Realizing the first step toward fulfillment of Santa Barbara State college's building program, state and local educators and legislative potentates will conduct official dedication ceremonies Thursday, February 6 at the site of the recently-completed industrial education building on Leadbetter mesa.

Seminar Plans New Science Laboratory

The faculty seminar will discuss plans for the science building on the new campus at the regular meeting of the organization slated for next Tuesday evening in the A.W.S. clubroom. Dr. Frederick T. Addicott, recently elected chairman, will preside.

The seminar is open to all faculty members and students by invitation who are interested in scientific topics and their application to college work.

Addicott was elected at a recent meeting which Dr. Mary E. Ericson was unanimously re-elected secretary-treasurer. Discussion and research on vitamins and hormones was completed at the same meeting.

First meeting of the new semester will feature C. D. Woodhouse who will speak on "Strategic Minerals" in the first of a series of talks on resources of the United States in relation to the national defense program.

Harris Guides Improvements

Improvements on roads and buildings of the State college campus have been made over the holidays under the direction of Ray Harris, superintendent of the grounds, as part of the drive toward an attractive and ample college.

A rock wall has been built as protection to the ledge around the newly constructed driveway into the campus.

The rest of the working crew was busy assembling and installing much needed lockers in the men's and women's gymnasium dressing rooms. Work is incomplete as yet, but will be finished in the near future.

El Gaucho's office is having its interior painted white and new sidings are being added in the reconditioning process.

Kappa Delta Pi Elects New Head

At the monthly meeting of Kappa Delta Pi, held in the A.W.S. room last Thursday, Josephine McBride, former vice-president, was elected president of the national honorary educational fraternity, replacing Bob McElroy who is graduating. Gene Sutton is the new vice-president.

Dr. John C. Snidcor, instructor in the speech department, told of his clinical experience, especially regarding speech impediments and how they may be overcome.

The program for next semester includes an open house honoring high school seal bearers and including the entire student body.

Providing every opportunity for townspeople, students and visitors from other parts of the state to visit and tour each part of the new unit, the dedication ceremonies will consume parts of Friday and Saturday.

OPENING EVENTS

Program for the opening evening will consist of a tour of the buildings from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m.; a one-half hour dedication program beginning at 7:30; presentation of "R.U.R.", second college dramatic presentation of the semester, beginning at 8:30 and conducted tours lasting until 10 p.m.

Openhouse on the new campus will be held Friday from 7 until 10 p.m., with inspection of the buildings by technicians and officials. "R.U.R." will be presented again at 8:30.

Visitors to the new plant, which will house one of the most complete industrial education plants on the coast, will be officially welcomed by industrial division faculty at 10 a.m. Saturday and tours will be conducted from 10 until 12 m., and from 4 to 6 p.m. "R.U.R." will be staged at 3 p.m. and again at 8:30 Saturday night.

CONFERENCE LUNCHEON

Conference section of the ceremonies will be held from 12 until 3 p.m. Saturday, beginning with a luncheon in the Aeronautics laboratory. Topic of the discussion will be "The Place of Industrial Education in Modern Education."

A special platform and seating arrangement are scheduled to be provided for the elaborate dedication program.

The new building is the first to be completed in a program which will, within a few years, see Santa Barbara State college students attending classes on the bluff overlooking La Playa stadium and the Pacific ocean. Next unit to be built is the science building, for which plans are now being drawn. Work is expected to begin on this edifice sometime during the coming summer.

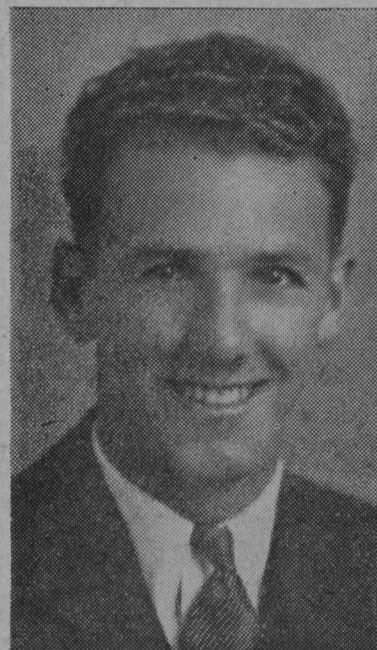

Allman Heads Local CSTA

Holding its regular meeting Monday, January 13 in Pine hall, the Santa Barbara State college chapter of California Student Teacher's association elected Walter Allman vice-president.

