Archaeologists unearth skeleton near overpass

A UCSB archaeological team uncovered a burial Sunday at a site adjacent to the Fairview overpass of the Southern Pacific Railroad.

Directed by Dr. James Deetz, William Garrison and Richard Humphrey, all of the anthropology department, the recent excavations began late last month.

The skeleton, heavily damaged by rodents and a root which had virtually impaled it, was missing a few vertebrae, hands, feet and teeth.

Identification of the type of individual represented by the remains will not be made until after analysis has been completed in the anthropology laboratories.

The burial was discovered by Susan Perley (shown). Other students on the dig were John Bishop, Douglas Gomke and Jeanette Sill.

The site was discovered in the 1920's, but first excavations were not made until 1960.

Regents approve long range plan for future development of campus

An expansive long range development plan for the campus was recently approved by the Regents of the University. It envisions the future physical planning of the campus for its ultimate enrollment of 15,000 students.

SPECIAL GROUPING

The organizational pattern of the plan, designed by the campus supervising architects, Charles Luckman Associates, provides for academic structures to be grouped in complexes by related academic specialties. These include areas for the arts, sciences, engineering, social sciences and humanities.

Tall structures will be scattered within groups of lower buildings, particularly in the academic core, to conserve land.

Major automobile circulation will take place on the periphery of the campus with access to the central area reserved for special events and service. Walking will thus be encouraged throughout the campus. Bicycle riding will be confined to special paths:

provided for that purpose.

In its objective to provide residence halls for 50 per cent or more of the student enrollment, the plan shows residence hall complexes assigned to the west and northwest of the central academic core, in addition to the present residence halls to the south.

University apartments for married students will be expanded at the westernmost edge of the campus. Individual buildings comprising the center campus are components of a larger design. Together with malls, walks and other open spaces, they form three major quadrangles.

One of these is on the north and is to be wooded and informal in character. Another is a central quadrangle at the crossroads of the campus with a more formalized design. A third is the arts quadrangle surrounded by the art and music buildings and the future University Center building.

Athletic and recreational areas fall into four categories. Play-fields adjacent to the physical education building will be used for classes and intramural programs. An intercollegiate athletic field on the northwest corner will include various practice fields with space reserved for a stadium.

LAGOON IMPROVEMENT

The lagoon area, which covers some 60 acres, will continue to be developed for recreational use with parts of it to remain undisturbed to serve indigenous wildlife.

The architectural design of campus buildings will be broadened to avoid monotony as the campus undergoes expansion. New roof forms, more variety in color, materials and textures will mark changes in future buildings.

Chancellor Vernon I. Cheadle emphasizes that the new physical master plan incorporates several new developments not previously included in long range studies.

Among these are the land use plan of the additional 200 acres of land acquired to the west of the main campus, location of married student housing, a new approach to planning of recreational facilities.

OBJECTIVE STATED

"The objective of our long range development plan," he said, "is to create a design for the orderly physical growth of the campus to meet the academic needs of an enrollment of 15,000 students. This includes associated research and service functions."

Continuing, Cheadle said, "We feel that this plan is aesthetically pleasing while conserving the natural beauties of the site. It is financially sound and contains a flexibility to allow for future changes and expansion."

Fitzgibbon new faculty addition

Dr. Russell H. Fitzgibbon will become a permanent member of the UCSB Poli Sci faculty January 1, 1964.

Fitzgibbon is one of America's foremost authorities on South and Central America. He has been director of the Center for Latin American Studies at UCLA since 1959.

The eminent authority's appointment was jointly announced by UC President Clark Kerr and Santa Barbara Chancellor Vernon I. Cheadle.

Henry Turner, chairman of the dept. of poli sci, announced, "We are delighted to have him join our staff. Professor Fitzgibbon is one of the foremost scholars in his field of specialization and he will substantially enhance our program -- particularly at this stage of its development."

The poli sci dept., with Fitzgibbon and Professor Stephen S. Goodspeed, also nationally distinguished in the field of Latin American Studies, will "have a graduate program in this area equal to any college or university in the nation," according to Turner.

Fitzgibbon joined the UCLA faculty in 1936, becoming a full professor in 1948. He has been chairman of the department and also chairman of the Academic Senate's statewide budget committee.

The scholar has held several fellowships, including those granted by the Social Science Research Council, the Doherty Foundation, and the Fulbright organization. In 1956-57, he was president of the Western Political Science Association.

PUBLICATIONS

Fitzgibbon's book on Uruguay was published four years ago by Rutgers University. He has also written "Cuba and the United States", and "Latin America, Past and Present". He compiled William Allen White's "Forty Years on Main Street", and was editor of "Global Politics" and "Constitutions of the Americas." Fitzgibbon also contributes to the editorial pages of the Los Angeles Times.

As an instructor of courses in Latin American governments and international relations, Fitzgibbon will supervise graduate students writing their dissertations in his specialty.

Chemist to talk on disarmament tomorrow at 4

Dr. Helmut Krauch, director of a study group for System Research in Heidelberg, Germany, will discuss "Science and Disarmament" in South Hall Lecture Room at 4 p.m. tomorrow.

Krauch, who started an interdisciplinary research group to study economic and social aspects of research and development, has observed the organization of U.S. research in industry and government laboratories under the auspices of the German Ministry of Economics.

WIDE PUBLICATIONS

Author of a book on chemical terminology which has an English edition and is being translated into Russian, Krauch has published on such topics as scientific group work, social costs and benefits in research and development, and science policy under public consent.

Dr. Krauch was a Fulbright Fellow at Yale University and Brookhaven National Laboratory in 1956 and 1957.

