Seniors May Apply for Aeronautics Scholarship

Ericson Sees Plant Technical Institute Has Six-Weeks' Course

A number of scholarships are being offered to selected graduates of the industrial education department this summer by the Curtis-Wright Technical Institute of Aeronautics in Glendale, covering a six-weeks' course in aeronautics worth $120. This course starts June 25 and ends August 4, 1934. Anyone eligible and interested in these scholarships should consult E. E. Ericson, head of the industrial education department, at once for particulars.

Degree Credit Offered
Seniors who are majoring in industrial education, upon recommendation of Mr. Ericson, will receive credit for work toward the industrial education degree for work done in aeronautics at either the Curtis-Wright Institute or at the Boeing Institute located at Oakland, according to an announcement made yesterday by Mr. Ericson.

Ericson Visits Plants
Mr. Ericson has visited both the plants mentioned and has examined equipment and instruction methods before recommending recognition to the state department of education at Sacramento. The Curtis-Wright credits are accepted by the State board of education, Santa Barbara State Teachers college, Glendale and Pasadena Junior colleges, according to word received this week from the Glendale Institute.

TRIP TO ISLAND SET FOR MAY 25

Students and guests of the Outing club will leave Stearn's wharf at 12 o'clock noon Friday, May 25, for the trip to Santa Cruz island held annually by the Outing club, according to Melville "Humpty" Homfeld, president of the organization.

The price of this trip has taken a considerable drop from the cost last year, stated Mr. Homfeld. The trip this year will be $4.50 for college students and townspeople, and to members of the club it will be $3.50.

A special invitation has been extended to members of the faculty and student bodies of all southern California colleges and junior colleges to attend this trip. Anyone with the price is welcome to go to the islands with the group, said Mr. Homfeld.

Each individual going has been asked to take his own sleeping equipment and his own eating utensils. Several special culinary treats have been planned by the chefs, Bob Ash and Kim Drennan. Friday night, steaks and ice cream and cake with the necessary trimmings have been planned for dinner, according to the chefs.

Anyone interested in attending is asked to get in touch with Melville Homfeld either on the campus or by phoning 26341.

Fraternity Announce Pledging of Two Men

Jack Nolan and Donald Hickock were pledged at a meeting of Alpha Phi Omega, national honorary scout fraternity, last Friday evening at the troop 12 club house at the Trinity church.

Paul Hylton, fraternity president, conducted the ceremony.

Players Sponsor Dean Ashworth

"Death Takes a Holiday," will be the play read by Dean William Ashworth in room 43 at 3:45 tomorrow under the direction of the college players' club.

The play, adopted by Walter Ferris from the Italian comedy by Alberto Casella, is a fantasy that has as its thesis the supposition that love conquers everything, even death. The play opened at the Ethel Barrymore theatre in New York in December, 1929 and was one of the outstanding successes of that year. Philip Merivale and Rose Hobart played the leading parts. In the screen version Frederick March and Evelyn Venable have the principal roles.

K. P. Visitors Return from Southern Tour

The kindergarten primary group with President Clarence Phelps, Mrs. Jane Miller Abraham, and Miss Edith Leonard returned Saturday from the tour of six of the southern junior colleges. The group appeared at Los Angeles, Citrus, Pomona, Chaffey, Riverside, Fullerton junior colleges.

The visitors were received with charming courtesy and enthusiastic welcome from all groups and the show was a success, according to Mrs. Abraham. She with the other faculty interviewed hiring superintendents and principals for possible vacancies in teaching staffs for prospective graduates to fill. One of the former graduates who has been teaching at Redlands is being dismissed this year on account of tenure but has been promised another position because of his outstanding general ability, reaction to suggestion, discipline and community activities.

The visitors found a keen interest in Santa Barbara and many good prospective students. The skit presented by the kindergarten primary department was called "History of American Education." Girls who made the trip are Faith Holm, Betty Roulston, Miriam Alexander, Mildred Browning, Rosemary Habacker, Pearl Smead, Mary Lee Townsend, Faith Holm, Janet Hillton, Pat McCullagh, Kathryn Myers, Lucile Rankin. They were entertained at the Los Angeles junior college in the faculty dining room, at Riverside and Fullerton.

'Y' Sponsors Speaker at Friday Luncheon

Under the sponsorship of the Roadrunner "Y", George Gleason, Young Men's Christian association worker from Los Angeles, spoke at a luncheon last Friday held in the dining room of Ebbets hall before a representative group of over 70 students and townspeople.

Mr. Gleason's subject was "Can the Church Meet the Needs and Interests of Young Married People." In his talk he stressed the point that it is during the early married life of young people that the church is able to help the most.