The office was vacated by Gerald Brown who graduates in February.

Brown reported on the C.S.T.A. convention at the Biltmore hotel in Los Angeles December 6 and 7 to which he and Neil McKay, former president, were representatives.

February 10 is the date set for the next regular meeting of the association. It is hoped that the attendance will increase to the membership required for ratification of the constitution, according to the new president.

FRED BAER, senior class president, will supervise arrangements for the senior breakfast honoring February graduates which will be held at the home of Mrs. Jane Miller Abraham, registrar, Sunday.

Sunday Meal Fetes Seniors

Honoring February graduates seniors and their guests will breakfast at the home of Mrs. Jane Miller Abraham, class adviser, Sunday at 10:30 a.m.

Informality will reign, according to senior president Fred Baer, at the breakfast which replaces the traditional senior banquet. Motif of the meal will be patriotism.

Invited to attend with seniors and their guests, are department heads and President and Mrs. Clarence L. Phelps, according to Betty Lee Boykin, chairman of the affair. Present also will be Dr. Harrington Wells and Lawrence E. Chenoweth, class sponsors.

Seniors expecting to attend must sign on the front bulletin board or in Mrs. Miller's office by this afternoon, it is emphasized by Baer.

Notice was given by Baer that all February graduates must turn in clearance sheets, completely signed, on or before Tuesday, January 28.

It is also stressed that seniors graduating next month also submit to the placement bureau immediately their green placement bureau form, accompanied by fifteen pictures of the graduate with his name on the back of each and at least five letters of recommendation.

Because of the number of calls for recommendation of candidates for teaching positions that are being received by the bureau from schools throughout the state, it is necessary that these forms be on file.

Gamma Sigma Pi Elects Fred Baer

Fred Baer will lead the Gamma Sigma Pi, social fraternity, for the new semester according to the election which was held following a dinner meeting Monday evening at the fraternity house.

Included in the fraternity executive chairs are Gordon Gray, vice-president; Willard Reineck, secretary; Stan Bartlett, treasurer; George McCrea, pledge captain and Clinton Powers, sergeant-at-arms.

Following the rally a dance will be held, with music being provided by the rally committee.

According to Warren Dorn, chairman, plans for the rally include the appearance of the college band, under the direction of Maurice E. Faulkner and an address on student attendance at basketball games and school spirit by Jack Richards, student body president.

Spartans Average 50 Points Per Game In Four Victories; Carruth, Urhammer, Allen Pace Offensive of Invading Team

Coach Willie Wilton, who put the kick back in the Galloping Gaucho, wheels out his 1941 version of the Santa Barbara cage machine and sends it through its stiffest test tonight and tomorrow evenings against a tremendously improved San Jose State college quintet in the National Guard armory. Game time is set for 8:15 and the series, while being the third and fourth 2C2A conference tilts for the locals, will be the loop openers for the visitors.

The Spartans come south with a powerhouse this year that has been terrifically efficient in its first five games, averaging 50 points per game. In winning four out of its first five games, the San Jose five has piled up impressive wins of 61-42 and 55-51 over Humboldt State, and an easy 55-44 triumph over the barnstorming Utah State squad.

Its only loss came at the hands of the College of Pacific five, 36-32. San Jose more than made up for this loss the following night by handing the Tiger team a 46-24 drubbing.

Heading the invader's attack will be its sharp shooting duo of Captain Hal "Pappy" Carruth, semi-bald forward, and Dick Urhammer, lanky center. Urhammer is the leading scorer on the quintet with an average of 10 points per game.

Stu Carter, 5' 6" speed demon, and Dutch Boysen, sophomore transfer from Marin Junior college, alternate at the other forward.

A pair of Allens, Johnny and Ernie, handle the starting guard positions. John Allen is the veteran All-conference guard who is tops defensively. Ernie Allen is another sophomore transfer from Marin Junior college who has stepped into a starting berth in his first year. Although both boys are Negroes, they are not related to each other.

Top reserve is Fred Kmetovic, center, brother of Pete Kmetovic, Stanford's Rose Bowl grid hero.

The two game series will definitely determine whether the Gauchos or the Spartans are going to battle the San Diego Aztecs for the championship. San Jose has its best team in several years and is all primed to knock over the defending champions.

