Rains Falters on Marijuana Bill

Oregon Plan Proposal Authored by Moscone

By Tom Flagg

Although State Senator Omer Rains claims to be in favor of marijuana reform he refuses to commit himself on pending marijuana legislation.

Senator George Moscone (D-San Francisco) has authored a bill, SB 95, which would make the California marijuana laws somewhat more liberal than those already effective in Oregon. In reference to Moscone's bill Rains says, "I will decide on that bill when it comes before the Senate Judiciary Committee on February 11." Rains is a member of that committee.

Moscone's bill calls for reduction of the charge for possession of up to three ounces of marijuana to an infraction, carrying a maximum $100 fine. This would also apply to transportation, and transfer without payment. It would not change the penalty for sale of marijuana or possession for sale.

Rains says, "Moscone's bill goes farther toward removing penalties than any bill to come up to date." Yet he won't commit himself to supporting the bill.

DUCKS QUESTION

Asked if he would support the most comprehensive bill of those forthcoming, Rains hedged by saying that what appeared to be the most comprehensive measure to one person might not to someone else.

Rains would not say if he would author a marijuana bill of his own. He said that, "...it is against policy for a senator to 'pirate' another senator's bill," and, "...if Moscone or (Sen. Arlen) Gregorio (D-10th District) lose interest in the project, someone else could propose one." Gregorio has also introduced marijuana legislation.

He said that Rains would probably back that bill.

FAVORS REFORM

Rains stated that he is definitely in favor of reforming marijuana laws, and noted, "I have voted for every marijuana bill that has come before the Senate, so far." He also said, "I want to read all the new bills before I decide."

Rains received 90 per cent of the Isla Vista vote last November.

NOT TOO RADICAL

Rains said that, to be practical, one has to write a bill that is not too radical if it is to have any chance of passage.

A spokesman for Rains' office said that the senator plans to consult with Governor Brown to learn which of the new bills Brown thinks most likely to pass.

SENATOR RAINS won't commit himself on marijuana bill.

Tafoya Hints at Legal Action; A.S. Election Results Unclear

DENISE TAFOYA demands to be seated by Leg Council.

By Becky Morrow

Denise Tafoya, victor of last week's A.S. special election by only one vote, has threatened legal action against Leg Council if she is not seated as the new Off Campus Rep.

The controversy began when the results of the A.S. special election were formally announced as a tie at last Wednesday's Leg Council meeting. Both contenders for the position, John Alexander and Tafoya, each received 246 votes after two tallies.

A third recount turned up a one vote discrepancy, giving Tafoya a winning margin of only one vote.

On Friday the Elections Committee compared voter signatures with computer lists and made sure the number of ballots did not exceed the number who voted. While 537 residents of I.V. voted, only 493 ballots were cast for the Off Campus Rep position.

Another recount will be taken today and the official results will be presented to Leg Council. The final authority to approve of the election lies in the council's hands.

"By going through all this rigamarole the Elections Committee is overdoing it," complained Tafoya. "They say it's in the interest of fairness, but all they're doing is making work for themselves and anxiety for me," she said.

"I won. Period," Tafoya asserted. "I'm coming to Leg Council Wednesday night to be seated as Off Campus Rep. If I'm not, there is legal action I could take."

According to Janet Herman, a member of the Elections Committee, "There is no way to tell if the election is valid due to human error. Poll workers can forget to give a ballot to an I.V. resident or give one to a dorm resident."

Alexander wants to "cast enough shadow of doubt" on the election so Council will invalidate it. He sees several potential reasons for invalidating the election, listing them as the possibility of dorm residents voting for this office, write in votes (eliminating a majority for either candidate) and the fact that the election was officially announced as a tie.

If Leg Council declares the election invalid four methods can

Final Open Hearing On Oil Plant Tonight

Tonight marks the last public hearing and possibly the decision on Exxon's request for an oil and gas treatment plant in Las Flores Canyon, 10 miles west of I.V.

This official meeting of the Board of Supervisors was moved to La Cumbre Jr. High School to accommodate the expected crowd. It begins at 7:30 p.m.

Opponents of the plant have an hour and 40 minutes to present their arguments to the board. The proponents' time has run out.

The Las Flores plant is needed to treat oil and gas from the platform Exxon has federal permission to build five miles off the coast. It will be the world's tallest oil production platform.

