try not to take things to heart. Acceptance is the key. Don't be afraid to ask for help. You'll be surprised at how willing others are to help out. 2 stars

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Travel must be on your mind. Try to get out or at least look into the possibility of taking a vacation. You will meet people who will be able to help you achieve your goals. 4 stars

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Don't push yourself too hard. You may want to spend some time with friends or relatives. You need to get some sound advice regarding your financial dilemma. 3 stars

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your partner may not be that easy to deal with. Don't judge others for the choices they make. You must let loved ones have their own space if you wish to keep things amiable. 2 stars

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Overtime may be necessary. Take care of overdue accounts and look into possible investments. Cultural and philosophic groups may lead you in the wrong direction. 3 stars

Birthday Baby: Your high energy coupled with your disciplined attitude will ensure your success throughout life. You have what it takes to contribute to whatever you believe in. Don't sit back; you are a leader, not a follower.

Big West Title, Playoffs Within Close Reach After Victory Over Anteaters

BY ELIAV APPELBAUM
Reporter

One more game separates the UCSB women's soccer team from a share in the Big West title and a shot at the playoffs.

After the Gauchos' amazing 2-1 overtime victory Wednesday over UC Irvine on Senior Night at Harder Stadium, Santa Barbara has the opportunity to win the conference title with a season-culminating match against Cal Poly tonight after climbing out of second to last place only two weeks ago.

UCSB fell behind early in the game as UCI midfielder Ariana Downs scored off a corner kick in the 14th minute. However, six minutes later the Gauchos roared back when senior forward Sondra Williamson smoked the ball into the back of the net off a corner kick assisted by senior defender Meghann Phillips.

"It was critical for us in a situation where we had to win, to step right back up and even that score," UCSB Head Coach Paul Stumpf said. "It was just a great shot by her and that ball was on its way up when it hit the back of the net and it was still going up."

Assistant Coach Mike Friesen agreed with Stumpf about the importance of bouncing back from an early 1-0 deficit.

"That's just huge," Friesen said. "Sonny [Williamson] comes from City College and spent all summer working her butt off improving. Here it is Senior Night, she comes with a great goal tonight; it was just a cannon. It was exciting."

The match continued back and forth for the first 80 minutes, and neither team could deliver the go-ahead goal. Both teams battled in a scoreless second half, in one of the most intense soccer games played by the Gauchos all year.

goal off a cross in the 92nd minute as the Irvine defender slipped, enabling Richey to find the back of the net for the team-leading fourth goal of the season.

"I'm so excited," said Erica Perrota, who gained her fourth assist of the season on Richey's goal. "Now we have such a good chance to go to the playoffs."

Williamson shared her teammate's enthusiasm about the dramatic win.

"This win means everything," Williamson said. "We've been working so hard for this win, and we put in all our effort and it showed. We definitely did it."

Cal Poly is the only team that stands between UCSB and the playoffs tonight at 7 at Mustang Stadium.

"We're going to be coming off a huge win," Phillips said. "It's going to be a battle, it really is, because if they win they go through, and if we win we go through, so it's Big West Finals Friday."

Water Polo Rides the Rave of Its Team Captain, Leading Scorer, Driver

BY BRITTANY LANGAN

In water polo, height is an advantage, but senior driver Paul Rave doesn't seem to care.

Rave is 5'8" and the leading scorer for the #11 UCSB men's water polo team.

"Because of my size, I have to work harder," said Rave. "It's kind of a joke on the team; they call me midget and shorty. Our team is the smallest in the league and I'm the smallest player on the team. I've arrived where I am because I'm really competitive."

Paul didn't stumble upon water polo nine years ago. Growing up in Maryland where water polo isn't well known, it took Rave two years to find a team. Through hard work and dedication Rave became the goalie for the USWP National Youth team and the MVP for the Eastern High School Championships in 1996.

Water polo and the sun brought Rave to UCSB in 1997, and the senior's role on the team changed when he made the transition from goalie to driver.

"There are three main things that I gained from being a goalie in high school," Rave said. "I had to have strong legs to get to the corners of the goal quickly, be a strong passer to get the ball to my teammates, and I learned a lot about the game while I was in goal. So when I came out of the goal I was a good passer, I could stay up in the water and I knew the game pretty well."

Rave's role on the team changed again this season when he was voted team captain.

"I feel like what I do matters more because I'm setting an example," Rave said. "What I want to teach them is how to have fun and enjoy it and not make the sport into some obligation that we have to do."

Though the team practices almost 20 hours a week, the driver is far from being burnt out, and his enthusiasm and dedication continues to show in both the practice and the games.

"Paul's a throwback when push comes to shove," UCSB Head Coach Joe O'Brien said. "He's always been a leader and been one of the most intense guys on the team."

Rave graduates this spring and aspires to be both a high school teacher and water polo coach.

Santa Barbara Looks to Bake Idaho in T-Dome

BY KEITH BUSAM

Good teams find a way to win no matter what the odds. If a key player is injured or if it is down two games to none, the team still works toward achieving its goal. This is exactly what the #15 UCSB women's volleyball team has been able to do this season.

In the first match of the season against then #10 Arizona, Santa Barbara (18-6 overall, 9-2 in the Big West) played an ugly match, but still pulled out a victory in five games to get the season started on the right foot. On Sept. 22 in the Thunderdome, the Gauchos found themselves down two games to none against highly regarded Long Beach State and somehow found a way to win in an improbable comeback. On Oct. 10, the then #5 Pepperdine Waves came to town and looked to derail Santa Barbara's winning ways. When it looked as if the match would be dominated by Pepperdine early on, UCSB put on a display of courage that has not been shown in the Thunderdome for quite some time and turned the tables completely. The result was a three-game sweep.

Santa Barbara is hoping that it can pull out another clutch victory as it faces Idaho on Saturday night in what will be its second to last road match of the regular season. A victory is essential if UCSB is to have any hope of beating out the University of the Pacific for the Big West league crown. The Gauchos are currently in sole possession of second place.

Santa Barbara won the previous match this season against Idaho in four games and has never lost to the residents of the "Potato State" in the seven matches the schools have played against each other.

"It must be our goal to win in three games," freshman middle blocker Simone Kuhn said. "It will be hard being on the road and having to travel, but I know we can do it."

Hey, Gaucha Fans, the 2000-01 basketball season is here and you can catch live action in the Thunderdome tonight at 7 as men's basketball faces Team Concept for the first game of the year.
