Foreign Students Sponsor International Bazaar, Week

By TERESA CHENERY
EG Staff Writer

Amid the straw packing and jumble of tables, brightly colored gifts from sixteen countries including Africa, Great Britain and Taiwan have appeared in the UCen's Art Gallery to be sold in this week long International Bazaar.

The Bazaar, which starts today, is part of International Week activities which will be put on by foreign students on this campus working with American students.

During the week, the UCen will be decorated with articles from many different countries brought in part from the students' own countries and improvised.

Exotic Eastern food from India, Japan and China will be served (a different one every day) for lunch in the UCen this week.

Activities will include a talk on Yoga by a visitor from India tonight, and a talent show in the Interim put on by the foreign students themselves, (date to be announced)

IN THE FUTURE

Plans for the Bazaar to be expanded in the future are based in part on the Bazaar held every year at the University of Illinois.

Such a bazaar would involve classes on campus in foreign dancing, crafts, and cuisine, and would "shut down the school" for the week so all students could actively take part in arranging events, meeting foreign students and learn something of the many different cultures represented.

"By the work one knows the craftsman," says the Bazaar film from Illinois. By presenting gifts and articles this week, the hope is that students will become interested in finding out more about the countries and people which have produced them.

"This year we're laying the grounds for starting a much larger Bazaar in the future," commented the man in charge of the Bazaar, Ben Krohn.

Money from the gift sales will go to promote and support International "relations" and activities which enable foreign students to meet and get to know Americans while being on this campus.

Devaluation of Pound Sets Off 'Gold Rush'

LONDON (AP)—The record push to buy gold reached stampede levels in the bullion markets of Western Europe Friday, reflecting widespread anxiety over monetary values in the wake of devaluation of the pound.

In London, gold dealers said buying orders were arriving in "near panic" proportions from all over the world.

Paris reported sales 10 times above normal.

In Johannesburg, stock exchange dealers jostled each other in their efforts to buy gold mining stocks. The scene was described as "near pandemonium." South Africa, as one of the leading producers of gold, would profit heavily if its price rose.

The Swiss National Bank advised leading banks to halt temporarily forward sales of gold, for delivery in 30, 60 or 90 days, in a move to protect its supply of dollars.

SILVER PRICE SOARS

The drive for gold was a broad movement to change paper money for the solidity of metal. The price of silver in the London metal market soared to a new high of $2.10 an ounce.

Behind the move appeared to be general uneasiness about the strength of the dollar and speculation that the price of gold may be revalued upward from the $35 an ounce the U.S. government pays.

But in Washington, the Treasury Department stood unmoved behind President Johnson's Nov. 18 pledge to maintain the value of the U.S. dollar in terms of gold.

And in London the international gold pool steadied the metal's price by continuing to supply the bullion market with the gold needed to satisfy all demand. The pool was set up in 1962 by eight nations for this purpose. The United States supplies more than 50 per cent of the pool's needs.

France suspended its role in the pool in June and disclosure of this Monday undoubtedly contributed to the general uneasiness. The United States took over the 9 per cent share that France held.

Well over 100 tons of bullion were believed to have changed hands Friday. A ton of gold is worth $11.2 million.

The story was different on the London Stock Exchange, which witnessed a further plunge of prices. At the closing the Financial Times index of 30 industrial stocks was down 7.9 points, at 395.2, from Thursday's closing.

LABOR REPERCUSSIONS

The Labor government itself got a couple of shocks, however. In the first special election since the pound was devalued from $2.80 to $2.40, West Derby gave it a sharp rebuff by more than doubling the Conservative margin. The Labor candidate ran third, behind the Liberal candidate.

And the Daily Mail published a poll saying 54 per cent of voters it questioned thought that Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government should resign. His mandate runs until 1971, but he can call an election at any time.

The pound, however, remained steady just under its new ceiling at $2.41995.

HOLLINGSHEAD HERE MET BY PARADE Describes Town

By MOLLY SAMUELSEN
EG Staff Writer

Wayne Hollingshead, hero of Sandpoint, Idaho, and personal confidant of Smokey the Bear, arrived in Santa Barbara last Tuesday. Met by huge crowds of well wishers, Hollingshead was accorded a ticker tape parade down Embarcadero Del Norte. At the same hour, the UCSB Peace Committee went into emergency executive session in order to fend off any new waves of Sandpoint conservatism.

Governor Reagan has not yet commented on Hollingshead's dramatic entrance into our state, but word is expected from Sacramento momentarily.