Proponents argue that unless the Las Flores plant is approved, the oil company will build a more environmentally dangerous floating facility offshore. The platform will be built anyway, they contend, but without Las Flores, natural gas cannot be produced.

Southern California faces a shortage of natural gas by 1978. Alternative sources and conservation measures to head it off are now being considered.

Opponents of the Las Flores facility argue it will be a major source of pollution on the South Coast. The plant would put out 18 pounds of sulfur dioxide per hour and cause scarring of adjacent hills, according to the environmental impact report.

The plant would also open the way for at least two other platforms in the channel, platforms in natural gas areas that would not be built without an onshore facility.

Women Criticize Affirmative Action

By Katy Sears

Eugenio Lujan, Affirmative Action Officer for the county of Santa Barbara was told that his goals and timetables, to be presented to the Board of Supervisors on February 10, lacked "social sensitivity" by members of the Santa Barbara Commission on the Status of Women. The group criticized his plan for failing to instigate affirmative action, but rather perpetuating the status quo, at their meeting Saturday.

Lujan's ten-year projection for county employment based on the available labor force was called "a mirror reflecting what's present" and "not instigating change" by Commissioner Mary Kay Wright. All 13 commissioners attending the monthly meeting agreed that the labor force itself needs changing.

William Alexander, the only male on the commission and Assistant Professor of History at UCSB, said that social problems were being overlooked by the Affirmative Action goals and timetables. One needs to look at who is serviced by each department to decide the proportional representation needed, according to Alexander. He cited the example of the Welfare Department, where mostly women and ethnic minorities are served, and claimed that they should also be the majority of those employed by it.

Commissioner Miriam Hawthorne criticized Lujan's figures, pointing specifically to the area of skilled craft workers, where women are totally excluded from the ten-year goal of the county. She also pointed to the area of office-clerical personnel, where Lujan proposes for 91.4 per cent of those employed by the county to be women. Upset that the Commission had not been contacted earlier, Hawthorne said that if they had been, such things would not have gotten through.

The Commission agreed to let their own views be made known to the supervisors at the meeting next week, and ask to have the ultimate Affirmative Action goals adjusted accordingly.

SCHOOL BOARD ELECTION

The Education Task Force of the Commission reported that a letter was sent last week to the 18 candidates vying for the three openings on the Santa Barbara School Board. The candidates were asked questions dealing with their opinions and proposed action concerning various forms of sexual discrimination now present in Santa Barbara schools, ranging from inequity in funding of athletic programs, to textbooks portraying the sexes in traditional stereotypes. The replies will be published and distributed at public forums.

Important in the eyes of the commissioners is the need to lobby and

Eco-Action Reorganized to End Administration Control

By John Silver

Ecology Action, visible to most students in the form of the I.V. Recycling Center, is out from under administration control for the first time since its inception in 1969. According to Board of Directors member Kevin Billinghamurst, the group was overseen by the Dean of Students office, and is now under the supervision of the Associated Students.

Eco-Action was founded on campus in 1969 as an organization with three major goals. These were:

- the maintenance of an organic garden for use by the general community;
- the formation of an information center;
- the operation of a full time recycling center to serve the UCSB/I.V. community.

Eco-Action's first two goals have been realized. Longtime student director Richard Zamora has been credited with keeping the group alive through the Recycling Center. However, Zamora graduated last June, leaving the ecology group with no student in charge.

Beginning last quarter, a group of students have been attempting to revise Eco-Action. Under a new set of bylaws, a Board of Directors has been established. The Board consists of five voting members and one non-voting coordinator. A majority of the board members must be students. "We now have the structural basis necessary to produce workable projects," commented Billinghamurst.

"The Recycling Center needs a full-time and paid coordinator," said Billinghamurst. "It isn't a job that can be handled by a work-study person because they only have 15 hours per week of pay."

According to Billinghamurst, the group is currently looking for sources of funding for a full-time coordinator. One source is the CETA funding, a federal program that allocates money to the county in an anti-recession effort to provide jobs. Eco-Action hopes to get CETA funding through the University or the Isla Vista Sanitation Department.

The group is also asking for University funding, and Board member Billinghamurst expects to meet with Chancellor Cheadle today to explore this possibility.

"The IVCC is giving us 10 per cent off the top of the door tax," said Billinghamurst. However, he added that the IVCC prefers that door tax monies be used for a beautification program instead of paying for a coordinator. Thus far, Eco-Action has 11 work-study students.

renewed interest in organic gardening and composting, a committee is being formed to study environmental legislation, and the group hopes to soon become a working student lobby in this area.

