ROADRUNNERS IN TRI-C TITLE RACE

S. B. S. C. BOWS IN DEFEAT TO CARDINAL GREY

Roadrunners Hold Stanford
Reserves to 12-0 Score in Stanford-Oregon Prelim

By ALFRED TOMLINSON

The Stanford Grays are used by Glenn "Pop" Warner, coach of the Cardinal varsity, to provide scrimmage for the varsity squad, and at times the Grays make plenty of trouble for the varsity men. In the week of scrimmage previous to the Stanford-Oregon State game, the Grays both stopped the varsity onrush and on offense gained against the first string men.

It was this squad of Grays that was placed against Santa Barbara Saturday, in a game played as a preliminary to the Cardinal-Oregon clash. The visitors from the south did remarkably well, considering what was thrown against them. Their defense against passes was good, many of the Stanford drives being halted by intercepted throws. Bert Clemore starred for Santa Barbara in this department of the game.

Santa Barbara's offense was smothered regularly by the Reds. However, Curtis at times gained through the Stanford line, and Glover got away for several nice sprints, especially one run in the first quarter, when Dick ran back a punt from his own 15-yard line for a 20-yard gain. It was a beautiful run, thrilling the stands.

The famous Stanford triple reverse, used also by the Grays, was poison for the Roadrunner, who was troubled time and again by the deception of the play. The play was run behind strong interference, adding to the effectiveness of the reverse. Stanford's heavy line outcharged the Roadrunners, and the Cards gained steadily in their line smashes.

In the first quarter Stanford opened a drive for the goal line, pushing over a score in due time. The kick for the seventh point was wide. Another drive by the Grays in the same quarter was spoiled at the 15-yard mark, as a result of a 15-yard penalty inflicted on the red team. Again another attempt to score was foiled, when on the 20-yard line the Grays attempted a fake drop kick, intended to be a pass, and were thrown for a 20-yard loss.

Still again Stanford was halted, when Santa Barbara held on the 3-yard line. But Stanford was not to be denied, and after holding

COLLEGE MEN SWIM AT Y.M.C.A. TONIGHT

Six swimmers have entered the special event for State college men in the swimming meet this evening at the Y. M. C. A. The meet officially opens the swimming season for the winter, and will be open to the public.

Those entered in the event, which is over a distance of 40 yards, are Gene Harris, Franklin Anderson, Walter Schott, Joe McFarland, Francis Manis and Joseph Donahoe.

Another event added to the regular program will be a medley swim. This consists in swimming the breast, back and crawl strokes. Cedric Boeseke and Jack Smith will represent the State college in this event against Ernest Cook and Chris Holstrum, the latter one of the painters working on the new Administration building and former short-distance champion of Sweden.

Eaglet, Elementary Paper, Appears Soon

The first issue this year of The Eaglet, student publication of the College Elementary school, will appear a week from Monday.

The paper, edited by the young journalists under the supervision of Bob Wormser and other faculty members, is making a reputation for itself because of the immaturity of its publishers. It contains six pages and the advertising was gathered entirely by the youngsters.

After a three weeks' competition, this staff was chosen: Editor, Alice M. Schott; business manager, Sherman Birss; assistant editors, Phyllis Badger, S. Albert Clark, jr., Wilbur S. Gilliland, jr., Grange Lewis, Jean McDougal, William Okie; assistant managers, Warren Fenzi, Ralph Shrader, Barbara Schurmeier, and Betty Thompson.

SECOND GAME GOES TO S.B.S.C. THRU FORFEIT

News was received this week from A. P. Agosti, president of the California Coast conference, announcing that Ernie Ward, stellar San Mateo Junior college backfield man, was ineligible for conference competition. This gives Santa Barbara a technical victory over the Bulldogs by forfeit, as Ward played the entire game against the local eleven.

Ward was declared ineligible because of his failure to complete ten units in his last semester of attendance at a collegiate institution. The fact that San Mateo must forfeit this game puts them definitely out of the running, due to a defeat last Saturday by San Jose State and an early season defeat by Sacramento Junior college. It also means that the local institution stands at the head of the column with three victories and no defeats.

ERICSON TO REVISE I. E. STUDY COURSE

E. E. Ericson, director of the Industrial Education department, has been asked by the State department of Manual Arts training to rewrite the state bulletin regulating the state credentials for teaching shop work in junior and senior high schools, according to recent announcement.

Mr. Ericson plans to make arrangements for several types of credentials, and he has in mind to propose a different credential based largely upon practical experience in trade work in addition to college training.

The new credential plan, as worked out by Mr. Ericson, has been asked for by the local with a view to putting it into operation here. Mr. Ericson accordingly has submitted the first draft to John C. Beswick, state supervisor of trade and industrial education, and to other authorized trained teachers for approval.

A conference of the presidents of colleges having industrial training programs and the directors of such is to be called soon for discussing, strengthening, completing details, and adopting Mr. Ericson's work preparatory to its presentation to William John Cooper, state director of education, for his approval.