As an authority on the subject, Mr. Gleason has conducted many classes for young couples in Los Angeles and its suburbs.

A home making class from the home economics department under the supervision of Winifred M. Frye attended the lecture as a unit.

I. E. Teacher Talks on Visual Education

William L. Rust, instructor in the industrial education department, presented a talk on the "Instruments of Visual Education" to the introduction to education class yesterday during the sixth hour.

"I hope," stated Mr. Rust, "to demonstrate to the students the value of visual education in our schools."

Next Monday Mr. Rust will continue his talk with two lessons presented by motion picture. One will cover the field of geography and the other will demonstrate the value of the blackboard in the hands of an expert.

Anyone interested is invited to attend, according to Miss Elsie Pond, class instructor.

Ten Candidates Seek Positions in Student Body Government; Give Campaign Speeches

Homfeld Lists Five Points in Election Talk

Melville Homfeld presented five main points as his objectives in his campaign speech to the student body last Tuesday morning in the auditorium.

Melville Homfeld's speech was as follows:

"I deem it an honor to be nominated for this position, and I wish to thank you for giving me the opportunity to appear before you this morning.

"I am running for this office because I think I am capable of fulfilling the requirements demanded for such a position.

"I believe that I have had the necessary experience to complete the demands of this office, and will do my utmost to serve Santa Barbara State college in that capacity if elected.

"I wish to present to you a five point program which I will strive to complete, if I am chosen for this office. I will make no campaign promises, but will outline for you the plans which I hope to carry out with the cooperation of the student body if I am your choice for this office.

"They are, first: A more complete and direct control of the student body as a whole over its own government, to be accomplished by the reading of the council minutes before the student body and a monthly published financial report by the treasurer.

"Second: I should like to see a reorganization of the public relations committee to gain the maximum amount of favorable publicity for the college.

"Third: We need a coordinated social program to avoid conflict in campus social functions.

"Fourth: We should have an honorary sophomore service club to aid in the orientation of the incoming freshmen and the enforcement of school traditions.

"Fifth: The development of both men's and women's minor sports and full support for major sports, will be my policy.

"Just recognition of all of the departments in the college is to be one of those things which I shall particularly strive to gain if I am elected. In conclusion let me say that whether or not you see fit to place me in this office, I shall do all within my power to make the coming year a most successful one."

S. B. S. C. Band Gives Program in Garden

Santa Barbara State's 40 piece band under the direction of Clifford E. Leedy will present a complimentary concert in the garden of the court house, Sunday afternoon, May 20.

This concert is being given in honor of the merchants of the city who through the local Lions club have sponsored the band's entrance as the representative from Santa Barbara in the Tournament of Roses parade in Pasadena for the past two years, according to Mr. Leedy.

Miss Lynch Conducts Meeting; Election Set for May 14

Allan "Bud" Lambourne and Melville Homfeld, candidates for student body president for 1934-35, flipped a coin to see which should speak first in the regular assembly Tuesday morning in the auditorium when the ten candidates for student body offices presented their campaign addresses.

"Bud" Lambourne, winning the toss, was the first presidential nominee to speak. Julia Lynch, vice president of the student body and chairman of the election committee, conducted the meeting and introduced the contestants. She announced the election date, Monday, May 14 and the place of voting, the window in the student body office. Wilma Felsenthal and Charles Barnes have been appointed to serve on the election committee.

Lois Jo McPheeters and Martin Verhoeven were the only candidates for the offices of vice president and treasurer respectively.

Mary Lee Townsend and Peggy Koeppe, candidates for secretary, presented their speeches, each emphasizing the importance of reading council minutes at each student body meeting.

Four candidates, the most running for any office, signified their intention of seeking the position of manager of dramatics and debate. Thomas ("Pat") Mahoney, the first speaker, emphasized the importance of executive ability. Donald Watson spoke of his plans for the production of more plays and the formation of a stagecraft class. William Ogle enumerated other positions he had held which would fit him for the office. James Murray, who held the office in 1933-34, spoke of his desire to continue his support of dramatics and debate to the best of his ability.

CO-EDS CHOOSE DATES FOR DANCE

Campus women will have a chance to choose their own dates for the annual Girls' Choice dance to be held at Rockwood this Saturday, May 12, from 8:30 to 11:30 o'clock. The dance is to be informal.

It is the usual procedure for the women to ask the men to go with them, to take all responsibility for transportation, to plan the programs at the dance, and to take the men to eat after the dance, according to Mercedes Berger, chairman of the social committee.

