Sheriff Urges Inflating Halloween Crackdown

Supes Ponder Adding Extra Weekend Patrol

By Michael Ball
Staff Writer

As preparations for Halloween 1996 begin, the Santa Barbara County Board of Supervisors is considering extending the holiday's music ban at the request of law enforcement officials.

The ban currently prohibits live and prerecorded music "at any other place other than in a permanent building or permanent installation which ... has been constructed for the purpose of conducting such activities, to which members of the public are invited or admitted or which otherwise are open to view for a charge or free of cost" from 6 p.m. to 7 a.m. on Oct. 28-31.

Because Oct. 31 falls on a Thursday this year, the Sheriff's Dept. is asking the supervisors to amend the ban to include Nov. 1-2 to help maintain the downward trend in Halloween night crowds and arrests since the zero-tolerance enforcement policy was initiated in 1993. The board will consider the amendment at their meeting Tuesday. "It's in the interest of public safety and to keep it a local event," said Lt. Sam Gross of the I.V. Foot Patrol.

The ordinance and increased police activity were introduced in response to the estimated crowd of 40,000 visitors Isla Vista received on Halloween in 1992, resulting in 1,090 arrests.

Since the inception of zero tolerance, the annual crowds have shrunk dramatically, to under 2,000 in 1995, comprised mostly of I.V. residents, with only 115 arrests recorded last year.

But some feel the usefulness of the enlarged police presence has come to an end.

Freshmen Face Frightening Fact: Housing Shortage Hurts

By Linda Apeles
Staff Writer

Due to a record-breaking number of incoming freshmen, securing a space in the residence halls has become an impossible task for some students.

Incoming freshmen are having an extremely difficult time finding space in both university and privately owned residence halls this year, said Serene Nispiros, Residence Hall Contract Office manager.

"We have a big problem," she said. "These people don't have a place to live."

Currently, there are still about 60 incoming freshmen on the waiting list for the university-owned on-campus residence halls, Nispiros said.

This year's freshman class looks to be the second largest in UCSB history, said Dr. Dennis Hengstler, director of Institutional Research and Planning.

The largest freshman class — at 3,704 — entered the university in 1986, he said.

In the years since, due to a change in the demographics of college applicants, a drop in the number of high school graduates, and increasing student fees, enrollment figures faltered and finally fell below the quota of 3,500, the freshman population the campus is expected to take in each year, Hengstler added.

This year, the quota has been met for the first time since 1986, with a projected incoming freshman class of 3,500, Hengstler said.

But the large class size may mean there is a need for new on-campus housing construction, said Deborah Fleming, director of Orientation programs.

Hengstler said he agreed the campus will need more housing in the future.

"We will continue to look at large freshmen classes in the next few years," he said.

But the space problem is not restricted to campus housing. The privately owned off-campus residence halls find themselves in a similar situation, Nispiros said.

Fontainebleu has been full since July 1, said Resident Manager Sue Tollison. Her staff still receives three calls a day from freshmen looking for a place to live, she added.

In addition, Fontainebleu currently has 28 people on its waiting list for Fall Quarter, and has already begun filling its winter waiting list.

"We stopped putting anyone on the waiting list after 29. We didn't want to get their hopes up," she said.

Lack of space has become such a problem that Francisco Torres, another privately owned residence hall, which has a capacity of 1,300, has arranged for some students to share rooms with their resident advisors, Nispiros said.

But some housing officials said that despite the increase in class size, incoming students should still be held responsible for not finding a place to live when they are late sending in their applications.

Campus Seeks Larger Voter Pool, Encourages Students Participation

By Brian Langston

With the Oct. 7 deadline looming on the horizon, the gears of an intensive voter registration drive are beginning to grind.

Associated Students, in conjunction with the Office of the Dean of Students, will use the next 17 days to conduct a comprehensive campaign focusing on the importance of the student vote. A major portion of the program will concentrate on students living in campus residence halls, said Associated Students External Vice President for Local Affairs Jeff Provenzano.

A registration booth will be set up near Santa Rosa Hall on Sept. 22 to target students on Move-In Day. On Sept. 24 volunteers will attend residence hall town meetings to pitch the voter drive, and another booth will be at the Sept. 25 chancellor's ice cream social, he said. Registration forms will also be available in the Sept. 30 issue of the Nexus.

Visits to classes are also planned for the first two weeks of the quarter, said A.S. President Russell Bartholow.

"We're asking for volunteers to go into classes and explain about the registration cards and how to fill them out," he said.

According to Provenzano, the goal is to cover 40 classes.

The campaign will continue with posters in dorm hallways and fliers dropped in university post office boxes. Voter registration forms will be attached to Residence Hall Association election materials so students voting in the Oct. 6 and Oct. 7 RHA elections can register for the federal election. This will make it more convenient for students, Provenzano said.

"At the same time [as they vote in the RHA elections], all they have to do is turn the page and [the voter registration form] will be right there," Provenzano said.

Hard-Luck I.V. Home Falls Victim to Deviance

By Nick Robertson

An Isla Vista property owner is offering a cash reward for the arrest and conviction of anyone responsible for repeated acts of vandalism on a recently completed Del Playa duplex.