After delivering his UCSB lecture, Dr. Krauch will speak on the Berkeley campus. He will leave the U.S. about December 4.

Federal representatives will discuss jobs today

Federal Career Day will be held today from 9-4 in the Old Gym instead of the South Hall patio as originally announced.

The staff for the day will consist of representatives from various branches of federal employment in the area. Chairmen are Mr. Fred Baker of the Port Hueneme Naval Construction Battalion Center and Mr. Glenn Franklin of the Social Security Administration of Santa Barbara.

Discussions with individual students will stress government employment through the "Federal Service Entrance Examination." They are also designed to be informative sessions to show the students the diverse types of work available through the federal government.

Information will also be available regarding overseas and summer employment under the government and special career offerings in law enforcement and intelligence will be covered.

Colloquium today to examine psych

"The Psychological Refractory Period," is the topic of a colloquium by Dr. Robert Gottsdanker presented in SH 1008 today at 4. Dr. Gottsdanker is professor of psychology at UCSB.

Faculty and graduate students are invited to the colloquium.

Chain letter letter hits

It spread like wildfire. By 11 p.m. Friday night many students were beginning to wish they hadn't parted with $10 for the chain letter which sounded ever so convincing.

But they kept buying. The lure of $320, distant but possible, was too much to resist.

The Isla Vista market was saturated by the time the partygoers were wending their way home in the wee hours of Saturday morning.

PANIC

Panicky letter holders were hopping from apartment to apartment. But everywhere they went, they were greeted by a student holding yet another letter.

The letter already had surged through UCLA, Cal Poly and Oregon. Now it is on its way to San Francisco State, several junior colleges, other state colleges, and University of Pacific.

"There's a sucker born every minute," one hopeful student said, but the odds were against him and he knew it.

Most students didn't stop to calculate that it takes 126 buyers plus more honesty than most of them have before they reap the promised $320.

Mockery in Mississippi

A Negro pharmacist polled more votes for governor of Mississippi than the man who won the Democratic primary held there last week.

Reports from that state show Aaron Henry, president of the Mississippi NAACP, with nearly 80,000 votes to Paul Johnson's 74,800. And Johnson, most likely will be Mississippi's next Governor.

The unofficial vote, which, had it been official, would have elected Henry, was sponsored by Civil Rights organizations to dramatize the disenfranchisement of Negroes in Mississippi.

It was dramatic, all right.

Those civil rights workers and students from Yale, Stanford, University of the Pacific and former University students, who helped conduct the mock election should be congratulated for their efforts.

We hope that the workers will continue to get support from outside the South for future mock elections, and that with more planning, University students will be able to show their interest in the civil rights movement by contributing time and money to the campaign.

The real IN-group strikes back

Editor:

Re: Mark Mandell's ALL WRONG

Let's face it, Mark, you came to the wrong school if you wanted a "real-folk-singing" IN-group... Here at UCSBJC, we "high school hippies" (now College Joes) are the majority IN-group.

We own the beautiful cars and the desirable girls and we control the frats and the parties.

We enjoy Chad Mitchell, the Kingston Trio, and Joe and Eddy for the same reason you're interested in your flat-wound hicks moaning bluegrass and ethnic gibberish -- they serve our purpose.

We're the "jet set" of the new age. You'll see us in the future controlling big businesses and having fun, with our names smeared all over the society columns in the great American Tradition.

And what about your group? You'll quit school and take up bumming ... hoping that experience, like the Grace of God, will mold you into "pure-folk-singers." If you don't believe me, transfer to Berkeley and you'll find the purist IN-group pasted like flies to the walls of the cheap CO-OPS.

So, you see, our outlook on folksinging is far more realistic -- nylon strings go much easier on the fingers. By the way, my frat is having a Surfin' Hootenanny this Friday night and we want you to come and bring your funny guitar.

We may let you play.

A cautious success

Editor:

Re: "AS to continue support of Camp, considering complete sponsorship."

In this article it states that Dean Reynolds felt that since our enrollment in five years will be 10,000 or almost that much, we would be able to pay $8,000 dollars per year to support Camp Conestoga.

Our enrollment now is 6,000. Our contribution is $2,000. Perhaps the Dean knows what kind of people, financially, he intends to let enroll at this University. The enrollment will increase 56.67% in this time while the payment will increase by 300%. This is quite an increase.

Perhaps Dean Reynolds is banking on an extremely successful "Beachcomber's Holiday". This however is no certainty.

The fact remains that Camp Conestoga seems to be a worthwhile cause. In the tradition set up by our sister campuses we may eventually support an effort of this type. Yet let us hope that this take over will be a genuine effort on the part of student interest

Only a conscious effort to discern the realities of the student body at UCSB will form a base on which to build such projects. Let's not be pushed by ideals, let's make this a cautious articulate student success.

Well understood

Editor:

Pete Kaiser in Open Forum (El Gaucho, Nov. 15): "... we contradict ourselves when we strive to gain security at the expense of others, be they ... Chinese, Russians, or our neighbors."

Mr. Kaiser, shall we have "faith" in the Russians, who murdered children in the streets of Hungary? Even though they have broken every major treaty they have made with the west since the Second World War, shall we accept their word on "faith"?

How about "cooperating" with China's acts of genocide in Tibet?

Mr. Kaiser, I would find it easy to laugh off your article were it not for the fact that these ideas are so widespread today. I am not questioning your good intent, indeed, we all want to see a world in which "every contry has ample opportunity and a chance for self realization," as you phrase it.