Hollingshead attended a gala $500 a plate dinner at the mansion home of local bigwig Rick Rawles Tuesday night. Since that time he has been engaged in top level discussions with Isla Vista officials on the possible diplomatic recognition of Sandpoint by Isla Vista and the United States.

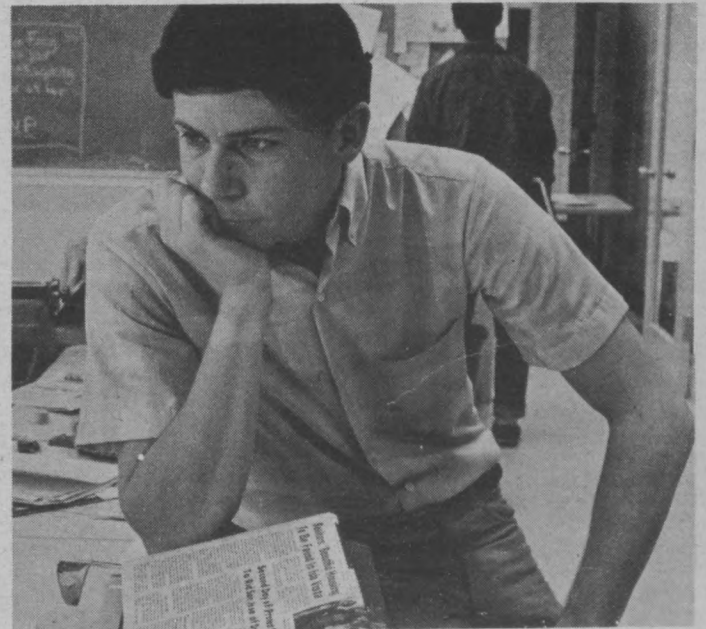

In the exclusive interview you've all been waiting for, the pride of Sandpoint, Idaho, Wayne Hollingshead, vigorously denied that there is any unnatural relationship between the town's inhabitants and Smokey the Bear.

Originally from Ventura, Wayne left for Sandpoint six months ago deciding that it'd "be a nice place to go to get away from it all."

Nestled high in the Idaho hills, the sleepy little hamlet has recently acquired fame in the EL GAUCHO Public Enemy Contest. Speaking for his people, Wayne expressed gratitude for the gesture which he feels is the first step towards putting Sandpoint (pop. 4300) on the map.

Commenting on social activities in the area, Wayne explained that bi-annual dances generate

Peace Corps to Intervene For Future Draft Deferment

WASHINGTON (CPS) -- The Peace Corps has announced it will begin intervening on behalf of Peace Corps volunteers seeking draft deferments for two years of overseas service.

In a major policy shift, Peace Corps Director Jack Vaughn, concerned by mounting induction calls for volunteers serving overseas, said he will take an "active role" in future deferment cases before the Presidential Appeal Board, the court of last resort for draft reclassifications.

In the past, the agency has performed only an informational function—advising volunteers and trainees of Selective Service laws and procedures and confirming to local boards the fact of the volunteer's service.

In future appeals, however, Vaughn plans to write letters to the local boards describing the circumstances in each case and urging board members to grant a deferment until completion of the volunteer's overseas tour.

"We have a serious situation," Vaughn said. "Pulling a volunteer off a productive job at mid-tour is unfair to the nation, the host country, the Peace Corps, and the individual."

Peace Corps volunteers have lost about 60 deferment appeals before the three-man board in the last six and one-half years. "Virtually all of these have occurred in the past year," Vaughn said.

Of the approximately 25 volunteers who have already returned to the United States for draft induction, two were disqualified for physical reasons and returned to their overseas assignments.

Kerr Warns Against Secret Projects

COLUMBUS, Ohio (CPS) -- Clark Kerr, former president of the University of California, said last week that classified research is justified during wartime but that universities should be careful about accepting secret projects in peacetime.

"A university campus ought to be very cautious before it takes on any secret work,"

Kerr warned, though he defended such wartime activities as the University of California's part in the development of the atomic bomb.

DIVISIVE FORCE

He also decried what he called "the tendency recently to go beyond civil disobedience to violence" among campus demonstrators. He called it a "serious matter" and said that "force is divisive within the university among faculty, students, and administration, and divisive between the university and the outside community."

The educator, presently head of a special commission studying the long range needs of higher education, made the remarks during the annual meeting of the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges.