Current Eco-Action projects include doing lobby work to counter Exxon's proposed Las Flores Canyon oil treatment plant, and investigating the effects of oil residue on area beaches.

Ecology Action has held two general membership meetings this quarter, and is attempting to encourage student interest and participation. Aside from a

Brown Bill Would Remove Sex Acts From Crime List

By Garland Peed

Californians who have engaged in oral copulation, sodomy, adultery, cohabitation, or any other "crimes against nature" are libel for prosecution under state law and could face imprisonment for over a year.

Assemblyman Willie Brown (D. - San Francisco) has introduced legislation to the state assembly which would remove criminal penalties for such acts and legalize all private sexual activity between consenting adults.

According to a spokesman in Brown's Sacramento office, the legislation, AB 489, is primarily aimed at eliminating archaic laws under which police can continually harass the gay community. Although rarely enforced, present law also forbids both oral sex, even between married people, and "living together" as practiced by thousands of Californians.

"The state has no business prying into the private sexual

Nix On Exxon

Tonight at 7:30 the Board of Supervisors will hold the final open hearing on Exxon's request to build an oil and gas processing plant in the Las Flores Canyon, ten miles west of Goleta.

After years of study, the filing of several environmental impact reports, and a recommendation by the Santa Barbara Planning Commission to approve the project (by a 5-4 vote), tonight's hearing marks the denouement of the struggle between oil representatives and environmentalists over the building of the Las Flores plant.

Supervisor James Slater says the Board may reach a decision tonight after hearing final arguments from opponents.

By now, it has become obvious how four Supervisors intend to vote on the project. Slater and Frank Frost have consistently voiced disapproval of the facility, while conservative Board members Francis Beattie and Harold Fletcher have made it clear they favor Exxon's proposal. That leaves it up to new Supervisor Robert Kallman to make the deciding vote.

Kallman has refused to indicate where he stands on the Exxon project, stating that he is "still making up his mind." His past performance on the South Central Coastal Zone Commission showed him to be anti-oil, but not a strong environmentalist.

The weight on Kallman's shoulders is indeed heavy. The decision on the Las Flores plant will affect Santa Barbara for many years to come. As we have stated before, the processing plant represents a major threat to the future beauty of our coastline.

It has been estimated that the plant will distribute 75 tons of sulfur dioxide into the air every year. Because the onshore facility is needed by Exxon to process natural gas pumped from the ocean's bottom, the plant will inevitably lead to increased oil activity in the channel's federal waters.

Santa Barbarans need not be reminded of the danger this increased activity presents. They have seen the damage oil companies can do. The Supervisors must be reminded, though, one more time. It is important that Robert Kallman know how we feel. Exxon's proposal must be denied.

We urge the citizens of the Santa Barbara area to show up tonight and let the Supervisors understand these feelings. After tonight, it may be too late.

Tenant's Forum: Wake of the Flood

By Tom Hicks
A.S. Rep-at-Large

INCIDENT: On December 3rd the rains came. To many Isla Vistas, the impact of this heavy rain was felt very close to home. In this case, however, the impact was felt IN the home, as the rain flooded his apartment in the Berkshire Terraces. It put everything under two inches of water. When most of the water was finally gone, the carpets were soaked and began to shrink and pull away from the wall. A little later, the mold and mildew began to flourish, imparting to the entire apartment a distinctive odor.

The first attempt by the tenant to rectify the situation was answered by promises of "We'll put out a work order on it right away." When over a week had passed, the tenant returned to complain again, only to find the apartment had since changed ownership. It was now under the auspices of Greentree Realty Co. and a Mr. J.B. Worthen. The tenant explained that he felt ripped off by paying $160.00 a month rent for an apartment with wet, smelly carpeting. Mr. Worthen's response was, "It appears that you are unhappy with the apartment. There's no alternative but for you to move out." Having just moved in a little over three weeks previously, the tenant was understandably reticent to pack up and move again. The tenant backed off with the assurance by the landlord that a blower would be brought in immediately to dry the carpets.

After another two weeks had passed and nothing had been done about the carpets, the tenant returned with a written letter of complaint. It stated that if the carpets were not fixed within a week, the tenant would call the Health Department. Mr. Worthen's response to the letter was, "Thank you for this, but you're moving." Illegal, to be sure, but very convincing when delivered from the position of authority that most landlords enjoy.

