SUMMER SESSION OPENS JUNE 23

Many Former Instructors Will Return

The summer session of the State College will start, June 23, with an enrollment of approximately three hundred students, composed of returned teachers and present students. A wide and varied course of study will extend over only six weeks' time, while other subjects are of eight weeks' duration. Students taking only a six weeks' course are expected to carry no more than six units without special permission of the credentials committee. Students enrolled for the course including eight weeks may carry eight units of work and by petition additional units.

Special social features are under way for the summer students. Various hiking trips are scheduled, and the annual trip to the islands will be according to present plans. An interesting feature will be the sight seeing tour of Santa Barbara which will reveal all her attractiveness. Beach parties are also to be arranged for.

Although many of the present faculty will remain throughout the summer, there will be numerous additions from all over the United States. Mrs. Mary Crosswell, who has been away on leave of absence, will return to take up her Art instruction. Carl W. Wirths, who is now a student of the College, is scheduled for Art Metal Work. Miss Lollie Anderson has returned from Portsmouth, Ohio, to have charge of the voice work. Others who have served on the State College faculty as well as those who are coming here for the first time are as follows: John R. Altucker, Kate L. Bear, Florence Taylor, George L. Goulet, E. L. Harlacher, William Hayward, W. H. Hughes, Claude A. Lehman, John C. Price, Eunice Shafer, Esther Ramont, E. Carniglia.

MISS WINHAM LEAVES FOR TRIP TO EUROPE

Miss Aldine Winham, librarian, left last Friday for a three months' trip to Europe. She sailed from San Pedro and after reaching New York will sail for London. In Scotland she will visit the family of Miss Mabel Smith with whom she is making the tour. After visiting England, Scotland, and Wales they will go to the continent for a short stay. Miss Winham will be back in the fall to take up her duties again.

Miss Ester Ramont, a schoolmate of Miss Winham's at the State Library School, will have charge of the library during the absence of Miss Winham.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUBS

The Home Economics clubs of Santa Barbara and Chico are the only two in the state of California.

These local clubs keep in touch with the national association through Miss Sinda Stark, who is the state president of Home Economics.

Faculty Members Tender Resignations

Dean Westcott's resignation from the college faculty was announced this week. Mrs. Westcott has accepted a position in New England for the coming school year, and will leave for the east sometime this summer. As Dean of women and part-time instructor Dean Westcott has been prominent in student affairs during her two years' of service here.

Mr. Guenther's resignation has also been received. His plans for the coming year have not been definitely decided as yet, but he also expects to go east immediately after school closes. As instructor in history and the social sciences, and as faculty advisor of the Eagle and founder of the Social Science Club, Mr. Guenther has been a valuable asset to the college.

Successors of the two instructors have not yet been announced.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB CONCERT IS SUCCESS

The Men's Glee Club covered itself with glory in their first annual concert on last Monday evening at Recreation Center, and wound up their season of activity in a style befitting the kind of organization it has grown to be.

Mrs. Barnett expressed herself as immensely pleased with the men's work at the concert and in fact with the whole season's work. It was due to her that the club was welded into a real unit, capable of holding its own with any glee club in southern California.

At the concert the humorous songs took best of all and "Old Man Noah" made a decided hit especially with the youngsters in the gallery.

Mr. Harlow and Mr. Scalapino, the soloists, can always be depended upon to give a real performance. Chas. Davis and Reid Hollingsworth's sketch was well received and the quartette singing old favorites varied an interesting program.

The second annual concert ought to be a boomer judging from the success of the first—so all you aspiring singers turn out next year and let's have a glee club that's a real "hum-dinger."

Senior Dance Given At Arlington Hotel

The Junior class of the college gave a very successful dance to the seniors in the ball room of the Arlington hotel on Friday, June sixth.

Many townspeople as well as members of the faculty and student body attended and all danced to the strains of Greenough's orchestra.

This affair is considered one of the big social events of the year and is one of the features of graduate week.

Books are the food of youth, the delight of old age, the ornament of prosperity and the refuge and comfort of adversity.

New Student Officers Installed June Fifth

New officers were installed at the final meeting of the student body held last Thursday fourth hour. Before the installation the old order closed the student body business for the year. All proposed amendments to the constitution were passed unanimously. The amendment providing for an athletic council will be in force next year according to the will of the student body expressed Thursday. The recall provision is also an important change in the constitution.