One change will probably mark the Gauchos' starting lineup. Highly pleased with Gordon Gray's performance against Fresno, Wilton may decide to start him at center instead of Lowell Steward. However, Steward, who has always found the San Jose defense to his liking in the past, will see a lot of action.

The perennial favorites Tommy Guerrero, the Gauchos' Little All-American, and Paddy Caudillo, will handle the forward posts. Larry Brewster and Dick Rider are slated to start at guard.

Bill Leveille, sophomore forward, who came into his own against Fresno with a brilliant exhibition of shooting, will alternate at forward with Caudillo.

Rated as one of the best teams in the Bay region, San Francisco State college prepared to take on Hank Luisetti and his Olympic club five tomorrow night at Kezar pavillion.

Green and White Cagers Dump Fresno Aggregation Twice, 34-21, 44-32, in 2C2A Basketball Opener

Guerrero Tops Scorers With Twenty Points

Brewster, Rider Team Up in Great Defense Exhibition

Although they have traveled over 10,000 miles during the past four weeks, the Fresno Bulldog basketball team couldn't travel fast or far enough to keep up with the Gaucho squad early this week. Final scorings of Monday and Tuesday's conference openers spotted the Wiltonmen in front with totals of 34-21, and 44-32, respectively.

A promising outlook for the Gauchos' future was indicated when, after substitutions of the second and third string players, the offensive scoring and defensive play continued efficiently.

Tommy Guerrero demonstrated why he has been selected All-Conference two years straight with his brilliant shooting and consistently sharp floorwork. Dick Rider and Larry Brewster helped keep up an air-tight defense, as well as accounting for their share of field goals.

Paddy Caudillo and Bill Leveille, alternating at the other forward, both turned in good games, with Leveille especially starting on the defense, bucketing 15 points for the two game series.

First indications of the outcome of this season's conference race appeared when the Fresno scores were compared with the Bulldog-San Diego results.

The Bordermen also leashed the 'Dogs in both encounters with the identical score of 45-31. High scoring in these contests seems to indicate that a strong offensive without a too reliable defense makes up the attack.

Guerrero and Brewster split high point honors for the Fresno series, both tallying 20 points. Guerrero was especially effective in the second game, scoring 16 points.

The Hilltoppers by knocking over the unpredictable Broadway Clowns twice, 49-31 and 31-27, ran their victory string to four straight and seven out of eight for the season.

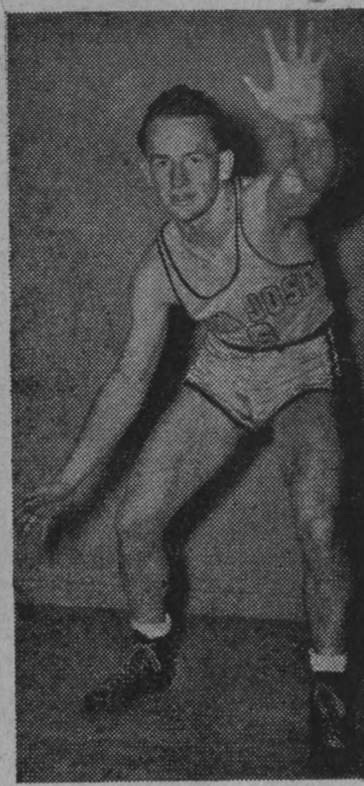

Although one of the stiffest opponents on Santa Barbara's schedule in past seasons, this year's five failed to come up to par with the professional play of former teams and was easy prey for the Wiltonmen.

why not hire a couple of big time officials to handle the rest of the Gauchos' home games? Or at least, instruct the present officials to give the game back to the players and the fans. The result will be a much more entertaining game to witness.

COLLEGIATE TRIVIA

The San Diego Aztecs basketball team, the five that can't be beaten and wouldn't admit it if it were, had this to say before the 2C2A cage campaign began: "After two times as runner-up in the National Intercollegiate championship, San Diego prefers to forget its "FLUKE" losses to Santa Barbara and San Jose last year when it finished third behind the Gauchos and Spartans."

Hal Bearty, Bulldog coach, states: "The Gauchos have a better defensive club, but the Aztecs have the edge in offensive power."

CAPTAIN HAL CARRUTH, sharp-shooting Spartan forward, is expected to be one of the big guns in tonight's cage classic at the Armory.