Patrons and patronesses for the dance are to be Dean Lois M. Bennink, Dr. William Ellison, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Barnett, Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Ganzert, and Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Scanlon.

Members of the social committee who have planned this dance are Mercedes Berger, chairman; Faith Holm, Art Dakan, Paul Woods, Lawrence Leslie, Betty Roome, and Dean Lois Bennink, adviser.

A. Lambourne Seeks Monthly Budget Report

In the student body meeting held last Tuesday morning, Allan "Bud" Lambourne outlined the platform upon which he is running for the office of student body president. The text of Mr. Lambourne's speech follows:

"It is really a great pleasure to speak to you this morning regarding the coming student body election. I consider it a great honor to have received the nomination for the office of student body president. Through my experience and contacts, both within the student body and with the townspeople of the community, I feel that I am fully qualified to accept the responsibility of the position.

"Contrary to a few opinions on the campus, my decision to seek this position of service was not made in a last minute, but came after careful consideration of the trust and obligation that rests in the office.

"One thing that is of vital interest to every member of the student body is finances. In the past students have found difficulty in securing financial information. This is not the fault of any one person in particular, but is due to the fact that records are not readily available for inspection. To eliminate this difficulty and give a clear picture at all times, I am advocating the monthly presentation of a statement of financial conditions, by reading it in the general assemblies or by publishing it in the Roadrunner, or both.

"I have always been a firm believer in student control of student government. We cannot and must not, however, try to avoid the advice and guidance that the faculty gives, but accept this in our own interests. We shall be faced with little or no faculty interference if we, as students, accept the responsibility of our own government, keeping the reins well in hand and move always towards the welfare of our own group.

"If you see fit at next Monday's election to place me in this office, I will accept the obligation gladly and pledge my best efforts towards the support of all student activities that serve to raise the interests of the student body of Santa Barbara State college."

Speaker Discusses Endocrine Functions

Dr. E. Kost Shelton talked to the physiology and psychology students Friday during the third period on "Endocrinology." Dr. Shelton compared the endocrine functions of the body to the artisan building a house.

"We are on the verge of a remarkable discovery of glandular functions. The glands have much to do with the study of psychology and behaviorism and it is the purpose of research to learn the truth," Dr. Shelton said.

He also gave the definitions and functions of the five special endocrine glands.

Cravens Goes to U. S. C. for Prexy's Meet

Climaxing a year of successful administration as president of the Santa Barbara State College Associated Student Body, Marcus Cravens will attend the Southern California Student Body Presidents' association convention which is being held at the University of Southern California, Wednesday, May 23. In conjunction with the Southern California convention the Pacific Presidents' association convention is to convene on the San Diego State campus for a four day conclave, Thursday to Sunday, May 24, 25, 26 and 27.

As the convention is to be the final one of the year, Marcus Cravens hopes to have the student body president-elect accompany him to the five day conclave and so become acquainted with the student executives of the Pacific coast.

At the Southern California president's gathering, Dr. R. B. Von Klein Smid, president of the University of Southern California, will be the principle speaker and the guest of honor. Short talks are to be given by deans and coaches concerning topics that are of interest to students.

The annual Pacific Student Presidents association convention, which was held last year at Oregon is to be a gala affair with many noted speakers and entertainment that can be offered only in Southern California.

Elementary Students Receive Placements

"Twenty-three percent of the graduates of the elementary education department have received teaching positions," stated Mrs. Laura Specht Price, department head.

"This percentage represents an increase in the number of placed students over last year," Mrs. Price said.

Among the students receiving positions lately are Robert Serbian, Pearl Cayler, and Ruth Johnson.

Robert Serbian will serve as principal in the Rockford school near Porterville, California. Mr. Serbian is at present president of the elementary department.

33 Men Begin Action

Coach 'Spud' Harder Introduces New Formations

Denno Assists Mentor Squad Works-Out on Phelps' Field Every Day

Twenty-three men have reported to date for spring football practice, according to an announcement made yesterday by Ray Denno, assistant coach. Two of last season's stars are expected to report in the near future, namely, Mert Miller, and Thornley Roe.

Coach "Spud" Harder was here over the week end and gave the fellows several new plays to work on during the week, and also helped individuals in blocking, tackling, coming out of the line, slicing, double coordination, and other fundamentals of the game. Harder is not expected to be on the local campus this week-end due to necessary work in Bakersfield, Manager Richard Hawley stated.