Following the business transactions the old officers turned over their responsibilities to the newly elected officials. Rene LeFevre, publicity manager, gave up his office to Lewis Peters. Dorothy Edmondson, manager of debating, oratory, and dramatics, introduced Margaret Burke as her successor. Paul Cradler, editor of the Eagle, turned over his responsibilities to Barbara Dewlaney. The position of editor of La Cumbre was turned over by Eleanor Zerby to Ted Ellsworth. Jessica Lemmon introduced the secretary's book to Ester Janssens. Dean Smith, treasurer, will be succeeded by Carlisle Gorman. The vice-presidency held by Euna Proper was given to Jessica Lemmon. Last but by far the most important office of the student body, the presidency, was placed in the hands of Jesse Hawley by Herbert Keeler who has piloted the student body through a most successful year.

Social Science Club Adopts Formal Name

"The Social Science Club" was adopted as the official name of the social science students who recently formed an organization for the purpose of discussing social, political and economic questions.

At the final meeting of the year which was held last week at the home of Dean Westcott, it was decided that the organization would not meet formally during the summer. Barbara Dewlaney was appointed chairman to sponsor any plans which the members who will be here may choose to make. The work of the club will be formally resumed next fall.

Before dispersing the students extended a rising vote of thanks to Dean Westcott for her hospitality in opening her home to the club for its sessions.

Graduates Honored At Social Events

A tea was given by Dean Westcott Tuesday afternoon in honor of the graduates at her home. Friends of the seniors were guests at the tea.

The president's reception was held Wednesday night. Faculty members and the graduates were the guests of honor.

Special class day exercises at the luncheon on Thursday ended the social events of the week.

LARGE CLASS TO GRADUATE

Commencement Held in Court

Over fifty graduates will be honored Friday morning at the commencement exercises which are to be held at 10:30 in the College court. Will C. Wood, state superintendent of schools, will deliver the address.

The exercises will start with a processional in which students will march to their seats in the court. The Glee Clubs will sing during the processional. Special musical numbers will also be given during the exercises which will close with the chimes.

August graduates will also participate in the services, and degrees will be awarded to the students who earned them last February.

Those who have won degrees this June are E. W. Hull, Ruth Blanchard, Euna Proper, Marguerite Rininsland, Irma Starr, and Ruth Tisdale. Those who earned their degrees in February are Norah Buckalew, Marjorie Chapman, Bess Exton, Mrs. Ethel Cook, Joseph Kilpatrick, Anna Roenigk.

Miss Florence Gaylor, a graduate of L. B. S. C., will manage the cafeteria this summer.

Miss Gaylor for the last thirteen years has been in charge of the Home Economics Department at Burlingame high school.

Miss Gaylor will teach large quantity cookery and will lecture on school cafeteria management.

Just as a business man at the end of the day balances his books, to determine beyond the shadow of a doubt the extent of success or failure which has been his during the past day, so it is well for a college, as the time of closing draws near, to balance the ledger, in order to show themselves what advances the year has brought.

In every line of student activity, the past year has been the greatest in the history of Santa Barbara College. The athletic teams have brought home their share of victories, and more than a mere victory in points on the scoreboard, have established the fact that Santa Barbara stands for clean sport and good sportsmanship.

The college has grown in membership, and the added man-power has made possible a larger development along every line.

The Eagle itself, as it soars its last flight before a summer hibernation, feels impelled to scream about the fact that it has not altogether failed. It has appeared regularly, and in as much as is possible, has been a financial success as well as a journalistic achievement.

Altogether, to quote the famous old negro preacher, "The Sun do move." The college is progressing, and nothing can prevent its course onward and upward.

DR. DOREMUS

Credit should be given where credit is due.

And few of the students realize that the beauty of their college campus is due to the untiring efforts of a very valuable friend of the college, Dr. A. B. Doremus, who has given unsparingly of his time and thought to the beautifying of the grounds about the college.

Dr. Doremus is a widely known landscape artist, and the college is indeed fortunate that such a man should give so generously of his time and skill in the planning of a beautiful campus, even to the extent of locating on diagrams each tree and shrub and rock.

The Santa Barbara College wishes to express to Dr. Doremus its very great appreciation of so wonderful a gift.

This year's edition of La Cumbre is a finished product in every respect, reflecting credit both upon the staff by whom it was produced and the College which it represents.

The Home Economics fashion show was a refutation of the popular idea that modern girls know nothing of the use of the needle except on the Victrola. The show was a success. Let us have more departmental exhibitions.

The greatest credit is due to our retiring student body president, Herbert Keeler, for his untiring efforts in leading the organization on to the achievements which the past year has witnessed.

