Student forgotten

The ordinary student has been forgotten by this Associated Student government. A Spurs request to be allowed to buy and sell used books was recently turned down by Legislative Council. The reasoning was that such activities are in direct competition with the Campus Bookstore and would therefore endanger ASUCSB's ability to meet the debt service on the new Student Union loans.

The bookstore buys books at 50% of their original value and sells them at 75% of that value, keeping a 33%-1/3% profit to pay for the cost of drawing up the booklist and their original value and sells them at 75% of the savings would average $1.25 per book. This would allow budget conscious students to endanger ASUCSB's ability to meet the debt in the future. We suggest that the student store very much now, he is worried about the future. We do have an obligation to the future, we have paid dearly for our mistakes.

The Spurs, on the other hand, would keep only 25¢ from each book they sold. This would allow budget conscious students to save. AS Vice President Dan Deeter, a member of SU Policy Committee, estimates that the savings would average $1.25 per book. If the bookstore, is not able to give the book seller and book buyer this kind of savings, another organization should be allowed to.

Bookstore Manager George Dimock says that although the Spurs sale is not hurting the student store very much now, he is worried about the future. We suggest that when, and if, the problem arises, another organization should be allowed to.

We, therefore, encourage Spurs to continue efforts to offer a needed service, a service which is in the best interests of the present students of UCSB and which should have been recognized as such by Legislative Council.

Red should speak

Editor:

As I read in Sunday’s News-Press stated that: “The UCSB student council has voted to postpone indefinitely the appearance on the local campus of Mrs. Dorothy Healey, secretary of the American Communist Party for Southern California.”

Mrs. Healey was scheduled to speak on December 2. Because of the closeness of the event to Mr. Kennedy’s funeral, I feel that the action was not ill advised. But, it remains for us now to set a date for the appearance of Mrs. Healey as soon as a decent period of time has elapsed. The inertia built up by postponement will only increase as the weeks pass. Therefore, it is necessary to reschedule the event now. I feel that an announcement should be made within a week as to when, if, Mrs. Healey will visit our campus, she should definitely be given the opportunity to speak before the end of this semester.

Recently we have felt pressure to cancel her appearance, and this agitation is likely to increase. Therefore, it is imperative that we act now to restore our confidence in democracy.

Even after the tragic events of last weekend, the Colleges has fought to destroy hate...and never has Americans realized how much hate exists in our society. But it does exist, and it EXISTS RIGHT HERE AT UCSB!

Recall the Halloween riot in Irvine this October. Recall the El GAUCHO that was dis­tributed on the day of the Presi­dent’s death. That newspaper told our students that it was the decay of the American people.

Chemisters were noticeably drunk in public. What kind of respect for the lives and for your school and for American principles? Property was ruthlessly destroyed while the Homecoming floats were being built. What kind of respect for property is this?

Since the COGS seem to be the only group of men on campus with enough spirit and enough concern for the University to make a full-hearted attempt at repairing UCSB's sagging spirit. Maybe ostracism is an effective punishment in high school, and maybe it will save a little face for the Associated Students, but who’s to encourage spirit? Since the COGS seem to be our only chance for a spirit building institution, wouldn’t it have been more advisable to urge their refinement rather than their banishment? Possibly giving the COGS more responsibility rather than no responsibilities is the real solution.

Bury hate at UCSB

Just a few days ago the American people, indeed the people of the whole world, suffered a great and terrible shock. The President of the United States of America was assassinated... We have paid dearly for our mistakes... We have many interesting suggestions to offer...
Project Pakistan test to be given tomorrow

Students who have applied for Project Pakistan will be given a battery of tests tomorrow morning at 9 in Building 431, room 102.

Results of the test battery, which includes psychological, aptitude, values and critical analysis, will be used for initial screening of applicants and as one criterion for selecting finalists.

Those interested in the project, which sends a group to Pakistan for the summer, must apply prior to tomorrow's testing— the deadline for applications to be turned in is this afternoon.

In addition to testing, personal interviews conducted in Proby and Forbes will be an important criterion for the selection of a minimum of 14 semifinalists, according to UBC director Roger Saunders. Transcripts will also be considered in the selection.

Dr. Robert Blakemore, counseling center psychological evaluator, will evaluate tests by definite criteria of adjustment and attitudes favorable to participating in the project.