It is rumored that light scrimmage will begin a week from tomorrow, although this report could not be affirmed. Ray Denno reported last evening to take over his duties as assistant to Coach Harder. He announced that he would be out with the fellows every night from now on, including Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The regular practices are being held on Phelps field every week day at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and at 10 a.m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

Among those veterans and new men reporting for practice so far are: Donald Ash, a transfer student from Santa Maria Junior college, who is reporting for the first time on the local grid squad and whom, according to Ray Denno and Hawley, is a good prospect for the tackle and end positions. Jack Frick, an all-conference center also from Santa Maria J. C., will be an added asset to the Roadrunner 11 next season. Allan Garber, varsity end last year at Bakersfield J. DELEGATES GIVE REPORT OF MEET

Reporting on the Y.M.C.A. student conference held at Cambria Pines, Richard Jackson and Howard Van Winkle addressed the members of the Roadrunner Y at their regular Wednesday morning meeting held in the State college dining hall.

The convention which was held on May 5 and 6 was open to all representatives of college Y's and had as its primary purposes the organization of similar groups in colleges and junior colleges.

Plans for an advisory council consisting of from one to seven faculty members were discussed with the idea of establishing a closer contact with the college. At the present time no faculty member is connected with the organization.

In an endeavor to create more interest in the club and to have each member take part in its activities a discussion group program was talked over.

In this plan the members would be divided into separate committees, each having a topic to discuss. This topic would be presented at the next meeting. On a set date the committees would meet with the faculty adviser and the officers for a conference on matters needing their attention. A discussion in a student body meeting was also talked over.

Goux to Handle Lambourne Dance

"Bud Lambourne for student body president," will be the theme for a dance to be held tomorrow at 12:25 o'clock in the gym. An orchestra will furnish music for the dancing.

Bobby Goux, campaign manager for Mr. Lambourne, is arranging the affair, of which Dr. Frederick W. Ganzert is sponsor.

Elect Students Best Qualified

Santa Barbara State college students will have an opportunity next Monday to select the officers to carry on their student body affairs for the coming year. This is a duty and privilege that every eligible student should conscientiously perform. The success of our student body functions depend almost entirely upon the ability of the students placed in each particular position.

From the demonstrations made by the candidates at the student body meeting last Tuesday, it appears that a selection of capable officers should be chosen from the group of candidates. Although the speeches given by the various office seekers are not true tests of their ability to hold the offices they are seeking, their appearance on the stage before the members of the student body gives each student an opportunity to acquaint themselves with the election candidates and to attach the achievements of each candidate to the proper person.

In their campaign speeches most of the candidates outlined their platforms and the programs they plan to carry out next year. Let us be intelligent in selecting the candidates presenting the most plausible program. Colorful promises are interesting and exciting for the moment, but pay small dividends as the noise fades away. Consider the previous achievements of the various candidates and compare them to the duties of the jobs they are seeking. Do not allow pretty faces of the girls or the brawn muscles of the men to persuade you to cast your vote in their favor. Student body jobs are not carried out in the same manner as beauty shows or physical contests.

The students you place in your student body offices are receiving the highest honor that can be bestowed upon them by the students. Go to the polls and do your part in placing the most desirable person in each specific office. Remember that the smallest office is as important to the person seeking it as is the position of student body president to those aspiring for it.

Monday is election day, the one time in the school year that every student has an opportunity to express his desires. There will be few complaints in the results of the election if it is carried on intelligently by having everyone do his or her duty at the polls.

Letters to the Editor

Roadrunner Editor:

The kindergarten primary group, President Clarence L. Phelps, Miss Edith Leonard and I had a fine trip through the southern part of California last week. We performed at the student body meetings of the following junior colleges: Los Angeles, Citrus, Pomona, Chaffey, Riverside, and Fullerton.

The executives among us interviewed hiring superintendents and principals for possible vacancies in teaching staffs, hoping our graduates might fill positions. We were met with charming courtesy and an enthusiastic welcome from all groups, and our "show" went across the footlights in fine form. I interviewed the fine looking superintendent of schools in Redlands, who almost made me promise to place the dismissed candidate in another position because he (the superintendent) considers the dismissed teacher outstanding in general ability, reaction to suggestion, discipline and community activities. In fact the best manual training man he ever had in Redlands, said the superintendent. On this man's record in Redlands we expect to place another Santa Barbara graduate in that school system.

President Phelps suggested that I write this letter to you to publicize this information, believing it will be of interest to all your readers and of especial value to all inexperienced and experienced teachers.

We found fine buildings and campuses, cordial executives, keen interest in Santa Barbara State, and many good prospective students. Hospitable homes of students were open to us and we came home with our minds and spirits refreshed, and feeling that our trip was decidedly successful in every way. Miss Leonard proved to be an efficient, courteous, genial manager and to her we owe our successful tour.