However, the tenant here was in a better position than most, for during the time between confrontations with the landlord he had been researching what his rights were under law. He was prepared for the encounter that ensued. The landlord was evicting him illegally. When the tenant explained this, it sent the landlord into a tirade of threats about police intervention, lawsuits, bodily harm, etc., not to mention the string of profanities directed at the tenant. The tenant was sure of his rights, however, and a paper was signed. It held Greentree Realty Co. and its owners blameless for the condition of the apartment. In return, a half month's rent owed by the tenant to Greentree was waived. The tenant agreed to move within five days.

Once the tenant had moved, he submitted a list of items which were to be cleaned to the landlord. They were signed, and every item on the list was cleaned thoroughly. On inspection, the landlord had no other alternative but to authorize a full Security Deposit refund. As yet, the tenant has not received the deposit. He is aware of his rights in this matter, though, and is fully prepared to exercise those rights if need be.

How much different would the outcome have been if this tenant, like many or most Isla Vistas, was unaware of his legal rights? Quite different, I believe. Legal threats, when the person being threatened is unaware of the law, can be very convincing. Because of this, many tenants are being bulldozed out of money and, indeed, out of rights which legally belong to them.

I have been working on a Tenant's Forum, which would be a series of informational meetings where speakers from the legal community concerned with tenant's rights (UCSB's Housing Mediation Board, I.V. Tenant's Union, Santa Barbara Legal Collective, and others) will speak and answer questions concerning this area.

It is vital for ALL students, but particularly those living in Isla Vista or those planning to move into I.V. to be aware of their rights as tenants. The uninformed are easy prey for landlords with empty threats and the power to dictate terms with which tenants must live. As the saying goes, "Forewarned is forearmed." This certainly applies to landlord-tenant relations in Isla Vista, as well as other areas habited mainly by students.

Watch for publicity about the Tenant's Forum, and attend it if you want to know what your rights as a tenant are. If you have a problem, consult the I.V. Tenant's Union. But above all, inform yourself about the law. You may need it.

'VERY WELL, BARRY . . . I'LL COME BACK! BUT THIS TIME WE DO IT MY WAY—NO MORE MR. NICE GUY!'

Regent In Conflict of Interest

Editor, Daily Nexus:

The Nexus article on the selection of the President of the University of California (Jan. 30) failed to point out a number of pertinent facts. William McGill, one of the persons under consideration, is on the board of directors of American Telegraph and Telephone Company. Regent Edward Carter, the chairman of the search committee, is also on the board of A.T. and T. Chester McCorkle, UC Vice-President and also one of the names mentioned, is on the board of directors of the Del Monte Corporation. Carter is also on the board of Del Monte.

In other words, the chairman of the search committee personally knows two of the people under consideration. Quite frankly, this sounds like Watergate. To avoid the appearance of impropriety, at the very least, I don't think it is unreasonable to demand that Edward Carter either resign from the search committee or that the names of William McGill and Chester McCorkle be withdrawn from consideration. One of the criteria listed in selecting the President is "a commitment to the society which supports the institution" (i.e. the university).

William McGill is on the board of Texaco Oil Company, the same folks who brought you the oil crisis. Does this represent a commitment to society? Clifton Wharton, another person being considered, is on the board of Ford Motor Company, the same company that is throwing tens of thousands of workers into the streets in the name of their profits. Wharton was also involved in the creation of U.S. policy in Vietnam and was a member of the Agribusiness Council, a group that opposes the rights of farmworkers. Is this social commitment?

Another point is that none of those being considered are a member of a minority group or a majority group: women. The Regent's members are now required by law to reflect the population of the state. Why is it that, in selecting the president, the same procedures are not followed? The job of the President of the University of California is a crucial one, and with the conflicts of interest and the lack of social concern exhibited by these three men in particular, I consider it an insult that they should even be considered, and I would urge people to write the Regents and tell them to stop demeaning our intelligence.

General Telephone is Rude

Editor, Daily Nexus:

An acquaintance of mine was offended by the way the phone company prints, for example, "Smith, John" when addressing one of its patrons. It is rude to address someone in this manner.

His small protest is to make his check payable to "Telephone, General." Perhaps if thousands of us did the same, they would get the hint and print first names first. Let's give it a try.