Squince Squad Leads 'Mural Cage League

Close, hotly contested games continue to be the rule in the intramural basketball league as the competition goes into its fifth week. The De Squince outfit rules the roost with six victories and no setbacks to date. The rest of the teams are waging a hot battle to get into the top spot.

Upsets took the spotlight the past week as the going gets tougher and tougher. The lowly College Y five dumped the favored Print Shop team, 38 to 31, in a major upset. The Sig Alphas broke into the win column by soundly trouncing the Six Hitters, 45 to 27.

The Dirty 7's took a tough one from the second place Newman Club, 28 to 24. The I. E. and Host Club battled two overtime periods in the roughest contest yet with 29 fouls being called by the officials. The Host lads won out 30 to 27.

Other results: Gamma Sigs 32, Beta Sigs 18; Newman Club 46, Sig Alphas 22; Gamma Sigs 33, Hod Dons 8; De Squince 31, I. E. 20.

Play in the league will be suspended for the finals and vacation to be resumed Tuesday, Feb. 4.

Schedule: Tuesday, Feb. 4: 8: Host Club vs. Gamma Sigs. 9: Newman Club vs. Beta Sigs.

Intramural Board Drops Badminton

The intramural doubles badminton tourney which started last week has been suspended by director Frenchy Liegerot due to lack of interest on the part of the participants. Of the eight matches scheduled only one was played off. The Redoglio-Truglio team won a match from Blue and Harmon 10-15, 15-12, 17-15.

Local Fencers Slate Meet With Indians

Swordsmen Tangle With Stanford Squad Tomorrow

Former teammates cross swords this Saturday when Coach Nick Carter's classy band of fencers meet the University of Stanford at the Palo Alto institution. The meet will consist of five man team foil matches and is slated to begin at 1:30 p.m.

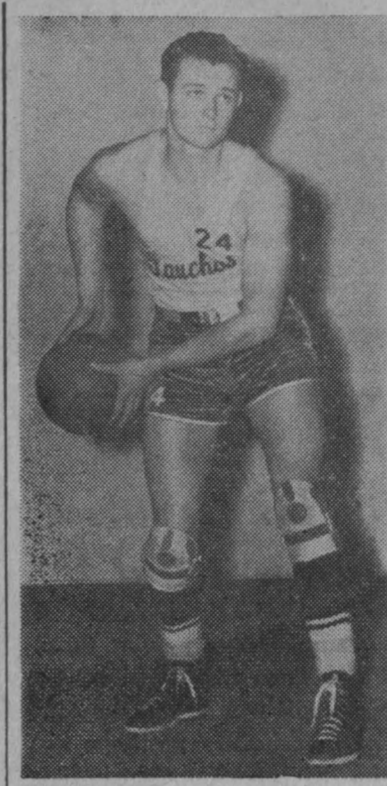

Marlin Nelson, former Gaucho fencer, is now wielding a sword on the Indian team, and will face his former teammates, Captain Bert Powers and Sydney Getzovitz, in what are expected to be the top matches of the day.

Carter is taking a five man squad up north consisting of Powers, Getzovitz, John Stratton and Robert Hart, neophyte fencers from Santa Barbara High school, and James Murray.

It will be Captain Powers' last match under the Gaucho colors as he is graduating in February. It may also be Murray's last meet as he is slated to leave soon with the National Guard.

The Gaucho swordsmen, rated as the finest in the west last year when it had the crack trio of Powers, Getzovitz, and Jack Gross, is still considered strong enough to knock over the Stanford fencers.

Although Carter had nine men on the squad, he was only able to take five men on the northern jaunt as the matches were limited to five men.

BILL LEVEILLE, sophomore transfer from Pasadena, gets his first crack at the San Jose Spartans in their series this week-end.

Aztec Cagers Take Layoff

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 9.—San Diego's Spartans took a breathing spell this week-end after a sweep through California that netted them 9 wins out of 11 games in cage clashes with such squads as the Universities of California, Stanford, California at Los Angeles and Brigham Young.

The Aztecs forged into the lead in the 2C2A along with Santa Barbara by knocking over Fresno twice by identical scores, 45-31.

Frosh Cagers Make Local Debut Tonight

Freshmen Tangle With Montecito, Sun Lumber Fives

Coach Howie Yeager presents his 1941 version of the Frosh basketball squad tonight and tomorrow night in the Armory as preliminary games to the varsity when the freshmen tangle with the Montecito Boy's club and the Sun Lumber Company fives on Friday and Saturday, respectively.