Former Eagle Editor Sends Congratulations

Out of a somewhat checkered career, full of ups and downs, and filled with doubt as to the final outcome of the undertaking, The Eagle has emerged victorious.

It is with extreme gratification that one in whose mind the idea of the necessity and desirability of a college newspaper first took active form today views not alone the accomplishment of his ambition, but the surpassing of many of his best hopes.

The Eagle has made great strides in its development. From the effort of two students during its first year, when it was published on a mimeograph, it has become a regular printed publication, and one that truly represents Santa Barbara College wherever it goes.

Too much credit cannot be given to Paul Cradler, the editor, for his untiring efforts in the organization of his staff, and the publication of the paper. Mr. Cradler and his staff of able and willing assistants have given to the college something which no other student activity could give, in giving voice to student opinion and recording and broadcasting the achievements of a growing college, which in years to come will be looked back upon as a foundation for the traditions and ideals of the institution.

One who has watched the Eagle grow, from the nestling stage until it has become able to soar, takes this opportunity to congratulate the outgoing editor and staff upon the success that has been theirs, and to extend best wishes for continued successes to those who will "carry on" during the coming year.

Sincerely yours,
EVERETT T. GAMAGE,
Former Editor of The Eagle.

MEN'S CLUB INSTALL OFFICERS

At the last meeting of the Men's Club on June 3, officers were elected and plans for the coming year were discussed. According to members, new life was injected into the Men's Club by the new plan by which the club shall function as a social organization.

Another new feature for next year will be the welcoming of new students by the men, each of whom will act as sponsor for one or more new men, and help him to get acquainted in the college.

Officers elected for next year are: President, Rene P. Le Fevre; vice-president, Lewis Peter; secretary-treasurer, Dwight De Long; Phil Brothers, social committee chairman.

Welcome Committee: Merton Harlow, chairman; Edmund O'Reilly, Harry Henderson.

Committee on Constitution: Ted Ellsworth, chairman; Paul Cradler, Raymond Fleischer.

HOME EC'S ELECT OFFICERS

The election of officers took place during the Home Economics Department meeting June fifth.

The new officers are: President, Alice Dillinger; vice-president, Thelma Walters; secretary, Laura Wade; treasurer, Mabel Sorem.

Miss Bess Exton will go to Columbia University for her master's degree. Miss Exton has been in charge of the cafeteria the last semester.

Honeycombs 18 feet high are built by the giant bees of India.

AN APPRECIATION

Our college paper, "The Eagle," has been made possible throughout this term by the efficient and willing help and cooperation of the staff members.

I take this opportunity to express my appreciation to those whose efforts have made possible whatever success the publication has attained.

PAUL M. CRADLER,
Editor of The Eagle.

G. P.'s FINISH PRACTICE TEACHING

The last of the practice teaching was finished this Tuesday. The student teachers expressed a regret at leaving, but also welcome a vacation.

The fifth and sixth grade of the riviera school on Friday, the 6th, exhibited the work which they had done during the semester. Many of the things exhibited were projects started by the student teachers. The work was very well done and worth being shown.

Community Mechanics

Herb Keeler found out what was in the innards of the Essex so he is putting her together again with much gusto. Some boat, says herb.

Most of the woodworking class is busy on the new building and the results are showing rapidly. Soon the concrete mixer will be in place and no doubt the foundation will be all in place before the summer construction class gets going.

The art metal workers are winding up an interesting semester and all feel that they have really accomplished something. Perry Linder's serving tray is a bear and he'd better watch it closely—more than one has expressed a desire to swipe it. Some of the boys are continuing the work this summer.

The engine stands for the automotive class are ready finally and should prove a valuable addition to the shop equipment. Mr. Rust has spared no time or pains to get these stands finished.

Mr. Blodgett finished his Dodge overhaul and now wears a smile from ear to ear. He claims his car will climb La Cumbre mountain on high gear. How about it, J. Parks?

SERVICES HELD ON BACCALAUREATE DAY

Appropriate and impressive services were held last Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the college court. The services started with the chimes, followed by the invocation given by Rev. H. G. Stafford, pastor of the Grace Lutheran church.

Mrs. Barnett sang Buzzi-Pecchi's Gloria. The address was given by Rev. George E. Burlingame, acting pastor of the Baptist church, who spoke on the theme "Mountain Fever." "Mountain Fever" he interpreted as an incurable moral, intellectual and spiritual passion for the highest things in life. His message carried a direct challenge to the graduates and appealed to every one who heard it.

HOME ECONOMIC CONVENTION

On June the seventh a Home Economics convention was held in Los Angeles. This was the regular meeting for the southern section of the Home Economics Association.