Santa Barbara Plays Strong Reserve Team

Santa Barbara was originally scheduled to meet the Stanford Frosh in the preliminary, but owing to a request from the Frosh to cancel the game in favor of the Grays, the change was made. The Stanford Frosh were badly crippled in the game with the Trojan Frosh the week previous, and with the Little Big Game with California one week ahead, a much needed rest was sought. The California yearlings are a heavy favorite over the Cardinal babes.

BAKERSFIELD J. C. FORFEITS CONTEST

A football game between the Santa Barbara State college and the Bakersfield Junior college has been postponed indefinitely, according to an announcement made by Coach Dudley DeGroot.

The game had been scheduled for November 18 at Bakersfield, but word has been received from the Bakersfield coach that the game has been cancelled for this season.

The cancellation comes as a disappointment to many of the members of the football team, who were planning to attend the "big" game of the year, Stanford vs. California, on November 19.

Motor Vehicles Are Jinx of Senior Student

James Dinwiddie, a senior well-known about the campus, was in his second accident of the year on Monday when his motorcycle refused to stop on the wet pavement at Anapamu and Santa Barbara streets and, skidding on its side, hit a truck stopped for the boulevard.

Dinwiddie was seriously injured last semester in an automobile crash on the highway to Bakersfield. Supposed to have fallen asleep, Dinwiddie lost control of his car before it hit a truck head on. His recovery from this accident was completed only a few weeks ago.

Painful injuries to the right foot were experienced in Monday's casualty, and the extent of Dinwiddie's detainment at the Cottage hospital is uncertain.

VICTORY WILL GIVE LEAD IN CONFERENCE

State Meets Mustangs Tomorrow at San Luis Obispo Coast Game

The well-known "croocial" contest will take place at San Luis Obispo tomorrow when Coach Dud DeGroot's Roadrunners clash with the California Polytechnic Mustangs.

The game is important from the local angle, because a victory will leave Santa Barbara with a clean slate in the first year of conference competition. One more conference game was scheduled with Bakersfield, but this has been forfeited by the Drillers as they have disbanded their team.

Coach DeGroot's squad is in good condition. "Click" Basten with a bum knee being the only casualty. He will, however, probably get in the game before it is over. Captain Gates Foss will be back in the line-up after a three-weeks layoff.

The squad has been drilled in fast running plays and passes this week and speed will be the feature of the day with a flock of fast backs in the game.

Little is known about the Cal Poly squad, except that they have seen little action this year and are rarin' to go. Smith at half, Roberts at quarter, and Clink at full are the backfield stays. The line is light and fast with two whirlwind ends in Barbara and Sinclair.

After a let-up in the San Mateo game the local eleven came back last Saturday to hold the Stanford Grays to two unearned touchdowns. With fight like this they should squeeze a victory out of the Mustangs.

The game will be played before probably the largest crowd that the team will play before this year. It is the big feature of the Cal Poly Homecoming Day and the town and dgrads turn out in force.

Coach DeGroot is taking a squad of about thirty men. Twenty left this morning and the remainder will leave tomorrow. Those who are going are: Annin, 35; Basten, 36; Curtis, 14; Clow, 25; Cravens, 33; Denno, 30; G. Foss, 1; Foss, 10; Glover, 2; Gunn, 22; Hickman, 9; Imes, 4; Jacobs, 34; Johnson, 12; Lopez, 32; Mlynec, 5; Martin, 7; Pollard, 28; Sheesley, 21; Stauty, 15; Thurmond, 11; Clemore, 13; Swanson, 6; Allred, 27; Goodfield, 16; Evans, 23; Mobly, 18; Vince, 3.

WHERE IS THIS THING CALLED PEP?

THERE are a lot of fellows and women around this school who continue to yell about school spirit in this college and yet we wonder if they really know what they are talking about. If they know anything about school spirit, it is a sure bet that they didn't learn it HERE. In order to find out about school spirit go someplace else.

Rallies are rotten — rallies for football men who don't even stay for the yelling and such. What's the use of having a rally if the team isn't there? Even at that you can't blame the players. A mere handful of students attend the rallies, in fact such a small group that even the coach doesn't think it worth while to talk to them.

This is the climax of a season of poor spirit. One of the best examples of lack of school spirit was the send-off given the team on the Stanford trip. Ten people — bush-league spirit. Here we go into a game which determines the championship of this section of the conference and a bunch of students that have not got over prep ideas want to go to the high school game. What do you call that?

Now, you FRESHMEN, you who were so loudly touted at the opening of the year as the exponents of school spirit, etc. You've turned out to be a bunch of slackers and you can take it or leave it. Why weren't there more Frosh at the rally? They had to go home. Unless the Frosh do something mighty quick their record for pep will be drowned out as a record for lack of school spirit.

Tomorrow at the agme you — yes, you — have your one chance to show this college what you are. Will you be at the game or will you be at home twiddling your thumbs? Get wise and wake up this college before it's too late.

ACCORDING TO REPORTS ON CAMPUS—

THIS idea that the men should be allowed to send outside invitations as well as the women has its points, mostly against. The statement that there are only about thirty or forty desirable women on the campus is the bunk. If the men who make statements like that knew the inside dope, they might be disillusioned about their own desirability.