Cordially,
JANE MILLER ABRAHAM,
Registrar.

Varsity grid stars from last year who have reported for spring football practice include Ralph Stockel, all-conference halfback last season, and a former star under Coach Harder at Bakersfield J. C.; Barney Dupes, also a Bakersfield J. C. star guard who performed in great style here last season; Pete Hathaway, end; Johnny Ingram, guard; Elmer Lee, guard; Bob Lowe, tackle; Willis McCullough, tackle; Jim Moss, tackle; Pat Mahoney, quarter; Bill Poole, Robert Rezzonico, and Allister Scott, halfbacks.

The LONGBOW

By A. R. O.

The Indian has been called the vanishing American long enough. Let's give it to John Dillinger.

Pat O'Mara has just written a book (Martin Hopkins, publisher, 10 s 6 d) called "Autobiography of a Liverpool Irish Slummy," which recalls to mind some of the attributes of that class of the world's toughest hombres. In the old days, between 1820 and 1860, when fast American packet ships ruled the passenger trade of the Atlantic, crews were always made up largely of Liverpool Irishmen, known by the uncomplimentary title of "packet rats." They were as tough a group of men as ever slung a fist or threw a knife.

Even in the roughest of winter gales, with the wind shrieking through the rigging and the sails caked with salt and ice, these men deked it a point of honor never to don a jacket of any sort, but with sleeves rolled and snow beating on their hairy chests, boldly climbed out on swaying yards that threatened at every lurch of the ship to hurl them out into the swirling water. And when they reached shore and visited the dives that awaited them in New York and Liverpool—but that is another story.

When the Suez Canal was opened in 1869, and steamers began running down the Red Sea, firemen collapsed before their furnaces in the terrific heat. The Red Sea, with scorching heat arising from its bordering desert areas, was a veritable hell for the "black gang" in the "glory hole." Steamship owners were nonplussed and worried. Ordinary white stokers could not take it. Negroes from West Africa wilted before the furnace doors, and Chinamen dropped at the work.

The call was sent out for Liverpool Irishmen, and, my friends, they were men! There is no hotter hell on earth than the stokehold of a steamer in the Red Sea, but those tough laddies stood it without a whimper; and when their time came eventually to pass in their checks, it is a safe bet to say that they probably thrived in the atmosphere of Satan's empire and kept that gentleman of the cloven heel in an uproar of mirth with their effervescent Irish wit. They were just about the toughest bunch of men God ever let loose on this continent.

Merle McGowen contributes the following clipping: "Pittsfield, Mass., announces qualifications for teaching, stating that each must be alert, altruistic, approachable, clean, dignified, kind, optimistic, pure in a moral sense, strong physically, charitable, cooperative, courageous, courteous, dependable, fair, faithful, generous, happy, honest, idealistic, impartial, just, loyal, modest, magnanimous, neat, open-minded, patient, progressive, reverent, sensitive to humor, and serene."

At home, we hope, the teacher can be herself.

Truth is stranger than fiction: Robert Fulton (early American developer of the steamship) gained fame as an artist before he became interested in building steam vessels, and Samuel Morse, inventor of the telegraph, was also a noted painter.

Napoleon, in his youth, tried his hand at writing novels and histories but was a dismal failure in this bid to gain fame, so he concentrated on the army.

In the early days of our trade with China, the Chinese believed that "if the foreigners are deprived of the tea and rhubarb of China for several days, they are afflicted with blindness and constipation of the bowels, to that degree that their lives are in the greatest danger."

We read that Madrid waiters have gained the abolition of tipping because it was humiliating to accept gratuities, and a law has just been passed forbidding the practice. How different it is in Denmark, where we can remember being presented with the bill for our dinner with the half apologetic remark from the waiter that "This includes the tip!"

DR. F. W. GANZERT RECEIVES REPORT

Handicaps being endured by international relations clubs of certain Latin American institutions were indicated in the annual report of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace recently received by Dr. Frederick W. Ganzert of the social science department.

Dr. Ganzert pointed out a communication from the president of the club at the Universidad Nacional, Paraguay. The young man wrote from the front in the Chaco war area, and stated that while he and many other students were having to fight, substitutes had been appointed to club officers at the university, and that they wished to be considered still on the roll of active chapters. Interest in internationalism is still alive among the students in the army in spite of the war, the correspondent continued.

Of the 18 active international relations clubs in Latin America, Dr. Ganzert founded two in Brazil during his sojourn in South America in 1930-31. The clubs founded by Dr. Ganzert are at O Granbery college, Juiz de Fora, and Collegio Pedro Segundo, Rio de Janeiro.