The building, located at 6598 Del Playa, had one upstairs window and three sliding glass doors shot out with a BB gun over three consecutive nights, Aug. 11-13. Police suspect the guilty party fired the weapon from a passing car, according to Sheriff's Deputy Don Friedli of the I.V. Foot Patrol.

"Possibly somebody was driving by in a vehicle and shot out the windows," he said. "Usually people don't walk down the streets with BB guns or pellet guns."

Approximately $1,900 worth of damage was sustained in replacing the shattered glass, prompting owner Ed St. George to board up the intact ground floor windows and display his offer of $2,000 for information leading to the arrest of the criminal(s). So far there are no leads in the case.

Although St. George owns and manages several other apartment units in I.V., he does not believe the crime was perpetrated by former tenants, but was instead a random act of aggression.

"I've been out in I.V. a long time, and there's a lot of guys who get frustrated and vent it in the wrong direction," he said. "That's how the rents got so high in the first place, because of the destruction. ... I absolutely suspect students did it."

In an unrelated act of deviance, the same house was the victim of theft when 25-30 sheets of plywood and siding were stolen three weeks prior to the vandalism. The materials were lifted less than a day after they were delivered, St. George said.

"The plywood is a separate incident. ... They actually cut the fence in the back [to get it]. That's why I don't think it's students," he said. "It's pretty much been the nightmare project."

St. George intends to maintain a sign on the property displaying the reward throughout the year, partially due to what he believes is a lack of effort on the part of the local law enforcement.

"It bothers me the way the police handled it. It was like, 'Yeah, whatever, you're building in I.V.," he said. "It happens so often, they can't keep control of it."

Senior communications major Jamie Nachenberg, who lives in the upstairs unit with several roommates, believes that no additional acts of violence will occur now that the

I.V. Grant Funds Facilitate Repairs for Housing, Sidewalks

By Davia Gray

Some old and decrepit Isla Vista residences and streets will be getting a much-needed face-lift thanks to a state grant for low-income property owners.

Awarded Aug. 1, the Community Development Block Grant of $500,000 — plus $25,000 in matching funds from Santa Barbara County — will provide low-interest loans to small property and home owners for major structural repairs, said Mark Chaconas, aide to 3rd District Supervisor Bill Wallace.

Ten percent of the grant will be used to renovate and create new sidewalks in I.V. and possibly Old Town Goleta, he added.

The loans are earmarked for substantial structural building repairs rather than cosmetic alterations, said Susan Ruby, county affordable housing manager.

"[The money] can be used for most any permanent improvement — for a new roof, appliance, anything structural," she said. "There is a limit to the amount that can be used on unsubstantial items. It is controlled to be for things like roof and porch repairs. It can be used for carpets and appliances, but it can't all be used for carpets or to spiffy up stuff — these aren't substantial improvements."

The grant will also help keep local structures in compliance with health and building codes, said Susan Boehlje, executive director of Santa Barbara Community Housing Corp.

"It is primarily for the purpose of fixing up run-down or older areas and keeping up with health and safety problems in units," she said. "Even flooring is a health and safety concern. We'll try to make units so that people don't have to do it over. We'll try to do a comprehensive job."

The flexibility of the loan terms will make it easier for non-profit agencies or very low-income property owners to obtain loans because SBCHC can vary the interest charged, Chaconas said. Based on the applicant's eligibility, the loan can have deferred interest or be given as a grant.

"The people who are eligible are the owners of the smaller properties and smaller duplexes up to four units per building. We didn't want to make it available to huge mass building owners," he said. "It was our decision to make it part of the grant program, that we wanted to make it available to smaller properties. Large property owners would just gobble it up."

Isla Vista competed with 91 other applicants to receive a community development grant, Chaconas said. Demographics and housing statistics of the area, along with the I.V. Housing Strategy Report released in January, helped I.V. claim part of the money, he added.

According to the report, 80 percent of I.V. housing is over 25 years old, 14 percent was built almost 40 years ago and nearly all of it requires extensive repairs or replacement.

"It's always been Supervisor Wallace's goal to get money into the Isla Vista community to help repair the I.V. housing stock," Chaconas said. "The proposal [to have low-income loans] helped in getting the grant ... and the general income level of I.V. and the surrounding community are low."

Property owners can apply for a maximum of $30,000 per structure, said Boehlje. She estimates that about 12 to 15 units will benefit from the grant.

Change is good. Change is what forces all of us to get up off our lazy asses and deal with a new situation. So why does it suck so much? Probably because it forces us to get up off our lazy asses.

Anyway, by the very fact that you're reading this you've probably had some changes thrust upon you. Changed your address, changed your roommate, changed your classes, changed your latitude. Whatever. Hopefully you did bring a change of socks and underwear with you. It may be a while until you get another chance to do your laundry for free at the parents' abode. Deal with it, things will get better.

After all, changes happened here. I'm still cementing my relationship with the Goddess of Weather (after all, I am a fledgling Weatherhuman), so bear with me. UCSB at little or no cost.

Located in the Student Services Complex next to South Hall, the Women's Center aims to educate the campus population about gender relations and assist women with any problems they may encounter at UCSB.

"Our goal is to promote the evolving roles of men and women, and to work to expand the educational, professional and personal opportunities for women," said Deidre Acker, Women's Center director.

