Cheerleaders, COGS ousted in AS 'spirit' cleanup

Tell leaders fired in Council action; drunkenness cited

by PETE YOUNG

News Editor

Two of three cheerleaders who allegedly put on a drunken display before packed stands at Saturday's Cal Poly game in San Luis Obispo were fired Tuesday night by Legislative Council. A third yelled leader, who passed out in front of the crowd according to witnesses, has resigned.

The deposed yelling leaders are Mike Hebert, head, and his assistant, Mark Irred. Council accepted a remonstrance resignation from Dennis Hebert, who has withdrawn from the University for a hitch in the Marine Corps.

VOTE 8-3

Hebert and Irred were dismissed by an 8-3 vote with one Council member abstaining.

The three, who were present to answer charges, confessed to "drinking quite heavily," AS President Bob Andrews said. "They were drunk and said they would never happen again.

The other two cheerleaders, John Stansbury, Senior of the state and LeRoy Tarter, youth, were cleared of charges.

"They did a job of handling the crowd . . . and behaved admirably," reported AS Secretary Elaine Webster, who attended the game.

In a unanimous vote, Davis appointed new head yell leader and authorized to appoint three assistants, subject to Council's approval.

FACTS PINNED DOWN

From varying stories reported by at least 10 students—often distorted and exaggerated according to Andrews—the AS President said he had managed to pin down these facts:

The three arrived at the game a few minutes before halftime in a bus chartered by the Cam­

Second part of civil rights series staged Monday

"Civil Rights and the Negro Revolution, Part II," will be presented at 7 p.m. Monday in Campbell Hall.

Headed by Dr. Robert Hutchins, the Center will recreate on stage a replica of their own roundtable discussions which are held every weekday morning in Montecito. Instrumental in bringing this "garage-truth" to UCSB is senior John Stanley, helping AS President Bob Andrews to utilize resources of the state Barbara community. Stanley planned the past discussion with the Center's vice-president, Frank Ketly.

Established by a grant from the Ford Foundation, the Center maintains as its goal the stimulation of discussion of democratic institutions in order to better preserve them.

COGS AND SPIRIT -- Last year before an away basketball game, a rare rally was held in front of the Student Union. Pat Curran, with his phone leads cheers, while this years COGS' Head, Dennis Roth is at the far right. The COGS have been purged from the AS rally committee because of actions in poor taste.

Student opinion sought on homecoming's future

by PETE YOUNG

News Editor

Colored Homecoming parade down State Street and free-swinging float-building nights at Pershing Park may be over.

On-campus Homecoming and house decorations loom as an alternative to the Santa Barbara parade, which has been conducted annually for the past 40 years.

That proposal was put before Legislative Council "for consideration" Tuesday night by Speci­als Events Committee.

SURVEY ASKED

Council took no immediate action on the proposal, which also asks for a survey of student opinion on the change.

Bob Taylor, Special Events Chairman, reported the committee feels Homecoming is "too much of a production—taking too much time and too much money."

He also indicated many students feel the same way, several Leg Council members agreed.

"All we want is student opinion," Taylor said. "It is not definite, by any means, that any change will be made."

This year's Homecoming, out­wardly a success, also had its problems, the Special Events Chairman said. He put them briefly: excessive drinking—"more than ever before"—and a sloppy cleanup job at Pershing.

"These problems weren't ma­jor reasons for the proposal?" Taylor explained. "They just brought the big problem—time and money spent on floats—to the fore again."

Dismayed city softball play­ers, scheduled to play the Mon­day after Homecoming Weekend, apparently found the park a mass.

COMPLAINTS LISTED

A letter from the Santa Bar­bara City Recreation Department to Dean of Students Ley Reynolds listed these complaints: Toilet bowls filled with beer cans and liquor bottles. Paper, chicken wire, beer cans and lumber scattered over baseball diamonds. Parade platforms, which were borrowed without permission, left on the field. Beer cans scattered over out­lying areas and the parking lot. A broken panel in the door of a men's rest room.