Vietnam War: Student Issue

Legislative Council will be faced with a resolution by Representative-at-Large Tony Shih on the Vietnam war.

The resolution resolves that Leg Council "go on record in opposition to American military involvement in Vietnam." And that Council favors "unilateral American de-escalation and unconditional negotiations with the North Vietnamese government and the National Liberation Front."

In one sense the resolution is ludicrous. It seems silly for Leg Council to sit around and debate the war. After all, what can they do about it? Withdraw all Associated Students' troops from Southeast Asia?

The resolution would also seem to be in violation of what are known as the "Kerr Directives." These state that student governments should confine their business to on campus issues. In the above sense, it seems that Vietnam is definitely an off campus issue.

Yet in a much larger and more significant sense there is no issue on the campus today which is more important and pressing.

The war has caused a moral dilemma for students, faculty and Administration. Should the University allow manufacturers of war goods to recruit on campus? Must a student serve in a war that he feels is immoral because the laws of this country compel him to do so?

Graduate schools have been placed in jeopardy because they can no longer be assured of students after they have completed their undergraduate years. The army has first choice for these students.

We believe that the Vietnam war is definitely a campus and student issue.

There has been a great deal of concern about legitimate dissent, in other words—clean cut dissent. The only dissent that seems to get any notice is a faction that can be easily dismissed by established power structures. This would not be as true of such a group like Leg Council.

We do not support or condone the war in Vietnam if for no other reason than that of the Johnson Administration's failing to show that there is any reason to be fighting the war in the first place.

We urge Council to pass this measure.

LETTERS

Eight In County Jail

To the Editor:

If you smoke marijuana, please stop. The rap's not worth it. Take it from someone who was busted last week end.

I'm writing this now from the Santa Barbara County Jail. In the cell are seven other men my age. We were all arrested in Isla Vista on the same charge. None of us here believe it was worth it. None of us would want to go through the hassle we went through last night (Friday, 17) again, let alone what we still have to go through.

Last night I attended the bonfire rally. Today I can see the Homecoming Parade through the cell bars. My only thought now is to implore those people out there to heed what I'm writing.

Please, keep cool and stay out of trouble.

NAME WITHHELD

Remember Virginia

To the Editor:

This letter is in response to Ken Kalb's letter concerning poor Virginia Wilson, whose residence in county jail for possession of marijuana hetermed "epileptic justice."

I agree that physically marijuana is probably less harmful than alcohol, for example. Perhaps this belief is a more enlightened position than the "harmful effect physically" partial rationale behind those laws. If you break them, and are caught (which is your own fault), you run the risk of being prosecuted for it. This is a simple fact of life: remember poor Virginia Wilson?

It is not Judge Smith's prerogative to judge on the validity of the laws; it is for him to administer justice on the basis of existing laws. If you have a complaint to make against the law, you are foolish in aiming it at Judge Smith. Better you direct your energy and rhetoric where it can be of some relevance: the legislature.

Also, you seem to feel that Judge Smith, in holding up Miss Wilson as an example, did it for vengeful motives. Couldn't it be just as plausible that by doing so he had humanitarian reasons? That he wished to make other such people aware of both the law and the consequences of breaking it so that they might avoid a similar outcome? If so, he has helped those currently breaking the law who think nothing can come of it.

Finally, I wish to take strong exception to your remark: "Once more, we have a situation of the logical few subjected to the absurdities of the mentally menopausal masses." What is so surprising about such subjection? It (majority rule) is a crucial underpinning of democracy.

Further, you have no logical basis to believe that just because you think that you are right, you are. It remains to be proved. In this instance you do your viewpoint no good by declaring the opposition to be "mentally menopausal masses." Do you think many of them are caught possessing or using marijuana? Does that make them smart or foolish?

Wilson Letter: The Deputy D.A. Reacts

To the Editor:

I have read the letter to the Editor by the parents of Virginia Wilson, which appeared in the EL GAUCHO, in which the Wilsons indicated their disillusion with the "unenlightened and uninformed jury" which heard the case involving Virginia.

Since I was present at the entire trial I feel that they have misstated the facts and the surrounding circumstances in the case, and I must therefore direct attention to the testimony produced at the trial.

The jury deliberated for approximately two and one-half hours and returned a verdict finding Virginia Wilson guilty of possession of marijuana.

Along with other evidence the jury heard: 1) Virginia's admission that she had, previous to her arrest, on at least two occasions, smoked marijuana with several young men and women in her apartment; thus she knew what it was and what effect it had on a user.