By providing a library devoted entirely to women's issues and offering students an alternative locale to have a cup of tea, take a nap or simply hang out, the center creates a relaxed atmosphere for visitors who wish to take advantage of the myriad of services offered.

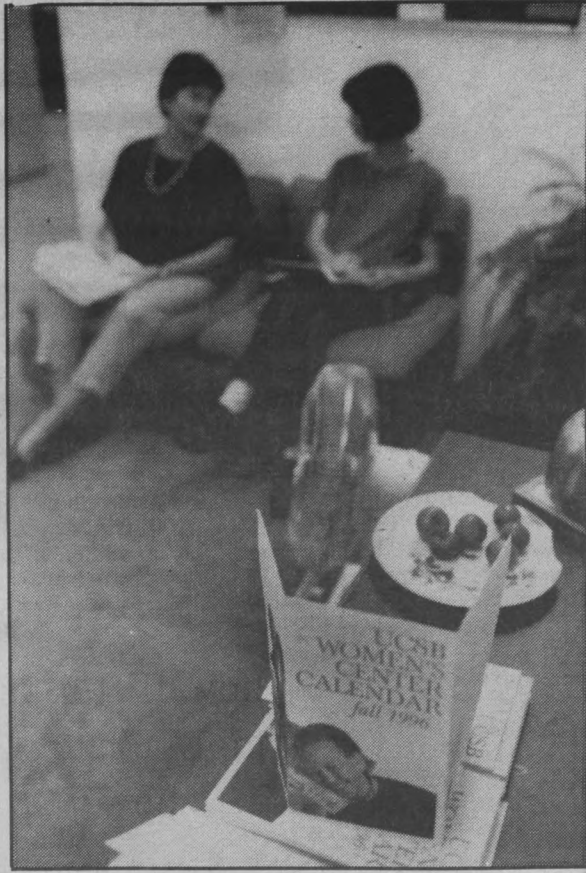

Several student groups take advantage of this tranquil environment by using the meeting room, which is made available to students by reservation, according to Carol Mosely, Rape Prevention Education Program coordinator.

"This allows students to become activists and educate themselves," she said. "This is a place where students have the opportunity to get involved."

In addition, the services of the Women's Center are extended to anyone who is attempting to find staff advisors for a student organization.

Volunteers will congregate Saturday morning to remove deflated tires and rusted-out bikes from their sandy graveyards along local beaches.

Saturday's 12th annual Coastal Cleanup Day, sponsored by the California Coastal Commission's Adopt-a-Beach Program and the California State Parks Foundation, is a concerted statewide effort to beautify beaches and educate communities about cleaning the environment, said Shari Wilbarger, local event coordinator.

The program also helps illustrate the impact trash and debris have on the beaches, said David Fortson, senior environmental studies major and Associated Students Environmental Affairs Board member.

"People treat the beach as if it were a dump site, and the trash they leave can remain there forever," he said. "The message is simple: Take care of your beach and treat it like it was your own home."

According to Wilbarger, the most typical debris found along the coastline are cigarette butts, plastic bags, glass bottles, Styro-

A Message from the Chancellor

Dear Students:

I am very happy and proud to welcome you to the 1996-97 academic year at UCSB, and to the UCSB community of students, faculty and staff. Congratulations on the academic achievements that make it possible for you to study among a very select group of outstanding students.

Those of you who are freshmen or transfer students are particularly welcome and fortunate. You are arriving at a time when UCSB has attained recognition of its stature by various rankings as a world class research and teaching university. For example, UCSB has recently been elected to the Association of American Universities, which consists of the top 60 research institutions out of 3,700 colleges and universities in the U. S. and Canada. In the National Research Council's national ranking of doctoral programs, UCSB has four programs in the top ten, and seven others in the top 20. In its September 9, 1996, issue, U.S. News and World Report ranked UCSB's undergraduate program as number 46, within the first tier (top 50) of the 229 best national universities.

Those of you who are returning students are already familiar with our excellent faculty and staff and UCSB's commitment to offer the best possible opportunities for learning through research and scholarship.

As a student at UCSB, you are uniquely privileged to be among us. You will have the opportunity to learn from faculty in the vanguard of their disciplines. You will be surrounded by top-notch professors and caring, dedicated staff members. Among the many goals we set for ourselves is making sure, through our attention to you, that your parents, relatives and friends feel their efforts to support you, to make sure you achieve a university education, have been most rewarding.

UCSB continues to change and grow. Many of you will study in 24 new classrooms that are part of the Humanities and Social Science Building completed this year. This new facility is home to the departments of Anthropology, Asian American Studies, Classics, History, Philosophy, Religious Studies, Dramatic Art and Dance, and the East Asian Languages and Cultural Studies Program.

In January, the new Student Affairs and Administrative Services Building will open to help centralize student services and some administrative offices. The first floor of this new building will house the offices of the Registrar, Disabled Students Program, Student Information Systems, Ombuds and the billing/cashier. The second floor will include Financial Aid, the Dean of Students, Summer Sessions and other student affairs offices. The space vacated from elsewhere on campus by those units moving into this new building will be used by academic departments for the purpose of teaching and research.