But, Mr. Kaiser, would you suggest that we should have shown Hitler the same cooperation that we should show the Chinese? Or would you have us believe that whereas Hitler was basically evil, the Chinese are really good at heart and are only misunderstood?

Most of us understand them all too well.

Debate teams victorious in tournament

Two UCSB debate teams won first place laurels in the Santa Barbara Invitational Debate Tournament held here last weekend.

Diane Jensen and Ron Cook were victorious over 35 other teams from the Western states in upper division competition.

Second place in this competition went to Jeanine Whited and Xavier Tinoco of Los Angeles State College, while third place was won by Robert Putnam and Edward Millican of San Diego State College.

A UCSB team composed of Ron Peterson and Michael Sedano won first place in the lower division section over 54 other teams.

The team of Sean Solomon and David Close from the California Institute of Technology won second place, and that of Penny Watson and Caroline Getz of Long Beach State College won third place.

In winning this tournament, the Santa Barbara team won the UCSB Invitational Perpetual Trophy for this year.

Bike riders are warned

The California Highway Patrol reminds students of the hazards of pedestrian and bicycle travel during winter.

Bicycles must be equipped with proper lights to the front and rear of each unit when used during darkness.

The dark hours are legally described as "one half hour before sunrise and one-half hour after sunset."

Pedestrians and bicycle riders are also reminded to wear light-colored clothing during darkness.

CHP officials add, "Since Sept. 20, 1963, the law now clearly spells out that a bicycle must be ridden on the right side of any public roadway." Riders must yield to the right-of-way rules applicable to motor vehicles.

Students sought for experiment

Student - type guinea pigs are being sought for a psychology experiment.

In the cause of science, an urgent request for 140 upper-division male students has been made by the Psychology department. The experiment will take place Friday at 12, 12:30, and 1 p.m. and reportedly involves no physical discomfort.