Food machines often empty

by ERIC VAN DE VERG
Staff Writer

Broken and empty food machines are the topic of much complaint among students living on campus.

The problem is most acute when a student strolls down to the lounge to get a long awaited ice cream bar only to find that no ice cream is available. Of course, he wonders why the machine is empty.

REASONS LISTED

According to Ken Khachigian, RHA Council vice president, there are several reasons why the service has not been improved.

1. Machines are filled daily except Sunday. Khachigian points out the Canada Dry Company, who owns the machines, has an interest in keeping the machines full as this enlarges their profits. However, the demand is so great that, filled in the morning, certain machines are empty by late afternoon.

2. One answer to the supply problem is to put to more machines. But this is not as easy as it sounds. Khachigian explains that each machine costs over $2,000. The Santa Barbara distributor for Canada Dry cannot afford to buy enough machines to meet the demand.

SPACE SHORTAGE

Another reason there can be no more machines in some of the halls is space. According to Khachigian, San Miguel Hall has all the machines it can hold. Some more machines have been requested for Las Casitas. The machines there now are on a trial basis and already one machine in Willow Hall has been vandalized.

RHA officers have been looking into a hot coffee and chocolate machine and an attachment to a drink machine, but this will not be in operation for some time. The Canada Dry Company, according to Khachigian, is considering bringing its own coffee and chocolate machine.

Since the machines are very sensitive, they can easily be jammed. A bent coin or one with tar or gum on it will gum up the works very easily.

Peace Corps placement tests will be conducted tomorrow in Santa Barbara. Interested students should contact the local Peace Corps testing center, located in Room 37 of the main Post Office Building, Anacapa and Cañon Perdido Streets.

Overseas program entices Cheadle

by DIANE BROWELL
Staff Writer

Chancellor Cheadle arrived home last Friday from twelve days of European travel in connection with the overseas program. Relating the experiences of his trip the chancellor is enthusiastic about the anticipated success of the overseas program in the fall.

Cheadle left Los Angeles on September 12th and traveled through London and Frankfurt to Göttingen, Germany for the opening of the Education Abroad Center there. Accompanying him were Vice-Chancellor of Academic Affairs Russell Buchan, and Regents Philip Boyd and Donald McLaughlin.

Speakers at the opening ceremonies of the Göttingen center were there are 66 University of California students, 14 of them from Santa Barbara, and the chancellor. Cheadle had his speech translated to German before leaving the states and delivered it in the native language.

The party’s next stop was Bordeaux, where the formal opening of the Education Abroad program included the traditional exchange of entertainment functions and a “very colorful” ceremony including academic and choral performances to celebrate the thirteenth century Great Hall of Scholars. At the speaker’s rostrum were President Kerr, Rector Ferro of the University of Padua, Dr. Chandle, and an Education Abroad student whom the local students “cheered to the rafters” according to the chancellor. He added that the students there seemed “more unrestrained” than UCSB scholars.

DEATH CAUSES PALL

At this point the news of Kennedy’s death “put a pall on everything,” said the chancellor. “They felt very deeply about it.”

The subsequent trip to Bordeaux, France, was followed by a subdued reception at the “very moving oratory tribute to President Kennedy” by Rector Sabah.

From the rather restrained fete at Bordeaux, where there are 90 Education Abroad students, the group traveled by rail to Madrid to begin negotiations for a center at the University of Madrid. Chancellor Cheadle said that tentative plans have been confirmed, and that TV cameras were present for the signing of the negotiating papers. The Regents will consider the approval of the Madrid plans at their January meeting.

KERR CAME HOME

President Kerr flew home Wednesday before the conclusion of the Education Abroad ceremonies because he was a personal friend of President Kennedy’s and was quite stunned at the tragic news of his death. Cheadle termed Education Abroad an “accelerating program” and predicted that excitement would spread as students returned from the three centers at Göttingen, Padua, and Bordeaux.

The center at Bordeaux is now in its second year, and the chancellor expressed delayed greetings from those in France who knew last year’s Bordeaux students from the University.

Student recital will feature grad artist

Joseph Berta, graduate student in music, will present a recital of late eighteenth century clarinet music in the campus auditorium at 8:00 p.m. Friday night.

