'Isla Vista Institute' Plans for Community

By MOLLY SAMUELSEN
EG Staff Writer

To many students, Isla Vista (alias "Sin City") is nothing more than a groovy place to live while they're going to school. There are others, however, who view it from a different standpoint. To this second group it's much more than just a place to stay; it is a community of people inter-acting with one another on levels far deeper and more intricate than a merely academic relationship.

This is the feeling that motivated the foundation of the Isla Vista Community Institute. Under the direction of co-chairmen Paul Sweet and George Kieffer, assisted by several staff and faculty members, the Institute aims to make Isla Vista a better place to live in through the enhancement of community life in every social, educational, cultural, and ecological dimension.

The Institute's major areas of concern include the development of long range community planning and research programs, the strengthening of I.V.'s affiliation with county agencies, and the promotion of better relationships among the various groups which constitute this community.

Another function is civic action. Projects such as beach maintenance, installation of street lights, garbage disposal, instigation of better recreational facilities, and a general beautification program, as well as means of procuring funds to finance the projects, are currently being discussed.

Commenting on the Institute, one of the co-chairmen, Paul Sweet, explained the importance of developing a total environment for Isla Vista. "Students should be involved in the development of the community of which they are such an integral part. We'd like to see I.V. become a training ground for future community leaders."

He also said that, while the nucleus of the organization and basic plans for its operation have already been established, (Continued on p. 8, col. 2)

University Classes in the Nude? UC Davis Moves to Disband One

By JOHN RETHORST
EG Staff Writer

U.C. DAVIS--A group of students in an experimental class here recently held a discussion in the nude, EL GAUCHO learned yesterday.

The 12 to 15 students involved are members of PoliSci 48, part of an experimental series of courses established by the Davis Academic Senate last year.

Unlike courses offered in the Davis student-controlled Experimental College, these "Directed Study Courses" are controlled by a faculty member and offer regular academic credit. The amount of credit varies from one to four units and is determined by the professor in charge.

PROF. TERMINAL

The teacher in charge of Poli Sci 48 is Dr. Jerry Friedberg, who has a terminal contract at Davis, allegedly because of his failure to publish. The Davis Associated Students are considering hiring Friedberg with A.S. funds.

The discussion in the nude was held only once, after a regular class session and was done without Friedberg's knowledge, according to the Office of Davis Chancellor Emil Mrak. However, contrary rumors are circulating to the effect that the class members involved asked Friedberg, who refused to say either yes or no.

According to Campus Public Affairs Officer Robert Bynum, the students met in a private home off-campus after the regular session, disrobed, and sat in a semi-circle holding hands. They held a discussion but apparently did not engage in sexual relations. The idea behind the venture, according to Bynum, was to "heighten contemplation of the subject."

STUDENT CONTROL

The Poli Sci 48 class, entitled "Education and Community" had a total enrollment of 100 people, Bynum told EL GAUCHO. Since this number was so large, Friedberg divided the class into two sections. He controlled one section, and the students managed the other.

Individual discussions are left to students, who can talk about what they want to, instead of the specific topic of the course.

Bynum reported that at the present time, there is no move to discontinue the class or the 48 series of courses. The administration has encouraged the students who took part in the nude discussion to drop the course. Aside from that, there has been no decision regarding any disciplinary action to the students.

The Davis Cal Aggie told EL GAUCHO that Chancellor Mrak has been meeting with associates in an attempt to determine a course of action.

When the Chancellor's office heard of the discussion, it attempted to withhold the news from the press. However, the Sacramento Union, supposedly an anti-University paper, broke the story in yesterday's edition.

Chancellor Mrak said Friedberg reported to campus authorities that he had only known of the group's plans since Monday night.

ISLA VISTA PRESENT: There are some things the new Isla Vista Community Institute may not include among "changes to be made" for the Future Sin City. Take away the tar but please leave the girls.

SELECTIVE SERVICE SYSTEM SCRUTINIZED

Draft Deferments Depend on National Interest

A student is deferred when his Selective Service local board determines the national interest would best be served by temporarily continuing him in a civilian status.

There are two types of student deferments: Classes I-S and II-S.

I-S is a statutory deferment intended to permit a student who qualifies to complete high school or an academic year in college.

Class II-S is the classification given to students attending a college, university or similar institution of learning and satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction.

FULL-TIME BASIS

To be considered as full-time, a student should have earned 25% of his credits toward a degree during his first academic year, 50% at the end of his second year, 75% at the end of his third year if enrolled in a 4-year course and 20% each year if in a 5-year course.

Eligibility for deferment in II-S expires upon attaining a baccalaureate degree, reaching the age of 24, or ceasing to be a full-time and satisfactory student.