Sex Bill...

lives of consenting adults," Brown believes. "This measure offers a positive alternative to the present law. Its basic premise is that private sexual conduct between consenting adults cannot be illegal."

Brown stresses that the bill "in no way removes any restrictions against homosexual or heterosexual acts between an adult and a minor, or between two people, one of whom is forced into the act."

Government expenditures for vice-squad activities could be drastically reduced throughout California if the measure passes.

"The police of this state are spending far too much time trying to catch persons who violate some antiquated notions of sexual conduct," Brown says. "The policemen should be free to fight real crime—murder, robbery and mugging."

This same bill was introduced as AB192 in the last legislative session but died in the assembly, due in part to the successful lobbying efforts of the California State Sheriffs' Association, the District Attorneys of California, and the Peace Officers Association, as well as fundamentalist religious groups.

In addition to moral objections, these organizations managed to convince some legislators that the bill would make it difficult for law enforcement to prosecute individuals who solicit or engage in sodomy and oral copulation in public.

Brown's office is hopeful that today's more liberal legislature will pass the bill.

Spikers Cruise to 15th Straight Win

By Peter Gort

UCSB's No. 1 ranked volleyball squad waltzed to a straight game victory over the Long Beach State 49er's in a benefit match held at Santa Barbara City College last Friday night.

For coach Gus Mee's spikers, it was the 15th consecutive victory of the season and the second over the 49er's.

Proceeds of the match, which attracted a fair sized crowd, went to support the SBCC volleyball program.

The first game of the match saw the Gauchos assume an early lead, but not for long, as Long Beach rallied to a 7-6 deficit. A block by Jon Roberts and a Matt McShane spike opened UCSB's lead to 11-7 as they cruised home with a 15-7 victory.

Game two again saw the home club jump out in front, 5-0, with some fine serving by Jay Hanseth. Although the Gauchos played well as a team, if one individual was to be singled-out, it would have been Hanseth, who's serving, hitting and blocking were exceptional all evening long.

Lapsing slightly in the middle of game two, the Gauchos finished strong to take a 15-8 win. Dave DeGroot exhibited yet another bit of his volleyball wizardry during the game as he faked a set and scored on a one hand, left-handed shot.

Coach Mee went to his bench in the third and final game of the match, starting Kelly Broom, Gary Helms, and Gary Hooper, and, halfway through, replacing DeGroot with Gary Sato. With Long Beach having difficulty handling the serves of DeGroot, Hanseth and Helms, the spiking of Broom, and DeGroot exhibiting some fine digging, the Gauchos ripped to their most decisive victory of the night 15-3.

Mee, the first year head coach who is likely to take his team to the NCAA championship, was pleased with his squad's performance. "We did what we wanted to do," he remarked.

"Our mental concentration was better than it has been," continued Mee. "We won't be able to get psyched up for all of our games, so that was important."

Bingo Scores Career High

By Peter Gort

Probably tired of hearing that he has not played well since the Irvine Tournament in early December, Greg Bell followed a 17 point performance against S. F. State Wednesday with a career high 27 points Saturday night leading the Gauchos to a 94-81 rout of the UC Irvine Anteaters.

In scoring his career high, "Bingo" did what a 6'6" guard is supposed to do; that is, to take his man inside and to hit the offensive boards. In addition to his scoring output, the senior from Columbus, Ohio, grabbed seven rebounds to tie him with three other Gauchos for the team high in that department.

UCSB's effort against the Anteaters was their finest since their victory over Oklahoma some four weeks ago. The Gauchos looked extremely tough the opening three minutes of the game as their press proved very effective, pushing them to a 10-2 lead.

Turnovers began to also trouble UCSB, however, and that, combined with Irvine's fine shooting, kept the home club from blowing the game open early. A Nate Jones jumper pulled the Anteaters to 12-8.

Coach Barkey went to his bench at that point, sending in Ronnie McCowan. McCowan, picking up where he left off against S.F. State last Wednesday, immediately sparked the club with two steals; the second leading directly to a super shot by Andy Oliveira that made the Gaucho lead 20-12.

Irvine hung tough though, as Kevin Davis refused to miss, keeping his teammates together to trail by only five at the intermission, 41-36. And that, despite a third steal by McCowan in which he picked Jones clean on what looked like a sure two on a breakaway.

UCSB continued its fine play in the second half as Bell really began to exert himself. Seemingly scoring on a drive or on a tip of a teammate's missed shot every time down the court, "Bingo" showed why he has started each of the Gauchos' games since his transfer from SBCC.