Students Form Honor Art Club on Campus

An honor art club is to be formed on the campus for the benefit of students who excel in art, according to Mrs. Mary E. T. Crosswell, head of the art department.

To become eligible for membership a student must be either a minor or a major in the art department, must have carried at least six units in art, and maintained a B average.

The purpose of this organization will be to stimulate outside interest in the art department of the college and to promote a spirit of good fellowship among the art students.

Details of the constitution have not as yet been formed but members of the committee will accept suggestions. Members of the committee are Allen Neil, chairman; Laura Fox, Jerry Hopkins, Lawrence Leslie, and Wilma Kiesner, Mrs. Mary E. T. Crosswell, adviser.

Art Students Picnic at Southern Beach

Serenity beach was the setting for the Art department picnic Sunday. Entertainment for the day consisted of swimming and games.

Attending the event were Mrs. Mary E. T. Crosswell, head of the department; Mrs. Ruth M. Doolittle, Barbara Williams, Laura Fox, Viola Allee, Geraldine Hopkins, Dorothy Poole, Evelyn Cregan, Mary Monden, Mary Johnson, Joy Stockton, and Allen Neil, Bob Foor, Laurence Leslie, and Walter Cheever.

Library Exhibit Honors Browning

Observing the birth of Robert Browning, the English poet, on May 7, 1812, a collection of his work and that of his wife, Elizabeth Barrett Browning, has been placed in the exhibit case of the library this week.

"Flush," a biography, by Virginia Woolf is a new book concerned with Mrs. Browning's cocker spaniel, who spent his entire life on her couch. This book has probably gained the most attention.

Other books in the library include "Browning and His Century," by Helen Aschibald Clarke, and volumes of the two writers' poetry.

Illustrations shown include a drawing of Mr. Browning's study in the De Vere gardens and illustrations of the "Pied Piper" and the "Song of the Lark" from "Pippa Passes."

A number of libraries throughout the country are holding Browning exhibits this week, including the Huntington Library where a display of original manuscripts and first editions will be shown for a month.

Dear Spang-o!

It was indeed a treat to see our calm, competent, Betty Hopkins registering extreme disgust as she left the Health Cottage. What's the matter, Bet's?

Ain't love grand? That romantic couple, Dot Hartley and Jimmie Feeley were guiding the destiny of the Collegiate Hamburger last week. We're curious to know if they are wedding bell-conscious next month.

Art Nisewanger, after traveling far south looking for a teaching job said, "I'll bet if I had six kids and was married they would give me a job. A bystander spoke up then and said he would need more than a job.

It's off! It's on! No, it's off again! By cracky it still goes on! What? Why this Moon, Coker, McGowen, Coker, McPheeters, Coker, Smith, Coker, Koopp, Coker, Moon, Coker—affair. Pardon me, Mr. Coker, but would you care for my phone number? (And he hasn't a date for the girls' choice dance.)

Do you still believe in magic carpets, fairy vehicles that lead you to ecstasy? Come down, sit in one of our new Chinese red leather chairs and we will take you straight to ecstasy—and a Collegiate Hamburger.

Yours,
Ham Burger

Sport Comment
By BEN PALMER

Many thanks to you, Fritz, for the sport page of last week.

Fritz Muegenburg, that powerful and staunch athlete of Santa Barbara State college and sports editor of the Roadrunner last semester, acted as sports editor last week for the publication. Due to Fritz's bashfulness, his name did not appear upon the page.

Many of us never have time enough to consider sports in the viewpoint of future benefits and happiness. We cannot play football after leaving college, unless we are good enough for a professional team, and very few football men can make the grade. Few can play baseball, soccer, basketball, or many of the other sports given in the colleges of this country. These sports should be supported by all means; however, there are other activities that will be of great benefit to the individual in later life that are not given in many institutions and are seldom required of the students. If a person will analyze his future life as to recreation he will no doubt find that he will either play golf or tennis, and not any of the more strenuous games. It would seem that every college would require these sports of the students if the facilities could be had; thus an interest would be aroused while in college and he would be prepared to enjoy those things in future life.

La Boheme

Black smoke from the boat's belly streaks at right angles with the stack. Tiny yachts chaff and worry at their buoys like horses at a post. When boats creep to the dock, Shaggy is there, begging for a bone. He lives that way—welcoming these homeless men in from the sea. Today sea-men are saying, "Where's Shaggy?" On hot days he goes off the run-way to swim; when the platform is too high to climb back onto, he barks; someone is near to let it down a bit. Today sea-men are saying, "Shaggy's roaming." But there, dark as sea-weed on the ocean's smock—stringy hair—"Shaggy's left the dock."