Any registrant who requested and received a II-S classification after July 1, 1967 will not subsequently be eligible for classification in Class III-A (fatherhood) unless he can prove to the satisfaction of his local board that his induction would create a hardship to his dependents.

Student deferments are temporary and reviewed at least once a year.

A student is classified on the basis of the facts in his individual case. His classification may be changed any time his circumstances change.

RIGHT OF APPEAL

Each time a student is classified or reclassified he has the right of appearing personally before his local board and of appealing his classification. If attending college away from home, he may request that his case be reviewed by the Appeal Board having jurisdiction over the area in which his college is located.

A college student not in the ROTC program is classified in Class II-S, while one in the program is classified in Class I-D. To retain a I-D classification, the student must satisfactorily participate in the ROTC program.

A full-time college student who is doing satisfactory work and is ordered for induction during his school year, may request and be classified in Class I-S(C) until the end of his academic year or until he ceases to satisfactorily pursue his course if he has not previously been classified in Class I-S(C), has not been classified in Class II-S after June 30, 1967 and received his baccalaureate degree.

The law authorizes designation of a prime age group or groups but to date no such prime age group has been designated.

Janitorial Assignment For Prof. Overruled

WASHINGTON (CPS) -- Gen. Lewis Hershey has decided that the Selective Service System can find a better occupation for a history professor than janitor.

Noel Brann, a 30-year-old University of Maryland history professor, who turned in his draft card last October, was to be assigned to do janitorial work at the University of Kansas by his Reno, Nev., draft board. The board took action after receiving Brann's draft card. Brann is a conscientious objector and was assigned civilian work instead of being inducted into the Army.

Although Brann had decided to report for the job rather than go to jail, he protested the kind of work to which he was being assigned. The news media got a hold of the story, and soon people all over the country knew that Selective Service System wanted to make a janitor out of a professor.

On Thursday, after a request from the director of the state appeals board, Hershey decided that Brann's draft board had violated the regulations, and that it had to give him some choice of occupation.

According to a spokesman at Selective Service headquarters, there will be "discussion" between Brann and his draft board before he gets a final assignment. The spokesman also said that the change of a draft board's ruling by the national headquarters is rare.

EDITORIAL

New Idea of the Real Issue

(Editor's note: this is a dissenting view from that held by the Senior Editorial Board; it represents the opinion of its author only.)

In the furor over the present and past controversies regarding the use of the Placement Center by commercial concerns for recruiting purposes, the basic question has been ignored.

That question is not whether war is immoral, or napalm is bad, or discrimination is inherently evil, but whether any sizable minority or majority has the right to impose its own morality on the remainder of the group.

Fundamentally the laws of society which protect its members, e.g. the laws against rape, murder, etc., are not moral judgements; they are methods of preserving that society. Although without these laws society would crumble, our American society would continue to function with or without laws against discrimination, and with or without war. This is not to say that we favor either war or discrimination; but that they have no bearing on the main issue.

Why should we, or people who think as we do, act as moral watchdogs over the rest of the country? Is that not just another form of censorship? When the state says that you can't rent your apartment to your friend because a Negro wants it too, he is limiting your actions, as a censor would limit your reading. Although we believe discrimination is wrong, some people don't. Should it then be our right to determine what they should not do any more than it is their right to determine what I should and should not read?

The basic tenet of American society is freedom to do as you please within the framework of the laws of the society and freedom to disagree with those laws on pain of whatever punishment is assigned them.

The Kerr Directive, which states that no company that practices discrimination may use University facilities, is being tested by the recent Albers resolution. The directive is clear, and there is no other vote, NO other vote, that the Council could make but to pass the resolution because these companies obviously practice discrimination.

But that is not the real question. There are other more important ones. Is it justified that a moral directive interfere with any student's opportunity for easy access to representatives of companies who break no laws of this country? Is it legal for a majority, or a militant minority, to deny possible financial or material advantage to the students of this campus on a purely moral ground?

CLAY KALLAM
EG Sports Editor

Correction: In yesterday's editorial, EG erroneously named three companies as specific targets of Albers' resolution. No mention of any firms was included in the final resolution.

Discounting 'Greek Threat' to Freshmen

By JOHN P. MERRILL
Vice-Pres. of IFC

During the past several years students at UCSB have witnessed an ever increasing tendency on the part of certain individuals to treat the fraternities on this campus as the collective whipping boy of thoughtful and progressive independents. Such sentiment has been in the past and continues to be vocalized by an EL GAUCHO staff which has offered its facilities, seemingly carte blanche, as the mouthpiece of such criticism. As fraternity men we must from time to time ask ourselves why, and in the process, perhaps, re-evaluate our own goals.

