State College Publications Win Honors

Roadrunner, Annual Cop First Places in Fraternity Contest

National Convention of Alpha Phi Gamma, Journalism Society, to Be Held at State Next Year

Already boasting All-American ranking in the National Scholastic Press Association, Roadrunner and La Cumbre achieved further honors last week end during a western convention of Alpha Phi Gamma, national journalistic honor fraternity, in San Francisco, when Roadrunner and La Cumbre were adjudged the best college newspaper and annual respectively, among all western colleges of Alpha Phi Gamma representation.

Hoy Dia, state college alumni magazine, published by the local chapter of Alpha Phi Gamma, also received top honors as the best alumni magazine, while State's handbook was adjudged third best. The Roadrunner received additional honor with the announcement by the judges that the Santa Barbara paper contained the best news story.

Other Awards

Other awards were as follows: Newspapers, San Francisco state college, second; Puget Sound, third; Wyoming, fourth. Yearbooks, San Francisco, second; Chico state college, third; Fresno State college, fourth. Handbooks, San Francisco, first; Fresno State college, second. Sports story, Cotner college; feature story, Fresno state; editorial, San Francisco. Best literary magazine, Fresno.

Santa Barbara's Alumni magazine entries were selected from those published this semester with Dorothy Hodgins as editor. The annual entered was last year's, edited by Rose Greenwell, Paul Hylton and Kay Bishop. Roadrunner entries were selected from the present semester, D. L. MacQuiddy, editor; and the handbook was of last year, edited by Paul Hylton. The winning news story was of last year, written by Bernice Bethel.

All entries were judged by a committee composed of St. Mary's college faculty members; namely, Messrs. J. G. Metz, J. J. Guheen and Neville T. Massa.

Santa Barbara entered the greatest number of publications in the contest and walked away with the greatest honors. San Francisco's entries were most attractively arranged, it was decided.

Next Conclave Here

Santa Barbara will be the scene of the national Alpha Phi Gamma convention to be held next year, according to arrangements made at the recent western conclave. The local fraternity expects at that time, several hundred delegates from chapters all over the United States.

Local chapter members who represented Santa Barbara in the San Francisco meet are: Carmel Leach, Francis Fouke, Lowell Washburn, Phebe Steer, Dorothy Dowling, Lucille Powers, Marie Cochran, Dorothy Hodgins, Roy Davis, Ralph Porter and Dick MacQuiddy.

Charges Not Brought Against Poll Minors

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(CNS)—As many as 25 of the 10 Columbia University students who were employed as poll watchers on election day were not of legal voting age, the Columbia Daily Spectator reported this week. No action was expected to be taken, however, inasmuch as the students were not challenged at the time of the election.

Calendar

The main social events for the coming week are:
Friday, December 2—Tau Gamma Sigma sport dance.
Saturday, December 3—A.W.S. charity carnival.
Sunday, December 4—Outing Club cabin trip.

LEGAL QUESTION IN LUNGREN WILL MAY GIVE INDIAN RELICS TO STATE

Bequest to Museum Held Up as Law Is Probed

Indian textiles, pottery, and other Indian artifacts bequeathed to the Santa Barbara Museum of Natural History, by the late Ferdinand Lungren, local artist and founder of the Santa Barbara School of the Arts, may become the property of the Santa Barbara State college through a legal technicality, President Clarence L. Phelps of the college revealed recently.

Since Mr. Lungren died within thirty days after adding the Museum bequest to his will, the Indian artifacts automatically revert to the State, and will then become the property of the State college.

Wishing to fulfill the requests of the donor, however, President Phelps expressed the hope that some means be found whereby the Santa Barbara Museum could derive the benefit from Mr. Lungren's Indian collection.

Besides willing some 75 paintings, valued at approximately $100,000 to the college, Mr. Lungren provided that his Mission Canyon home, and the land surrounding it should also be given to the school. According to President Phelps, the college plans to use the money secured from this property in caring for the exhibit room to be built on the new Leadbetter campus, where the pictures will be displayed to the public.

Until word of the definite acceptance of the Lungren bequest arrives from Sacramento, no further action can be taken by the State college in reference to the terms of the will.

PHELPS EXPLAINS 48-WEEK BUDGET TO JUNIOR C. OF C.

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce heard President Clarence L. Phelps of the college explain the plan of his new 48-week budget proposal last night at the University club. President Phelps' proposal calls for a 48-week school year in two 24-week periods, in place of the 36-week school year now in use, and aims to cut down the running expenses of our college.

Although the plan has been submitted to the State director of finance, Rolland A. Vandergift, there has been no formal presentation of the budget plan to the State Finance committee, to date, according to the college president.

Drink Milk and Live Seven Years Longer!

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(CNS)—Experiments on rats indicate that diets including a large amount of milk tend to lengthen the life span, Victor K. L. Mar, associate professor of chemistry at Columbia University declared this week.

He estimated that human beings could add approximately seven years to the average lifetime by drinking a proper amount of milk.

Alonso Stagg Denies Presidency Reports

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—(CNS)—Persistent rumors that he might be offered the presidency of New York University or some other eastern college this week caused Coach Amos Alonso Stagg of Chicago University to issue an official denial. "Nonsense," he said.

Joint Budget Policy Is Sought by Prexies

"Responsibilities of Secondary Education for Social Training," is one of three subjects which President Clarence L. Phelps of the college will present before the Saturday morning session of the eleventh annual teacher training conference at the Fresno State Teachers college, December 2 and 3.

Arriving today in Fresno, President Phelps will first participate in the two day conclave of the Association of California State Teachers college presidents, and will then stay on at Fresno for the teacher training conference scheduled for this Friday and Saturday.