The women on this campus are of the best. They like fun just as well as the outside women. On top of that, they are more than entitled to the fun on the campus since they help pay for it through their fees and dues. The men may not like this; but if they consider themselves gentlemen they should see that these women are entertained, and right royally.

If it were not for that silly convention that women cannot stag it to a dance, it might not be so bad. So on the whole, why not get together, men, and find out the real worth of the woman who has heretofore been left to shine in the background. They do not have to resemble a movie star in make-up to give a fellow fun.

Again, this trouble that is being aroused by the fact that the college students are not greeting their hosts and hostesses at the dances. If these were private entertainments, in a private home, no one could escape speaking words of greeting to the host or hostess. These are entertainments that try to take the place of home affairs.

Yet, there is another side to this matter. There ought to be a place for the host or hostess to stand, ready to greet the student as he or she comes onto the floor. That place should be, preferably, near the door so as to eliminate the necessity for the student to chase all over the floor looking for them.

And another thing, this idea of giving four or five tests on one day. The majority come up here to make teachers of themselves. The others come in order to be able to attend some larger university. Nobody came to be worked into a nervous wreck by some thoughtless professors who schedule tests all for the same day.

The words "nervous wreck" are not inappropriately used. In order to make a decent grade in any test given by any professor on this campus it is necessary to study and study like fury. The subjects demand it, not because the student neglected to keep up with each assignment, but because it is easy to forget, and each day's work must be gone over.

AMATEUR AUTHORS TO STAGE EFFORTS

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—(N.S. Service)—A dramatic workshop, for the production of a series of original plays, has been organized at Boston University's college of liberal arts, as the major activity of the dramatic club. Originality is the keynote of the workshop's effort. To encourage amateur playwrights, a contest will be opened to all liberal arts students, with prizes, and publication of the winning plays in The Beacon, as rewards. Three faculty members will judge the efforts of the dramatic authors.

One-act plays written by undergraduates will be produced by the student dramatic guild at the University of Oregon this year. Four already selected range in subject matter from a story of the primitive cave-man, on down to a story of the up-to-date man and woman, according to The Emerald. Woolnar's "Swan" and O'Neil's "Beyond the Horizon" are also in prospect for undergraduate production.

Dot: "Who?"

Gates: "Barnum and Bailey."

LeRoy: "This is free verse."

Editor: "Thanks."

FORMER STUDENTS MEET ROADRUNNERS

A small group of former Santa Barbara State college students met the football squad at Palo Alto while on their stay at the Stanford town for the clash with the Cardinal Grays. Edmund O'Reilly, Sidney Doner, Edward Smith, and Alfred Tomlinson were among those now attending the northern school to meet the squad. Francis O'Reilly, a student at the University of California; Allen Keim, who is teaching in the Bay region, and Grant Youngs, also living near San Francisco, journeyed to Palo Alto to see the game. Edmund and Francis O'Reilly, Keim and Youngs are former Roadrunner football men.

Delinquents To Be Given Due Publicity

Announcement was made early this week by Otto Larsen, student body treasurer, that over 60 students are delinquent in completing their payment of laboratory fees. He states that only a part of the fees remained to be paid in nearly every individual case. A notice is to be posted on the bulletin board within a few days having the names of the students who are short in fee payment. The notice will set a date after which those not paying will be dropped from the classes in which their fees are unpaid.

Santa Barbara close to the goal, a Roadrunner punt was blocked, the ball bounding over the line and was recovered by the Grays for their second touchdown. The same fake kick proposition that was tried earlier in the game was attempted for the conversion, but the Green and White was wise to the trick, and Dick Glover knocked down the pass.

After receiving the kick-off, Santa Barbara was stopped at midfield, the Cardinals opening another drive. It went as far as the 20-yard stripe, for when at this point a Stanford pass came too close to Clemore to be successful, he intercepted it and the red was stopped. Santa Barbara punted after being unable to gain, and the half ended with the ball in midfield.

The second half was uneventful, neither team threatening the goals. Santa Barbara opened a passing attack, which gained some yardage, but could not be sustained long enough to find a place for themselves on the scoreboard. Long passes were unsuccessful, but several short tosses were effective. In the third quarter Stanford tried another drive, but it did not go far.

PICK UPS BY THE ROADRUNNER

I noticed, accidentally, that Dan the Yep, otherwise known as Jerry the Greek, had challenged me to find four great men in this universe. I doubt if there are that many out of this college, so it will be a difficult task to pick the winners of the contest without getting quite personal. First, naturally, the writer of this column will be placed in this plebeian hall of fame. (I don't know what that means, but it's a good line.) Secondly, I would place the editor of a certain downtown newspaper, for verily he signs my check. Thirdly, the guy what invented these here Baby Contests which are for the purpose of selecting the prettiest baby and incidentally to get subscribers for newspapers. Last and not least, I place Dan the Yep because of the wonderful nerve which he possesses, which enables him to place that column of his before the students of the Santa Barbara State college. And that's that.

Those students who were lucky enough to witness the Bear-Trojan struggle last Saturday sure saw a nicely played game of football.