An electric outlet, used for the loudspeaker system, torn from the grandstand.

The letter, signed by Recreative Superintendent W. W. Bertka, also said the department has been assured clean-up operations would be conducted before Monday "so that regular scheduled activi­ties at Pershing Park could take place."

Taylor blamed himself and Special Events for the tawd cleanup job. "An elaborate scheme was set up, but the clean-up chairman and myself did not communicate as well as we should have," he explained.

But Betty Fletcher, activities calendar board chairperson, said Special Events "barely could have handled the clean-up alone." Most organizations building floats "put little effort into the clean-up," she charged.

The Special Events Chairman also reported that clean-up operations at La Playa, where the floats were displayed Saturday afternoon, were not completed on time.

"We finally had to hire a groundwoman from the Universi­ty's Buildings and Grounds De­partment to do the job," he said.

Special Events also will have to shell out $97 for damage to a La Playa goal post which was knocked down float-building night by a Homecoming truck.

Apparently someone took the truck for a short joy-ride, "or could have been anyone," Taylor said.

Cheadle speaks at Padua; says impact of study great

by PETE YOUNG

News Editor

Chancellor Vernon I. Cheadle, speaking at the opening of UC's first foreign study center in Italy, made a plea for an expansion of cooperative exchange of both students and faculty members between the U.S. and Italian universi­ties.

Cheadle told the American stu­dents at Padua that this year's program marked "just the begin­ning of what we sincerely hope will be a long and mutually bene­ficial cooperative enterprise." He brought out that the objec­tives of the foreign study program are far beyond the "purely aca­demic," they include the impact of the whole experience stu­dents will have in Padua and in Italy, and strongly he will continue to have, should provide them with a more cosmopolitan outlook, a greater awareness of how basically similar we are even though we may differ some­what in some of our mores and customs."
COOG'S "EDITORIAL"

It is unfortunate . . .

Last weekend three UCSB cheerleaders and several members of the Campus Organization for Gauchos spirit disgraced the name of the University and the students of UCSB with public drunkenness. This week Legislative Council took strong action against the cheerleaders—two of whom were fired, while the resignation of a third was accepted.

Cheerleaders Dave Jordan and Teddy Gould should be commended for the excellent manner in which they handled the emergency.

New cheerleaders will be named by recently-appointed head cheerleader Dave Jordan, and a letter of apology to Cal Poly will be drawn up by AS President Bob Andrews.

At the same session Council evaluated the COG's "behavior" at the Cal Poly game and throughout the year. As a result, the already tenuous relations between AS Rally Committee and COGS were severed.

An attempt was made to convince COGS President Dennis Roth to resign, and who do not want to be humiliated by being identified with drunkards.

Roth will undoubtedly gain the enthusiastic support of the administration, AS, and a large percentage of students.

We offer the following recommendations as possible steps towards the prevention of a reoccurrence of this year's incidents:

1. All cheerleaders—two of whom were fired; while the resignation of a third was accepted.
2. A third was accepted.
3. That a group—and especially its leader—has a moral, if not a legal, responsibility for the actions of its uniformed members.

Roth claims that the organization will purge itself of disreputable members. But he is the only one who can purify its ranks.

Coed's nightmare

Dear Editor:

The futility in the rodent battle can easily be demonstrated. You just use a simple formula the components of which are the following: a little bit of harmlessness; a large amount of indolence; a bit of savagery; tantalizing, spacy, three-day-old diving common sausages; a vicious, fifteen-cent LV. mousetrap. Use this formula and the coeds nightmare becomes a game, a challenge.

My roommate and I have caught live furry little creatures in the last week, one jumped in our wastepaper basket and the other four were maliciously loused, then slaughtered in the mouse trap. They stealthily crept through the vents in our furniture; the din they make in forcing their puny bodies through the vents has frequently awakened us. Can you blame us for the delight we take in purging our second-floor den of these rodents? They're cute, but they're noisy.