Improvement Is Theme

Improvement of the State program of teacher training and certification will be the theme of the teacher training conference which Vierling Kersey, superintendent of public instruction, will head.

President Phelps will talk on "Education and Leisure," "The Redirection of Courses from Technical Research to Social - Educational Courses," as well as enlarging upon the "Responsibilities of Secondary Education for Social Training," at the 9 o'clock meeting of the conference Saturday morning.

Joint Policy Desired

Budget questions will be discussed at the meeting of the State Teachers college presidents, President Phelps indicated.

"In view of the coming budget hearing," the president stated, "it is necessary that a definite procedure be drawn up at this meeting, and that a joint policy be established among all the State teachers colleges of California."

'BELIEVE IT OR NOT' HANDBOOK IS OUT FRIDAY

"The new Student Handbook will be out on Friday, December 2," according to Dick Kaime, editor. After a series of unavoidable delays, the book is now ready, and has been promised by the Daily News print shop, which is printing the book.

The book would have been ready by Monday, states Kaime, but the pictures were not to be found, and after an extensive search they were finally located far away in the possession of Dick Cooper, former Roadrunner editor, now in Seattle.

A charge of ten cents will be made this year to compensate for the lack of advertising. Editor Kaime, however, wishes to make it clear that only the existence of so many student publications, and the ever present depression, kept local business firms from buying advertising space this year.

Roadrunner Debaters Will Argue in South

Santa Barbara State college will be represented by Don Sigerson, and Tom Orr or Harold Schuffer, in a debate to be held at Redlands University on December 2 and 3. The stand the Roadrunner aggregation will take on the question, "Resolved that the U.S. should cancel inter-allied war debts," will not be known until the time of debate.

Last year a women's team entered from State, and made a creditable showing. The men's team this year is working hard to build up a good argument to use in upholding State's reputation in this activity.

Plans Completed for Big A.W.S. Charity Carnival; Proceeds to Aid Unemployed State Students

GRADING SYSTEM MAY BE CHANGED SAYS PRESIDENT

Need Readjustment to Tighten Up on Marks

Tentative plans for a new grading system at Santa Barbara State college, to go into effect next semester, are now under consideration by the faculty, President Clarence L. Phelps of the college disclosed Monday.

Since the grading system of the whole college is slightly off balance, according to President Phelps, the new plan calls for a school-wide readjustment in grading which will tighten up on the grades all along the line, but particularly in lower division courses.

Others Have System

"Other colleges have this same grading distribution," the president explained, "only they do not have it worked out as a definite plan."

"Our average grade is at present nearly a "B" rating, rather than a "C," the president stated. "The new system aims to make the "C" the average grade in both upper and lower divisions."

Normal Curve Wanted

"Since lower division students represent nearly an unselected group," he continued, "their grades may be expected to fall relatively into a normal distribution. In upper division and special departments, however, some of the weaker material has been eliminated, and special interest and abilities will operate to increase the relative number of "A" and "B" grades."

COLUMBIA PAPER UNDER STUDY BY STUDENT GROUP

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(CNS)—Investigation of the policies, organization and financing of the Columbia Daily Spectator at Columbia University this week was undertaken by the Student Board at the request of a group of alumni.

A committee appointed by the board will attempt to determine whether or not Spectator's policies are "in accord with the best interests of the university." In addition, editors of Spectator, who welcomed the investigation, pointed out that the committee would be able to inquire into "rumors of graft, disproportionate cuts, boosting sales for certain books * * * and many other shady practices in which self-seeking Spectator men are said to indulge."

Spectator editors were largely responsible for the current administrative investigation of the Columbia University athletic department, and the new inquiry was said to be a move of retaliation.

Dr. Lowell, Harvard President, to Retire

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 30.—(CNS)—Members of the board of overseers of Harvard University this week were casting about for a likely successor to President A. Lawrence Lowell, whose resignation was accepted "with regret."

Dr. Lowell, who will be 76 years old on December 13, expressed a desire to retire from the presidency toward the end of the present college year. He will serve, however, until a successor is appointed. He has already been head of Harvard for 23 years.

Entertainment Is Planned for Orphanage Children; Concessions, Dance, Skits to Be Features

Food, presented with an invitation or guest card, will be the admission price to the A.W.S. Christmas Charity Carnival, proceeds of which will go to the State college student unemployment fund, Associated Charities and St. Vincent's orphanage.

Eight o'clock p.m., Saturday, December 3, is the time. Flying A studio, State and Mission streets, is the place.

The State college band under the direction of Clifford Leedy will start off the evening with several numbers and the various booths and concessions will be opened promptly at eight o'clock. Thirty-five children from St. Vincent's orphanage will be the guests of the A.W.S. for the first hour. They will be allowed free use of the concessions.

Alumni Group Holds Meeting in Sacramento

The first meeting of the Sacramento Alumni Association, of which Mrs. Jane Miller Abraham is permanent secretary, was held on Monday, November 21, in Sacramento. Mrs. Abraham was unable to attend because of illness.

Edmond O'Reilly was elected president of the association; Anna Cowan, vice president; and Mabel Finch, secretary and treasurer.

Dr. Charles Bursch spoke on the Carnegie Foundation report. Edmond O'Reilly gave a resume of his master's thesis at Stanford, written on the history of the Santa Barbara Normal school, Anna Blake school and the Santa Barbara State college. Twenty-three were present at the meeting.

Following this, members attended the meeting held in Bakersfield on Tuesday, November 22. This meeting was held in the Hotel El Tejon. Gerold Smith, president and Ruth Vandom, secretary and treasurer were re-elected for 1933-1934. Mrs. Laura Specht Price presented campus news for Mrs. Abraham.