As the campus grows, we rededicate ourselves to UCSB's mission: excellence in teaching, research and public service. It is a mission that motivates us to pursue truth, goodness and beauty and encourages and promotes our twin goals of diversity and excellence. It demands that we maintain the highest standards of education, and that we remain firmly committed to helping improve the world we live in by offering you the opportunity to excel as a student and as a person.

I expect that in four years all of you, including this year's freshman class, will have proudly earned a degree from our preeminent, world-class research institution and will be ready to begin your distinguished career in the exciting new millennium. UCSB will be poised to be among the top leaders of the best of the best universities for the next millennium.

On behalf of the faculty and staff of UCSB, I welcome you to our campus and to the 1996-97 academic year. My wife Dilling and I hope to see you frequently on campus.

Sincerely,

Henry T. Yang

• First Lady Visits Santa Barbara

Hillary Rodham Clinton attended a rally Sept. 12 in support of local Democratic candidates and her husband's bid for re-election.

The rally, held at Santa Barbara City College, was attended by 18th District Sen. Jack O'Connell, 22nd Congressional District Candidate Walter Capps and 3rd District County Supervisor Bill Wallace. Clinton touted her husband's record, including achievements in the economy and gun control, and outlined a proposed $1,500 tax credit for qualified college students, as well as voicing support for Capps.

"One of the best reasons to vote for Walter Capps is that he understands the value and importance of education," she said.

Clinton also attended a roundtable discussion on higher education earlier in the morning with SBCC staff, concentrating on the community college as the gateway into higher education.

"The 21st century, which is not very far from now ... will offer unlimited possibilities, but with a condition that the people who wish to realize their own potential and have the education and skills to be able to navigate their way through this new economy and new social changes that are occurring," she said.

• Seawalls on Hold

A proposal to construct a seawall along the base of Del Playa Drive's cliffs still awaits final approval while the Santa Barbara County Board of Supervisors seeks to hash out the last details of the project.

Though receiving preliminary approval in June, the proposal from the Del Playa Seawall Owners Association is stuck on issues including what conditions would trigger the 2,200-foot-long wooden structure's future removal.

The board will hold a hearing on the project at their Oct. 1 meeting.

• Environmental Group Declares Campaign

The Sierra Club announced Sept. 11 it will run an independent expenditure campaign to oust 22nd District congressional Rep. Andrea Seastrand (R-San Luis Obispo) and elect Democratic challenger Walter Capps.

The effort will be coordinated by local chapters and will include distribution of fliers, a door-to-door campaign and a television commercial, said Randy Levine, manager of the Sierra Club's Independent Expenditure Campaign.

"Andrea Seastrand has chosen to ignore the will of the voters," he said. "We know people want more environmental protection, not less."

Will Bos, a campaign press secretary for Seastrand, believes this is just another attempt by special interests to affect election results.

"It's another example of special interest groups from outside the district trying to buy the election for Walter Capps," he said.

According to Levine, the campaign is being conducted because of Seastrand's acceptance of over $117,000 from political action committees with a record of pollution and her votes against environmental protection bills.

This is one of only two such Sierra Club campaigns in the nation.

• In Memoriam

A memorial fellowship honoring a researcher whose life was claimed by an auto accident on June 15 was established by the Physics Dept. in hopes of aiding first-year graduate students.

The Hanan Baddar Graduate Fund was founded by friends and colleagues of the 35-year-old physics researcher who was killed while returning home from work in a head-on collision with an alleged drunk driver.

The accident occurred at approximately 2:20 a.m., when Baddar's vehicle collided with an off-duty cab traveling 65 mph in the wrong direction on the southbound 101.

It was later determined that the cab's driver, 48-year-old Santa Barbara resident Kevin Lynn, had a blood-alcohol content of .13, which is 1½ times the legal limit, according to Matt Olson of the California Highway Patrol.

Her presence will be missed on campus, especially by those whose lives she touched as both a co-worker and a friend, said physics Professor Guenter Ahlers.

"She was loved like a sister by many young people," he said.

Those wishing to make a contribution to the Hanan Baddar Graduate Fellowship should contact Janice Har-toch Gross at (805) 893-8406.

• Head Honcho for Parks Hired

After several months of intense search and negotiation, a new general manager for the Isla Vista Recreation and Park District was selected.

Derek Johnson, who had been acting general manager since former General Manager Roger Lagerquist was released from service two months before his contract expired, was unanimously hired by the park board on Sept. 11.

Johnson, a 27-year-old UCSB graduate in environmental studies, is pleased with the decision, will start work immediately and looks forward to the year ahead.

"I think it's going to be a good year," he said. "I think what we need to do is get the board to focus on parks and recreation. I think that needs to be a number one priority."

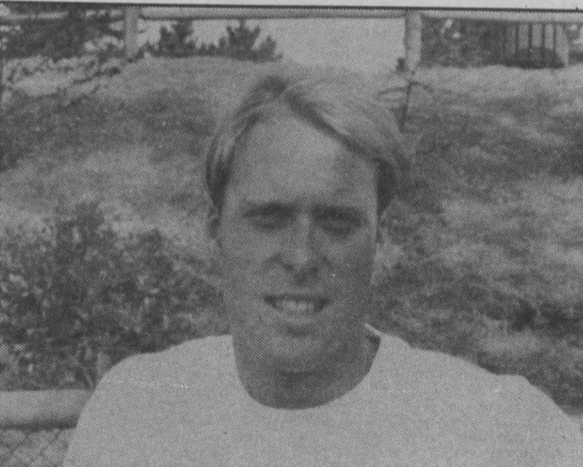

Johnson added he does not plan to hire an assistant general manager to fill his previous position and wants to delegate more authority to various staff members. He does hope to hire a grounds manager to oversee the parks while he takes care of the logistical and financial aspects of the district.