Cagers who have shown the most promise and may start tonight's games include L. C. Beck, diminutive forward from Huntington Park; Howard Mann, forward from Santa Barbara High school; Jules Gage, center from Hollywood High school; Bob Tucker, 6' 1", forward from Chaffey; and Sherman Bross, guard from Huntington Park.

So far, twenty casaba artists have turned out for the club besides those mentioned above.

Patsy Says . . .

Dear Janet . . .

With term papers, final exams, and bluebooks on my mind these last few days before tests start, I thought it might be a good time to remind you that I have an honor code too—almost like the one that is on the front of every Bluebook—with just a few variations of course.

"My signature on this ad is assurance that the information I am about to give will be the result of my best effort; that I have had expert help in gathering it, and that I am striving to help you in every way.

I will give you all of the written information possible.

I will talk to you every time I think or see something that suits you.

If I notice anything that seems to be just what you want, I will start tapping my typewriter with the hope that I see other things so I can take this up and continue to tap until every girl at Santa Barbara State is dressed the way she likes to be at the lowest prices possible."

That's it—how do you like it?

And on my Honor Code, you had better hurry and get one of the new jerkin and skirt outfits that are becoming so popular. Drop in Saturday, and let me show you all the new luscious shades.

—PATSY

P. S.—Take time off today and raise your head out of that physiology book to look at the one I'm wearing in the library.

Firm 'All-out Aid To Britain' Program is Recommended

Occasionally, on this and other campuses we used to hear the cry, "I hated to see France fall, but those Britishers need a kick in the pants." They are the same people who a year ago repeated, "England will fight to the last Frenchman," and who today have altered their wail to: "We must not send supplies to England; we need all our resources for our own defense."

What is their purpose? Do they realize that England will fall unless she receives our aid? Yes, that much they do know. Do they not know that should England fall the Americas will be the next on the Nazi list of victims?

Yes, they realize that. In fact, this is their point of argument. "We must keep our fighting machines for our own use. Should England fall we are in danger of invasion."

Again we ask, what is their purpose? Are they so conscientious as to object to letting England fight for us? Could they be wanting the "honor" of fighting Hitler themselves?

Or is it that they are just too dim-visionsed to reason things out for themselves? That, we think, is the answer. Like their most distinguished leader, Senator Wheeler, they are all most conscientious in their desire to keep America out of the War. But like Mr. Wheeler they have allowed themselves to become so confident of their own abilities and ideas that they have neither confidence nor trust in anyone else. They have become so accustomed to the one track on which their mind runs that they cannot alter their line of thought, or of vision.

But, there are men who have the ability and foresight to see things as they are and who have the courage to speak out for free men.

And rather than plow under every fourth boy of this nation, his "all-out aid to Britain program," will ultimately save these 'plow-boys' from following the four horseman's gang-plow down the long rows of the field of battle, pestilence, famine, and death.

Discussion of Vital Issues Proves Healthy for Democracy

You can't pick up a newspaper these days without starting an argument. When two truck drivers scanning a front page in a hashery allow their "java" to cool while they consider the merits of a Roosevelt proposal, when college men and women forget the stress of final examinations to worry about aid to Britain, when housewives postpone their chores to argue about conscription over the back fence, the issues of the day must be pertinent.

The public, it seems, is gradually assuming the proprietary interest it should have in current affairs. Attribute this phenomenon in the regeneration of a social consciousness to the various polls which send out interviewers to find out what the man in the street thinks, to the quiz programs cluttering up the airwaves or to a sudden desire to know what "goes on"—whatever answer the symptoms are healthy ones for democracy.

And now that the public is engaged in discussion, the problem is to issue factual information so that such discussion will not be reduced to idle chatter on rumors and fallacies gleaned from propaganda output.

The American press is 90 per cent for aid to Britain—all possible aid "short of war." The press is almost solid for the huge governmental armament program. The public, just a few short months ago was not too enthusiastic for British aid or a heavy defense program. Now, with very little to read on the other side of these vital questions, public opinion, according to the recent polls, is rapidly taking the side of the big interests, for these control the press as no one will deny. Suppression of news, deletion of important items and the changing of releases in such a way as to twist their meanings—these are some of the things of which the press is guilty.