The program includes two works by Michel Yost, being presented on the West Coast for the first time, both of which are scored for clarinet and string trio. Yost and his work are the subject of Berta’s Master’s thesis. Other works on the program are concertos for clarinet and piano by Kari Stamitz and Franz Rosser.

Berta is principal clarinetist of the Santa Barbara Symphony and a member of the Santa Barbara Woodwind Quintet. He has performed with the Eichheim Woodwind Quintet, Santa Barbara Chamber Players, the University Symphony and UCSB woodwind groups. Berta studied clarinet with Professor Clayton Wilson and his former personal friend of President Kennedy’s, the tragic news of his death, put a pall on everything. They felt very deeply about it.”

Center seeking the roots of democracy

by VALLEY HOFFMAN and MARY-SELDEN McKEE

"Finding the roots of democracy is no easy task despite our knowing the follies of people. What is the Center seeking?"

Frank Kelly made this statement in reference to the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions of which he is vice-president. This task, he explains, is by stimulating "as many minds as the printed word and the radio can reach." Over five million copies of the 140 pamphlets, papers, and reports published by the Center are in circulation.

Chinese visitor calls Isla Vista ‘swinging’

"Isla Vista is a swinging town," these are the words of Herbert Lo, originally of Hong Kong, but now out to see the mainland border district.

Herbert Lo, who arrived in Hong Kong in 1960, said he came to America last semester of English. At UCSB he concentrated on English. At the University of Hawaii, Herbert worked as a tutor until he finished high school and then worked in a government job for a short time. When he left Hong Kong, Herbert had only had one semester of English.

His first stop was Hawaii where Herbert worked his way to California where he first attended San Jose State. He came to UCSB last semester as a first year student.

According to Herbert, Hong Kong is much like San Francisco, both with its tall buildings and hills. Public transportation is very good with buses running every minute. In addition to the buses, there are rail trains and trams into the mountains.

The train in passengers high into the hills around the town. There are many places to drink and see where the rich build their villas.

Along the beaches are located many westernized luxury hotels. Some buildings are deeper in town. Herbert pointed out that the island of Hong Kong and Kowloon on the mainland border district on Communist China. From this area there are many trains going into Communist territory.

It is very easy for one to get on a train in China and ride across the border into Hong Kong. In recent times refugees have swelled Hong Kong’s population from three to four million.

RELIGION

Hong Kong’s younger generation is mostly Catholic and Protestant, while older people remain Buddhists. In addition, English traditions are carried on as well as Chinese. Herbert is all for this because the result is an abundance of school holidays.

Hong Kong’s best schools are regally oriented. Holding the highest status are the Catholic schools. To get into them one must be intelligent and rich.

Howard says he thinks applicants to these schools are carefully screened because only the most attractive and refined girls go there, while the rest seem to attend government schools. Howard hasn’t stopped his traveling. When he graduates in 1965, he hopes to take a trip around the world before starting medical school.

GRASS works to save seedlings

by RICHARD CLEMMER
Staff Writer

Have you noticed the many long, narrow stretches of wasteland which lacerate the verdant lawns of UCSB? Do you know what causes these lacerations? People’s feet cause them.

To remove peoples’ feet from the lawns and put them back on the paths again, the Goleta Research Association for the Salvation of Seedlings (GRASS) has been organized.

According to Dave Kasai, spokesman for GRASS, university students conform to the usual norm of animal behavior in their parasomnias by taking the shortest route to a destination. Often the shortest route is not along a cement path, but through a lawn or section of ice plant or ivy.

The resulting trails in sick-looking lawns, ice plant and ivy, some of the biggest problem areas around campus are the lawns between the post office and Anacapa Hall, the ice plant by RG parking lot and the ivy by the library.

Other areas of concern include the lawn between the post office and Anacapa Hall, the ice plant by RG parking lot and the ivy by the library.

WANT TO LANDCAPE
First of all, he believes that landscaping the areas around the new psychology, administration and speech and drama buildings should be delayed until after the buildings are in use.

Walls can then be created along already established routes and lawns can be safely planted between paths.

But, according to Kasai, “GRASS needs the support of the student body to accomplish its goals.” Anyone interested in GRASS, which already claims 150 members, may contact Dave Kasai, Jeff Boal or Roger Del Moral at 113 Kassar Hall. In the words of GRASS President Dave Kasai, “Are we going to allow an architect to guide our footsteps?”