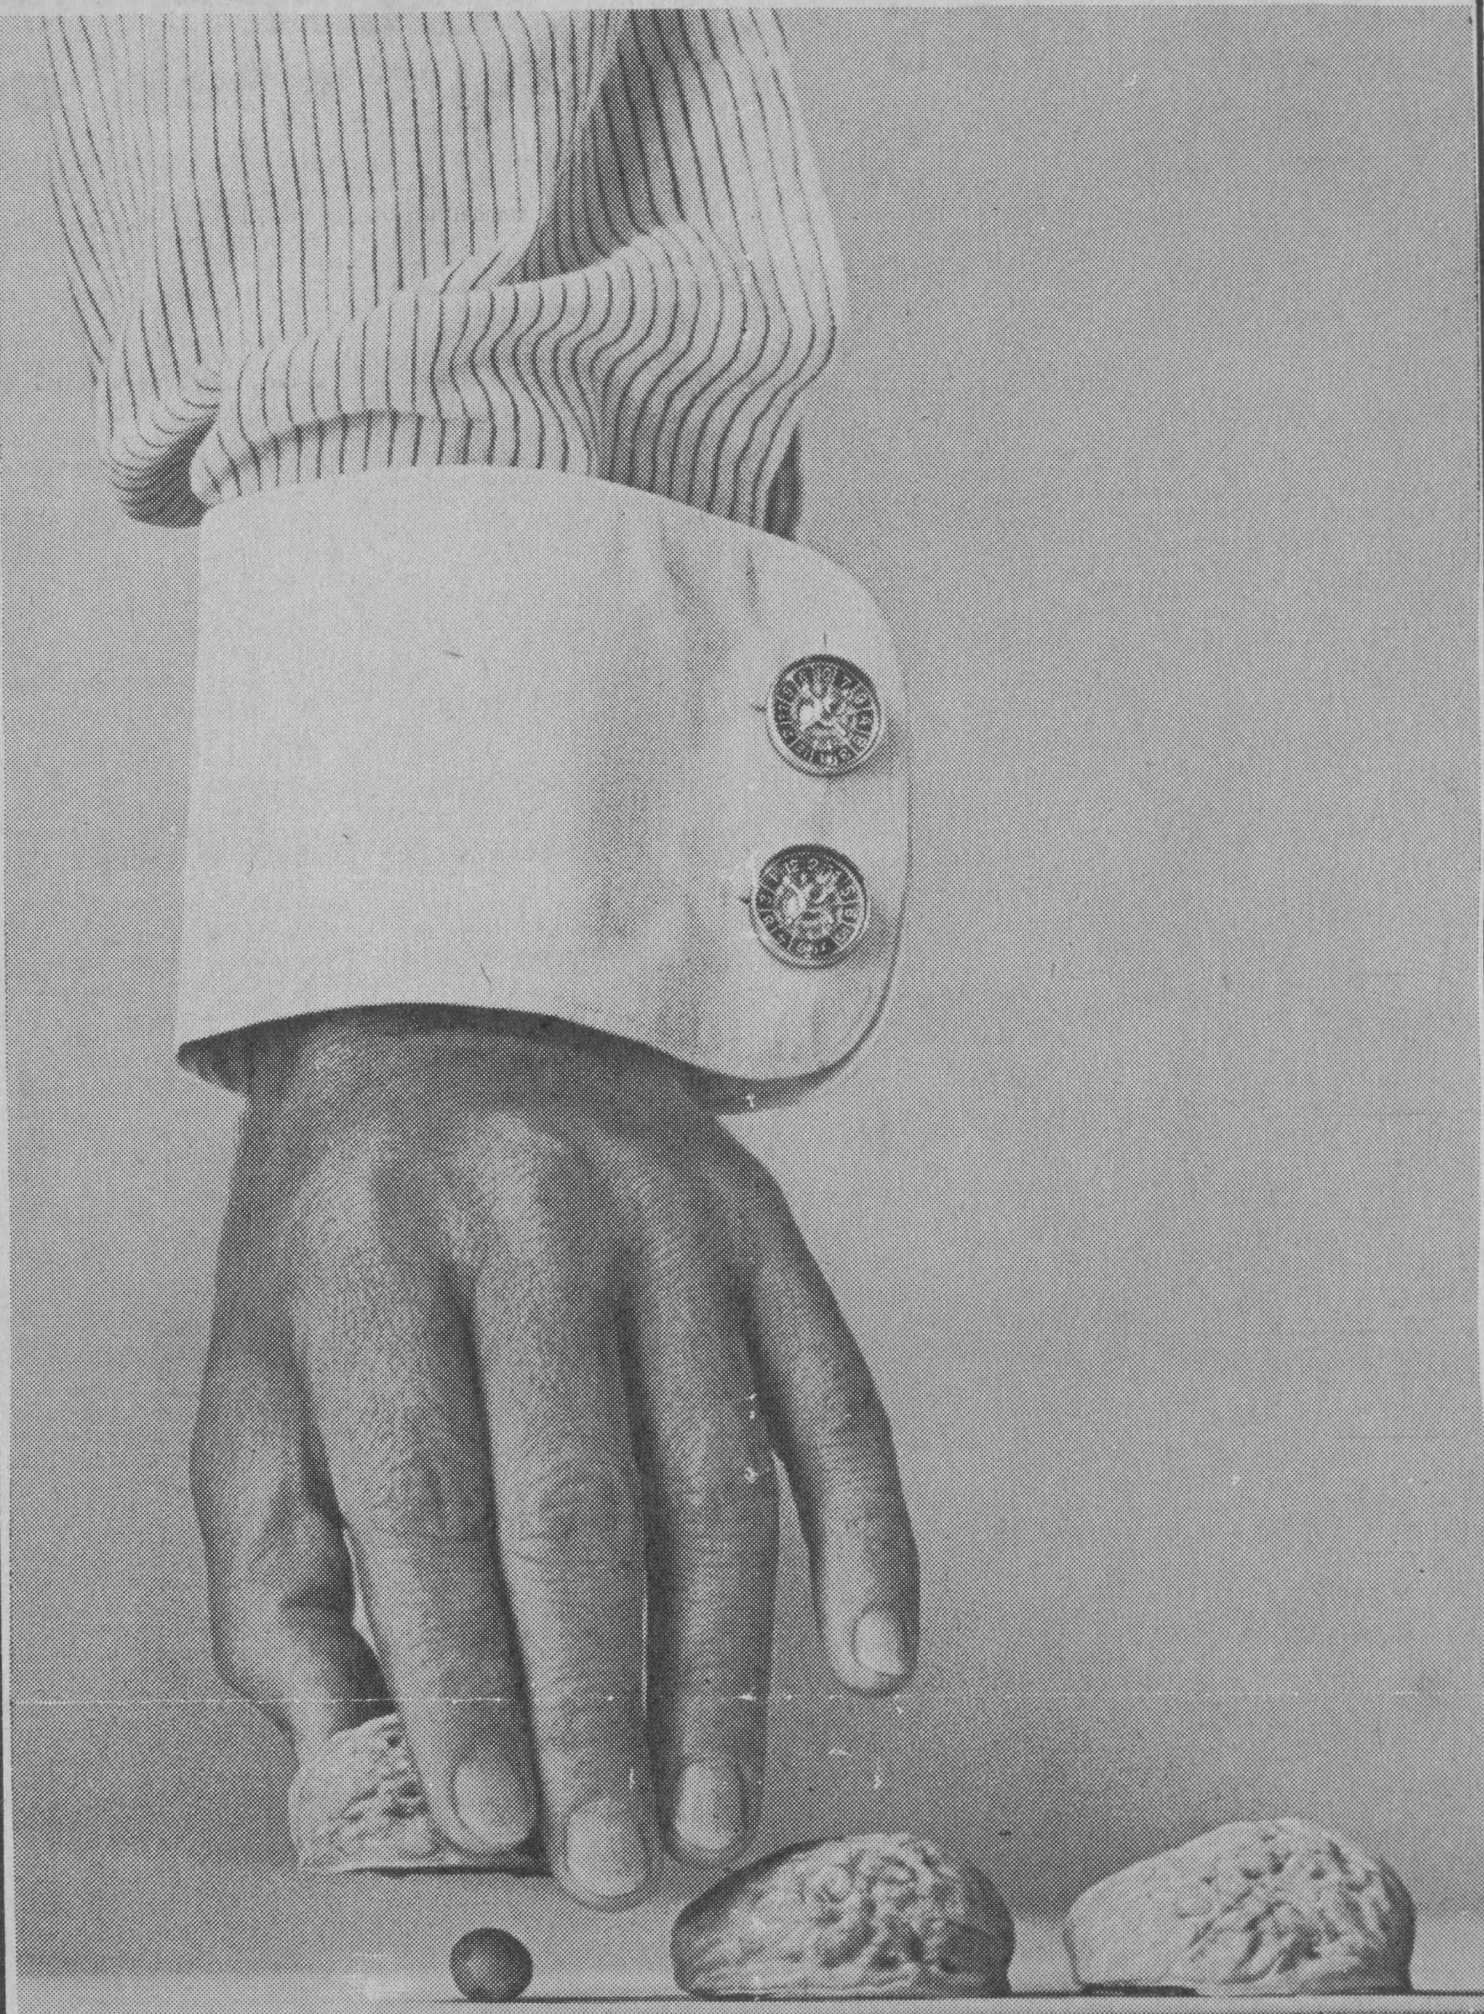

According to the department volunteers will find the experiment interesting. Curious upper division men should sign up in the AS office or call the Psychology Department, extension 2284. Applicants may also sign up in building 408-205.