One example is the suppression of the Kennedy report on England, not even mentioned in most of the metropolitan sheets and given a few lines in others. Another is suppression of a report from Columbia University on the ill-effects of tobacco on longevity. And then there are always reports on labor activity, with a notorious anti-labor press making demands that labor make sacrifices for "defense," when certain employers, using "defense" as an excuse attempt to demolish all of the fights labor has built up over the past decade.

The final example might be the one wherein a certain state legislator charged that the state university contained some 788 Communists and urged a purge.

The discussion going on is aiding democracy. The examples listed are a hindrance. Unless the private interests responsible for these curbs on democratic thought and speech are brought to task, the discussions now engaged in by the public will assume the proportions of utter nonsense and the way will be paved for fascism.

Jack Newman

Just for fun . . .

Poor Old Mussolini. He's having more trouble than a midget at the Rose parade. Everybody is picking on him. His forehead has more furrows in it than an AAA cornfield, and his hopes for victory are as high as a turtle's tummy.

Adolf isn't too happy about his friend's success either. After all, he has his own worries. You can't expect a man like him to give up conquering the world right now just so he can go down to Italy and jack up Benito's jaw to normalcy. "Let Benito's men fight their own war for him," he says. "My soldiers are busy fighting for Der Fuehrer, the Reich-chancellor, The Leader, and A. Hitler. Anyway, what's a little Er-satz between friends."

So it looks like Benito is caught like a guy trying to sneak into the loges. He hasn't got the right kind of a ticket to sit in the reserved seats.

This battle between ASCAP and BMI is getting on my nerves. Last night I heard the announcer say "And now we present the band playing a new version of 'Way Down Upon the Swanee River'". And I'll picket a picket's picket, if it didn't sound like "Beat Me Boogie Eight to The Dixie." I've never heard anything so mixed up in my life. Something like listening to the St. James Boys' Choir singing "Old Man Mose is Dead" with a mouth full of bubble gum.

I wonder who's right? They better hurry up and decide pretty quick or people will start carrying banjoes around and gathering in groups around the pool hall at twilight to sing "My Old Kentucky Home."

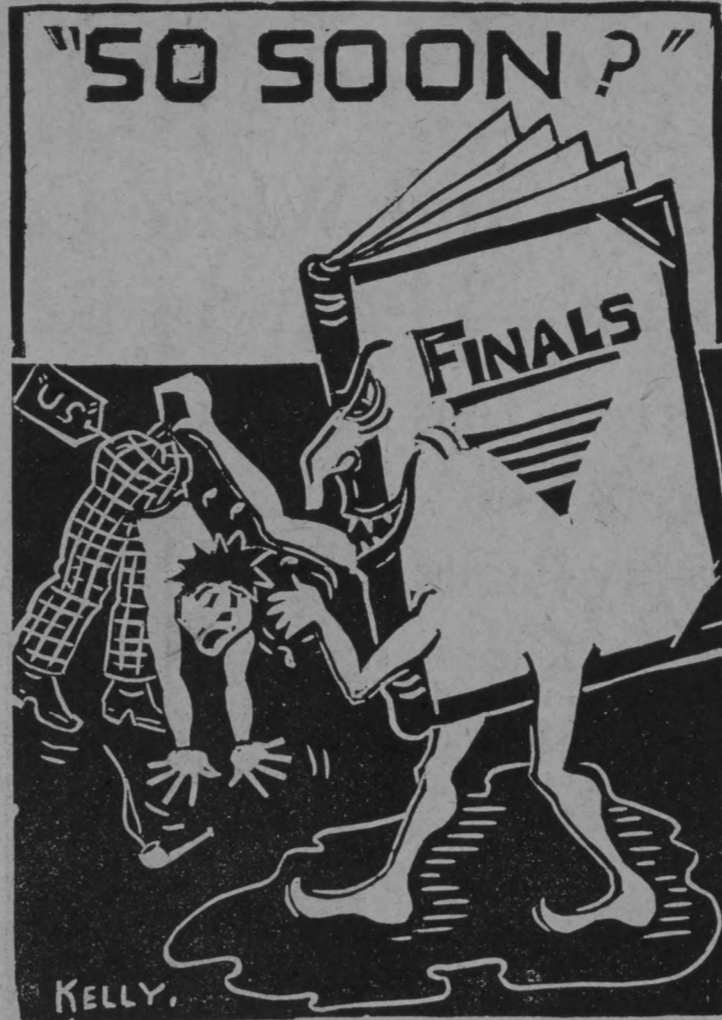

Afterthought: Larry Fickle was clever at the Blue Book dance last week at Rockwood. He had some very ingenious ways and means of cheating during an examination. Should have told him the one about the fellow who learned Braille, and then trained his goosepimples to spell out the answers on his arm. Or have an old Indian raise some smoke signals from La Cumbre peak. Or have a printer shoot type through the window with a slingshot . . . Or have a . . .