Mrs. Irene Clow reports an enjoyable vacation last week spent partly at her home and partly in Los Angeles. She visited her walnut ranch in Riverside, and while in the south climbed Mt. Rubidoux and went to see "The Ten Commandments."

A.W.S. COMPLETES YEAR OF SUCCESS

The splendid work of the Associated Women Students this year has secured for that organization one of the foremost places in the life of the campus. The ideals and plans of former years were more completely materialized than ever before with the result that every woman student has benefited by and enjoyed the activities and privileges of the woman's association.

The Big and Little Sister movement was carried out more fully than ever before. New woman students not living in Santa Barbara were met at the train and ushered into the life of the college, carefully befriended by women who "knew the ropes." This same careful consideration for the well-being of the women characterized the work of the Campus Life committee who kept in touch with all who were ill or suffered any misfortunes.

The social activities of the organization were a source of much pleasure to its members. Beginning with the tea given by Dean Westcott and carried on by the Backward Party, the High Tea, the April Frolic and numerous Luncheon Suppers the calendar was crowded with many lovely social affairs.

The A. W. S. has not only served well in its own institution but has made a prominent place for itself among similar organizations of other colleges. Santa Barbara ranked second in the number of visiting delegates to the Intercollegiate Women's Association convention held at the University of Southern California early in the year.

Ruby Beckley, who has been teaching near Santa Paula, will teach in San Gabriel next term.

Clara Fraga, who has been teaching in San Gabriel, will teach in Santa Barbara next term.

PERSONALS

Miss Alleen Barnes spent last week end over the mountains at her uncle's ranch.

The Practical Science and Outing Club hikers came back from their trip over to the cabin looking happy although well sunburned.

Miss Marian and Frances Lincoln were bridesmaids and Miss Anna Lincoln was maid of honor at the very pretty home wedding of Miss Margaret Lincoln and Mr. Chas. P. Richardson last Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Gilbert Goldberg who left Santa Barbara to live in San Bernardino was in town last week end visiting friends.

The students are not the only ones suffering from the strain of the work of closing the semester. Many of the teachers with large classes have been snowed under with the big stacks of note books and papers which waited their correction.

Irene McCaleb has added herself to the bobbed hair ranks. It becomes you well, Irene.

Barbara Dewlaney woke up one morning and found her hair cut. What a shock after her assertions to the contrary.

Several of the classes of late have taken advantage of the beautiful weather and made their class time more pleasant by sitting on the lawn in front of the gym. An ideal location.

At this time it is easy for me to understand the mingled feelings of those who are about to graduate, for my feelings are much like theirs. There is regret in the realization that customary work, play and interests must be set aside. There is regret, deeper and keener, that the friends who have enriched one's life must be left behind. Yet the challenge of big tasks is one which cannot be denied; and faring forth to meet new experiences stirs the spirit.

As I go, I wish to leave with the men and women of this college my wishes, sincere and enthusiastic, that the best may come to you, each and every one,—the best preparation, the best opportunities, the best success, and,—more than all else,—the best satisfactions which life can bring. Good Bye! and Good Luck! I shall not forget you.
REGINA H. WESTCOTT.
June 9, 1924.

Eleven students on June 20 will receive the first Bachelor degrees ever issued by the San Diego State College. Will C. Wood, state director of education, will deliver the commencement address and President Hardy will award the diplomas.

To meet the needs of a large number of high school students throughout southern California, a Metropolitan Division of the University of Southern California School of Commerce and Business Administration will be opened July 7.

We are all strong enough to bear up under the misfortunes of other people.

PROGRAM ARRANGED FOR CLASS EXERCISES

Class Day exercises are to be held in the cafeteria today at the graduate luncheon. Herbert Keeler, student body president, will act as toastmaster. A program has been arranged by Dean Ashworth as follows:

Violin Solo—Fantasia Appassionata, Vierutemp, Margaret Ellison.

Class Prophecy, Euna Proper. Vocal Solos, Carmela, Gertrude Ross; Milly Boy, Traditional, Miss L. Anderson.

Department Farewells:

Music, Frances Jones. Junior College, Harold Schoen. General Professional, Isabel Chalmers.

Community Mechanics, Francis Noel.

Home Economics, Ruth Blanchard.

La Cumbre Greeted by Enthusiastic Students

La Cumbre, the college annual, appeared last Monday on the campus and was received with great acclaim by the students. The magazine which was edited by Eleanor Zerby and managed by Terence Ellsworth, is by far the most perfect magazine the college has yet seen.

