GOLETA

It came to me in the middle of the night — that desire. You know the one I'm talking about. The slight weakness, watering of the mouth, the hunger, the craving for fulfillment that can only be truly satisfied by one thing.

That's right. I had to pay a little visit to one of my most favorite of downtown haunts, the State & A Bar and Grill.

Located on the corner of State and Anapamu — hence the name — the State & A has always struck me as somewhat of a downtown Santa Barbara landmark. There always seem to be throngs of glamorous-looking diners eating, drinking and living it up in the spacious outside patio area, and passers-by on any given weekend just can't miss the lively music issuing from the packed interior. Not to mention the food. Ah, the food.

That tore it. I was hell-bent on trekking down to the State & A in my quest to once and for all satisfy this sudden, urgent need.

So I called up my good friend Stucky — it wasn't that hard, considering she was in the next room.

"Stucky," I proclaimed, "I am taking you on the edible experience of your existence! Come along with me, and we shall consume in consummate style."

Well, Stucky quickly consented, and a harrowing freeway ride later, we were seated within the State & A's comfortably dim confines enjoying the offerings of its spectacular salad bar and a duet of sparkling colas — regular for her, diet for me. It's my secret to keeping that luscious figure I boast.

Our healthy roughage was accompanied by the slightly more sinful cheese-stick appetizer platter, and let me tell you — culinary delight has never had a more gratifying flavor than that melted, breaded mozzarella. Truth be told, my dear pal Stucky and I nearly involved ourselves in a brawl over the final tasty morsel, but at the last minute, reason prevailed and we divided it in an even two.

Then came the pièce de résistance — the entrees, served to us with a smile and a secret wink by Spud, our devilishly attractive waiter. Stucky had selected the fine chicken enchilada offering, while I myself partook of the Santa Barbara chicken sandwich, generously garnished with lettuce, jack cheese and guacamole.

And both were sent from heaven, I kid you not. Stucky gave thanks to several different gods and goddesses as she made short work of her enchiladas, which were covered in a sauce she could only describe as sumptuously spicy. For my part, I fell into an unaccustomed silence as I polished off my sandwich, along with the cleverly seasoned french fries accompanying it.

Ahh ... bliss. Such wonder could only be followed by ... you got it. Mud pie times two, with the ice cream and cookie crust combining to create a sensation unlike any other to be found — at least, in public. It was the perfect dénouement to a perfect feast, and the desperate thirst had been quenched.

The State & A Bar and Grill is located at 1201 State St. in downtown Santa Barbara. Call 966-1010 for more information.