Historical work to be published

Jay Monaghan, lecturer in history at UCSB, and consultant to the Wylies College of Lincoslitis and Americans, is the general editor of a new book entitled, “The Book of the American West.”

The 600-page volume contains the most complete and significant collection of information ever published about the American West.

Two distinguished Western authorities were invited by Monaghan to write a section of the book devoted to his own special field of study. This permit- ted the editor to guide the preparation of a book which the subject of the West could be covered fully with the depth and accuracy it deserves.

The volume contains a quarter million words, more than twice as long as the usual historical work.

Covering the time span from the arrival of the first Spanish Conquistadores to the termination of the last of the Western territories, Monaghan’s work concludes with Arizona and New Mexico’s elevation to statehood.

Geographically, the book de- presses the West as beginning with the short-grass country not far beyond the eastern borders of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas.

the street, the lawns by the north- west corner of the Music Building, and the lawns by the main entrance to Santa Rosa Hall. GRASS has considered several answers to the problem of venetian destruction. One solution is to have a series of stepping stones across lawns or sections of new, practical cement paths, with curves instead of corners, which will actually follow routes of student use.

GRASS has considered several possibili- ties, says Kasai, “Are we going to allow an architect to guide our footsteps?”

All UC campuses honor reg cards

President Kerr recently issued a policy statement on student privileges designed to make all of the University of California campuses.

In an effort to make UC stu- dents feel welcome on every campus, the Dan McCullin Board approved the extension of Student Union facilities, gymnasium, and health services to any UC stu-

The Academic Plan of the Uni- versity, established in 1961, adopted ‘student social and cultural privileges,’ which are to be extended to undergraduates when on a branch campus.

Speech prof tests SB school children

Distinct expression and clear enunciation are the goals of speech correction classes in the public school system. A research study by Dr. Alan Nichols, assistant professor of speech, has been designed to help determine placement in correction classes.

Dr. Nichols, a specialist in speech pathology, is particularly concerned with the processes for screening grade school children for articulation defects. Under a UC research grant, he is conducting tests with kindergarten and first grade children in public schools throughout Santa Barbara county. Most of the tests involve either a child’s repetition of words spoken by the tester or his naming of pictures which illustrate selected words.

Thus far, Dr. Nichols’ investigations have revealed that there are significant differences between testers in terms of their criteria for passing and failing a child. The testers are all observers in the public school system.

In a recent series of tests conducted before UCSB’s closed-circuit television cameras, Dr. Nichols interviewed a class of children from the Goleta Union School, which had been selected at random from the schools in the area.

THERAPISTS TO RESPOND Tapes made of this class will be shown to a group of professional therapists, and their responses to the articulation defects of these children will be evaluated by the researcher. Dr. Nichols expects to publish the results of his present study in the form of articles in the “Journal of Speech and Hearing Disorders.”

A total of 34 students work for their accommodations on an exchange basis; 18 students live in trailers. Some students come from nearby communities; a few from as far away as Colorado and Florida.

MARRIED STUDENTS Housing office statistics reveal that of the 500 students who are married and attending UCSB, 86 percent have family homes; 50 married couples make up the exchange student body, and others at home with parents, friends and relatives, in private homes — with or without kitchen privileges.

The bulk of the undergraduate students housed in campus residence halls live between five blocks and one mile of the campus. Five hundred and two students are housed in the temporary Las Casitas halls. At present, 2136 students are housed in the four permanent residence halls on campus and the temporary La Casita halls. Over 3,700 students live on campus — mainly in the adjacent Isla Vista community in approved and supervised housing.

The large bulk of married students have one to three children. One woman student has nine children. Less than 9 percent of UCSB students are married.

Costs of room and board for students residing on and off campus vary. There is a wide difference in the cost of board and膳 in campus and off-campus apartments. Students in large private residence halls for girls in Isla Vista costs each girl between $40 and $50 per month. Students in small apartments in the Isla Vista community rent to students for $100 to $160 per month.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT Prospects in housing at UCSB for next fall still are bright although there will be no additional residence hall facilities until 1966. Over 300 vacancies in approved housing in Isla Vista existed this year with new build­ings — private residence halls, studio and one and two bedroom units — continually being built by developers.