Dean will speak

Donald Cressey, Dean of the College of Letters and Sciences, will speak on sociological theory and the rehabilitation of drug addicts in the Santa Cruz Formal Lounge, tomorrow from 4 to 5 p.m.

Model UN

All students interested in attending the Model United Nations in April should attend a meeting in the Huddle tomorrow at 4 p.m.

Structure of the United Nations will be the discussion topic.

Love

The Collegiate Christian Fellowship will present Dr. Masumi Toyotome in a lecture discussion on "What Students Should Know About Love".

Dr. Toyotome will lecture in North Hall 1006 tomorrow at 7:30 p.m.

Riding Club

The Riding Club will meet Thursday at 4 in SH 1004. Officers will be elected and plans discussed for weekend group rides and other activities.

Students desiring additional information on boarding horses near campus are urged to attend.

Honor group visits coeds in 'Spur week' activities

Those girls in the white uniforms with a blue and gold emblem are not members of a riding club, nor are they pinned to cowboys. Rather, they are members of UCSB Spurs, the national sophomore woman's honorary service group.

Spurs is sponsoring "Spur Week", today through Friday of this week, to acquaint the campus and particularly freshman women with the organization. As well as wearing their uniforms these three days, Spurs are visiting freshman women's residences on and off campus.

On campus there will be a meeting in both Santa Cruz and Santa Rosa at 10:15 tonight. Off campus girls are meeting in the Tahitian, tomorrow night, Thursday, at 7 p.m. Also, in South Hall is a display illustrating Spur activities and history.

The Santa Barbara Spur Chapter boasts thirty-five girls who are chosen at the end of their freshman year. Selections are based on a mandatory 2.5 GPA, individual responsibility, initiative, service, understanding and interest in others. Such girls promote best the spirit of service to the campus and community, for which Spurs was originated.

ACTIVITIES

Spurs have already cleaned College Cabin with the Squires, assisted in registration before school and on University Day, ushered at GGR, sold sandwiches and Spurshey Bars on float-building night, visited El Jardin Rest Home each Saturday, and convened in the mountains by Redlands for the annual Regional Convention.

At the convention, six chapters of Spurs gathered to exchange ideas, meet other Spurs, and re-evaluate the purpose of Spurs. The convention lasted two days and profited all the chapters.

Future service is planned in continuing to visit the rest home, holding the Book Sale at semester break, selling "Spur-o-grams" on Valentine's Day, plus various short notice service requests from UCSB and the community. Culminating the year will be the selecting of thirty-five new Spurs for service in 1964-65.

Independent men granted permission to form Kuokua

"The first attempt on campus to organize non-affiliated men into any type of registered social club."

This is the story of Kuokua, a new campus organization formerly known as The Independents.

"The main purpose is to give independent men an organization that will be able to participate in all University activities, scholastic and competitive, and have activities of its own," explains president Wayne Reese.

PERMISSION GRANTED

At present the group has been given permission to organize in order to register.

David Ross is serving as vice president, Cabot Abel as secretary, and Pete Ragan as treasurer.

Kuokua is sponsoring an intramural basketball team.

Membership is decided by a two-thirds vote of all members. Maximum number for this semester is 40.

Members have the option to drop out of the club at any time. There will be no type of pledge requirements, loyalty requirements, dues or anything along the line of a hell week.

University men not members of fraternities or RHA are eligible to join.

New Colonel's Coeds installed

In ceremonies at the Military Science Department, recently elected members of Colonel's Coeds were installed into the ROTC Cadet Brigade.

New members were welcomed by Colonel Coed President Laurie Petersen and the Professor of Military Science, Lt. Colonel George M. Boone, Jr.

New members are: Marian Alexander, Kathleen Bennett, Paula Biles, Charlene Blaney, Cathy Clay, Carolyn Coddling, Nancy Crocker and Sharon Currie.

Pam Detloff, Jean Edmunds, Christina Fernandez, Holly Hall, Ann Harrington, Susan Henry, Karen Hood, Marc Jacobs, Jane Johnson, Karen Johnson, Barbara Jordan, Marina Jurras and Karen Longston were also presented to the Corps.

Carolyn Lawrence, Darlu Little, Diane Manning, Wendy Matson, Anne McQuaid, Doreen Melendy, Gail Meyer, Priscilla Mullen, Tina Nelson and Nancy Porter are new members of the group as well as Barbara Riley, Julie Rudd, Wendy Schmitz, Lorraine Seabury, Karen Senior, Nancy Son, Jan Swihart, Diane Twitchell, Lee Vice and Ellen Wagner.

Nyquist recital termed 'brilliant' by reviewer

by HARRIET WENGRAF
Staff Writer

For one and a half hours Sunday night, a spellbound audience listened to a brilliant concert presented by Dr. Roger Nyquist, concert organist.

In a program of music including Vivaldi - Bach, Clarke, Liszt, and Mulet, Dr. Nyquist conveyed a wonderful sense of vitality in all his interpretations, as well as clarity and accuracy in technique.

The "Trumpet Voluntary", originally written for organ by J. Clarke, was heard two weeks ago as an orchestral work by Purcell performed by the UCSB Symphony. It is interesting to note that in both concerts, this work was used as an opening number.