Park Director Brad Hufschmid, although unhappy with the original process of selecting a new general manager, is pleased with the results.

"Derek is a wonderful person and he's one of the most hardworking persons I've ever met," he said. "It's lucky for us to have him on the staff."

Director Pegeen Soutar agrees, and is happy that the decision to hire Johnson was unilateral.

"I'm really glad that it was unanimous ... that he has the full support of the board behind him," she said.

• I.V. Business Update

Isla Vista's turbulent summer market saw a variety of establishments open and close, from the addition of a coffeehouse/laundromat to the departure of the seaside hamlet's only resident lawyer.

The now-defunct I.V. General Store on Embarcadero Del Norte has been remodeled into Bubbles 'n' Beans, where students can partake of caffeinated beverages while washing their duds.

For those seeking a more potent drink, Kahuna Cafe on Pardall has reopened after closing down since June, fresh with a new liquor license and a selection of beer and wine.

A new eatery/arcade, also on Pardall, B.T.'s Restaurant Game Boy has filled the vacancies left by The Egghead and Smart Cookie's closures last spring.

I.V. Vintage, the community's only clothing store, has remodeled and expanded its Pardall location and now features more new apparel than used threads.

Two flower stands have recently popped up within sight of each other also on Pardall: the independent Flowers on the Side, in conjunction with Java Jones, and Santa Barbara chain Riley's Flowers.

Finally, the Law Offices of B. Brittin Fisher closed its doors on the corner of Embarcadero Del Mar and Pardall. In its place is the Isla Vista Willy Chamberlin for Supervisor headquarters.

• New Chicano Studies Chair Appointed

The Chicano Studies Dept. appointed a new chair in July amid concerns raised by some student groups.

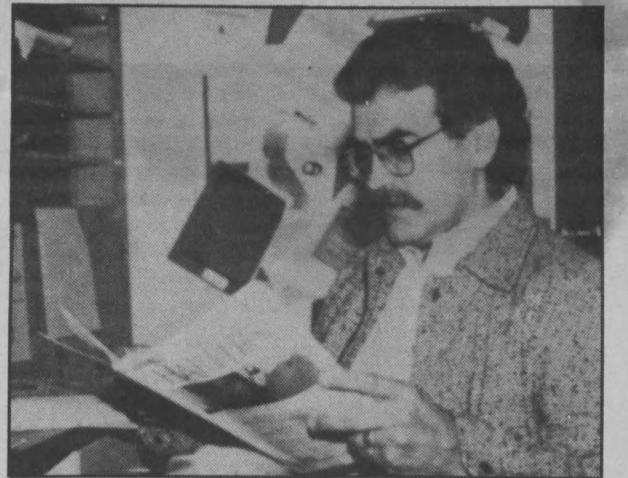

The new chair, Francisco Lomeli, came to head the troubled department, which had been without a permanent chair for the past year and has been engulfed in controversy since its inception in June 1970.

Lomeli, who has been a Chicano studies professor for the past 18 years, served as acting chair in 1988. His appointment to the position marks the end of a yearlong search for a full-time replacement for the acting chair, Dean of Social Sciences Don H. Zimmerman, who had held the position since the departure of Yolanda Broyles-González in July 1994.

One of the primary sources of criticism for Lomeli has been the Chicano/Latino student group, El Congreso, which feels their input has been ignored during the selection process.

"Congreso has been looking for almost a year for someone who was unbiased and wanted to work towards the betterment of our people," said José Ramírez, chair of El Congreso. "We felt betrayed when the department didn't even consider our choice for the chairship position."

• Ward Says No!

The UC regent who led the assault on Affirmative Action a year ago began to question the allocation of University funds to finance alternative graduation celebrations at a regents meeting in July.

According to Regent Ward Connerly, the various commencement ceremonies held by campus ethnic and departmental organizations promote racial segregation and should receive no funding from the University.

"I am concerned with the fact that these events represent self-imposing isolationism," he said. "Every government franchise should be trying to promote racial integration."

Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs Michael Young, who has participated in the Black studies commencement for the past several years, took exception to Connerly's claims.

"The celebrations are multiracial," he said. "There is certainly nothing that promotes racial segregation."

Connerly, who earned headlines last summer as the author of the UC resolutions to abolish preferential hiring and admissions practices within the University, maintained he didn't oppose the celebrations, only how they were funded.

"It's our duty to provide funds for a general ceremony," he said. "Beyond that, they can do what they want ... but we shouldn't have to pay one penny."

• Sedgwick Property Purchased

After a long battle to come up with $1.9 million, the Land Trust of Santa Barbara has purchased the last portion of the Sedgwick property.

An $800,000 grant from the Wildlife Conservation Board along with the recent inclusion of the Universityowned portion of the ranch in the UC Natural Reserve System helped make the purchase possible, said Scott Cooper, Natural Reserve System director.