The book is dedicated to Dr. LeRoy J. Stockton, vice principal of the college, who has shown great interest in the welfare of the students. An unusual feature is the wood block print done by Hamilton Wolff which appears as a frontispiece.

The book cost about $2000 twice as much as has ever been put into any previous issues, consists of more than two hundred pages of pictures and reading matter. The pages are printed on heavy white stock with artistic green borders. The covers which are made of stiff brown leather, were designed by Miss Emily Wilson of the Art department.

Two features of this year's number are quite different from anything that has before appeared in the annual are the sketches by William Everitt of the Art department and the eight full page views of the campus in the latest soft focus effects and six half page views. The photography was done by Terence Ellsworth and C. A. Hoffman.

A new department in the magazine is the College days section which contains pictures and write-ups of all the important days of the college year.

The literary department consists of about twenty pages of stories and skits of unusual merit. Athletics hold a prominent section due to the successful season in all sports. There are about twenty action and group pictures of the various sports.

Write-ups of the organizations of the campus are included in the book with pictures of the

ATHLETIC SEASON ENDS SUCCESSFULLY

Santa Barbara has closed its most successful athletic season, having felt the results of every man being on his toes and working from the first whistle to the last. Coach Gilliland has put good training into the squads he turned out, which has been evident in the final reckonings of the year. Assistant Coach Hawley also deserves a hand for his aid in training, as he gave a willing hand on all sides. These men feel that Santa Barbara has big opportunities, and who doesn't, after 1923-1924?

Football gave a lively onset for the rest of the gang to keep up the spirit throughout the year. Gallops here and there, up and down the field, showed many that Santa Barbara warriors were far from dead on their feet. The runs of DeLand and Dusks Dials rooted deep into the hearts of the players. With the line buckers working hard and the backfield keeping pace, football was successful. Next year Keim, Linder, Morehead, Anderson, O'Reilly and Howe shall pass the ball and buck the line to Santa Barbara's greater success.

The basketball season speaks for itself. But, every man was a winner and every game a success! Santa Barbara lost no game throughout the entire season. The basket shooters played remarkable teamwork, showing fast thinking and quick action. Captain Minetti pulls the credit for a large portion of the season's success, and is to be heartily congratulated. A good bet for S. B. lies in the fact that most of this gang are returning next year with outlook for the same old ineup, as Minetti, Anderson, Keim, Linder, Morehead and Smith are all returning.

The basketball "light weights" made a big hit at the basket. They staged big business and gained proportionate bacon for the college. Lets watch them grow! They lost only one game this season. Schoen, as captain, won the highest record in points and was a consistent scrapper for S. B. C.

Track was no less successful than the ball games. The trackmen staged good play for the grandstanders. San Diego be-officers, individual pictures of the graduates and staff members also appear.

It is interesting to note that last year's annual won first place in competition with other Junior College annuals in the state, and it is very probable that this year's annual will do the same thing.

The success of the annual is attributed largely to Miss Zerby and Mrs. Ellsworth who have been working on it for several months, and to Dean William Ashworth, faculty advisor. A staff consisting of about twenty-four students also played an important part in its production.

lieved in her force, but she found a seat in the field somewhere long before the meet ended. Other college competitors fared likewise in their choice of seats at the circus, for Santa Barbara threw 64 points into the ring, with Santa Diego as nearest competitor—52. Next year looks good!

Tennis claimed its own this year as a new sport for Santa Barbara. Although the Loyola challenge had to be called off, much noteworthy material was wrung out of the college. Brotherton and Ellsworth, as chief spees; Mansfield, Gaber and Howe with them, managed to hoodwink Santa Barbara into honestly thinking tennis is a new bet for the hill.

So, with the closing of the athletic season Santa Barbara scores only success on her calendar, looks forward to another year of bigger events, greater gain and fuller play in all sports.

In Norway there is a law forbidding anyone to cut down a tree unless he plants three saplings in its place.

Many of the students of the S.B.S.C. attended the High school Senior play, "A Thousand Years Ago," which was given last Friday and Saturday nights in the new high school auditorium. This was the first time many of the alumni of the high school, now members of the S.B.S.C., had a chance to visit the new high school building, and great was the admiration thereat.

Marjorie Low and Anita Cook, members of the State College, played in a piano recital at the Ballard and Cramer studios on Monday night.

On June 5 and 6 the San Diego State Teachers' College students presented the play "Once in a Blue Moon." The cast consisted of sixty people, and was given amidst magnificent settings. The costumes were most gorgeous and the play is considered the most spectacular ever presented by the college.