Our conclusions are necessarily biased by our own point of view as members, as well as students, yet we cannot help thinking that the validity of the generally negative Greek criticism does not bear up under scrutiny. Are the Greeks a hurdle to realization of liberal ideals? Do the Greeks pose a threat to the meaningful college experience of the incoming freshman or the independent student in general? Such conjecture is extremely doubtful. Fraternity members are individuals who have joined an organization of their own volition and, generally speaking, are cognizant of the assets and liabilities of such a choice. Those who characterize the choice as the result of a psychological need for what is really a contrived or artificial security should perhaps entertain the possibility that such "institutionalized security" provides real and tangible benefits for the members; benefits not available to the independent student.

In my innocence I fail to see the motivation for criticism of such a system which itself is optional to the college experience. No one is forced into the fraternity environment, and once in, no one is forced to stay. Does the EL GAUCHO staff feel they are protecting the potential rushee from some form of malevolent beetle waiting to take him into the fold?

Much has been made of the service projects and disproportionate representation of Greeks in student activities and in student government. Yet it seems almost senseless to list such projects so that they can once again fall on deaf ears. Any constructive activity by the fraternities is regarded as extraneous to the basically undeniable fact that fraternities are nothing more than "social clubs." Fraternities are, by and large, social organizations, and why not? Though community service is secondary, what tangibly does the independent student contribute service-wise aside from an occasional personal commitment to some form of social work or community improvement? Very little. I do not condemn the independents for lacking the organizational capabilities requisite, yet why belittle the operational facility in the form of fraternities? Such criticism smacks of sour grapes, not perhaps for fraternity life, but for the potential capabilities of organized numbers.

EL GAUCHO attempts to intensify the difficulty of realizing such a potential by nurturing a hostile environment through exploitation of their position as a student-supported newspaper and jeopardizing their own editorial integrity, while giving straightforward front page coverage to liberal groups of such earthshaking and immediate importance as the "Che Guevara Memorial Society." Why is this so? Through their mud-slinging "satire" the EL GAUCHO staff has managed to broaden the credibility gap between themselves and the students, while failing to command the respect of a sophisticated and informative college journal. Really, what is more important, human interest or intellectual honesty?

The fraternities, on the other hand, continue to grow as they have in the past in spite of criticism which lacks direction and purpose, and fails to suggest an alternate social environment with the dynamic possibilities of the Greek system. I suggest that the anti-fraternity sentiment might more profitably be channeled toward establishment of a social niche compatible with those who are dissatisfied with fraternity offerings.

Diplomats Bang Heads

To the Editor:

With regard to your editorial, I only have deep sorrow for your lack of perspective on the situation. First, you want to overlook the legality of the Pueblo crisis. Even if the Pueblo was inside Korea's territorial waters (which it probably was), it is international law that the enemy ship is to be escorted out of the waters by the home ship. I don't see that this rule was obeyed.

It would seem to me that the diplomats have done nothing but bang their heads against a wall. They have tried also to achieve help from the United Nations, and the results have proved unhelpful, which is par for the course.

The question of honor is ludicrous. There are 83 men being held under arrest for illegal reasons. The question of whether or not we should send troops and start another war is begging the question of Vietnam. If a tenth rate country can pick on the United States any time it wants without reprisal, the U.S. will look awful silly in the eyes of the world. We could risk a war with all the little countries; what would they have to fear? I can see many more troops being called into action if that situation were to arise. I believe the situation of the possible torture (as the torture of the two helicopter pilots in 1963) of 83 would prove as hideous as any napalm killings.

I hope I was able to add perspective to a seemingly narrow view.

Anti-Anti-War Not Pro-War

To the Editor:

Last Friday I spoke in opposition to Leg Council's foreign policy endeavors at an Associated Students forum. I am not a member of the Students for Victory in Vietnam; I have never attended one of their meetings; and I specifically stated my intentions and lack of affiliation at the forum. I do not make pronouncements supporting the war. I oppose the nature, not just the content, of recent Council actions. I awoke this morning, nevertheless, to discover, via EL GAUCHO's report of the meeting, that I was in reality a "pro-war student activist."

Proponents of Leg Council foreign policy would love to reduce the debate over the resolution and Institute to one of war versus peace; the perceptive student will observe a mounting campaign in the days ahead to label any and all opposition to Council's policies as militaristic or pro-war. The fact remains, however, that there are a number of students on this campus who oppose a representative taking advantage of his elected position to publicize his own views on the war whether they be conservative or liberal, dove or hawk. Everyone supporting the anti-Council referendum and initiative cannot be dismissed as "pro-war," and I certainly hope that EL GAUCHO's analysis of the situation is not representative of the objectivity of the newly proposed Institute.

Wear a Record in Your Player

By RICK RAWLES
EG Associate Editor

The time between the hit single and the album is too often filled with silence: it gives people time to forget or get tired of the one record. And when the album finally does come out no one feels the need to listen to it.