2) That no one else slept in Virginia's bedroom and that Virginia at no time had any roommates to share her bedroom, closet, chest of drawers, storage areas, etc.

3) The officers found yellow zig zag paper, in her bedroom, in a drawer; these zig zag paper are commonly used to roll loose marijuana cigarettes.

4) That three grams of marijuana were found in Virginia's bedroom, in the bottom of a grocery bag which also contained a metal box of slides taken during her summer vacation. Virginia testified that she knew the metal box was in the grocery bag but knew nothing about the marijuana.

5) Virginia was asked what was in the rolled up plastic bag in the grocery bag, and said "grass, I guess." (i.e. marijuana) The obvious implication is that Virginia knew what was in the bag without seeing its contents.

The judge instructed the jury that to find the defendant guilty in this case they must find that she had possession of marijuana. —

"Within the meaning of the law a person is in possession of a narcotic when he knowingly has the narcotic under his dominion and control, and, to his knowledge, it either is carried on his person or is in his presence and custody, or, if not on his person or in his presence, the possession thereof is immediate, accessible, and exclusive to him" and —

"To constitute the illegal possession of a narcotic, the acts of dominion and control must be accompanied by knowledge on the part of the accused of (1) the presence of the narcotic object, and (2) of its narcotic nature. Unless such knowledge exists, the crime of illegal possession of a narcotic is not committed.

"The knowledge required by law may be shown by circumstantial evidence; it is manifested by the circumstances attending the possession, the manner in which it is exercised, the means used, and the sound mind and discretion of the person committing the act."

The defense attorney argued to the jury that "a guilty verdict would ruin Virginia for life," and "how would you like to have your son or daughter being tried on this evidence?"

So, the jury was adequately warned by the defense attorney of the seriousness of the charge. During the two and one-half hours the jury deliberated, they asked for testimony to be re-read to them. This was done, and that indicates the intelligent nature of these deliberations.

The accusations against the case are unbounded. The jury returned a verdict based upon all the evidence in the case, not just the evidence the defendant presented.

The tragic thing is not the verdict, but the response of the defendant's parents and defense attorney.

'Big Brother' and 'Fish' Appearing this Friday

The Associated Students' Concerts and Social Committees of the University of California at Santa Barbara are presenting a concert featuring BIG BROTHER and THE HOLDING COMPANY, COUNTRY JOE AND THE FISH, ALEXANDER'S TIMELESS BLOOZBAND, and a psychedelic light show by DRY PAINT this Friday. The concert will be held in Robertson Gym on campus and is slated to begin at 8:30 p.m.

BIG BROTHER and THE HOLDING COMPANY is one of the most popular groups from San Francisco. They play the gamut of emotional sounds from Blues, to Rock, to Folk Commentary, to Spiritual. Janis Joplin, the lead singer, who is featured on a great deal of their material, is considered to be the greatest white blues singer today.

COUNTRY JOE and THE FISH, also from San Francisco, is made up of five musicians who sound like anything but "fish." They play a variety of music but mainly concentrate on Folk Commentary. Their song, "Superbird," is a caustically satiric commentary on Lyndon Johnson. "Not So Sweet Martha Lorraine" was recently on the top ten on many California radio stations.

ALEXANDER'S TIMELESS BLOOZBAND, a Santa Barbara group, is currently riding high on local radio surveys with "Love So Strong." They are Santa Barbara's most popular local band.

The entire concert will be staged with a psychedelic backdrop of special lighting effects by Santa Barbara's DRY PAINT LIGHT COMPANY.

Tryouts Set for MacLeish Play

Tryouts for the Readers Theatre Production of Archibald MacLeish's "J.B." will be held Wednesday, Nov. 29, 4-6 and 7-9 p.m., and Thursday, Nov. 30, 7-9 p.m. in Room 1673 of the Speech Building.

The Readers Theatre Production calls for eight males and two females. All students, regardless of major, are invited to attend the tryouts.

Grad Student Winton to Direct Pirandello's 'Liola'

Each year one graduate student in Drama is chosen to direct a play as his thesis. This year, Don Winton is directing Pirandello's "Liola."

An unusual venture into comedy for Pirandello, "Liola" is a Sicilian rustic farce which has its roots in sixteenth century Italian comedy and French bedroom theatre. The humor, essentially bawdy and satirical, is consistently bitter.