Another chance

Dear Editor:

Roth’s answer to every charge was that the incident was extraneous extermina, never occurred, or that it was the action of an individual over whom he had no control.

To hear Roth tell it, the COGS really are an organization dedicated to inspiring spirit for athletic events. This is a legitimate aim. If the organization respects the rights of others who do not wish to cheer, who do not wish to be offended by questionable language, and who do not want to be humiliated by being identified with drunkards, then Roth claims that the organization will purge itself of disreputable members. But he is the only one who can purify its ranks.

Student appraisal plans approved: objections raised

by WARD WARDBMAN
Staff Writer

Legislative Council has approved general plans for student evaluation of faculty and courses. Al Arkush, member of the ad-hoc committee set up to consider the feasibility of student evaluation, said the plan would generally work this way.

After a student has taken a course, he will fill out a form, analyzing the professor and the course and stating the good and bad points of both.

"This is not, however, to be considered, or to become, a blackmail sheet," Arkush added.

CLEEVES OBJECTS
Lila Cleeves, woman's representative-at-large, objected to the idea. "A professor is worthy of a great deal of respect and it is my feeling that judgments by students would not show that respect," she said.

The resolution for approval of student evaluation passed with a 9-3 vote.

In other action:

- An AS ad-hoc committee to study the feasibility of complete sponsorship of Camp Conestoga, the campus charity, was appointed. Members are Recreation Superintendent, Bud Gritch, Soni Kovalitz, Gal Grigoby, Dick Lynn, Alba Howell, Elaine Webster, Dan Dester, and Don Ray Pierce, member of the executive board of the camp.

Co-directors of the Foreign Student Agency, a student-managed organization which will help integrate foreign students into campus life, were appointed. Gay Batchelder, who is familiar with the workings of AS, and Masahi Saito, a foreign student from Japan were the appointees.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANIES

SALUTE: HENRY MCHALE

In just a short seven months, Henry McHale (M.B.A. 1962) has moved up in responsibility and status to his present position of office manager at Pacific Telephone.

According to Henry, "The company seemed willing to give me a chance to prove myself right away," Henry's intuitive business sense and initiative mark him as a man on the move. He started out as a supervisor, became business office manager of a residence section, and just recently was made public office manager of the Sacramento area.

Much of his success can be attributed to the many ideas he has recommended for improving the efficiency of operations. As a dynamic businessman, telephone communications requires an alertness to the needs of a constantly growing market. Henry has demonstrated this talent, admirably.

Henry McHale, like many young men, is impatient to make things happen for his company and himself. There are few places where such restlessnes is more welcomed or rewarded than in the fast-growing telephone business.

Campus bells ring patterns from tape

Students with vision of large ancient mission bells atop the library, rung at ten minutes to the hour and on the hour by secretaries, off-duty librarians, are dooming to disinterestment.

Instead of aged librarians tugging at long ropes, the carillon is operated by a new, code-perforated tape. The tape is fed automatically into the machine according to a time-keeping mechanism.

The Symphonic Carillon, as the "bells" are named, is a series of metal rods of different lengths and quarter-inch diameters. The rods are struck by hammers, and their sounds are electronically amplified.

Library officials report that there are other tapes available that are different from the current selection.

AWS assumes orientation duties
AWS has found its place on campus. Now it is working to fill it. President Regina Fletcher states that Associated Women Students is undertaking the orientation of new students. Because of the off-campus housing, freshmen women lack contact with campus and AWS.

The organization's communications Board provides personal contact with off-campus housing. Representatives from all living groups serve on the board which meets twice a month for discussion of AWS plans and purposes. Past failures of the Big-Little Sister program indicate activities for the whole population are not successful, states Miss Fletcher. The program will probably be revised for the coming year.

As a communication medium, AWS was influential last year in changing week-day lock-out hours from 10:00 to 11 p.m. Miss Fletcher said interest in the change was indicated in a letter to AWS from an individual. AWS took a representative survey from students and house mothers and found opinion in favor of the change. Working with Dean Bowers, dean of women and AWS adviser, the new lock-out hours went into effect.