In the case of "The Voice of Scott McKenzie," on Ode Records, to forget would be a mistake. To be sure, "San Francisco (Be Sure to Wear Flowers in Your Hair)" is the best cut on the album, but there is also much else that is worthwhile.

For instance: McKenzie's own composition "What's the Difference." The song is divided into two chapters, the second appearing on the first side of the album, and the first as the last cut on the second side. The song adds to the unity of the album. If we take "San Francisco" to be a kind of calling, or beckoning, we see chapter one of "What's the Difference" as a decision to allow oneself to be caught up in "the new vibration." It's a spiritual decision to move to San Francisco.

"Twelve-thirty" (written by John Phillips, as was "San Francisco") is further expression of the general feeling of the album. It portrays a man's awareness of the changes taking hold of him. In spite of the clock on the steeple which always reads twelve-thirty, he can't keep from talking, talking...

Along this same line is "Celeste," Donovan's song (that Donovan does better). "Would anybody like to try the changes I'm going through?"

'Yeomen' Tryouts Set for Monday

The other album cuts are Mask and Scroll, dramatic arts honorary, wishes to announce open auditions for its spring production of Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Yeomen of the Guard." Tryouts are open to all interested students and will be held in Music 1250 on Monday, Feb. 5 from 7 - 10 p.m. and Tuesday, Feb. 6 from 6-8 p.m.

The musical, a dramatic comedy, employs a cast of twelve women and eighteen men. Singers of all kinds are needed and are urged to bring something to sing to the auditions. An accompanist will be provided. You can be one of the yeomen... or one of the guards.

mainly concerned with women, the best of which are "No, no, no, no, no" and "Don't Make Promises."

McKenzie has a fairly conventional voice, but with the kind of songs he does, which are neither rock nor folk nor any synthesis of the two, which sometimes resemble Donovan's songs slightly, his voice takes on added meaning -- and sounds groovy. His sound, like Donovan's, is not to be found anywhere else in popular music.

Complementing McKenzie's voice are the instrumental arrangements of the songs. The drums, guitars, etc., don't pound you into the wall: they let you hear McKenzie, but you are still aware that the instruments are there, making great listening all around.

Boston Tea Goes Overboard

After three months of performing in concerts, touring, and recording a new album, the Boston Tea Party will be returning to Santa Barbara for one night only - this Friday night, Feb. 2, at Francisco Torres. Their album, to be released in the near future, is creating a great amount of enthusiasm across the United States among producers and record companies who wish to buy the rights to the album. The Boston Tea Party, in addition to performing their own originals, also play cuts by Paul Butterfield Blues Band, the Jimi Hendrix Experience, Cream, and the Beatles. Drop on over to the Towers -- turn on, groove, and stay heavy.

SCU, USF Spell Trouble For UCSB

By CLAY KALLAM
EG Sports Editor

Two of the top teams in the conference are the formidable competition that the 6-9 (1-3 in Conference) Gauchos must face this weekend on their trip to rain-soaked Northern California. USD is first tonight, followed by Santa Clara tomorrow night.

It would be no pleasant task to play these games at home, and with the omnipresent home court advantage, Ralph Barkey's boys would have their work cut out for them.

BLACK LEADS USF DONS

San Francisco is first, and the Dons are a veteran talented ball club this year. Led by 6-5 forward Dennis Black, a good driver and outside shot, with a 20 pt. average, USF is rated a top team in the WCAC. Black is not alone as far as talent goes either.

Floor leader Art Wilmore is 6-2 guard with a good touch and a fine defensive flair. Muscular Don Snyder is a 24-year-old senior who gets more than his share of rebounds and tip-ins at forward, while 6-9 Pete Cross has come a long way for a sophomore center and should add further to the Don's height advantage.

GAUCHOS NEED BOARDS

All this points to a rather bleak day on the boards for the Gauchos, the outside shooting of Bob Emery, Doug Franklin and Steve Rippe is going to have to be good. Starting along with the aforementioned three are Jim Finnerty and Ron Rouse.

Santa Clara is relatively familiar to those of you who caught the T.V. game. With Dennis Awtrey, Bud Ogden, and Bob Heaney on the front line, and Joe Diffley and Terry O'Brien in the backcourt, the Broncos present one of the most powerful lineups on the Coast. The Gauchos lost to them 85-76, in possibly their best game of this season, so it will take a superlative effort for UCSB to buck the Broncos in Santa Clara.

ALL ALONE -- This backstroker is either well in front or well behind his competition in the next lane. Hopefully, Bill Pasquinelli and Chuck Spink will be in the former position this weekend.

Eight Top Teams To Tangle

By SAM WOODHOUSE
EG Sports Staff

The GaUCHO swim squad garners the sports spotlight this weekend as Rick Rowland sets to host the third annual edition of his Golden Coast Championships.