Photography must be recognized as a finer art. The subtleties of light and shadow in the picture of "Bud" Lambourne in the lobby reveal character as profoundly as a portrait.

Heard he-man Leonard Dorn remark on the "quad" steps, Sunday. "You don't have to go to church with trees like those in your yard." The eucalyptus arch to form an out-door cathedral.

Everybody in school, it seems wishes to see the world's fair this summer. I suggest that someone buy a truck and start a caravan.

Reclining on my couch, a shaded lamp at my side, I am enchanted by the slow grace of smoke rising from a cigarette. It undulates soothingly, like the arms of a dancer; perfect, infinite movement—too ethereal to touch, as near as we can approach the immaterial through the sense of sight.

Mr. Cheever has two delightful twin daughters. There is a bewitchment in lovely things duplicated. To see twin girls that are pretty is a magic thrill. To Mr. Cheever as an artist, replicas are a hobby.

Bakersfield turned out en masse to greet me. Industry was discontinued, the blare of bands vibrated through the air, maidens strew flowers at my feet. In a luxuriant suite I lay swathed in pillows. On my left was Coach Harder, on my right the mayor. "This is all very well," I said, "but I have the feeling that there must be some mistake."

Harder looked at me. "You represent S.B.S.C., don't you?"

"Yes," I replied, "but I still feel that there is some mistake."

Silence reigned; then a look of horror spread over the mayor's face. "My God," he exploded, "Can it be that you're not Harry Killian?"

ANNUAL AFFAIR SEEN BY CROWD

College Men Show Ability in Sport

By ROBERT MOORE
Packing the Flying A gym, over 1200 sport fans gathered last night to watch the Santa Barbara State college intra-mural athletes fight it out for the championship of their division. The events were under the auspices of the Santa Barbara American Legion Post 49.

The program was officially opened by Mayor Harvey T. Nielson and welcome speeches were made by George McClellan, Ralph Coane and Hal Davis, managers of the affair.

Musical selections were furnished by the State college band under the direction of Peter Quinn.

Wrestling
The first wrestling bout was between Norman Sweger and U. J. Armstrong, both tipping the scales at 135 pounds each. Armstrong won the bout in four minutes and 40 seconds using a half nelson and body roll.

In the second match Robert Ople, weighing 154 pounds, pinned Ben Palmer's shoulders to the mat in one minute and 25 seconds with a roll and body lock. Ben weighed 147 pounds.

Doc Kelliher, 175, using a bar arm and a cross body roll won his fall from Elmer Lee, 175, in one minute and 30 seconds.

In an exhibition bout between Pat McCullough and Tiny McCullough, no falls were made by the brothers. Pat received five and one half points to Tiny's one and one half. The first round lasted five minutes with a minute rest and then one more five minute bout.

Boxing
O. L. Good refereed the boxing. There were three rounds of two minutes each and one minute rest. Kenneth Rister, 150, won the decision over Red Mahoney, also 150, in the first boxing event of the evening. Although Mahoney kept rushing in and pushed the fight, Ken garnered the most points.

Robert Swanson put up a fast rushing and slugging offense which told in the third round. In that round Lawrence Goodell pushed Swanson around the ring but he could not get in enough punches to win the event.

In a mixed exhibition match between Don Livingston, lightweight champion, and Leonard Dorn, junior welterweight champion, Livingston, who displayed faster footwork and a better offense took the bout.

Knockout Scored
Scoring a clean knockout over his rival Doc Kelliher, Gail Cochran won the title of championship heavyweight boxer in the school. The knockout was scored in the beginning of the third round. Both boys came in fast and traded punches to the head. Coming in close again both boxers let loose a barrage of leather and broke half way apart. Gail then drew back and with a fast left hook to side of the jaw, scored the knockout blow.

After the events were over, uncut pictures of the Dempsey-Tunney fight were shown.

State to Meet Santa Maria J.C. in Tussle

State college's baseballers will seek revenge against the strong Santa Maria Junior college horse-hiders Saturday when they meet the youngsters who defeated State in the opening contest this season on the Pershing park diamond at 2 p.m. Since the two aggregations met in the first game of the local schedule the Junior collegians have battled their way to the top of their conference and they had a play-off game last Saturday with one of the other outstanding teams of the league. The name of the opposing school and the official outcome could not be affirmed by Coach Hal Davis last evening.

At the same time the Northern junior college nine were steadily climbing to the top of the conference, the hilltoppers were not doing so badly themselves. As an example of how well the locals have improved it is only necessary to read the results of last Saturday's game against the California Christian diamonders. After the southern boys won over such teams as U.S.C., U.C.L.A., Occidental and Loyola, they went down to defeat at the hands of the Roadrunner nine, which shows something of State's improvement over their pre-season games.