LOCK-OUT SURVEY
Miss Fletcher said "Mike's to see a similar survey of student opinion concerning abolish ing lock-out hours for upper division women." In this way it would be known how many women are in favor. Students interested in matters such as this should contact AWS which would serve as a medium between faculty and students.

Miss Fletcher attended the Intercollegiate AWS convention last summer. She found UCSB has a good sister program. The Big-Little Sister program indicates activities for the whole population are not successful, states Miss Fletcher. The program will probably be revised for the coming year.

EARL WARREN PARK PAVILION
UCSB basketball teams debut at Nov. 26 game

This year's Gauc'ho freshman and varsity basketball teams will be introduced at the second annual "Half of Fame" game Nov. 26 in Robertson Gym at 8.

The freshman game will be put on to raise funds for the newly organized basketball hall of fame building on the East Coast. Students are admitted free, and a collection will be taken at the game.

Gaucko varsity squad members have been working out for several weeks in an effort to get ready for a rigorous schedule that opens with San Jose State taken at the game.

FIRST FIVE

The first five men on the varsity squad are currently Steve Var success, Bob Peak, Gary Gasket, and Howard Kohnberg, who have been making good time for the starting berths. According to coach Ralph Barkey, this year's Gaucko team has good potential as far as future varsity prospects are concerned.

"However, the learning process that they are undergoing is difficult because of contrasting backgrounds," Barkey commented, "and as a result their progress has been somewhat slow."

Barkey feels that the team will be a good one and emphasized the important part that desire will play in its fortunes. Players singled out by Barkey for having done well in practices so far are Bob Morton, Martin Roedel, Mike Bress, Hal Salwasser, Dan Johnson, Howard Demmelmaker, Dan Wood, Ron Donovan, Jim Schreiber, and Mike Miller.

BARKEY SATISFIED

Barkey expressed satisfaction with the progress of Morton, Salwasser, Roedel, and Demmelmaker.

The Gaucko yearlings also open their regular season on Nov. 20 in a game to be played before the varsity contest. The freshness will be facing a highly rated junior college quintet, Hancock, 1963-64 Basketball Schedule:

GEE, IT IS RAINING! The scoreboard shows UCSB ahead 54-43 in the fourth quarter of one of last year's games, as two Gauckos and two opponents reach for a rebound. At left is Hal Murdock, a starting guard on this year's team, The Gaucko quintet opens their 1963-64 season Nov. 20 against San Jose State in Robertson Gym.

Plans for All-U 'mural weekend are outlined

Last Friday the planning committee for the All-University Intramural Sports Weekend met.

Those attending the conference were faculty and student representatives from each of the five major University of California campuses.

Plans were made for the event which will take place on the Berkeley campus the weekend of March 20, 1964. Representative groups from each campus will take part in the weekend's activities. The 24 men and 24 women will be representatives of those units which won the intramural championship in the respective sports during the year.

A schedule of the weekend's sporting events includes co-educational sports on Friday night and separate men and women's competition on Saturday.

Pair win coed tennis tourney

Jeff Campden and Arnett Steezer team to win the Coed tennis tournament doubles championship last Monday afternoon.

Campden and Miss Steezer emerged victorious over the 13 other duos who competed in Recreation Control Board sponsored events.

Personal attention

Perhaps there's one reason, besides lower prices, why MOST Santa Barbara area families shop Jordanos' modern supermarkets. We think that reason is the SPIRIT of Jordanos' employees... the way they enjoy working together to help you - go out of their way to give you that EXTRA PERSONAL ATTENTION. After all, it's more fun to shop in a friendly happy atmosphere. And EVERYONE at Jordanos' - manager, department heads, stock clerks, checkout people, and the bag boy who helps you to your car - asks one question: How can Jordanos' become the BEST store for you? When you shop a Jordanos' modern supermarket, we think you'll see the answer.