"This is definitely our biggest and most important meet of the year outside of the NCAA championships," proclaimed the GaUCHO mentor. Eight top swim teams are entered in the two-day University-college division of the meet this weekend.

Action begins at 2:30 this afternoon and at 10 and 2 tomorrow as UCSB seeks to sweep its second championship in a row. The competition is swift and numerous, though, because entered in the meet are four of the top ten teams in the NCAA college division finals last year.

The NCAA champion Gauchos, second finisher U.C. Irvine and third-place San Diego State are expected to provide plenty of dramatics this weekend. Irvine has already beaten the Gauchos in a dual meet this year and UCSB has yet to ever beat SDS in a dual meet.

"We should have some tremendous races," predicts Rowland. Heading this list should be the 100 freestyle. GaUCHO Jim Ranta is seeded first, but he will be stroking against Phil

Strick from UOP and former AAU star from San Diego State Jon Helland.

The 1650 freestyle looms as a tight battle between UCSB co-capt. Dave Gray, who is the NCAA record holder and Golden Coast champ in the event, and Irvine's Mike Martin, who is seeded first because of a faster time.

Rowland has high hopes for his other top seeds this weekend. Bill Pasquinelli is first in the 100 backstroke and Chuck Spink heads the 400 Individual Medley ratings.

"I'm especially looking forward to the performances of our 800 IM and 800 freestyle relay squads, who are both seeded first," he added.

Grapplers!

After two matches already this week, the GaUCHO matmen will compete in their third tomorrow at 2. Cal-State Fullerton will supply the opposition for Coach Hammer's grapplers.

The Old Gym is the site of the action right next to the Golden Coast Championships. Watch them both.

UC Irvine On Tap For Frosh After Loss To No. 1 Hancock

Still looking for their tenth win, the Gaucho yearlings will travel to UC Irvine this weekend and try to reverse a two game losing streak. Saturday the Gauchobabes fell to the S.C. Frosh, and Tuesday night, they dropped their third game to potent Hancock J.C. 101-72.

Hancock, now 23-2, used a fast break and tenacious defense to contain UCSB. Doug Rex contributed 27 points for one of his top nights of the year, but overall the Frosh shot a measly 33 per cent.

Mike Licht and Ron Wyden garnered 14 and 12 respectively, but the run-and-gun tactics of the Bulldogs were just too much for UCSB.

The yearlings were down by only 11 at midpoint, but the fast-breaking Bulldogs were not to be caught or even challenged in the second stanza. And no wonder, as the Hancock boys have tallied 367 points in their last three games.

According to Coach Berg, Hancock "shot a lot better than they did in the first game." He further went on to say that in the face of the very effective fast-break, which was stifled in the first game, Hancock was well-nigh unstoppable. This, coupled with the cold Frosh shooting was the reason for the 29 point margin.

Irvine is next this week, with the UCLA Frosh on tap soon. Berg has high hopes for the yearlings against Curtis Rowe and crew.

Biggest Game For Ruggers Tomorrow

Rugby fans will have the opportunity to see in action tomorrow one of the top teams in Southern California when the undefeated Long Beach Rugby Club challenges the Gauchos behind Robertson Gym at 1 p.m.

Perennial Club League champions, Long Beach is made up of many former professional football players, so you know they aren't small.

Santa Barbara coach Rod Sears describes the encounter as "the biggest game of the year for us." He noted it will be a good tune-up for league play, which begins next week for the Gauchos.

It will certainly be a contrast to last week's game, when the ruggers rolled over an inexperienced San Diego State team, 29-0, in what was only the third game ever for the Tritons. The win gave the Gauchos a 4-3 record for the season.

Following the 1 o'clock encounter tomorrow, the second squad of each team will square off in what should be just as exciting a game.

Gauchosettes

The Women's Inter-collegiate Basketball teams will be hosting UCLA in Robertson Gym Friday night at 6.

Under the coaching of Miss Mel Leach, both "A" and "B" teams have been practicing extensively with the hope of overcoming such powerful teams as UCLA, CSCLA, CSCLB, and USC.

The "A" team, headed by Leslie Burner, consists of veterans Betty Brown, Roberta Durkee, Linda Lissy, and Barbara MacKirdy and newcomers to the team Ann Olsen, Linda Kelly, and Janet Bright.

Gymnastics Sat.

The sky's the limit to the fast-improving gymnastics team as they test their strength against San Jose State this Saturday at 7:30 in Robertson Gym.

In previous meets this season the Gauchos have been cracking numerous team and individual records and are ready to make more. Only two records remain to be erased this season and if the gymnasts keep up their record -- setting pace these two should not go unscathed.