The hilltoppers will attempt to retain their championship over the Cal-Christian baseball outfit when they meet them a week from Saturday on the latter's diamond. That game will wind up a most successful season for the Davismen.

Women's Sporting Comment
PEGGY KOEPP

One of the most important and interesting events of this year will be the archery tournament to be held May 12, 10 to 2 p.m. at Mrs. Manning's home in Montecito. This affair is being sponsored by the Palmas Altas Archery club, and all women students of the State college are invited to take part. Each girl is requested to bring her own lunch and a cup.

All those interested should sign up in the gym this week.

I think that much praise should be given to the W.A.A. for the very attractive May Day program which they gave last Tuesday. Despite the fact that the wind was blowing very hard and was very cold, we willie winkles, mother goose children, bears and pigs scampered gaily through their paces. Pretty Mae Linderman was chosen May Queen, a fact which was not disclosed until the end of the program.

Baseball this semester is being carried on in a different manner. Class teams are not being chosen, but rather groups have been selected according to their ability. Captains of the various groups will be voted on the last part of the week.

An early morning ride on Sunday, May 6, was enjoyed by eight students and instructors from the physical education department at the Vandevere Riding academy at Hope Ranch. Those who rode were: Lucille Bolton, Alberta Beddome, Jean McNally, Margaret Beddome, Fern Johnson, Norene Cave, Miss Rockwood of Santa Barbara high, Miss Gladys Van Fossen, and Mr. Johnston of the riding academy.

P. E. Men Will Aid in Goleta Play-Day Fete

Four members of the physical education class will aid the Goleta Union school in its coming play-day to be held on May 12. The affair will last the entire day.

Those who will help during the festival are Norman Sweger, Jack Kitley, Jimmy Coultas, and "Kim" Drennan.

The boys will assist in running off all the events to be staged, each one in charge of a special group and will supervise the work of that group in all sports entered.

Festivities of this nature occur annually at the Goleta Union school and is open to all the students up to the eighth grade.

Medals and ribbons are awarded to the winners of each event. Both boys and girls are allowed to compete.

In order to get the best orchestra obtainable to accompany Dick and Ginger in their song hits by Harry Warren and Al Dubin, Warner Brothers signed Ted Fio-Rito and his famous entertainers many weeks before production started on the picture.

Ray Enright directed the mammoth radio romance from a screen play by Warren Duff and Harry Sauer, which was based on an original story by Paul Moss and Jerry Wald.

LOCALS PLAY BEST BALL OF SEASON IN BEATING POWERFUL COAST SQUAD

Joe Ball and Ralph Stockel Score Two Runs Each in Sharing Honors of Game

By CURTIS DAVIS
Three runs in the sixth inning broke up a pitcher's battle and allowed the State college baseball team to triumph over the strong California Christian college nine by the score of 3-1, in a game played Saturday morning in Pershing park. The win was a significant one for State inasmuch as the southern team has defeated U.S.C., U.C.L.A., Occidental, and Loyola in previous games this season.

Due to the effectiveness of the pitchers of both teams, at the conclusion of the first six innings neither team had scored. With one out, Ralph Stockel opened fire with a single to right field. Ball followed with another single to right, sending Stockel to third. Miller singled infield allowing Stockel to score and Ball advanced to third base. Rezzonico continued the hitting spree with a line drive to right field, scoring Ball and putting Miller on third base. Miller concluded the scoring by counting on Lorden's sacrifice fly to deep center.

Ernie Boucher, local ace, took his turn on the rubber and was effective throughout the contest. For six and two-thirds innings the Panthers were unable to touch one of Boucher's deliveries for a base hit. Ernie limited the visitors to two hits for the entire game while the Roadrunners were pounding the south-paw slants of Tower for a total of eight. In fairness, however, to the Vermont avenue pitcher it must be said that he possessed more ability than any moundsmen the Davismen have faced this year.

— and they do something like that to mellow good tobaccos

WHERE THE RARE WINES come from they know that the two most important things in wine-making are the selection of the grapes and the long years of ageing in the wine cellars. IT'S VERY MUCH THE SAME in the making of a cigarette. You have to get the right tobaccos, then put them away to age and mellow in wooden casks. You can't make a good cigarette like Chesterfield in a day. It takes over two years to age the tobaccos for your Chesterfields—but it adds something to the taste and makes them milder.

Everything that modern Science really knows about is used to make Chesterfield the cigarette that's milder, the cigarette that tastes better.