BRILLIANCE OF SOUND

Due to the improved acoustics in the newly renovated Methodist Church, the brilliance of sound with which the "Trumpet Voluntary" was presented most certainly had a breath-taking effect

Ski Club meets

Ski Club members will convene at 7 p.m. tonight in South Hall lecture room.

Business includes preparation for the four day trip during Christmas break to Mammoth and for the Sun Valley trip at semester break. The distribution of tickets for the December 6 all-school presentation of "Some Like it Cold" is also planned.

Members will continue formulation of plans for a ski race with Cal Poly. Two ski movies will be shown after the business meeting.

fect on the listener and served to establish a feeling of excitement throughout the remainder of the performance.

The variations of mood presented by the different pieces represented a well-planned program. It was a shame, however, to have a mood of peaceful, almost reverent contemplation, shattered by the enthusiastic audience's wild applause, though it was surely appreciated.

It was also interesting to observe the way an audience immediately recognizes something of value and has no qualms in demanding more from an artist. Dr. Nyquist performed two encores for an audience very unwilling to let him escape.

EVENING'S HIGHLIGHT

Highlighting the evening was Dr. Nyquist's performance of his recently published work "Aria Cantilena". This is a piece composed of a beautifully lyrical melody accompanied by impressionistic dissonances which combine to sustain a wonderful feeling of suspended serenity. The middle section, although it does not rise above the dynamic level of mezzo forte, maintains a certain vitality and tension which captures the listener's interest. It is a poignantly subjective composition.

The final work, "Toccata: Thou Art the Rock" by Mulet, sent charges of electricity through the air with its dissonances, and Dr. Nyquist's ability as a virtuoso organist was most certainly evident as he brought one of the finest concerts of the year so far to a thrilling close.

Corrals available

Students who own horses and are interested in keeping them near campus next semester are urged to make arrangements now.

Corrals renting for $6 per month are available at 400 Storke Road in Isla Vista. Water is accessible, and corrals will be built on a community basis.

Interested owners should contact Miss Williamson at 400 Storke Road or Marshall Glick in San Miguel.

Film scheduled

"The Golden Age of Comedy" will be shown in Campbell Hall at 7 p.m. tomorrow night by the Speech and Drama Department.

The film is free to the public, and will be also shown to Speech and Drama students at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Menotti operas presented

Final week of rehearsal is underway for the UCSB Opera Workshop performance of two operas by Gian Carlo Menotti.

The works will be performed this Friday and Saturday in the campus auditorium at 8:30 p.m. General admission is $1.50, students 75 cents.

"The Old Maid and The Thief" was written for presentation on radio in the late 1930's. The production requires experimental staging and lighting which has been arranged and directed by Carl Zytowski assisted by Ron Lipsey and Mr. Thomas Faunce.

MADRIGAL FABLE

A madrigal fable, "The Unicorn, the Gorgon and the Manticore" is a more recent work written in the 1950's. "The Unicorn" is actually a choral ballet with no soloists, but a seventeen voice chorus vocally narrates the action while dancers pantomime.

Marc Ozanich, a senior art major at UCSB, will be making his debut as a singer in the productions. He has done the choreography for both operas and plays the male lead in each work.

Navy awards Broida research contract

A three-year research contract for $266,000 has been awarded by the office of Naval Research to Dr. H. P. Broida, professor of physics at UCSB.

Broida's project is entitled "Quantitative Studies by Optical Spectroscopy of Energy Exchange Mechanism in Simple Gases and Solids."

INVESTIGATION

The purpose of the UCSB physicist's research is to study some of the basic problems of molecular structure in the gaseous and solid state and at the same time investigate how energy is changed from one form to another.

Results of such an investigation should have direct application in explaining some of the atomic and molecular processes occurring in the upper atmosphere. With this information, ideas for designing improved space vehicles may be obtained.

Under the new doctoral program in physics at UCSB, Ph.D. candidates Jerry Dunn and Harold Pruett are assisting Broida in this project.

Stanley Shapiro, a master's candidate in physics, is also participating in this research. Keith Schofield, a post-doctoral fellow from Cambridge, England, will join the group soon.

Project Pakistan forms available

Applications for Project Pakistan, a program of person-to-person contact which sends UCSB students abroad for a summer in the Far East, are available in EL GAUCHO office.

The application booklet also includes complete information about the program, which is sponsored by the University Religious Conference.

A special assembly for all students who are interested in participating in the project will be held Monday at 4 p.m. in South Hall 1004.

The Project Pakistan team of last summer will present informal talks on selection and training processes, nature of preparation, some of their experiences and other details of the program.

Application forms are due in the University Religious Conference office, 6518 El Greco Rd., Tuesday, Dec. 3, before 5 p.m. Applicants will then be signed up for personal interviews.

Those who apply also will sit for a battery of tests to be administered Dec. 7 from 9 a.m. to noon. Initial selections then will be made before the field is narrowed down further in a combined selection and training program.

Tickets on sale tomorrow for next drama production

"Mademoiselle Columbe", by Jean Anouilh, France's foremost contemporary playwright, will be presented in the UCSB Little Theatre December 4-7 and 10-14. The play is the second offering of the semester to be produced by the campus drama department.

Tickets go on sale tomorrow at the Campbell Hall box office. Admission prices are $1 for students and faculty; $1.50 for general admission.

Because of the large subscription membership, students seeking single admissions are urged to purchase their tickets well in advance. The seating capacity of the Little Theatre is limited.

SERIO-COMIC PLAY

Anouilh's play is a serio-comic treatment of illusion and reality. Set in the Paris theatre at the turn of the century. The basic theme of the play is existential, depicting the plight of modern man attempting to find a place, a personality, and a pleasurable existence in society.