The fuel of the plot derives from a clash between man's natural animal drives, so to speak, and the control of social morality. The characters must disguise their base desires and "the illusion is blended" between their "social masks" and their underlying tendencies.

Last year Winton directed Arthur Miller's "After The Fall," as well as having acted in several local production of one-act plays. "I was told that I could never direct a comedy--because I over-intellectualize--but I like mystery, the obscure, because any simple representation of life is inaccurate and thereby inadequate," mused Winton.

As an undergraduate, he was in history and sociology but was dissatisfied: "They were inhuman; essentially rigid studies of human nature. Human nature is, on the other hand, rather more plastic, more fluid."

When asked to sketch his personality in a short statement, Winton referred to a comment made, last summer, about him by a girlfriend: "I would like to unzip his bag and find out what is there..." Winton claimed, "There is nothing."

"Liola," then, runs in the Little Theatre, Nov. 29, through Dec. 2 at 8 p.m. Admission is 50 cents for students.

The cast members are: Bob Pratt (Liola), Don Boughton (Uncle Simone), Mary Mitchell (Aunt Croce), Francie Blu (Mita), and Mary Weeks (Tuzza).

Gaucha Yo-Yo Down--Mustangs March to 30-14 Win

Fruitless Season Finale as Cal Poly Seals Coffin in 2nd Half

By JOHN R. PETTMAN

Echoes of the last hurrah heard a week ago against Santa Clara were not enough to rally Jack Curtice's Gauchos through a silent and windy San Luis Obispo afternoon last Saturday, and with a disappointing THUD, UCSB closed out its 1967 campaign by losing to a fired-up Cal Poly squad, 30 to 14.

The hate, which more sophisticated sportsmen call desire, was just not there, nor was there the vim and vigor that just seven days before provided the Gauchos with one of their best wins of all time.

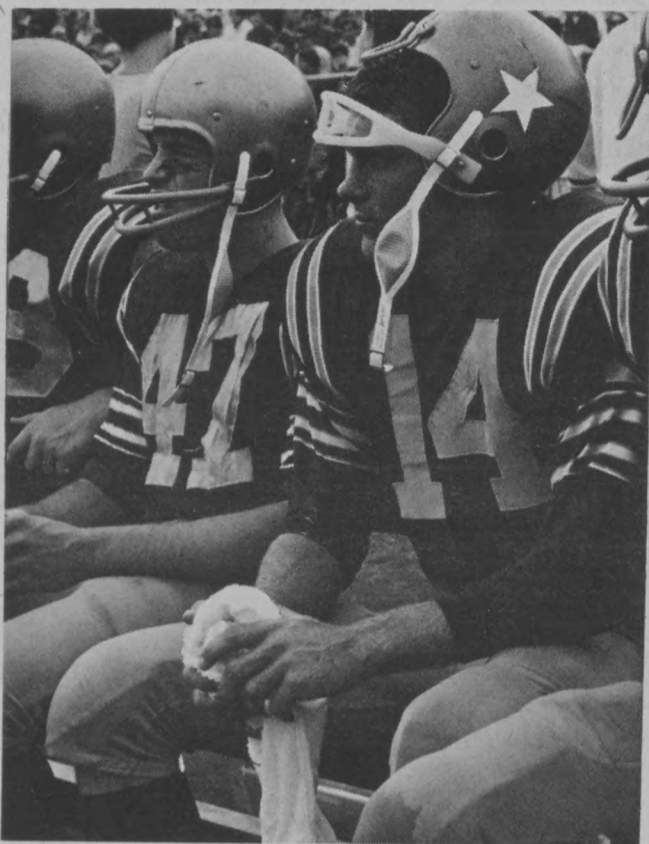

Whether stuffed with too much turkey or deflated after that great Santa Clara victory, nobody knows. It was just too hard to figure out. The Gauchos stunk out the joint.

With characteristic inconsistency, the once beautiful blocking, witnessed here a week ago, was gone; the tiger-like tackling.....gone; the sparkling offense.....gone; the hustle and bustle.....gone.

Not that it was anybody's fault. It wasn't. It was EVERYBODY'S loss, as it is in victory, and when the Gauchos do something, they seem to do it in style.

For the 12 seniors hitting the gridiron for their last grind, it was an especially frustrating defeat. Fullback Mike Thomas, guard Doug Hayes and center Don DeBernardi had to watch it all from the sidelines, each out with injuries.