Although on-campus housing facilities are virtually filled for next fall, incoming students are encouraged to come into the Office of Housing Services and discuss their needs with Miss Mortell or one of her staff. Brochures are available on campus housing, private halls off-campus, student apartments, and other authorized facilities.

Vastly improved frosh squad plays Saturday

"This is a vastly improved frosh team," said assistant coach Ralph Barkey following a 54-63 frosh loss to a very strong Vandenberg Air Force base team Wednesday night.

The frosh, led by forward Hal Saltzwater and guard Howard Demmelmaier, will play a game against the varsity reserves tomorrow at 6 in Robertson Gym.

Basketball rally today at noon

To inaugurate the 1963-64 basketball season, a rally will be held in Storke Plaza today at noon.

Coaches Jack Curtice and Art Gallon will both be there, along with the Gauchos basketball team and the UCSB mascot. Sponsored by the Rally Committee under the chairmanship of John Denburg, the rally will be a one-day service, too.

"It's going to be fun," said Curtice. "They are beginning to understand what mental alertness and concentration mean in a game."

The rally will feature music, a group led by Jim Chila, and the UCSB mascot.

Wrestlers travel for UCLA tourney

An inexperienced but determined varsity wrestling team will face their second official competition of the year tomorrow when they travel south for the UCLA Invitational Tournament.

"Our main problem this year has been inexperience," said wrestling coach Bill Hammer. "The UCLA tournament should provide our men with some of the experience they are lacking. They will get to see all and compete against some of the best teams in Southern California."

Wrestlers traveling include Randy Keys, Dennis Fukomoto, Doug Van Vlier, Mike Caress, and Bruce Campbell.

Gauchos to host Seattle U in intersectional game

After two regular season games, UCSB's varsity basketball teams meets the powerful University of Seattle Chieftains tomorrow night in Robertson Gym. Tip-off time for the varsity contest is 8 p.m., but students are urged to arrive earlier.

A freshman-varsity reserve game will precede the varsity contest. The box office opens at 5:45 p.m.

There is admission price of 50 cents for the intersectional contest. Since an overflow crowd is expected, students are urged to pick up tickets in the Graduate Manager's Office this afternoon. Seattle, currently ranked 15th in the nation, will be playing their first game of the year against the Gauchos.

"The fact that we will have played two games already should give us some advantage over Seattle," stated head basketball Coach Art Gallon.

The Chieftains, with a 21-6 record last year, have a new coach this year, Bob Boyd, formerly of Santa Ana Junior College. "I know that Seattle has some tremendous junior college transfers from all across the country," Gallon stated. "But they should have some difficulty in getting used to Boyd's style of play after being primarily a running team for many years."

Boyd's teams are known for their reverse action and ball control type of play. Not much similar to the one Gallon uses at UCSB.

Gallon stated that he has been pleased with the progress his team has been making in recent practice sessions. "We'll be very much an improved team for the Seattle game," he stated. "We've been trying to move faster this year," Gallon continued, "even though we do still try to control the ball as we have in the past, we're trying to pick up the tempo of our offense."

"However, due to the fact that Seattle can run so well with the ball because of their great natural talent we might try to slow them down a bit more than we did in our past two games against San Jose and Long Beach," Gallon stated.

The Gauchos played Long Beach State Thursday night. Results of the game were not available at press time.

Gallon singled out forward John Yahnee for his recent performances. "John has been showing great progress this year both at center and forward. He's been very effective for us so far, more so at center than at forward because he's on the move at forward. He has fine agility for such a big man," Gallon disclosed.

The reason that tomorrow night's game will cost 50 cents came as the result of a vote a year ago by UCSB students to enter into a self-assessment arrangement in order to attract schools of top calibre.

The other pay game will be one against Yale University on January 5, 1964. Students are urged to purchase tickets for this game before Christmas vacation at the Graduate Manager's office.

Gallon has been starting the quintet of Steve Fruehery at center, Howard Sundberg and Conroy at forwards, and Tom Lee and Hal Murdock at guards. Bob Yahnee and Gary Gallon are the top two reserves.

With Fruehery, Sundberg, and Conroy on the front line we have the biggest team I've had since I've been coaching at Santa Barbara," Gallon stated.