E. E. Ericson, who was also present, spoke on extension work and his work here in State college. President Clarence Phelps talked on the Carnegie report.

Laurence Chenoweth, city superintendent of schools in Bakersfield, and a 1930 graduate of Santa Barbara State, was one of the guests of honor. He stated he received two of his best teachers this year from Santa Barbara State with the help of Mrs. Abraham. The two teachers are Elsie Tietz and Margaret Jigergian. Both girls had a part in the institute program. Elsie Tietz' class in talking-choir did a number, and Margaret Jigergian did some piano work.

LARGE CARILLON PUT IN SERVICE AT CHICAGO U.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—(CNS)—Said to be one of the two largest sets of bells in the world, the University of Chicago this week had dedicated the $20,000 Laura Spelman Rockefeller carillon, donated by John D. Rockefeller Jr.

The first official program was played by Kameil LeFevre, carillonneur of the Riverside Church in New York. The University of Chicago's 296-ton instrument consists of 72 bells, covering six octaves. The largest bell weighs 18½ tons and the smallest, 10½ pounds.

Work of installing the bells was started last July. The carillon is similar to one placed in the Riverside church by Rockefeller.

Dr. Bishop to Teach in Southern College

Dr. Elizabeth L. Bishop, head of the research department of the State college, will teach in the University of California at Los Angeles this coming summer. The University has added a post session to their summer curriculum.

Dr. Bishop will teach Adolescent Child and Tests and Measurements in Diagnosis and Counseling.

Dancing will begin at nine o'clock with Harry Denno's seven piece orchestra furnishing the music. A program of musical numbers, dancing, and skits, planned by Luella Hiebert, Bobby Goux, and Howard Gammill, will be a feature of the evening.

Booths and concessions for the carnival will be furnished by the various social organizations and departments on the campus who are competing for prizes which are being offered by the Martha Washington Chocolate shop, Lee's Kandy Kettle and Victor J. Rosen of the Granada theatre.

Some of the concessions will be a fun house, dart throwing, fortune telling, nine pins, a forty-nine camp with a bar and old prospectors to furnish entertainment, a pop-corn man, side shows; and booths for selling pies, dolls, confetti, and all types of food. The A. W. S. will have the booth for ice cream, which is being donated by the Royal Ice Cream company. Lumber for the booths is being loaned by the Junior League of Santa Barbara.

Carmel Leach, president of the A.W.S. and general chairman for the carnival has appointed the following committees: Betty Hopkins, booths; Margaret Keeley and Jack Graves, joint chairman of the decorations committee, which includes Shirley Clark, Marvina Jones, Mary Taylor, Kay Case, Dot Hadley, Kathryn Cox, Ruth Carter, Dorothy Cox, and Elizabeth Leonard; Chris Martin and Sid Smith, transportation of supplies; Marcus Cravens, president of the men's club, construction; Irene O'Leary, Christmas tree; Luella Hiebert and Howard Gammill, program.

Mrs. Mildred C. Pyle, dean of women, is faculty sponsor and adviser of the affair. Those on the executive board of the A.W.S. who are planning and carrying out the plans for the Carnival are Luella Hiebert, Helen Honigsberger, Irene O'Leary, Dorothy Dowling, Inez Cash, Georgia Lyons, Margaret Keeley, Phebe Steer, and Carmel Leach.

Famed Authority on History Now at U.C.

SORORITY HOLDS INITIATION AT LOCAL HOSTLERY

Xi chapter of Delta Phi Delta, honorary art fraternity at State, held its formal initiation ceremonies in Margaret Baylor Inn, Saturday, November 19.

A banquet with Marjorie Walters presiding followed the ceremony. Mrs. Mary E. T. Crosswell, sponsor of the Xi chapter and president of the West Coast chapters of Delta Phi Delta, was the speaker of the evening.

Those attending were Mrs. Mary E. T. Crosswell, Mrs. Isobel Fish, Mrs. Ruth Doolittle, Mrs. Frances Wayman, Miss Austin Camp, Elizabeth Foster, Marian Hebert, Maude Robinson, Doris Stanley, Adele Baker, Grace Daniels, Geraldine Hopkins, Marjorie Walters and Barbara Williams.

After the banquet Mrs. Ruth Doolittle and Miss Elizabeth Foster gave an informal party at their apartment for both the active and alumni members.

LEGION VISITOR PRAISES BEAUTY OF CITY IN TALK

Lothar Mannkeimer, official interpreter and guide of the American Legion during its National convention in France in 1928, paid a visit to Santa Barbara State college recently.

Mr. Mannkeimer, who has had a varied career since the end of the war, made the following statement concerning Santa Barbara:

"If California is God's own country then Santa Barbara is the rendezvous of the angels, and the Mission ridge the spring from which flows the fountain of knowledge! Vive pro veritate!"

ADDED LINCOLN BOOKS INCREASE NUMBER TO 3500

The Lincoln Library of the Santa Barbara State teachers college, now has a collection of 3,500 books, according to Miss Della Haverland, librarian in charge.

Two hundred books have been added to the group since last June, with 2,283 of the volumes in the library being fully catalogued. In addition to biographies of Lincoln and his contemporaries, there are many books on slavery and the Civil war. Also there is a large bust of "Lincoln from Life" by L. W. Polk, which was presented to the library last August.

NOTED EDUCATOR HEADS COMBINED SOUTH COLLEGES

RALEIGH, N. C. Nov. 30.—(CNS) Frank Porter Graham, one of the South's most prominent educators, will be president of the newly organized Greater University of North Carolina, it was announced this week by the board of trustees.