An additional $900,000 still needs to be raised to pay the mortgage on the property so that it can be relinquished to the University, said Andy Mills, Land Trust Sedgwick committee co-chair.

Land Trust project manager Carolyn Barr cited lack of state or federal money as the main difficulty to overcome in the hunt for funding.

"We've exhausted all federal and state sources of aid, so now we are applying for private grants from anyone who might even remotely be able to give us money," she said.

In addition to grant applications, a series of fundraisers have been planned for October and November, including a reception for the Muir Quartet concert, and "Harvest at the Sedgwick," which will include a barbecue, horseback riding, art shows and a farm goods auction.

Cops Gain Authority to Bust Campus Thrashers

Fourteen ordinances proposed last spring to regulate all forms of skating on campus garnered court approval Wednesday, further limiting the legality of the popular form of locomotion.

The ordinances, which make it illegal for any skater to ride with a willful or wanton disregard for the safety of persons or property, have been the subject of debate since last spring. One of the more specific regulations prohibits any skater from attaching himself or herself to any other vehicle, bicycle or animal.

skateboarding have been in place for years, dictating which areas may be used and what actions are con-

The recently passed ordinances now have the power of police-issued citations behind them.

"These ordinances are not a ban on skating, but instead an effort to recognize this legitimate form of transportation," Alvarez said.

But many skaters feel the laws are unreasonably harsh and pick on skaters without particular cause, said senior sociology major Paul Wickstrom. The campus police are discriminating against this form

 "I think the police crackdown has served its purpose, but I think it is time [to end it]. Halloween in I.V. is a local event," said Associated Students External Vice President Jeff Provenzano. "You don't want to flush out Halloween altogether in I.V."

Though the sheriff's zero-tolerance policy was intended for a five-year period, the proximity to the weekend of this year's holiday may have been overlooked during the original drafting of the music ban, prompting the amendment request, Gross said.

"Had there been some extra vision in the past, it would have been done [sooner]," he said. "I think short-term considerations were focused on and not the long term. ... It takes a while to get departments to come to an agreement."

If an I.V. Recreation and Park District-organized weekend festival in Anisq' Oyo' Park proves successful, a change in direction may be called for, said A.S. President Russell Bartholow.

"I think [the ban] is there because the community wanted it, and if it weren't needed, it wouldn't be there," he said. "[But] if the festival goes off good, I don't think they should have it in the future. It's a five-year plan and when it's up, I think they should re-evaluate it."

Because of a condition of the ordinance, the IVRPD festival would be unaffected by the amendment, said Pegeen Soutar, IVRPD board director.

"We can still have music in the park, we're exempt," she said. "If it does go through, the music in the park might be better attended ... but I don't want to see people not be able to do their own thing."

Planning for this year's enforcement is still under way, but light crowds and low arrest numbers could alter future Halloween policy.

"If crowds are light, I'd like nothing better to do than send officers home early," Gross said. "I think we do Halloween year-by-year, day-by-day,

VOTING

"A lot of [freshmen] don't clearly understand ... you should register in this county because you'll be here the next four years," he said.

Besides simply getting people registered, the campaign is also intended to inform students of their rights and privileges, said Acting Dean of Students Yonie Harris.

"We believe that part of being educated is learning to be a good citizen," she said. "The only intent is to help students pick up good habits about citizenship."

A portion of the program will target getting out the faculty and staff vote as well, Provenzano said.

"A lot of times the faculty and staff get overshadowed," he said. "We're going to put registration forms in each department."

Some volunteer support will come from local partisan campaigns, restricted to clerical tasks such as stapling forms together and stamping mailers, Bartholow said, adding this will not influence the neutrality of the program.

"We're doing everything we can to make it nonpartisan and keep it that way," he said.

A special e-mail address and toll-free number will be established to report voter fraud in response to past complaints about partisan groups tampering with registration materials, Bartholow added.

• Agreement Saves Project From Challenge

A coalition of local groups, headed by the Environmental Defense Center, reached an agreement Sept. 1 with the Molino Energy Co. over concerns about a proposed gas drilling project.

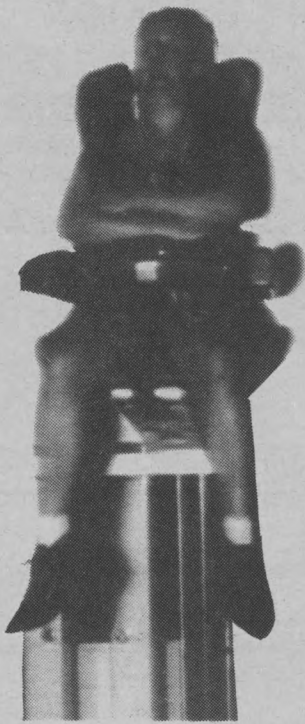

In the settlement, the company agreed to address impacts their project may cause to air quality and native plant species at the proposed site in Gaviota. In exchange, the coalition has removed their appeal to the Santa Barbara County Board of Supervisors.

Molino has agreed to "mitigate" any emissions from the project, resulting in zero impact on air quality, a first for any development in the county.

"For the first time, an industrial project will mitigate all their air impacts," said Linda Krop, EDC senior staff attorney. "It sends a great message to other businesses and industries that this is economically feasible."