Good crowds at the basketball games: Barbara Tallant with Lloyd Garrison, Alpha Theta Chi en masse . . . Chuck Crow and his Margie . . . Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stewart . . . Beta Sigs Freddy Richardson, Bob Edwards, Herb Evans, stag . . . Harry Stewart and Marilyn Davis . . . Alice Crites and Stan Ostling . . . Jackie Miller and Shanty . . . Jack Fitzgerald and Doris Tuneliff . . . Al Young back for a visit.

Quotable Quotes . . .

A Temple university survey discloses that more college graduates are being sought by business and industry than in past years.

The men's gymnasium at San Diego State college holds 1,500 spectators. The college's new bowl will ultimately accommodate 45,000.

"Blue Book Blues"

Students Walk the Plank in Big Cram Session Next Week

"Whatcha know Joe? Don't know nothin'". This should be the theme song of finals week, and nine times out of ten, it is.

There are many recipes for the "survival of the fittest", and these are noted below. Pick out your particular category and follow our advice, so that you, too, will survive to cram next semester.

GROUP NUMBER ONE is composed of the "brains."

These students, or should they be called self-discipliners, are the horn-rimmed, serious-minded students. The places they frequent are library (by the way, what the hell is in there anyway?—books?), A.W.S. room, the lawns, the cafeteria, etc. These are the students who walk around school with text books stacked under one arm, as they read from another book of deep, engrossing material, such as "Greece, When", "What Comes First, Chicken or Egg?" etc.

GROUP NUMBER TWO is made up of the average college students who "just get along". This is a description of most of the students in our Alma Mater, and as such they are content to go through college as such. The campus characters (by that we mean the big shots) are formed in this section of final-crashers. These group-members usually have purty good lecture notes, miss a class now and then, attend the majority of the school dances, games, and other functions, and they usually are the ones who cram like (you know what) at the end of each semester.

GROUP NUMBER THREE (and the last) is filled by the would-be students who major in Gaucho Club.

From the Shoulder

BY THE EDITOR

is somewhat more difficult than has been the usual rule. Much more difficult, in fact, for the subject to be discussed is one which, although it is known in almost any high school or grammar school, has now reared its ugly head on this campus.

It is little less than sickening to hear from all sides stories concerning the latest happenings in the Gaucho "crime wave". Just recently we heard one incident of a student's gym locker being broken into and the petty, cheap, contemptible thief making off with a pair of trousers, the victim's shoes and socks and a wallet containing a few bills and several important papers.

Not much later, we were told about the State college athlete who lost a good pair of shoes to Santa Barbara State college's "Crime, Inc.". Of course, this victim is taking it good naturedly, even tacking up a sign informing the robber that "it's cold walking around in this weather without shoes".

But how about a couple of the women whose purses have been rifled?

And we wonder . . .

in just what light the members of Fresno State college's basketball team consider the people of Gaucholand after their visit here last week-end. Naturally, the wretches who seem to be trying to raise enough money to pay entrance fees for next semester couldn't pass up an excellent opportunity like the one offered them. As a result, the boys from up north went home defeated and considerably poorer than when they arrived in this town.

There are several little narratives we could relate, but repetition, in this case, would become only boring. These things have happened before and will happen again unless some concerted action is taken by the entire student body. After all, the honest members of this group probably outnumber the thieving, crawling, worthless tin-horn gangsters who are causing all the trouble by about 1800 to two or three.

Until the world itself . . .

accepts the sort of person who wriggles over his neighbor's window sill when the neighbor is away, Santa Barbara State college needn't put up with it quietly.

Naturally, we don't suggest that anyone caught with his hand in someone else's pocket be dealt with entirely without the aid of student body administration, but . . .

Why is it that we must continue to be bothered by such juvenile and imbecilic things as this? When will college students cease being children toddling around tied up in their bad habits and become young men and women—thinking and acting men and women?