Dr. Graham is already president of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, but under his new appointment, he will head not only this institution but North Carolina State college and North Carolina College for Women as well.

The administrations of the three schools have been ordered consolidated under a single president and a comptroller in the interests of efficiency and economy. While Dr. Graham will be president of the Greater University, Dr. E. C. Brooks, present head of the State college, and Dr. J. I. Foust, president of the Women's College, will be vice presidents of the Greater University, but assigned to their respective schools.

ROCKWOOD TO BE SCENE OF XMAS FORMAL, DEC. 10

Further curtailment of the social budget will be made this year by holding the annual Christmas formal dance at Rockwood rather than at one of the hotels or the country club, it has been announced by Betty Aul, social chairman. The date has been set for December 10.

Committees are making plans for a splendid program, announcement of which will be made later, Miss Aul states. Walter Robinson's orchestra has been selected to furnish the music for the gala occasion. The social chairman urges students to bear the dance in mind as being held exactly a week after the charity carnival.

Students bringing outside guests are reminded that invitations must be secured in the dean's office.

Girls Assured Dates

SANTA ANNA, Calif., Nov. 30.—(CNS)—To fulfill what was said to be an "acute" campus need, a dating bureau this week had been established at Santa Ana Junior College.

Students have been invited to file their requests for dates with the bureau, which was established by the students executive board.

SCHOOL YOUTHS STAGE PLAY 'THE SEASONS'

The Jefferson school kindergarten presented a Thanksgiving Festival program, "The Seasons," for their parents and friends in the school auditorium last Wednesday morning.

The Queen of the Harvest was ushered in, followed by a procession of children dressed to represent the various vegetables. The children entertained the Queen with songs and dances, and brought to the "horn of plenty" articles of food which were later given to a needy family for Thanksgiving.

The Festival was under the supervision of Miss Edith Leonard and the following student teachers: Irene O'Leary, general chairman; Helen Honigsberger, songs; Helen Colley, dances; Margaret McKenna, stage set; Pearl Caylor, programs; and Lowell Washburn, pianist.

SWATS BARBARIC SAYS PRESIDENT BANNING HAZING

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 30.—(CNS)—Hazing, padding and other so-called childish disciplinary actions employed by fraternities to hold their pledges this week were condemned by President Harry Woodburn Chase of the University of Illinois.

Declaring himself in favor of "constructive discipline," President Chase maintained that there is a sharp distinction between that and hazing.

Padding, he declared, is an out-worn, barbaric and indefensible custom, debasing both the man who administers it and the pledge who suffers the actual blows.

"If a prison can maintain discipline without such force, it is a poor tribute to fraternities if they cannot do as much," he said.

SORORITY TO DANCE

The Tau Gamma Sigma sorority alumnae, in conjunction with the active members, are giving a semi-formal dance in the Gold Room of the El Paseo on Friday, December 2, at nine o'clock. Presidents and social chairmen of other social sororities on the campus have been invited.

HAWAIIANS' WORK DONE BY ORIENTALS; ISLANDERS HAVE EXCELLENT SCHOOL

"Hawaiians lean over backwards in being Americans," related Miss Elsie Pond, instructor in the education department, when she spoke to the elementary department at their meeting on Tuesday morning.

Miss Pond, who spent two years in the islands as director of extension work, gave a brief survey of the history of education there.

Hawaiians Don't Work

"Hawaiians do not like to work," she said. "They first imported Chinese to do their work, then in succession they brought Portuguese and Japanese into their country. It is on account of these people coming in and intermarrying with the islanders that pure Hawaiians now number about five per cent of the population."

When the Japanese came in they did not care to intermarry but became independent farmers and sent to Japan for "picture brides." Every plantation came to have its own school, hospital and doctors.

"All schools in the Hawaiian Islands use the activity program method of instruction," reported Miss Pond. "Their schools are modern and their teachers are specialists." These schools are full of dark-skinned people. The white people have private schools or hire tutors for their children.

The university at Honolulu is composed of three colleges, the college of science, the college of arts and sciences and a teacher's college. Most of the students who are graduated here are Japanese. Chinese graduates form a large number.

"The schools in the islands are large and are about six or eight miles apart," stated Miss Pond. "I have visited every one of these schools and there are not more than 5 or 6 one-teacher schools in the entire system. One school at Karaha-meha, a heavily endowed institution, is open to Hawaiians only."

"Teachers do not receive certificates from the teachers colleges in Hawaii," concluded the speaker, "unless they are citizens of the United States. A ruling has recently been made by which no teacher can teach in their public schools who has not been in residence in the islands for one year."

BAND PREPARES FOR TRIP BY HARD PRACTICE

With confirmations of booked dates arriving every day, the men's musical organizations are working overtime to create music of real merit, in anticipation of many large audiences.

"Every possible effort was made by representatives in the North, to assure us of their full cooperation upon our arrival," said Al Bevis and Bud Lambourne who have just returned from booking the tour. The Roadrunner representatives received special attention wherever they went; and, even though times are hard, the men received more dates than were booked for last year's tour.

This year the men will journey in a Tanner twin coach. An effort is being made to secure two buses because a much larger number of men will make the trip this year than last.

HOBBIES UNDER DISCUSSION AT MEETING OF 'Y'

"Hobbies were the subject of a recent meeting of the Roadrunner Y. This meeting was put on by the new members for the purpose of getting acquainted with the older members. Chris Martin presided.

Old coins were exhibited as an example of Jimmy Lebeck's hobby. Dick Jackson showed the members his collection of American stamps. Model airplanes illustrated aviation, the hobby of Doug Elliot. Oscar Trautz passed around Indian relics for inspection during his talk on Indians. Marcus Cravens revealed that his hobby was hiking and camping in the mountains.