The company also agreed to increase protection of the Gaviota tarpilant, native to the project site and surrounding land. Molino will protect approximately 20 acres of land containing the plant.

The project has been approved by the supervisors and the California Coastal Commission, but a challenge may still be forthcoming from the local group Get Oil Out, Krop said.

Free one-year Apple warranty.

Save $100 when you purchase a qualifying Macintosh computer and Apple printer; offer valid through October 11, 1996. No payment of interest or principal will be required for 90 days. Interest accruing during this 90-day period will be added to the principal and will bear interest, which will be included in the repayment schedule. For example, the month of May 1996 had an interest rate of 12.15% with an Annual Percentage Rate (APR) of 13.93%. A monthly payment of $61.19 for the Power Mac 7600/132 system is an estimate based on a total loan amount of $3,563.83, which includes a sample purchase price of $3,303 and a 6% loan origination fee. Interest is variable based on the Prime Rate as reported on the 5th business day of the month in The Wall Street Journal, plus a spread of 3.9%. Monthly payment and APR shown assumes deferment of principal and does not include state or local sales tax. The Apple Computer Loan has an 8-year loan term with no prepayment penalty and is subject to credit approval. Monthly payments may vary depending on actual computer system prices, total loan amounts, state and local sales taxes and a change in the monthly variable interest rate. ©1996 Apple Computer, Inc. has something they want to organize around, we see what we can do to get them out there."

Among the groups the center is involved with, on an advisory level, is the one that organizes the annual Take Back the Night event, which aims to promote safety for women.

Another option the center affords students who want to get involved and educate themselves is the Peer Education Group, which meets weekly to discuss issues of the day.

The group subsequently goes out into the community to speak with various organizations, providing an opportunity to benefit the community as well as the individual student, Mosely added.

"Members usually go out in pairs, and speak to groups such as fraternities and sororities," she said.

Rape, one of the concerns constantly tackled by the group, is as big a problem on this campus as any other, according to Mosely.

"It's very difficult to say what goes on, but only 5 percent of sexual assaults get reported," she said.

The center also concerns itself with educating women by offering a wide spectrum of weekly workshops and support groups, ranging from a lesbian/bisexual rap session to a support group for survivors of sexual assault.

A new service being offered by the Women's Center is a class that teaches women the inner workings of the Internet, according to Farfalla Borah, coordinator of the Sexual Harassment Prevention Education Program.

This program is extremely important, due to a general lack of participation of women on the Internet, a culture being inundated with men, she said.

"A culture won't change itself. It appears to be a men's domain rather than a shared domain," she added.

A series of lectures, discussions and special events are also brought to campus each year by the center, which attempts to reach out to the community and raise awareness to the special concerns of women, particularly minority women.

This fall, highlights of the series include black poet Nikki Giovanni, who will deliver a reading of her work on Oct. 20.

Members of the center stress their availability to

STOP THE MADNESS!!

Potato on pizza is unnatural, subversive

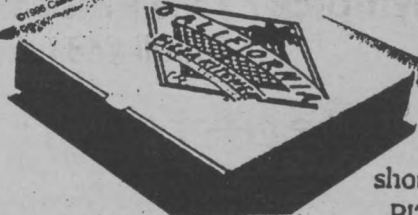

AND WRONG!

ATTENTION! LET THE TRUTH BE KNOWN: A RADICAL GROUP OF NONCONFORMISTS COMMONLY KNOWN AS CPK (CALIFORNIA PIZZA KITCHEN) IS RIGHT NOW SERVING

POTATO ON PIZZA IN THIS COMMUNITY! THIS GOES AGAINST EVERYTHING OUR FOREFATHERS INTENDED PIZZA TO BE!!!

Whatever happened to COMMON DECENCY?? Who died and gave CPK the RIGHT to CROSS THE INVISIBLE LINE between the Four Food Groups?? Potatoes should NOT be integrated with Rosemary Chicken, let alone PIZZA! If people start adopting a permissive attitude towards potato on pizza. Next thing you know, it's the COLLAPSE OF CIVILIZATION IN THE FREE WORLD!!! Right now, MILLIONS OF CPK PIZZA-CRAZED "ZOMBIES" walk our streets.

Rosemary Chicken-Potato-Pizza = Radical propaganda thinly veiled in a thin, flaky crust. Don't be fooled by its pizza-like appearance. IT IS THE ENEMY.

And the scourge is spreading! WE MUST TAKE ACTION NOW!

Let's go back to a simpler time when pizza was a place for pepperoni.

Not Tandoori Chicken, Shrimp Pesto, Peking Duck, Goat Cheese

(Blasphemy!) or Rosemary Chicken-Potato. If we were intended to taste two different "exotic" foods at the same time, we would have been BORN WITH TWO TONGUES!! WAKE UP AND SMELL THE GARLIC!!!

Every one of CPK's 27 highly addictive, unholy combinations must be ELIMINATED. TOGETHER, we can stop the crispy, wood-fired menace! A return to traditional pizza MORALS is OUR BEST SECURITY FOR OUR FUTURE!!!

Support our grassroots action group, C.R.U.S.T. (Crusaders Resisting Unnatural Subversive Toppings)!!

Potatoes Belong on a PLATE!! Not a PIZZA!!!