Despite Santa Barbara's good play, Irvine refused to roll over and play dead. They kept relatively close until a three point play by Bell (who else?) off a nice feed by Don Ford, two successive buckets by the acrobatic Tex Walker, and two more hoops inside by "Bingo" saw the Gaucho lead balloon to 13 points at 66-53.

OFFENSE BLAZES

From there it was all down hill for the Anteaters as the UCSB offense caught fire and blazed to an 84-61 lead as "Bingo" hit yet another hoop for his final points of the night. The 6'6" backcourt ace left the floor to a well deserved standing ovation.

Playing against Gaucho reserves in the remaining five minutes of the contest, Irvine was able to make the final score have some semblance of respectability. It would have appeared even more respectable if a 20 foot jumper by Walker had not gone in at the buzzer, making the scoreboard read 94-81.

For Tex, it was his 16th and 17th points of the night and capped one of his best efforts of the year. Star forward Don Ford also hit double figures, tallying 18 to maintain his season average.

The Gauchos next take on Long Beach State, this Wednesday at Rob Gym, in what should be one of the year's best games.

RIGHT PAST 'EM — Jon Roberts scores on a spike past the arms of two would be Long Beach State blockers in last Friday night's benefit match held at SBCC. The benefit, whose proceeds went to support the SBCC volleyball program, drew upwards of a thousand fans.

Cage Women Score Win

Behind another fine outing by Lyne Edwards, with excellent support from Cindy Wornham, UCSB's women's cage team nipped San Diego State last Friday night at Rob Gym, 56-52.

With the score tied 52 all with but 31 seconds remaining to be played, the Gauchos scored two straight baskets to register their third consecutive win. Edwards' fine performance saw her lead the team in scoring with 17 tallies as Wornham contributed 12 points and 19 rebounds.

The Gauchos now stand 2-3 in league as they strive for a berth in the regionals to be held here at UCSB at season's end.

Bacon, Baroff Replace Roop as I.V. Planners

By Nadja Maril

Two new faces have taken over the direction of the Isla Vista Planning Commission. Laurie Bacon, former member of the IVCC staff, and Mitch Baroff, former planning consultant, have split the responsibility of Planning Commissioner into two jobs. They took over the position vacated by Joyce Roop's resignation last November.

According to Bacon, "With two people we have more energy. Mitch does the technical design and data work and I do the administrative work, writing and lobbying."

Both Bacon and Baroff work 40 to 50 hours a week. Joyce Roop averaged about 60 hours a week.

Bacon has presently been focusing her energies on the formulation of a five-year plan outlining the future of Isla Vista. The rough draft will probably be completed by November and the work has been divided into four different committees.

Dean Kennedy will be heading the committee exploring the economic possibilities of I.V. Included in the ideas to be discussed are bartering, establishing more co-operatives, and the possibility of I.V. growing more of its own food.

John Anderson is heading up the committee concerned with social growth which will deal with such questions as "what services do we have now?,"

China Week Exhibition

Chinese paintings, potteries and stamp collections will be on exhibit in the UCen Program Lounge tomorrow and Wednesday in conjunction with China Week. A demonstration of Chinese painting by artist Yei Chui Pei will end the exhibition at 3 p.m. Wednesday.

The paintings in the exhibition are primarily landscapes. Twenty of the works are by Vera Tak-Wah Cheung, a sociology student from Hong Kong who has been painting for almost ten years. She is displaying her private work to introduce the different style and techniques of traditional Chinese landscape painting to western people.

The exhibit will be open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Tuesday and from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Wednesday.

According to a resolution adopted at last Monday's IVCC meeting, the main focus of the governmental element will be the incorporation of Isla Vista. However, according to Bacon, "Even if we aren't incorporated, the plan will help to rejuvenate the community and keep our spirits going."

be used to fill the office.

Another special election could be held. The election between Alexander and Tafoya cost $1,285 and only 7.8 per cent of the students turned out.

Another possibility is a run off election between the two candidates. Many members of Leg Council reject the above two plans as economically unsound.

An appointment could be made by the presiding president, Kathy Tuttle. In the election Tuttle endorsed Alexander.

A fourth alternative would be a ballot published in the Nexus. Interested students could bring the ballot along with their reg card to the A.S. office. One pollworker would be there to check off names and collect ballots, thus minimizing the cost.