COLLEGE WORK REPORTED

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 30.—(CNS) Non-fraternity men living in dormitories and Greek letter men residing outside their houses do better school work than those living in houses, according to a report which had been prepared this week by Dean Homer L. Dodge of the University of Minnesota graduate school.

YALE PROFESSOR GIVES SOLUTION FOR DEPRESSION

TRONTO Can., Nov. 30.—(CNS) "We could end the depression overnight, if it were not for the economic illiteracy of the people who control the political machine."

This indictment of those in control of the social system was voiced this week by Professor Irving Fisher, Yale University economist. He was a guest speaker at the University of Toronto.

"The one thing most needed in the world is a certain amount of inflation," he declared. "The last campaign (in the United States) lost a great chance for educating the people on this subject, but the politicians were afraid of being misunderstood by a public which cannot see anything but black and white."

ART INSTRUCTOR RETURNS AFTER LOMPOC ADDRESS

Mrs. Florence W. Lyans has returned from Lompoc where she addressed a joint meeting of the city and valley teachers on the subject of art in the public schools.

A delegation of teachers from Lompoc recently visited the Jefferson training school and were so impressed with the creative work done in art, that they arranged to have Mrs. Lyans go to Lompoc and tell about the art work at Jefferson. Mrs. Lyans took along examples of life size calsonime paintings and masks done by students at Jefferson.

Fraternity Members Honored by Pledges

Members of Tau Omega fraternity were treated to a chicken dinner by the pledges Monday evening at the home of Lorenz Greeson. Decorations were carried out in the college colors of olive and white, and the fraternity colors of maroon and gold.

Cabinet Position Is Suggested for Frank

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 30.—(CNS) Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, this week was suggested as a possible candidate for the post of secretary of the interior under President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The suggestion received impetus as the result of a lengthy communication to The Daily Cardinal, student newspaper, from Samuel Steinman, alumnus of the university. He contended that President Frank was particularly fitted for the position now held by President Ray Lyman Wilbur of Stanford University.

STEAM

Editor of the Roadrunner:

After attending the last two affairs held by the A. W. S., I should like very much to offer a suggestion to the cabinet in regard to the planning of such affairs. Inasmuch as we have a large group of girls in school who are being trained to handle food, it would seem to me to be inexcusable that such disorganized affairs as the Backwards party and the Pajamarino should be carried on. Both affairs showed deplorable lack of planning on the part of anyone trained in the handling of food for large groups. In both instances, the plans proved highly impracticable from the standpoint of resulting in the graceful service in which members of the Home Economics department are being trained.

It would be my suggestion that, in the future, someone be placed in charge of the food and clean-up committees who is acquainted with the cafeteria and trained in the handling of such problems. There are a goodly number of upper class girls in the Home Economics department who are exceedingly capable, and who, I am sure, would be glad to cooperate with the A. W. S. cabinet. Sincerely yours, G. R. G.

HOME EC. EXPANDS

The scope of the home economics department has recently increased to the extent of instruction in St. Vincents Orphanage. Miss Eva Bloom is in charge of the class teaching cooking and waiting on table. This instruction will have many advantages for the girls in later years, it is said.

Grid Gab

By MILTON BURNHAM
The Roadrunners were barely beaten by the La Verne Leopards on Turkey Day. (Only 34-0). Thus ended the State College's unseasonable football season. The Roadrunners were able to hold their own with most of the teams in the Conference for the first half of each game but went to pieces the last half.

There must be a reason for this. The only logical reason is that the State college had about one hour of practice per day, whereas the other teams in the Conference had from two to three hours per day. This difference in practice periods shows up plainly in the game.

The team that weakens first and loses is usually the team in poorer physical condition. In order to get in good physical condition and increase the player's stamina and endurance, it is necessary to spend two or three hours per day in training.

If other members of the Conference can have so much time for practice, why can't we? It is also impossible for one man to do all of the coaching work himself. How about an assistant coach? Football is our best means of publicity to raise our rating and also gain recognition. We certainly need it.

Paul Hopkins, John Eckhart, Lin Earhart, and Bob Main played their last game of football for dear old State last Thursday. These boys been giving all for this college for the past four years. What do you say, let's give them a slap on the back. When you pass these lads on the campus give them a friendly slap on the back. They deserve it.

It seems that everyone in these United States is picking his own All-American team. So here goes my All-American team, that I would like to play against.

FIRST TEAM
Name	Position	College
Loiselle	E	S.S. Maryland
Petty	E	Baylor U.
Bessey	T	La Verne
Doty	T	L.B.L. Guards
Maggi	G	S.S. Saratoga
Janes	G	Kentucky U.
Gracey	C	Vanderbilt U.
Beebe	Q	Occidental
Sweet	H	Cal. Aggies
Fay	H	Michigan U.
Lady	F	U.S.C.
SECOND TEAM
Name	Position	College
Wood	E	Whittier
Lamb	E	Hoover H.(LA)
Bamberger	T	Cal-Tech
Butterbaugh	T	La Verne
Cook	G	Texas U.
Baker	G	L.B. Police
Ovens	C	Phoenix J.C.
Fry	Q	Utah Aggies
Feathers	H	Tennessee U.
Ash	H	Colgate
Kitchen	F	Texas C.U.

I think that State college should thank Dick Kaime and Bill Peacock for all of the publicity given the Roadrunners during the past season. Hope it continues.

15 Football Men Win Awards, Frosh Stars to Receive Numerals

By PETE HATHAWAY
With the last of the games on the schedule played, Coach Hal Davis has announced the men who have won their varsity letter for 1933 football. At the same time Coach Luke Trimble made known the names of freshmen who earned their class numerals.