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING MANAGEMENT PLAN FOR THE UCSB CAMPUS LAGOON

Wednesday, September 25, 1996 6:00PM-9:00PM
UCSB - University Center - Harbor Room

Pursuant to the California Coastal Act and California Environmental Quality Act, an Initial Study/Negative Declaration for the Campus Lagoon Management Plan (the Plan), and the draft Plan have been distributed for public review. The review period extends from approximately September 5, 1996 to October 17, 1996. The purpose of a public review is to provide the public and government agencies an opportunity to comment on the documents.

The Plan is being developed to ensure that the lagoon and its environs are managed in a manner that protects, enhances and restores the area, while continuing to provide coastal access, recreational and educational opportunities. The Plan will be submitted to the California Coastal Commission as LRDP Amendment 96-1, to UCSB 1990 Long Range Development Plan.

Copies of the documents are available at: UCSB Office of Budget and Planning, UCSB Library - Special Archives, Santa Barbara Public Library, Goleta Valley Public Library. Written comments can be postmarked no later than October 17, 1996, addressed to: UCSB Office of Budget & Planning, Santa Barbara CA 93106, Re: Lagoon Management Plan. For additional copies and/or information, telephone Catriona Gay, (805) 893-8430, or e-mail: cat@bap.ucsb.edu foam cups, soda cans and nylon nets, which can all have an adverse effect on the environment.

"When there is too much litter in the ocean, the debris is known to soak up the oxygen in the water and create a hostile environment for the marine life," she said.

Radio station KTYD-FM, an event sponsor, has been actively involved in promoting environmental awareness since the early '70s, said David Hefferman, director of marketing and promotions.

"Our outlook is that, 'Mybeach is not half-dirty, but half-clean,' and this is our effort to help out with the community," he said. Twenty-five beaches in Santa Barbara County are targeted to be cleaned, from Rincon Beach to Gaviota State Beach, and 400 volunteers are expected to turn out for the event, Wilbarger said.

Mar Borg Industries will be providing dumpster service free of charge for the effort, said owner David Borgatello.

"It is a community project. We should all pitch in, and it is our way we could bring something back to the community," he said.

Anyone interested in volunteering for a specific beach or in general is asked to contact Jennifer Ayres, Coastal Cleanup Day co-coordinator, at 963-0583.

 students who are in need of their assistance, or even just want to drop in before class.

"If we can't help a student, we can figure out what other resources the student needs and try to make them available," Mosely said.

Mosely noted a marked frustration concerning the groups' efforts, however, citing a lack of interest in the center as an impediment to their progress.

"The burden is on us to figure out what needs to be done," she said. "But it would be nice to have more interaction with students so we could help much more."

of transportation, he said.

Wickstrom said he used to trick skate on stairs around campus without causing any structural damage, but the new ordinances have made him think twice about these activities. He and some friends were chased by a patrol car throughout campus after two officers saw the group skating on stairs outside the Music Building, Wickstrom said.

"They chased us all the way into Isla Vista and it seemed like they enjoyed the chase more than anything. I feel like they are picking on skaters, and it's a shame that they have to punish the whole group for a few," he said.

Alvarez said he wants to encourage cooperation around the new ordinances because he also believes just a few violators are ruining the reputation of responsible skaters.

CSO coordinator Julie Dixon said she agreed that using these forms of transportation responsibly is not a problem, but trick skating is at times the cause of damage and noise pollution. The newly approved ordinances will give the CSO long-awaited enforcement to back their warnings, Dixon said.

"In the past, those who were warned about their behavior knew that they were not going to get a ticket and would just go to another area. It became a cat-and-mouse chase basically," she said.

However, Asian American studies Professor Jachinson Chan said he has not seen skaters causing any real problems. He has noticed them outside his classroom, but they have not disturbed his teaching, Chan said.

THRASH

can Studies Dept. has moved into the new Humanities Building, I too have thought of getting a skateboard as a quicker means of transportation. I see no problem with it as long as no damage is done to campus property," he said.

According to Alvarez, the majority of responses to the new ordinances have been positive. Many felt some sort of regulations should be set up to acknowledge skaters' rights and responsibilities, he said.

There will be a period of education prior to enforcement that will include posting the ordinances around campus as well as at local high schools and elementary schools, Alvarez said. Police will begin issuing tickets soon after, and fines for violations will be expensive, he added.

VANDALS

building is populated.

"I'm not that worried because one of the reasons it happened was that there was no one living here," she said. "It's kind of a bad location as far as people traffic, but ... it will be cool."

HOUSING

"People need to apply for housing early," Tollison said.
Freshmen also endanger the possibility of securing housing when they are overly selective about where they will reside, according to Community Housing Office manager, Roane Akchurin. Akchurin said that although she had offered two defunct sorority houses as alternatives for those who were still waiting for housing, many people declined.

"Some of [the students still awaiting housing] had contracts at F.T., but didn't want to take it. They wanted to live in the residence halls on campus," she said. "Sometimes people's expectations are interesting."

Improved teamwork between housing administrators and students will be the solution to prevent a similar problem in the future, Akchurin added.
"In essence, it's gotta be a mutual responsibility. It has to be us doing the best we can and the students following up. It's that combo piece," she said."