San Jose State will be a tough opponent for the Gauchos. They are fielding an improved squad this year and their ability may prove fatal to the Gauchos.

Majority of Students Seek Financial Aid

By RANDEE FUNK
EG Reporter

Over 80 per cent of the students at UCSB have contact with the Financial Aids Office some time during their college career. Currently, there are more than 5000 active files in the office for students receiving loans or scholarships from the University.

To another 4000 students, the office is a method of getting checks from federally insured loans or the Merit Corporation, or a place to get short-term or emergency loans of $10 to $300. To date this quarter, about $12,000 has been loaned from the short term revolving fund to students in need of these small loans.

A single form is used to apply for all types of available aid. By submitting the Parents' Confidential Statement and returning the Application for Financial Aid, a student becomes eligible for all University sources: scholarships, the Work/Study Program, NDEA loans, Educational Opportunity Grants, and Regents' Scholarships.

Students may receive varying amounts from each program. For instance, a student whose computed need is $1350 might be offered $600 on a Work/Study program, a $600 NDEA loan, and a $150 scholarship. The University has set the figure for total expenses for each individual this year at $1850. Even without an increase in tuition, it will be around $2000 next year.

Though scholarship monies come mainly from private donors and corporations, the majority of the Financial Aids Office funds come from federal sources. The government provides about 88 per cent of the NDEA loan money and 85 per cent of the Work/Study funds, Educational Opportunity Grants come entirely from federal sources, and the interest on insured loans is guaranteed by the national government.

Scholarship recipients are chosen on the basis of achievement, promise, and need. Of the 3000 students who will turn in the application form by the Feb. 15 deadline this year, about 400 will receive scholarships.

Work/Study is one of the opportunities offered students by the Aids office. Jobs available range from work in the library or in the UCen cafeteria to clerical duties in one of the University's many offices to working with rats and chimpanzees in the psychology department.

The pay begins with an hourly minimum of $1.56 (for jobs in the A.S. offices, not technically University positions) and rises to a maximum of $2.39. Most students receive $1.83 per hour and work from 10 to 15 hours a week. At these rates, one can earn between $600 and $800 during a school year.

Students who miss the February deadline may still apply for long-term loans any time during the school year. These loans usually take about three months to process. Recipients of UCSB federal loans must sign a loyalty oath before a notary public in the University office.

Institute...

"there is still a great need for dedicated persons who are earnestly interested in taking a lead and participating in the work of the Institute." The Institute's next meeting will be held Monday, Feb. 5 at 8:30 p.m. in the Lambda Chi house. Anyone interested in working with the group is encouraged to attend.

'Third World' Group Covers Africa, Asia, Latin America

By TERESA CHENERY
EG Staff Writer

"We feel that among both foreign and American students there is a great lack of understanding concerning problems faced by oppressed people in poor countries."

It is on the basis of this sentiment that a new organization, Students For The Third World (STW) has been formed. The group, according to co-ordinator Said Abdi, will hold weekly seminars to study problems faced by peoples in Asia, Africa, and Latin America.

The aim of the organization, Abdi explained, is to develop a dialogue among students from Africa, Asia, Latin America, and the surrounding islands regarding the problems of these poor regions, as well as to broaden the perspective of students from the rest of the world on this subject.

Students on this campus from the three continents have formed a "core group" which will present problems for discussion every week in the seminars. They will also write up literature to be available to all students from the group's tables.

At the beginning of this quarter, when the idea for establishing STW was initiated, about 17 students, foreign and American, came together to identify the various problems common to the countries on the three continents.

Poverty, internal oppression of the people, external pressure from big powers, and problems faced both by the governments and the people were discussed.

"We don't represent the governments, we represent the people of these countries," commented Abdi. "An example of the problems we'll discuss might be what a student from Africa thinks is a specific problem for his people. He would write it up to be discussed in a seminar and would make it available at the table for the student body to read.

"On a specific issue we might take a stand as an organization, but in general the goal is just to be more educated to the problems that exist," he continued.

Unlike IRO (International Relations Organization), STW's activities will be strictly of a political nature and will not be involved with the social or cultural interests of foreign students.

STW's first discussion will be presented by Rashid Karadaghi at his apartment at 851 Camino Pescadero, #40, this Saturday, at 2:30 p.m. The discussion topic will be the Kurdish problem concerning the Kurdish people who live predominantly in Iraq. All students are invited to participate in this seminar and those that follow.

Shine,
Perishing
Republic

By
Robinson
Jeffers

While this America settles in the maul of its vulgarity, heavily thickening to empire
And protest, only a bubble in the molten mass, pops and sighs out, and the mass hardens,

I sadly smiling remember that the flower fades to make fruit, the fruit rots to make earth
Out of the mother; and through the spring exultances, ripeness and decadence; and home to the mother.