The student cast, directed by Stephen R. Alkire, features Diana Seely, Phil Piequet, Pat Bower, Ray Lloyd, Sue Guenther, Evan Cole, Tim Lyons, Larry Hoffman, and Ken Kahn.

Scholarships awarded through Regent program

The Regents Scholarship Program is of special interest to students with high scholastic records and no financial need, according to Dr. Lawrence Willson, Chancellor's Representative for Undergraduate Scholarships.

The program was inaugurated in 1962. Although financial need is not a criterion for the award, a $100 honorarium is awarded to sophomores and entering freshmen with outstanding scholastic records and potential value to society. The scholarship is held for the duration of undergraduate training, as long as students maintain a 3.0 average.

REQUIREMENTS

Requirements for scholarship applicants include letters of recommendation, and a five hundred word essay describing experiences on campus. Applicants are also asked to enclose a list of books they have read for pleasure in the past year, a list of books they wish to read within the next six months, and a list of the newspapers and periodicals they usually read.

Applications are due on January 15.

Following application, appointees are interviewed by a committee of three faculty and alumnae members. Awards are made by Chancellor Vernon Cheadle and President Clark Kerr on April 15.

Thirty-nine Regents Scholars have been appointed since 1962, and approximately 37 will be appointed this spring. Out of these scholars, three are with the Education Abroad Program. Thomas J. Bleauvelt and Susan Rapoport are at Bordeaux, while Peter G. Clark is at Goettingen. All are juniors.

FRESHMEN

Other Regents scholars are freshmen Ralph E. Barbour, Jr., Kathleen P. Bennett, Alan D. Beyerchen, Richard F. Galton, James R. Geil, Margaret Ann Harrison, Randall H. Kewen, and Dennis M. Malone.

Also included in the program are freshmen Margaret Mitchell, Larry W. Riggs, Lois A. Salisbury, Tamara Satiel, Ronald B. Simmons, Charles Wormington, III, Jennifer Graham, and Dean Panonides.

Sophomore Regents Scholars are Aimee Allen, Judith E. An-person (who is on a leave of absence for this year), Lawrence Bruser, Forrest W. Curo, Robert D. Curry, and Thomas P. Dunning.

SOPHOMORES

Ellen A. McCauley, Michael Olpin, John T. Payne, Kathleen A. Rieffel, Peggy J. Rodriguez, and Thomas R. Sharp are also Regents Scholars in the sophomore class.

Junior Regent Scholars are Sneed B. Collard, Jr., John E. Diamond, Faith T. Fitzgerald, Gary B. Griggs, Roland J. Harris, Stephen C. Neasham, Daniel J. Randtke, and Susan F. Young.

Leslie C. Meyers is the only Regent Scholar in Senior Class.

Students who are interested should contact Dr. Willson in the Scholarship and Loan Building, upstairs.

2 historians complete abridgment of Adams

Two Santa Barbara historians have completed an abridgment of one of the great masterpieces of American history -- Henry Adams' "History of the United States."

George Dangerfield, Pulitzer prize winner, and Dr. Otey Scruggs, assistant professor of history, have edited the original nine-volume work into two paperback books. Just off the presses of Prentice-Hall, Inc., the abridged volumes deal with the administrations of Jefferson and Madison, respectively.

FOUR PARTS

The history is divided into four parts with a ten-page introduction by the editors. Volume I recounts the major events of Jefferson's administrations -- the Louisiana Purchase, the Monroe - Pinkney Treaty, the Aaron Burr trial and the Embargo Act of 1807.

Dangerfield and Dr. Scruggs take care to retain Adams' plan to fit each event into the latter's central theme; the rise, decline and renewal of democratic nationalism.

Volume II recounts the major events of Madison's administrations, concentrating on the War of 1812 and its consequences. Adams deals with the "imbecility" of the 11th Congress, the War itself, the Hartford Convention and the triumph of union over disunion within his central theme.

In this abridgment, the editors attempt to retain as much of Adams' approach to this period as possible, including original spelling and punctuation wherever appropriate.

Adams wrote the historical masterpiece between the years 1889 and 1891. The Nineteenth century historian was the great-grandson of President John Adams and grandson of President John Quincy Adams. He was a Harvard man -- both a student and teacher and author of numerous volumes of non-fiction as well as fiction.