Those receiving varsity letters are as follows: Paul Hopkins and George Schultz, ends; George Harper and Don Fisher, tackles; John Eckhardt, acting captain, since Captain "Tuffy" Treloar was injured; Edgar Kerrigan and Lyn Earhart, guards; "Tiny" McCullough, center; Pat McCullough, Marcus Cravens and "Gump" Gumpertz, fullbacks; and Bob Maine, quarterback.

Hopkins and Schultz were two of the best ends that State has had. Hopkins, a pass-snagger and hard man on defense, played most of every game. He accounted for one of the State's two scores this season. Schultz also played most of every game and was a veritable stone wall on defense. Harper, changed from the fullback position to that of right tackle, played a steady, consistent game all the time that he was in, and from this playing he received a reputation down south as being one of the best tackles in the conference. Fisher, a lank sophomore, showed up well at the left tackle post. Being a hard man to move he turned into a great defense man.

Acting-captain Eckhardt, Kerrigan, and Earhart played practically all the games at the guard positions. Eckhardt and Earhart, two steady men, while Kerrigan was more of a flashy, reckless and hard-hitting guard. "Tiny" McCullough at the pivot position, proved to be one of the best defense men State ever had. Weighing 200 pounds even, he was a bulk that was not easy to get past in the games. Gumpertz and Pat McCullough were the first two fullbacks. Both were transferred from the line into this position and showed themselves to be dependable fullbacks. After McCullough was injured in the Oxy game, Cravens, a large sophomore playing substitute tackle, was shifted to fullback. He turned out to be almost an overnight sensation, ripping and tearing the opposing line to pieces by his hard-driving plunges. After Keith, a fast shifty sophomore, playing a good game at both halfback and fullback, was injured, Burnham was elevated to the first team as halfback. Weighing under 140 pounds, he was under a large disadvantage, but he came up smiling after every play and proved to be one of the gamesters on the squad. Stockel, the other halfback, played nearly all of every game. He was called upon to do most of the kicking and passing. His running was excellent, giving State a touchdown in the game with Whittier. Main, a letter man from last year called plays for the team and proved himself a good field general in all the games.

U. OF M. STUDES NIPPED BY POLICE

ANN ARBOR, Nov. 30.—(CNS)—Members of the University of Michigan Socialist Club this week were attempting to circumvent a police ruling which closed a bookstand established for the sale of so called radical literature. Works of Karl Marx, Lenin, Upton Sinclair and Norman Thomas were to have been offered for sale by the students operating the stand, but Chief of Police Thomas O'Brien ordered it closed because it was "too large."

SPORT COMMENT

By OSCAR NICHOLAS
King Football is over, varsity lettermen as well as frosh numeral winners have been announced by Coaches Hal Davis and Luke Trimble respectively, and although the season was rather disappointing to many because of the poor offensive showing of the team this year, you can rest assured that next year's aggregation will be tops. If the available material that is here this year shows up again next season, you may look forward to plenty of upsets from the Roadrunners next year.

Whittier College justified pre-season dope by coming back strong after dropping an early season encounter to capture the Southern California Inter-Collegiate Conference title by virtue of a hard earned victory over the Redlands Bulldogs last Friday in the last conference game for the two elevens this year. In the first five games Redlands has compiled a beautiful record, but an unexpected reverse from the hands of the La Verne Leopards in their sixth conference tilt, practically ruined their chances for a crown. The Whittier game finished the work of the Leopards and sank the Redlands outfit to second place.

Our attention along the sports must now be focused on Basketball; always keeping track and baseball in our distant vision. Basketball has really begun in earnest with Hal Davis in charge of varsity candidates, and Luke Trimble at the helm of the frosh aspirants. There is plenty of first class material on hand to give Coach Davis a nucleus with which to work, and it has been hinted around the campus that the frosh are going to have a team that should win plenty of games this season.

America has at last adopted the metric system for track and field measurements. All colleges and high schools are urged to conform with

SCANDALS IN COLLEGES ARE 'PLAYED DOWN'

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(CNS)—Sports occupy 39 percent of the space given by 100 leading newspapers in the country to college news, according to results of a survey announced this week by A. C. Marts, president of Marts and Lundy, Ins., counsellors in college finance and publicity.

Pictures depicting college news events, he said, are given 24.2 percent of the total space, while general news receives 11.75 percent.

While college scandals receive approximately 2.4 percent of the space, contrary to popular belief, editors are inclined to "play down" this type of news, according to his findings. What scandal stories were found, he said, appeared mainly in local newspapers, and usually did not gain widespread publicity.

3 Billion Years Age of Earth
CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—(CNS)—Professor Ariviv von Grosse of the department of chemistry at the University of Chicago this week revealed that he had completed experiments which lead him to believe that the earth is from 2 1/2 to 3 billion years old. Dr. von Grosse's experiments involved the use of proto-actinium, a radioactive substance.

Students Reinstated and Pair Are Ousted
NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(CNS)—Ten New York City College students, who were suspended on October 25 for participating in a protest riot following the dismissal of an economics professor, this week were again attending classes.

They were reinstated shortly before a student protest meeting was scheduled to have been held.

La Verne Bags Easy Decision as Stater Outfit Ends Season

Coach Hal Davis' Santa Barbara State college Roadrunners terminated a rather unsuccessful football season by falling before a devastating attack from the La Verne Leopards to the tune of 34-0 last Thursday afternoon on the southerners' grid-iron.

This win over the Davis squad terminated the most successful season in the history of the southern school putting them into a tie for second place as a result of Whittier's win over the Bulldogs from Redlands. The Roadrunners were outclassed in every department of play.