But quarterback Mike Hitchman, flankerback-safety Paul Vallerga, halfback Dick Burrill, guard Bart Weitzenberg, middle guard Corky Barrett, tackles Dave Zivich and Gene Dueber, linebacker Mike Warren and defensive halfback Dick Permenter all had to taste the bitters of defeat on the battlefield itself.

Hitchman completed nine of 20 passes for 172 yards, and thank Heaven for that statistical gem. Without it, those 72 yards gained rushing by five ball carriers would stand out all the worse.

Vallerga picked off a Poly pass, and the Gauchos turned the interception into a 7-0 lead in the first period. Paul went on to play a fine game. Without him, the score may have been slightly more horrendous. Many times Vallerga was the only person between a Mustang runner and the goal line.

Poly's Ron Stutzman, who gained 261 yards in a tremendous offensive display, was the star of the show. It was the Mustangs' day, and he made it for them.

For the Gauchos, there was only... "wait 'til next year..." and that's the way it was, Saturday, November 25th.

Curtice Offers Thanks

We had hoped to go out as winners last Saturday, and no one feels worse than I that we couldn't bring home to you students a winning season. Instead, we must settle for a 5-5 record and hope that we can climb way above that next year.

Our record notwithstanding, may I take this opportunity to express, on behalf of my staff and our squad, deepest thanks to a loyal and wonderful student body which never let us down all season long.

We were particularly inspired by that tremendous bonfire rally before the Santa Clara game, and by the entire spirit of that wonderful Homecoming Week.

To Hal Brendle and his tremendous marching band, to the Rally Committee and to all concerned—thanks very much.

We are a growing university which is just now in the process of building some solid tradition and heritage. This is the foundation of athletics and I'm confident that we all shall continue to grow together. Thanks again for your help.

Basketball Season Begins With Annual Varsity-Frosh Benefit

By CLAY KALLAM
EG Sports Editor

Gaucha basketball for 1967-68 gets underway tonight as the varsity takes on the freshman team at 8 in Robertson Gym. Admission is 50 cents for everyone as the game is a benefit for the National Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Massachusetts.

This year's version of the varsity will be composed mainly of familiar faces, with only Dick Kolberg and Howie Demmelmaier lost from the starting five. Replacing Kolberg at forward will probably be Breck MacLaren, with Gene Rodgers also seeing a lot of action, and Jim Finnerty will most likely step into Demmelmaier's slot at guard.

Rounding out the starting team are Leroy Jackson at center, Steve Rippe at forward, and Doug Franklin at guard.

There are several new faces on the team, three of them up from last year's frosh. Guard Bob Emery, center Ron Rouse, and guard Larry Silvette are the sophomores with frosh experience. Larry Smith, another sophomore, is also new, along with forward Rodgers, a junior.

This year's frosh promises to be the finest in UCSB history, with 6-8 All-CIF center Doug Rex leading the team. Cliff Lambert, a 6-3 guard from Santa Barbara is another fine prospect.