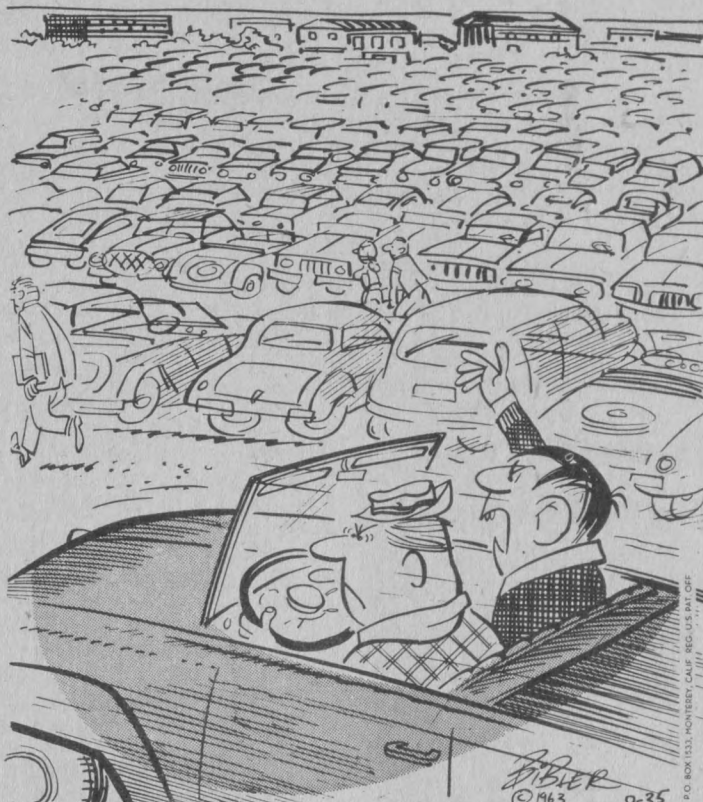

SUPPLEMENTARY USE

The abridged volumes are part of the Classic in History Series of works in American history. Editors Dangerfield and Scruggs expect them to be widely used for supplementary reading in college courses in American history, including courses in historiography.

George Dangerfield, British born and Oxford educated, was awarded the coveted Pulitzer Prize in 1954 for his first book on American history, "The Era of Good Feelings." The same year he received Columbia University's Bancroft Prize for distinguished writing in this area.

Otey Scruggs, a UCSB alumnus, earned his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard University. He joined the UCSB faculty in 1957. His book on American agricultural history (farm labor) will soon be published.

Much progressed cage team works out daily

"I feel that our team is much progressed over last year's at this stage of the game", stated head basketball coach Art Gallon.

"Our change of conferences put us in one of the seven best basketball conferences in the nation, and we have a very rigid schedule, but I've been very pleased with the development of the team so far," Gallon added.

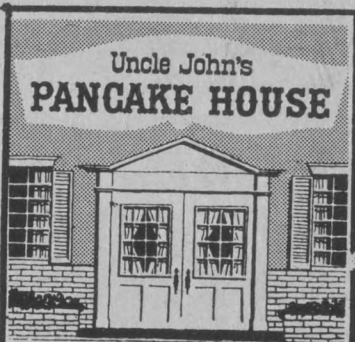

Gallon singled out returning lettermen Hal Murdock, Steve Fruchey and John Conroy.

"I look for Murdock to be a pretty consistent 20 point scorer this year. We haven't had one of those in a long time," said

Block 'C' club meets tonight

A meeting of the Block "C" Club will be held in room 1125 of Robertson Gym at 7:30 p.m. tonight. The 1962-63 outstanding athlete will be announced and discussion will be held concerning a movie to be sponsored by the club.

Discussion of possibilities for school projects is also scheduled. Those who cannot attend should contact Bob Musella, Dennis Lynch, Brian Smith or Doug Reiman.

Scott dominates final football stats

Final statistics for UCSB's 1963 football season indicate that Chris Dawson, Dennis Lynch, and Larry Scott were coach Jack Curtice's biggest stars.

"Larry Scott was definitely the best all-around player on the team this year," said assistant grid coach Pete Rheilman. Statistics strongly support Rheilman's statement.

LEADING RUSHER

Scott was the team's leading rusher with 303 yards and a 4.2 yard average. He was fourth in total offense, and third in pass receptions, gaining 141 yards on nine catches. And, he was the Gauchos' second leading scorer.

Defensively, Scott was no less outstanding. He led the team with 192 points in a defensive rating system based upon points for blocked kicks, tackles, fumbles recovered, and passes deflected and intercepted.

Included in Scott's defensive rating were 16 unassisted tackles, 37 assisted tackles, and four intercepted passes.

Dawson led the team in total offense with 727 yards, including 602 net yards passing and 125 rushing.

113 PASSES

The junior quarterback threw 113 passes, completing 59 for a .522 completion percentage and four touchdowns.

Lynch, Dawson's favorite target, caught 32 passes good for 323 yards and one touchdown.

Tony Goehring was second to Lynch in pass receiving with 20 catches for 277 yards and four TD's. He was the team's leading scorer with 26 points.

Defensively, halfback Bob Blindbury ranked after Scott on the rating system with 180 points. Blindbury made 16 unassisted tackles and intercepted five passes which he returned for 82 yards.

Defensive end Norm Wood finished third in defensive statistics, largely on the basis of his 45 assisted tackles.

Cheadle giving out free tickets

Complimentary basketball tickets will be distributed by the Chancellor's office this year for the first time.

Conference regulations of the new league that UCSB has entered limit each school to 60 of these tickets per game, two of which go to each basketball player.

There are 14 players on the Gauchos squad which accounts for 28 of the permissible 60.

Last year the Intercollegiate Athletic Commission (IAC) offered 187 such complimentary season tickets.

After a lengthy debate last Thursday, IAC recommended that the remaining 32 tickets go to the 23 full time members of the men's physical education department.

Any further tickets needed to give each member two tickets would be paid for from the IAC budget. One third of this budget comes from the Associated Students.

Four tickets would also be offered the members of the women's physical education department.

Harriers work at daily drills

"Regular daily workouts are scheduled this week, and we are coming along fine," commented Cross Country Coach Sam Adams on the team's progress.

"We've been working this week on building up our ability to keep running when the going gets tough," Adams states.

Continuing the harrier mentor said, "The courses we have run on have helped prepare us for the upcoming NCAA regional meet."

"Above all, we must build up our confidence. We have a very good chance to do well in this meet," he concluded.

Holman, Hoskins

Andy Holman and Nancy Hoskins teamed to win the mixed doubles volleyball tournament last Sunday in Robertson Gym.

The team of Chet Eccles and Stephanie DeLange finished second in the tournament which was entered by 16 teams.

Both the first and second place teams received individual trophies.

The event was sponsored by the Recreation Commission.