The La Verne squad began their scoring early in the first period as a result of a fumbling act put on by the Roadrunners on their own one yard line. From this point Brooks, who played a bangup game throughout the tilt, went over for the touchdown. In the second period the Leopards put on a 42 yard march that again culminated with Brooks scoring.

Stockel's blocked punt which went out of bounds on the Staters' 15 yard line again put the southerners in scoring position, and in four plays Montgomery scored their third touchdown.

At the start of the fourth period the Leopards executed a beautiful forward-lateral pass, Lathrop to Brooks to Montgomery, good for a 47 yard gain and again put the La Verne squad in scoring territory. Lathrop tallied a few plays later.

The last score came as a result of Stockel's fumbled punt which was recovered by the southern team on Santa Barbara's 35 yard line. From this spot a long pass, Forney to Kelley, gave the Eisan coached outfit their final touchdown. Four of the touchdowns were converted for a total score of 34 to 0. Coach Hal Davis will now turn his attention to basketball where it is hoped he will have a better representation in the Southern Conference than was the case in football.

G. VAN FOSSEN PLAYS HOCKEY IN BERKELEY

Chosen as a representative of the Santa Barbara hockey team, Miss Gladys Van Fossen of the State college physical education department, played in four hockey games in the Pacific Coast championship tournament, sponsored by the United States field hockey association at Berkeley, Friday and Saturday, November 25 and 26.

Two teams, one from Santa Barbara, and another from the Long Beach and Santa Ana region, combined their better players to participate in the tourney. Miss Joyce Rockwood of the high school physical education department, who accompanied Miss Van Fossen to the northern city, also played in the games.

Although the southern team lost their games, Miss Van Fossen states that she had a most enjoyable vacation visiting in the northern city.

Football Rally Is Assembly Feature

Yesterday morning a post football rally was held during assembly hour. The meeting opened with the college victory song led by Maurine Moore, song leader. Carmel Leach, who presided at the meeting, gave the faculty announcements. Shirley Keith talked briefly on the past football season. Elizabeth Stover announced a girl's basketball game in the gym at 4:30 Tuesday afternoon. The meeting closed with the singing of the Alma Mater.

Official publication of the Associated Students, Santa Barbara State college, Santa Barbara, California. Edited and published weekly on the State college campus. Entered as second-class mail matter, Sept. 17, 1926, at the Postoffice, Santa Barbara, California, under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, one dollar per year, 50 cents a semester, mailed.

Who's Who

A great deal of discussion and argument has been raised during recent weeks, regarding the editorship of last year's La Cumbre. Every mention of La Cumbre in the Roadrunner brings forth the criticism from one person or another, that someone did not receive enough credit for his or her work; and that someone else received too much.

In the Roadrunner's estimation, these arguments are silly and thoroughly useless. Everyone knows, to an appreciable extent at least, who worked on La Cumbre and who didn't; and, obviously, it is impractical to include in each news article a complete account of the work done by each editor, merely to assure that no one's vanity is hurt. To the credit of Rose Greenwell, Paul Hylton and Kay Bishop, let it be said that they are not the persons who are worrying about the amount of credit received. Certain so-called friends are responsible for the commotion raised in their behalf. The three editors are unanimous in their desire to have the whole matter forgotten. Not one of them cares who receives the lion's share of the glory for State's 1932 All-American La Cumbre.

Last week, we received a "Steam" letter on this subject, signed, "A La Cumbre Worker." In accordance with the Roadrunner's policy of not printing unsigned letters, Dorothy Hodgins, present editor of La Cumbre, was asked if she had contributed this one. With her mind occupied on something else at the time, and not fully understanding the question, she answered in the affirmative; and the letter was subsequently published over her name. She states that she had no knowledge of the letter whatever, and thoroughly disapproves of its contents. Paul Hylton voices similar sentiments, adding that he's perfectly satisfied if he is never mentioned in connection with La Cumbre. As for the Roadrunner—it offers apologies for its part in the misunderstanding and asks "A La Cumbre Worker" and others to kindly observe the difficulties that may arise when unsigned letters are sent in.

Announcement has already been made, several times, that unsigned letters will not be printed. We repeat that announcement, with this addition; unsigned letters will be thrown in the wastebasket immediately upon being received. Not the slightest effort will be made to determine authorship. Lastly, as far as the Roadrunner is concerned, further "bone-picking" letters on La Cumbre—whether signed or unsigned—will not receive consideration. We believe the matter to have been aired sufficiently, to no one's benefit, and to the detriment of many. Let us consider the matter dropped.

We Knew You Could Do It

The Roadrunner wishes to commend the students of the college for the excellent spirit of cooperation they are showing in patronizing Roadrunner advertisers.

Although there are many among us who do not yet realize the importance of advertising revenue to the college newspaper, or who have not awakened to the necessity of cooperating with advertisers, the great majority of students have begun to make a definite effort to spend their money where it will be of most benefit to themselves and the merchants who believe in the Roadrunner.

The results are obvious. Each week sees an increase in ads. Last week's paper contained more advertising space than any issue of this year or last. Merchants are beginning to realize the potentialities of college buying power. They are beginning to realize that money spent in Roadrunner advertising is money well invested; and that students can and will help the merchants who help them.

With student cooperation increasing as it is, carrying with it an increased sale of advertising space; the Roadrunner looks forward to a banner year, in spite of the depression.

Become advertising conscious. Make it a point to read the ads; they are worth your while. You will find that many of the business men are offering special bargains, special inducements to students. You will find, upon patronizing them, that students are shown every courtesy; that every effort is made to stretch the student dollar as far as it will go; that every effort is made not only to help the Roadrunner, and the college as a whole, but each one of us, personally.