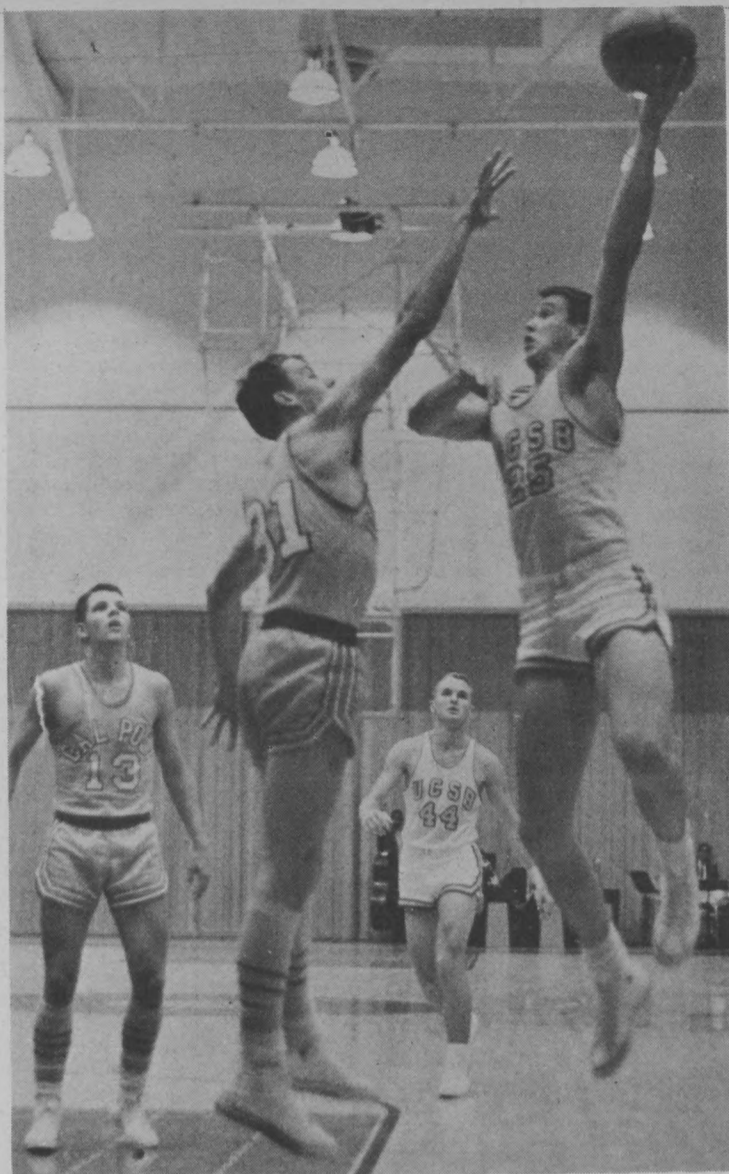

League Winners Decided Today

Playoffs for intramural football's all-school championship begin today at 4 p.m. behind Robertson Gym, with all students urged by IM Director Sandy Geuss to come out and support their favorite team.

Contests today find Diablo squaring off with the Sig Eps, and Mariposa battling with the Cool Clutch Clan. In addition, the Delts will be competing with the Crab Darts in their final league game.

Francisco Torres' league is really in a mix-up. Durango and the Regents had tied for the top spot, and will play each other today, but when an ineligible player was discovered on the Balboa team which defeated Wellington, they had to forfeit.

This gives Wellington the championship, except for a protest which requires them to replay the second half against Cortes today.

UP, UP, AND AWAY— Steve Rippe, 6-5 junior forward, lofts a shot over a Cal Poly defender in last year's home opener against the Mustangs. The Gauchos won that game 82-72, and Rippe turned into one of the fine players on the UCSB team. He will start at forward Monday night for the varsity.

Sociologist Asks Collegians To Provide Racial Equality

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) -- A black activist called on officers of American college student governments Friday to provide leadership to prevent a "most catastrophic upheaval" in the United States.

Harry Edwards, 24, assistant professor of sociology at San Jose State College, compared the United States to a luxury liner headed for the rocks of racial discrimination and suggested, "Perhaps the captain himself is bordering on insanity."

Edwards made his comments

in a speech to the almost solidly white Associated Students Governments, holding its fourth annual conference. His 300 listeners applauded. The ASG immediately officially disclaimed endorsement or criticism of his remarks.

Edwards followed his speech with a news conference in which he read three boycott resolutions adopted Thursday at a Negro athletic workshop, which he headed, during the Western Regional Black Youth Conference in Los Angeles.

The resolutions called for Negro boycotts of 1968 Olympic Games, the New York Athletic Club and track events in which athletes from South Africa or Rhodesia participate. He said the NYAC ignored Negroes except before athletic events in which they were needed.

In his speech, he told student leaders from 150 colleges that it is up to them to do the job of providing the racial equality that the government and Civil Rights leaders have failed to produce.

As coordinator of Black Students for Action at San Jose State College which is host of the conference, Edwards won pledges of action for Negro equality during a turbulent week at the start of this school year during which a football game with the University of Texas, El Paso, was cancelled.

Sandpoint Exposé...

a good deal of excitement among the citizenry and football games in the neighboring village of Wallace (some 30 miles distant) provide the young gentlemen of Sandpoint with an excellent opportunity to patronize the renowned Wallace House of Ill Repute. Hollingshead, of course denies any first hand knowledge of this local establishment. Wallace football games, he added, are very important because, as Wayne put it, "Sex has not yet been invented in Sandpoint."
The town's marijuana action is a little hotter, and Spokane junkies keep the two Sandpoint potheads well supplied.

When questioned about problems of police brutality in Sandpoint, Wayne related the legend of the town's mighty three-man police force, telling how the lovable old geezers play pinocle all day in the fire station (which is just underneath the public library).

When they do venture out for a nip of mountain air in their speedy little Stanley Steamer paddy wagon and happen to spot a flagrant violation of Sandpoint's recently enacted jaywalking statute, however, they really get tough.