You making haste haste on decay: not blameworthy: life is good, be it stubbornly long or suddenly
A mortal splendor: meteors are not needed less than mountains: shine, perishing Republic

But for my children, I would have them keep their distance from the thickening center; corruption
Never has been compulsory, when the cities lie at the monster's feet there are left the mountains.

And boys, be in nothing so moderate as in love of man, a clever servant,
insufferable master.
There is the trap that catches noblest spirits, that caught—they say—God, when he walked on earth.

EG SPECIAL REPORT

Vol. 48 - No. 73

Santa Barbara, California

Friday, February 2, 1968

Incidental fees probably are incidental to the average Santa Barbara student spending over $1,000 per year for the rest of his live-away education; but the fees still represent the gap between the "free" education that legislators muse about and the reality we all know.

Everyone enrolled here, graduates and undergraduates alike, pours $267 per year into the University coffers. This must pay for the myriad services which the Regents have determined are beyond the normal scope of college and which benefit the students at large.

It is the purpose of this Special Report to show both sides of UCSB's double entry bookkeeping, and to point to more equitable methods for spending our money in the future.

Incidental Fees--The Ins And Outs

For the 1967-68 school year, UCSB has been allotted a total budget of approximately 25.7 million dollars. In an effort to determine where all this money comes from, EG went to Dale A. Tomlinson, Assistant to the Chancellor in Budget Analysis.

Tomlinson explained that of the $25.7 million, 19 million comes from the state, $900,000 comes from U.C. general funds, and the remaining $5.7 million comes out of a so-called restricted category.

State funds are allocated for instructional and administrative functions of the UCSB campus. These include the salaries of professors and staff members (teaching and laboratory assistants), organized research, and the operation of the library. The expenses of the Administration Building also come out of this category including the Dean of Students Office and the Registrars Office.

Money from Sacramento also is used to pay for the operation of the physical plant, the functioning of the Academic Senate Office, and the upkeep of the Environmental Health and Safety Department which keeps control of any radio-active material on campus.

U.C. general funds ($900,000) are not really monies given to UCSB. What it really consists of is money taken in by the campus through library fines, out-of-state tuition, and filing fines (filing out of sequence, etc.).

The purpose of this allotment is to offset a deficit in the state-supplied budget. For example, the University requested a budget of $311 million for 1968-69. Since it has been assumed that this amount will not be granted by the Governor, part of the difference will be met by the above mentioned general funds.

State funds and general funds account for about $20 million of the total budget. The remaining $5.6 million comes from the restricted category.

This budget category includes money taken in for parking fees, summer sessions, and finally incidental fees.

Of the $267 in University fees paid by each student per year, $219 is included in the incidental fees category. The remainder is allocated to the Associated Students and to the University Center fee.

Dr. Stephen Goodspeed, Vice-Chancellor of Student Affairs explained that this money never pays for any instruction or research.

In explaining the history of the incidental fees, Dr. Goodspeed told of the days when he attended the University. In his day, there were different fees for everything: lab equipment if a student took lab sciences, athletics if a student participated, etc. Rather than keep paying all these different fees, the University, about 20 years ago, combined all the fees into one set amount.

The 1967-68 budget on the UCSB campus brings in $2,605,073 from incidental fees, which are distributed in five major categories.

Instruction and Department Research is one category, although Goodspeed was quick to point out that this is merely a categorical heading and none of the money is budgeted for instruction or research. Laboratory fees of $27.99 per year per student fall in this category. Chemicals, test tubes and other equipment are paid for from this fund.

A second category, Organized Activities, includes Intercollegiate Athletics ($12.23 per student), Concert Tours ($.56 per student), and Forensics ($.19 per student).

Intercollegiate Athletics also receives about $79,000 from Associated Student fees, money from gate receipts, contracts and gifts. Concert tours include those made by the glee clubs and bands.

Campus Public Service includes a $7.27 allocation for Arts and Lectures.

Under the heading Student Services, the Student Health Service receives $54.32 per student, the Student and Alumni Placement (part-time and industrial) receives $4.73, the Educational Placement receives $6.57, the Counseling Service $12.49, the Housing Supervisor $7.92.

Recreational Facilities (including clothing, lockers, etc.) receive $4.99. Student Activities receive $12.99, which include recreation, intramurals, the Alumni Office, publications, and faculty associates. Public Ceremonies such as Charter Day and commencement receive $1.39, and Regents Scholarship Administration is allocated $3.2.

$61.37 is set aside for Provisions for Allocation which includes "swing money" for miscalculations in the budget, Capital Outlay and Debit Service which will build the new Health Center and UCen phase two, Reserve for Medical Expenses which is set aside in case there is an epidemic on campus, and Non-academic Merit and Promotions which deals with staff salary increases.