Remember our slogan—"We Patronize Roadrunner Advertisers." Then—watch us grow.

A Noble Gesture

Not for many months has a student project been so worthy of support as the Christmas carnival, sponsored by the Associated Women Students. Several weeks of strenuous work have been spent by the women's group in an effort to make this one of the greatest affairs ever staged by Santa Barbara State college students. Entire proceeds will go to charity; largely, it is understood, to our student unemployment fund.

Carmel Leach, A.W.S. president, and the many women who are working with her, deserve much praise for their efforts. Likewise deserving of commendation are the various fraternities, sororities, departments and organizations on the campus that have cooperated so splendidly by building and equipping concession booths. Many of the articles to be sold have been made by hand, necessitating long and dreary hours of night work, at the expense of studies and recreation.

The Go-Getter

More effective and appreciative than praise, however, would be some good old-fashioned support and whole-hearted backing of the venture. With an article of food as the price of admission; and with the proceeds directed largely toward the alleviation of student unemployment, the Flying A studio should be packed, Saturday night, with loyal students, faculty and townspeople.

Let's get together and make the Christmas carnival a grand success.

Our Publications

With pardonable pride, we point to the fact that once again the State college publications reflect honor upon their Alma Mater.

The Alpha Phi Gamma awards, announced in this issue of the Roadrunner, were won in stiff competition with outstanding colleges of the western states.

Bringing home four first place awards and one third place, the local journalists have demonstrated capabilities that would do credit to institutions of much greater size than State.

With the amount of work now being spent on this year's La Cumbre, Handbook and Roadrunner; it seems safe to predict that even further honors will come, in the months between now and next June.

University Newspaper Scores Petition on 'Radical Tendencies' by Irate Carolinans

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 30.—(CNS)—Although its presentation was greeted with a complete lack of enthusiasm, a petition charging that the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill condoned "radical tendencies" this week was being "considered" by a special committee of the university's Board of Trustees.

The petition was first filed with Governor O. Max Gardner last September by L. A. Tatum, retired Belmont, N. C., textile manufacturer who demanded that some action be taken to curtail "radical tendencies" both of students and faculty administration." In addition to Tatum's name, the document bore the signatures of 242 other citizens of the state.

While Governor Gardner this week had taken no official cognizance of the petition, the Board of Trustees voted to "receive" it and to refer it to the special committee for consideration.

In the meantime, campus leaders at the University of North Carolina have protested vigorously against the charges contained in the petition. Replies to these charges, as printed in The Daily Tar Heel, student newspaper, follow:

1. There are no courses in the university that teach communism, atheism, free-love or the doctrines of "other subversive forces."
2. There has been no speaker under university auspices who, from the university's rostrum, has sought converts to these doctrines.
3. Bertrand Russell, brought here

Shades o' Green

I don't know how it affected others, but I thought Marie Dressler's and Polly Moran's last picture to show here, "Prosperity," was not only humorous but downright inspiring. I left the theatre in excellent spirits after viewing this cinema.

And there was the Senior girl who replied to her date's request for permission to hold her hand, "If I do, the first thing I know you'll want to shuffle the whole deck."

The last issue of the news magazine "Time" reveals that the real name of the famous author Lawrence (Revolt in the Desert) is Thomas Edward Shaw; he is a private in the British air force, and has never received any money from the sale of his books. Shaw has repeatedly refused promotion from the rank of mechanic and lives on 60 cents a day.

An excursion to the Surf ball room the other evening turned out to be quite a revelation in regard to college men's tastes. A legion of well known Staters were there, such as Herman Gumpertz, Ned Porter, Mr. and Mrs. John Eckhardt, Bob McClain, Tim Cornwall, Ralph Forsyth and many more. It seems that a party had started for Russell's Hacienda and in their mortification at finding Russell's closed for the evening had wound up at the Surf. Fun? No end.

As prospective teachers, students of the college are undoubtedly watching with great interest activities of our local school group in their fight to retain Santa Barbara's fine educational system. Judging from overhead camp remarks many wish they were partaking in the skirmish. Oh, Yeah.

Students all over the campus are ballyhooing and working for next year's elective honors in a big way. My personal ticket for next year's offices would run something like this: President of the Student Body, Mercedes Berger. Students, no longed would drift off to the arms of Morpheus in interrupted fashion. What could be nicer than having Mercedes sing the meeting to sleep? Painless Student Body meetings. Berger for President.

For Vice-President it would be a hot contest between Bob Goux (where do you get the "Vice" stuff) and Meryl Adams with Meryl winning on her banjo playing ability. Goux, we may say, was up late at the Biltmore the night before. Crooning, you know.

Who'll we have for secretary? Nathan McCray is quite some neat little tap dancer. And then there's Yale Lordon, but you know Yale was kicked out of correspondence school for playing hockey. Yes, he sent in empty envelopes. Shirley Keith, that's the man. With his comical support, this ticket can't fail.

And now treasurer. A good, honest, sincere, quiet, hard working, industrious, trustworthy, ethical, efficient, loyal, whoa. I know just the person. We need seek no further. Nomination accepted. Don Sigerson.

Incidentally ask "Tex" Willard, Alan Flock, Elmer Lee, or John Westwick about that "Balancing Game." It seems you get the victim on his toes, hands on hips, and face over the left shoulder, then all shout, "Pansy."

Elmer Lee, star end on the Frosh team, did some plain and fancy blushing the other day when he was confronted with a copy of one of the numerous local papers in which was the birth notice of a young boy being born to a certain Elmer Lee and wife. Fortunately for the school the male turned out to be another Elmer.