After flagging down the offender, who is then required to help the officer from his car, a sound scolding is issued with the fatherly "It's for your own good" condescension, a few sage "When I was your age" pointers, and an understanding "Try not to do it again, son" before the ticket is written.

During his six month residence in Sandpoint, Wayne lived in the Timber Lodge where his landlords were the illustrious Luteys of Sandpoint. Of Warren P. and Little Dorothy, Wayne harbors only the kindest of memories.

"Mrs. Lutey was G.O.P. Chairman in this ultra-conservative town," Wayne recalls fondly, "and she's really out of sight, as far as Republicans go." Smiling nostalgically, he described the mammoth picture of her daughter shaking hands with Barry Goldwater, which hangs above the fireplace in Little Dorothy's living room.

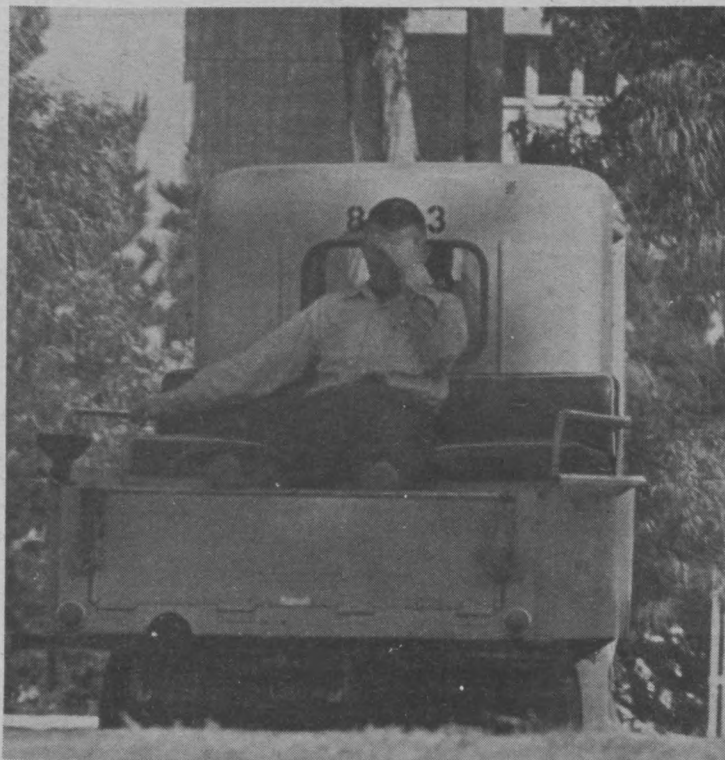

Dale Evans, whose true identity shall remain undisclosed, is one of the big reasons Wayne must go back to Sandpoint. There seems to be the matter of an unpaid debt which must be settled.

While living in Sandpoint, Wayne worked as a forest ranger, fighting fires with buckets of Coors and sawing trees in Kaniku Forest near the neighboring Indian village of Usk.

Since there is no Peace Committee, Draft Counseling Program, or Argo to consult in Sandpoint when one receives his induction notice, the boys are forced to look elsewhere for deferment possibilities.

The most popular thing to do in such a case is to get yourself adopted by an Indian since under a treaty with the U.S. government, Indians can't be drafted. "I tried this," said Wayne, "but unfortunately, there were no positions open in the tribe at the time, so I was kind of out of luck."

In conclusion, Wayne commented that "while living in a small, secluded town like Sandpoint, Idaho, might seem to be very dull and uninteresting to most people, the quiet, unhurried life there is really a groove, and I hope to be able to go back there and live permanently when I get out of the service."

OOH, those aphids are murder . . .

JANINE JENSEN

UCSB Senior, United Air Lines
Stewardess Campus Representative

If you're a girl who's ever thought about being a stewardess, you could learn a lot from Janine Jensen . . . she spent the past summer as a stewardess with United Air Lines. So she ought to know what she's talking about when she says, "The time I spent as a stewardess was one of the most fascinating and rewarding times of my life. It's an experience I'll gladly recommend to any girl at UCSB. Janine is majoring in History. She water skis, plays the piano, and golf. Now, of course, Janine is also United's Campus Representative. If you share her interest in a rewarding stewardess life, she'll be happy to talk with you at the PLACEMENT CENTER on Tuesdays between 10 a.m. and 12 p.m. You can also get in touch with her by phone at 968-9041 on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday nights between 8:30-10:00 p.m. She will also speak to your groups if you wish.