Of the grand total, $4 is not included because, as Goodspeed explained, refunds for drop-outs are needed, and the money comes from this non-allocated sum.

Goodspeed, last spring, went to Leg Council, in hopes to include students on the committee which decides how incidental fees are to be distributed. As a result, the Incidental Fees Committee was established, and although the students serving on the Committee do not have final say on the budget, they have made some concrete suggestions which have been used by the Administration Incidental Fees Committee.

Money?

Hope For A Greater Voice

The University of California, like most everything else, moves on money, great gobs of money: more than $25 million dollars per year on this campus alone. Only a small fraction of this money, the incidental fees paid by students which amount to $2 million annually, is within the direct control of the officials on this campus.

The Chancellor decides into which area of student service these fees, which must pay for those things that are considered "incidental" to the actual cost of instruction, will go. These include intercollegiate athletics, activities in the Dean of Students Office, the Counseling Center, and the Health Center, to name but a few.

Money from these fees also goes to the construction of certain buildings that the Board of Regents will not finance, such as the stadium and part of the Student Communications Building to be built later this year.

On this campus, students have the avenues for making recommendations to the Chancellor regarding how the money is spent: the aptly named Incidental Fees Committee.

Unfortunately, this body remains largely ineffective, because the incidental fees are so complex an arrangement. A great deal of special knowledge and time to acquire that knowledge is required before one can fully understand the Chancellor's rationale behind allocating the fees. As a consequence, an accurate portrayal of the student view is rarely heard from the Committee.

To remedy this situation, we recommend that the Chancellor establish an Incidental Fees Advisory Board, with himself as chairman, to review and recommend the collection and all allocations of the incidental fees. This board would replace the two existing advisory boards (the faculty also have their own recommending group).

The new board should be composed of an equal number of students and faculty-staff personnel, with members serving two-year, overlapping terms. This should give the representatives adequate time to learn the workings of the fees while still providing fresh voices each year.

The board would accomplish several important things which the present structure has not: it would insure that informed students were consulted before any incidental fees were expended; also, it would insure that the money was channeled toward those programs that students specifically wanted, rather than ones the Administration thinks they want (or thinks they should have anyway). In short, it would bring an important student voice into directing that thing which makes the University run -- money.

We urge the Administration and Legislative Council to take steps to establish what we believe could be a significant student-Administration organization that would help direct incidental fees to the benefit of the entire University community.

Why fight the problem?...

YOU CAN BE STUDYING AT LEAST 3 TIMES FASTER BEFORE FINALS

...with no loss in comprehension

Study more—in less time

You never again will have to burn the midnight oil, cramming for finals. You can be studying at least 3 times as fast as you do now—with no loss in comprehension. And you can acquire that talent before the week of finals.

That means a normal 6-hour night of cramming can be polished off in two hours. It means you can cover much more material and improve your grades. It means that studying need never again be a burden to you.

Better Comprehension

In addition, the Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics course will show you how to get more intensely involved in the material you're reading, how you can concentrate better, learn more in less time. And you'll be shown dynamic methods to improve your ability to recall the material when you need it.

A special intensified course will be beginning here this month—designed to build your speed and comprehension before you tackle your last-minute studying for finals. You'll be bringing your textbooks to class—actually covering your own material while you're learning to apply this skill to your study problems.

When we say you can be studying at least 3 times faster, we're being conservative. The average Reading Dynamics graduate improves his speed 4.7 times. His studying speed starts at 10 to 15 pages per hour and increases to 50 to 75 pages per hour.

Results Guaranteed

But we guarantee to at least triple your speed (with no loss in comprehension) or give you your tuition back at the end of the course.

This is the same course that was taught to members of President Kennedy's staff, to Washington Congressmen, to thousands of college students in Southern California, and to over 300,000 individuals throughout the nation.

Free Demonstrations This Week

A series of free demonstrations will be held this week. This is your opportunity to find out how you can acquire this needed skill and get the answers to your questions. Check the coupon below for a time convenient for you.

So why fight the cramming problem any longer? Join the thousands of college students who get their studying done in 1/3 the time, who improve their grades, who have the time to enjoy college life.

ACHIEVEMENT WARRANTY
We guarantee to increase the reading efficiency of each student AT LEAST 3 times with good comprehension. We will refund the entire tuition to any student who, after completing minimum class and study requirements, does not at least triple his reading efficiency as measured by beginning and ending tests.

FREE DEMONSTRATIONS

Clip out and choose the time most convenient for you

You will see a documented film that includes actual interviews with Washington Congressmen who have taken this course.

You will see a Reading Dynamics graduate read at amazing speeds from a book he has never seen before and then tell in detail what he has read.

You will learn how we can help you to read faster, with improved comprehension and greater recall.
